THEIR SONGS OF GLADNESS TOLD OF RISEN LORD

In Protestant and Catholic Churches Alike the Faithful Hail the Resurrection of Christ Jesus.

FLOWERS AND MUSIC

Special Sermons On Easter Day—Children's Services—Church Edifices Beautifully Adorned.

Easter was observed in all the churches of Plainfield with special music and handsome floral decorations. Full congregations attended the services.

Although the weather was chilly, the expected church parade was to be seen. Front street, Park avenue, Watchung avenue and West Seventh street were bright with pretty gowns. All the women with new gowns had plenty of time to show their new sartorial possessions before the rain came down.

First Baptist.

Elaborate Easter exercises were held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and afternoon, which included several anthems by the large chorus choir under the direction of Howard M. Case, organist, and a strong sermon in the morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. A feature of the morning service was a prelude, violin solo, Miss Florence Wohlfert, accompanied by Mr. Case on the organ. The floral decorations were attractive, there being large banks of white and pink azaleas from the conservatories of C. W. McCutchen.

At the morning service the choir sang three special anthems, with a response and an offertory. The solo parts were taken by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano; Miss Gertrude Hinz, contralto; William Holmes, baritone, and George Smith, tenor.

The Sunday-schools exercises and anniversary were held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and were largely attended by members and friends of the school. The programme follows: Prelude, "Simple Aveu," Thome, violin, piano, organ; carol, "Awake, Awake Glad Easter Morn," school; invocation, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss; responsive Scripture reading, led by F. W. Jones, assistant superintendent; anthem, choir; carol, "Blessed Easter Time," Junior Department; recitation, "Message of the Angels," Junior Department; coral, "The Easter Story," school; primary session; offertory, "Meditation," Massenet, violin solo, Miss Florence Wohlfert; carol, "The Heavens Are Resounding," school; benediction, postlude, organ. No evening service was held.

Crescent Avenue.

The programme at the Crescent Avenue church did not depart from the ordinary services to any great extent but there were large congregations both morning and evening. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie occupied the pulpit and he preached two strong sermons dealing with Eastertide. The musical programme was in charge of Choirmaster James Stanley and William P. Dunn presided at the organ. The members of the choir are Mr. Stanley, bass; Miss Graham, soprano; Miss Carroll, alto, and Mr. Piccaver, tenor. The order for the services was as follows:

Morning — Prelude, Coronation March, Meyerbeer; anthem, "Awake! Put on Thy Strength," Case; chant, "Christ Our Passover;; response, "Grant, We Beseech Thee;" offertory, "The Lord is Risen," Sullivan; anthem, "As it Began to Dawn," Buck; postlude, Grand Choeur, Hollins. Evening—Prelude, "War March of the Priests," Mendelssohn; anthem, "Sing Ye to the Lord," Lloyd; response, "Father in Heaven;" offertory, "They Have Taken Away My Lord," Stainer; postlude, "Easter March," Merkel.

The pulpit platform was grouped about with palms, plants and ferns.

Park Avenue Baptist.

As usual on such occasions, the Easter services at the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday, were elaborate. In the morning there were appropriate anthems by the chorus choir, assisted by the church orchestra, and the pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, preached an Easter sermon. The church was lavishly decorated with palms, Easter lilies and potted plants, furnished by members and friends. In the afternoon the primary and intermediate departments held their exercises, which consisted of Easter carols, exercises and class recitations.

The services in the evening, under

HYDE AUTO INJURIES CHATHAM BOY SEVERELY

D. W. HYDE STOPS HIS CAR AND CONVERTS IT INTO AMBULANCE.

Driving an automobile, Dorsey Hyde, of this city, ran down and severely injured a small boy in Chatham, yesterday afternoon. The victim, Fred Fayre, eight years old, son of Walter Fayre, of Chatham, is in the Summit hospital, suffering from a bad scalp wound, a slight fracture of the skull and numerous cuts and bruises. No blame attached to Mr. Hyde.

Mrs. Hyde, their daughter and a friend were in the car with Mr. Hyde. The boy was walking along the center of the roadway as they approached him, and the dust got in his eyes. He stepped to one side to get out of the way of the swirling cloud of dirt, and got directly in front of the car. Apparently, he had not seen it. The car struck him, and although it was not going at undue speed, he was thrown violently. Mr. Hyde stopped his auto at once, put the boy in it and speed with him to the hospital.

Mr. Hyde was taken before the Chatham recorder, but the latter, after hearing the details of the accident, decided that there was no ground on which the autoist could be held.

MRS. TIFFANY PLEADS IN BEHALF OF LIBRARY

LARGER APPROPRIATION NOT MERELY REASONABLE BUT IMPERATIVE.

In the following communication, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany lucidly explains why the Public Library is deserving of an increased appropriation:

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your issue of March 28 ult., I regretted to learn that the finance committee of the Common Council, in arranging the tax budget for the coming year did not regard with favor the request made by the directors of the Public Library for an increased appropriation from $5,100 of last year to $7,500 this year. In view of the very careful management required to make the present amount meet the needed expenditure, and the increased demands on the library by the growing population of the city, the request would seem to be not merely reasonable, but imperative.

The benefits derived from a public library of well selected literature such as Plainfield possesses are not as evident as the more material interests which surround us. Good roads, pure water, a well equipped fire service, and an adequate police system appeal very directly to the public sense. One must go behind the scenes, into the homes of the less favored classes, to know the mental and moral influences which are set in motion by the distribution of good literature, bringing relaxation from toil, and it is hoped in many instances inspiration to higher standards of living. The aspect of the matter most to be regretted is, that after the necessary expenditures are met, viz.: Five salaries, fuel, lighting, repairs on building, and binding of magazines and books, there remains an inadequate sum for the purchase of new books. Also, the library subscribes for a large number of valuable magazines, both of a popular and technical character, of which the current numbers are kept constantly on file. A drain is made on the library by the five hundred or more books which are sent to various public school buildings as distributing stations, the object being to reach children and their parents who would never go directly to the library to draw out books.

Surely, the development of an institution so educational in its influence, should keep pace with the other numerous municipal agencies for the comfort and welfare of the community. Nothing is stationary and the public demands grow yearly. There are constantly arising opportunities for the library to work on broader lines and to develop in new directions, were the means provided, so increasing its influence and efficiency in the community.

HONOR JUDGE NEWCORN

Friends and Fellow Members of Bar Present Him With Gavel.

GIFT A GREAT SURPRISE

He Thought Judge Swift Was the Only One To Be Honored—Expression of Esteem By the Donors.

District Court Judge William Newcorn was presented with a handsome gavel, this morning, by friends and fellow-members of the Union county bar. The presentation was made in the Elizabeth court, and Judge Addison C. Swift, of that city, received a similar gift.

The presentation came as a complete surprise to Judge Newcorn. He had been asked to come to the court to present Judge Swift's gavel, and had no suspicion that one was in store for him. It was Judge Swift's first day in court after a long and dangerous illness, and Judge Newcorn believed the presentation was wholly in the nature of a welcome-back for the Elizabeth jurist.

When Judge Swift had read the court list, Charles A. Trimble, of Elizabeth, arose to speak on a motion in the fictitious case that had been slipped in the list. Mr. Trimble's motion speedily resolved itself into a well-phrased presentation of Judge Swift's gavel. Judge Newcorn was puzzled, and began to feel hurt.

"Why did they ask me to come all the way from Plainfield to make a presentation," he complained, "and then pass me over."

Blushing surprise swallowed up Judge Newcorn's annoyance when James C. Connolly, another member of the Elizabeth bar, arose to reply in the "case," and disclosed the other gavel. Both gavels are of solid ivory, with gold inscription bands. They rest in plush-lined leather cases.

The following expression of esteem accompanied the gavels:

"We, the undersigned, friends, and fellow-members of the bar desiring to give lasting expression to the high esteem in which we hold Hon. Charles Addison Swift, Judge of the District Court of City of Elizabeth, and Hon. William Newcorn, Judge of the District Court of the City of Plainfield, heartily and cheerfully join in subscribing to a fund with which is to be purchased a gavel for presentation to them, believing that whenever it may come within their views they will be materially reminded that we, whose names are hereto subscribed, hold them to be eminently fitted by reason of their well known honor, honesty, integrity, coolness and fair mindedness for the honorable position to which they have been appointed.

MAY AND DECEMBER TO TRY FOR BLISS AGAIN

JUDGE RUNYON INDUCES THE BECKERS TO MAKE UP.

Seventy - year - old Christopher Becker and his thirty-year-old wife, against whom he had made a charge of disorderly conduct, were induced to make another try at conjugal bliss by Judge Runyon, this morning, in the city court. The magistrate, after hearing the testimony, decided that the old man had done considerable to try his wife's temper.

Mrs. Becker, who was defended by Francis J. Blatz, denied throwing dishes at the old man. She said she had lived in a cellar at 312 East Fourth street with him for two years, putting up with much that was discouraging, working out by the day to keep the household going, and that when he began to quarrel with her Friday night she lost her temper and threw a dish down on the table. A piece of it, she said, flew up and blackened his eye. She said her husband was jealous of her, but, at the same time he did not want her around if she did not help in supporting the household.

Judge Runyon said the quarrel was one that should not have been brought into court. While Mrs. Becker had done wrong to give away to her temper, the court felt she had excuse, and knew, further, that Becker had been much better cared-for since his marriage than before. Mrs. Becker promised to be more self-contained and the complaint was dismissed.

O. S. ROGERS SUPT. OF 7TH-DAY BAPTIST S. S.

Re-elected at Annual Meeting of the Sunday-school Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Sabbath-school of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was held in the church last night, when officers were elected and reports presented for the year. The past twelve months has been one of prosperity for the school, spiritually and otherwise. David E. Titsworth was chairman of the meeting and William C. Hubbard the secretary.

The reports of the secretary, treasurer and superintendent were most encouraging. The school numbers about 135 in addition to a large Home Department and a great deal of money has been raised and distributed to foreign and home missions, as well as several charitable objects, including The Day Nursery, the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union and the Loyal Temperance Legion.

It was noted that the death of Edward Kellogg, a member of the cradle roll, which occurred a couple of weeks ago, marks the first lost since that department was organized over five years ago.

These officers were re-elected: Superintendent, Orra S. Rogers; first assistant, Dr. Henry M. Maxson; second assistant, Asa F. Randolph; secretary, Nathan Wardner; treasurer, Miss Ernestine Curtis Smith; pianist, Miss Eva Rogers; chorister, David E. Titsworth; librarian, Rollin Williams; auditors, Mrs. Orra S. Rogers and Mrs. Asa F. Randolph.

It was unanimously decided after considerable discussion to continue holding the Sabbath-school session immediately after the Sabbath morning preach service, as has been the custom since last July.

Joseph answered to a charge of disorderly conduct in the city court this morning, but won a suspended sentence by promising to be good hereafter.

NEW HOSPITAL BUILDING

Gift Makes the Erection of Much Needed Pavilion Possible.

OTHERS WILL BE BUILT

Group of Four Will Afford Ample Accommodations For the Treatment of Special Cases.

Announcement was made this morning of a gift to Muhlenberg Hospital that will make possible the erection of a detached pavilion, for which much need has been felt. The money was given by Mr. and Mrs. James DeGraff and Mrs. Samuel Milliken.

The building will be erected to the south of the hospital. It will afford room for twelve cots and will be completely equipped. Work on it is to begin this week. Contracts will be let in a few days.

This gift enables the hospital to make good a promise made recently to the Common Council. The Councilmen, inquiring into the lack of such a detached pavilion, agreed that one ought to be erected, and the hospital promised to erect one as soon as it could.

It is hoped, later, to raise money enough for the erection of two more pavilions, all of them grouped about a central administration building, to which access will be possible from each pavilion. The buildings will be of brick, and harmonize with the main hospital structure. The pavilions will be used for the treatment of special cases.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Remember that the money you squander won't work for you.

We are always too young to have known better if our mothers are the judges.

Men do a lot of things just as foolish as having their clothes button in the back.

Dreaming of what you would do if you had a large income is probably about the slowest way to get one.

The man who fails in his efforts to do something well is still more of a success than the one who never tries.

A mother worries if her daughters are not invited to parties and then sits up and worries because they are out late when they are invited.

Ever occur to you that you ought to dress up more and brush your clothes oftener? Most people as they become old neglect their personal appearance too much.—Atchison Globe.

Melinda Had to Go.

One of the old governors of the Carolinas was a man who had lived a farmer's life most of the time until he was elected, and his wife, having never seen a steamboat or a railroad and having no wish to test either one, refused to accompany her husband to the capital. When the governor reached his destination, he found that almost all the other officials were accompanied by their wives, and he sent an imperative message to his brother to "fetch Melinda along." The brother telegraphed, "She's afraid even to look at the engine." The governor read the message and pondered over it for a few moments. At the end of that time he sent off the following command: "Bill, you blindfold Melinda and back her on the train."

A Great Relief.

"Lady," said Meandering Mike, "do you want any wood chopped?"

"No," was the sharp answer.

"Nor chores of any kind done?"

"No."

"In dat case I feels relieved. I kin take a chance on askin' you fur somethin' to eat."—Washington Star.

A World's Fair Exhibit of Furniture, Draperies and Floor Coverings.

Only a little while ago you were asked to pay $1 to enter Madison Square Garden to see automobiles which were exhibited solely for sale purposes. Contrast that exhibition with what is shown in this great establishment—in this continuous exhibition of home equipment and personal needs—open every day except Sunday, and free to all who care to come.

A hundred times as much to see as was ever shown in any Madison Square Garden trade exhibit—the product of every country on the face of the globe—from the Orient and Occident—from the great centres and from isolated hamlets—things gathered by the mightiest trade organization the world ever knew, presented as artistically as the most skillfully planned World's Fair, exhibited and surrounded with such comforts and conveniences and safeguards as to make the sight-seeing a genuine treat—enlightening, educating, elevating—and all free. We invite everybody to the greatest exposition of Home Furnishings we have ever made.

Plainfield, N. J., April 1, 1907.

Bayonne is grieving because it is not on the State's official map. North Plainfield is in the same plight, but then it is not losing any sleep over the fact.

They're seeing snakes over in Morristown. One man reports having killed ten at one time. That Bishops' law didn't come any too soon.

John Wanamaker's partner, Robert C. Ogden, has retired with a hard earned fortune. He began life as an errand boy at $1.50 a week. Notwithstanding his great wealth, Mr. Ogden has a far richer possession for he has never soiled a reputation he early established for square dealing and the highest type of integrity.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox says that men with billy goat whiskers are unendurable, but as a mater of fact, Ella is too old to be a good judge of men anyhow.—Trenton State Gazette.

Not only ungallant but a quite erroneous deduction. As her age increases her good judgment of "horrid man" should correspondingly become more correct.

The manner of ash collection as seen on North avenue Friday is a disgrace to the city. A rickety old wagon without any covering was the receptable into which a negro collector dumped barrel after barrel of ashes. As a high wind was blowing at the time, pedestrians enjoyed the very pleasant experience of getting covered with dust. When, oh when, will the Board of Health put a stop to this nuisance?

THE FIRST MARLBOROUGH.

His Was a Curious Combination of Contradictory Traits.

Herbert Paul in his book on Queen Anne of England paints a queer picture of the great Duke of Marlborough.

He was not truthful. He was not straightforward. He was not honest. In his love of money and his capacity for hoarding it he rivaled those wretched misers who have done no more than contemplate their gains. And yet, such are the strange freaks in which nature indulges, this mean and selfish intriguer was endowed with perfect courage, with an irresistible charm of manner, with a temper which even his wife failed to disturb, with a brain that no sophistry could obscure and with a military genius before which criticism is humbly silent.

He was treacherous even in a treacherous age. Wholly devoid of cruelty and by nature humane, he is said never to have sacrificed an unnecessary life. He used his fellow creatures for his own purposes, and when he had no further use for them he forgot their existence. He made his plans and carried them out with the absolute efficiency of sheer intelligence and the serene implacability of impersonal fate.

Michael W. Hanna, of New England, has sold 1,700 acres of land he owned in Nebraska for $91,000, which he has donated to the Wittenberg college of Springfield, O.

Dr. John F. Goucher, president of the Woman's college, Baltimore, now traveling in the orient, has offered scholarships which, when in operation, will permit four girls from India to be continually at the Woman's college.

Almon G. Merwin, the oldest school-teacher in New York city in point of service, will retire from active work with this year's close of school. He began teaching school when he was sixteen years of age at Delphia, N. Y.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL REPORT.

The First Baptist Church Reports Gains.

In connection with the Easter services under the auspices of the First Baptist church Sunday-school, yesterday afternoon, the anniversary of the school was marked by annual reports. P. Newton Drake, secretary of the school, presented a report for the past year, showing that fifteen members of the school have united with the church and been baptized. There was an increase of nineteen pupils. In the primary department there are 128 pupils and teachers, including twenty-nine beginners and forty on the cradle roll. There are fifty-three teachers and pupils in the Junior department, 241 in the main school and 123 in the Home Department.

The largest attendance, 279, was on October 7 and the smallest, 115, on May 27. Three deaths were recorded during the year. The report of the treasury showed the finances to be satisfactory, with a balance.

During the service there was an exercise by the Misses Hall, Dunn, Douglass, Neil, Johnson, Ethel Runyon and Elsie Moore. A feature was the primary lesson conducted by Mrs. J. A. Powlison, superintendent of the department, and which was concluded with a song, "We Are Little Sunbeams," in which Mary Ellen Douglass, the youngest member of the cradle roll, was welcomed to the school.

SIRES AND SONS.

Admiral Dewey still maintains his reputation for being the best dressed man in Washington.

Signor Biancheri, the venerable president of the Italian chamber, finds a hobby in horticulture.

Benjamin F. Hamilton, of Saco, Me., claims to be the first storekeeper in New England to employ women clerks. He recently celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday.

Justice Shiras of the United States Supreme Court has made photographing of wild animals a hobby and study, and he is said to have been the first person to take a picture of a wild animal by flashlight.

Heinrich Conried announces that he will retire from operatic management in 1911. The difficulties of his work as an impresario and his present ill health weigh heavily upon him. He will devote himself to operatic art only four years more.

Losing but one day's pay in twenty years, S. H. Roseberry, of Arch Springs, Pa., who carries the mail between his home and Union Furnace, a distance of six miles, which he makes daily on foot, has one of the best records of any postman in the United States.

John F. Fitzgerald, mayor of Boston, is editor of the Republic, a weekly religious newspaper. He is a Harvard graduate, popular alike with workingmen and business men, as his successive terms in the Massachusetts Senate and in Congress have given evidence.

Frank O. Briggs, who succeeds John F. Dryden as junior United States Senator from New Jersey, is an enthusiastic athlete and, although fifty-six years old, still indulges in his favorite pastimes of boxing and wrestling. Mr. Briggs is a graduate of West Point and served five years in the regular army.

Nathaniel W. Voorhees, father of ex-Governor Foster M. Voorhees of New Jersey, was a delegate to the national convention of 1860 which nominated Lincoln for the Presidency. Mr. Voorhees, who is now nearly eighty years old, believes that he and United States Senator Shelby M. Cullum, of Illinois, are the only surviving members of that historic gathering.

His Deep, Deep Grief.

The Fulton (Kan.) Gazette reports that a minister of that town was moved by the grief of a husband whose wife was to be buried and sought to commiserate him in the following manner: "My brother, I know that this is a great grief that has overtaken you, and though you are compelled to mourn the loss of this one who was your companion and partner in life I would console you with the assurance that there is another who sympathizes with you and seeks to embrace you in the arms of unfailing love." To this the bereaved man replied by asking, as he gazed through tears into the minister's face, "What's her name?"

The Spleen.

The spleen? Up to 1900 no physician dared to stand up in a clinic and tell what it was made for. For ages it was supposed to be the organ of irascibility. "Oh, his spleen is up!" meant that the old man was hot in the collar. Curious thing, that spleen. There is an herb called "spleenwort," which was supposed to remove such splentic disorders as ill humor, melancholy and irritability. I saw a spleen the other day for the first time and was astonished. It was a soft, highly vascular, plum colored thing with a smooth surface. It was nearly six inches in length and weighed seven ounces. Now here is the funny feature of the spleen: After a hearty meal it is very much smaller than at other times, which may help to explain why a man is good natured the spleen may reach a weight of eighteen or twenty pounds. —New York Press.

An Awful Shock.

The deputy stage manager at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, at once time was a little man named Linders, who had a strange dislike of the ladies of the ballet and treated them rather harshly. He wore a wig, but the fact was not generally known. On one occasion, however, an enraged coryphee seized him by the hair, and off came the wig, exposing a shiny expanse of cranium. He at once dashed off to complain to Mrs. Harris, the manager's wife, but the good lady could only gasp in stupefied tones, "Good gracious, Mr. Linders, why you are bald!" To which Linders instantly replied: "No, madam, no. My hair became loose with horror!"

Merely Obliging.

Magistrate—You gave this young woman such a hit on the face that she can't see out of her eyes. What have you to say for yourself? Accused—Well, she often told me she didn't want to see me any more.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

First Methodist.

The Easter services at the First M. E. church were largely attended both morning and evening and at the Sunday-school exercises in the afternoon. The edifice was elaborately decorated with flowers and palms. The feature of the services was the musical programmes by the choir under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist. Bethel Chapel.

Rev. F. D. Tildon occupied the pulpit at Bethel chapel both morning and evening and preached Easter sermons. There was no other special observance of the day but in the afternoon the Sunday-school department enjoyed an interesting programme. It was in charge of Superintendent A. W. Duxbury and comprised addresses by W. D. Murray, Leander N. Lovell, recitations by pupils; a solo by Miss Graham, of the Crescent Avenue choir, accompanied by Organist William P. Dunn, and Easter music by the school. Miss Leonard acted as pianist.

First Presbyterian.

No special Easter services were held at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, the programmes being postponed until next Sunday, when Miss Anna Case, the new soprano, will be here to sing with the quartette choir. Yesterday the quartette choir sang anthems appropriate to the day and the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, preached Easter sermons. The regular session of the Sunday-school was held in the afternoon.

All Souls', Unitarian.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' church, preached a sermon yesterday morning appropriate to the day and Mrs. Guy Bender, soprano soloist, sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." The Sunday-school met after the morning service, but no special exercises were held.

At the morning service a chorus choir sang special music and Mrs. Andrew J. Stiglitz sang a solo as an offertory. Holy Cross Church.

Holy Cross church was well filled with Easter worshippers at the principal service of the day, at 11 o'clock in the morning. Rev. George A. Warner, the rector, took his theme from John 11: 25, dwelling upon the idea of recovery from the cares of life by turning to Christ. He spoke of the change from death to life eternal as not only true in the life of Jesus but to all who turn to Him.

St. Joseph's Church.

Rev. Father Gabriell, a Passimist father, was the celebrant at the high mass, at which a very large congregation was in attendance. Father

GUARD AGAINST THE DESTRUCTIVE MOTH

It's a great inconvenience and loss to have one's best clothing destroyed by moth. The busy little insects are almost sure to get in and do much damage, unless you use which affords the best protection for your furs and winter garments. This is an unexcelled preparation and has a pleasant odor.

SPRING.

Just a kiss of the low hung clouds
To the earth below,
Just a touch of the soft white hands
And the flowers grow.

Just a kiss from the smiling Sun
To the budding trees,
Just a touch of the magic hands
And life is in the breeze.

Just the tears of April rain
And spring begins,
Just a prayer of a mother's breast
And memory sings.

Just a song from the other world
The secret of the air
In God's own time He gives us this
And clothes the earth so cold and bare.

—E. L. M. BRISTOL.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

While all the world knows Lieutenant William H. Santelmann, and his famous United States Marine Band, little is known of the second leader of the Band, owing to the rigid discipline of the organization, which eliminates personalities as far as possible. The second leader is Walter F. Smith, a cornetist of wide reputation. He has been with the band twenty-two years. Second leader under Sousa, he followed the latter out of the organization to return to the Band only when Santelmann took up its baton. The band will appear at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening.

At the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night will be the occasion of the presentation of George Bernard Shaw's greatest play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," which is brought direct from its long and successful run at the Manhattan theatre, New York city. The Shaw play has provoked more comment than any other literary or theatrical event in recent years. The reading public have been familiar for many years with "Mrs. Warren's Profession" in book form, but because of a strong puritanical opposition, the play was not presented on the stage until its well favored production this season at the Manhattan theatre, New York city. "Mrs. Warren's Profession" is composed of live wire material which no other playwright has had the courage to handle in dramatic form. It deals with a social problem of tremendous force but offers no preachments or sermons. Miss Virginia Trescott, the well known young American actress, will appear as "Mrs. Warren" and a company that is adequate in every detail will support her.

Miss Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street, is detained at home by illness.

Miss Anna Luders, who has been making her home in this city for several months, and Charles Winn, of North Plainfield, will be married Wednesday night at the home of the bride in East Millstone.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between The Board of Trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist Memorial Fund, complainant, and Edward Nelson et als., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above-stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Sheriff's office, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of lands and premises situate, lying and being in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, and begins on the southeast corner of Liberty street and on the south side of the main street that leads through Plainfield (now West Front street); thence along the easterly line of Liberty street south forty-seven degrees east one hundred and fifty-two feet to a corner of other lands of James Leonard, thence along his line a northeast course seventy feet; thence still along his line a northwest course one hundred and forty-eight feet to a corner on the southerly side of the main street, now West Front street; thence along the said southerly side of the main street, now West Front street, eighty-five feet to the place of beginning. Containing one-quarter of an acre of land. Granting the one-half part of Main street and the one-half part of Liberty street, opposite the said lot. Being the same premises conveyed to Joseph Nelson, Sr., by deed of Smith W. Parker and wife, dated September 14, 1854, and recorded in book 204 of deeds for Essex county, pages 172, etc., the said Joseph Nelson dying intestate, leaving the above as his only children and heirs-at-law.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"But you must come out in favor of it," said I. "We mustn't give Dunkirk the argument that you're fighting it because you'd be injured by it. No, you must be hot for the road. Perhaps you might give out that you were considering selling your property on the lake front to a company that was going to change it into a brewery and huge pleasure park. As the lake's only a few hundred yards wide, with the town along one bank and your place along the other why,

She Glanced at Me with a Smile That Was an Enigma.

I think that'd rouse the people to their peril."

"That's the kind of fire to fight the devil with," said he, laughing. "I don't think Mr. Senator Dunkirk will get the consent of Fredonia."

"But there's the legislature," said I. His face fell. "I'm afraid he'll do us in the end, old man."

I thought not, but I only said: "Well, we've got until next winter—if we can beat him here."

Ed insisted that I must stay on and help him at the delicate task of reversing the current of Fredonia sentiment. My share of the work was important enough, but, as it was confined entirely to making suggestions, it took little of my time. I had no leisure however, for there was Carlotta to look after.

When it was all over and she had told Ed and he had shaken hands with her and had kissed me and had otherwise shown the chaotic condition of his mind, and she and I were alone again, she said: "How did it happen? I don't remember that you really proposed to me. Yet we certainly are engaged."

"We certainly are," said I, "and that's the essential point, isn't it?"

"Yes," she admitted, "but—" and she looked mystified.

"We drifted," I suggested.

She glanced at me with a smile that was an enigma. "Yes—we just drifted. Why do you look at me so queerly?"

"I was just going to ask you that same question" said I, by way of evasion.

Then we both fell to thinking, and after a long time she roused herself to say: "But we shall be very happy. I am so fond of you. And you are going to be a great man and you do so look it even if you aren't tall and fair, as I always though the man I married would be. Don't look at me like that. Your eyes are strange enough when you are smiling; but when you—I often wonder what you're so sad about."

"Have you ever seen a grown person's face that wasn't sad in repose?" I asked, eager to shift from the particular to the general.

"A few idiots, or near idiots," she replied, with a laugh. Therefore we talked of the future and let the past sleep in its uncovered coffin.

CHAPTER V.

A Good Man and His Woes.

After Ed and I had carried the Fredonia election against Dunkirk's road, we went fishing with Roebuck in the northern Wisconsin woods. I had two weeks, two uninterrupted weeks, in which to impress myself upon him; besides, there was Ed, who related in tedious but effective detail, on the slightest provocation, the achievements that had made him my devoted admirer. So when, I went to visit Roebuck in June, at his house near Chicago, he was ready to listen to me in proper spirit.

I soon drew him on to tell of his troubles with Dunkirk—how the senator was gouging him and every big corporation doing business in the state "I've been loyal to the party for 40 years," said he bitterly, "yet, if I had been on the other side it couldn't cost me more to do business. I have to pay enough here, heaven knows. But it costs me more in your state—with your man Dunkirk." His white face grew pink with anger. "It's monstrous! Yet you should have heard him address my Sunday school scholars at the last annual outing I gave them. What an evidence of the power of religion it is that such wretches as he pays the tribute of hypocrisy to it!"

His business and his religion were Roebuck's two absorbing passions—religion rapidly predominating as he drew farther away from 60.

"Why do you endure his blackmailing, Mr. Roebuck?" I asked. "He is growing steadily worse."

"He's certainly more rapacious than ten years ago," Roebuck admitted. "Our virtues or our vices, whichever we give the stronger hold on us, become more marked as we approach judgment. When we finally go, we are prepared for the place that has been prepared for us."

"But why do you put up with his impudence?"

"What can we do? He has political power and is our only protection against the people. They have been inflamed with absurd notions about their rights. They are filled with envy and suspicion of the rich. They have passed laws to hamper us in developing the country and want to pass more and worse laws. So we must either go out of business and let the talents God has given us lie idle in a napkin, or pay the Dunkirks to prevent the people from having their ignorant wicked way, and destroying us and themselves. For how would they get work if we didn't provide it for them?"

"A miserable makeshift system," said I, harkening back to Dunkirk and his blackmailing, for I was not just then in the mood to amuse myself with the contortions of Roebuck's flexible and fantastic "moral sense."

"I've been troubled in conscience a great deal, Harvey, about the morality of what we business men are forced to do. I hope—indeed I feel—that we are justified in protecting our property in the only way open to us. The devil must be fought with fire, you know."

"How much did Dunkirk rob you of last year?" I asked.

"Nearly $300,000," he said, and his expression suggested that each dollar had been separated from him with as great agony as if it had been so much flesh pinched from his body. "There was Dominick, besides, and a lot of infamous strike-bills to be quieted. It cost $500,000 in all—in your state alone. And we didn't ask a single bit of new legislation. All the money was paid just to escape persecution under those alleged laws! Yet they call this a free country! When I think of the martyrdom—yes, the mental and moral martyrdom, of the men who have made this country— What are the few millions a man may amass in compensation for what he has to endure? Why, Sayler, I've not the slightest doubt you could find well-meaning, yes, really honest, God-fearing people, who would tell you I am a scoundrel! I have read sermons, delivered from pulpits against me! Sermons from pulpits!"

"I have thought out a plan," said I, after a moment's silence and shocked contemplation of this deplorable state of affairs, "a plan to end Dunkirk and cheapen the cost of practical business."

At "cheapen the cost" his big ears twitched as if they had been tickled.

"You can't expect to get what you need for nothing," I continued, "on the present state of public opinion. But I'm sure I could reduce expenses by half—at least half."

I had his undivided attention.

"It is patently absurd," I went on, "that you who finance politics and keep in funds these fellows of both machines should let them treat you as if you were their servants. Why don't you put them in their place, servants at servants' wages?"

"But I've no time to go into politics—and I don't know anything about it—don't want to know. It's a low business—ignorant, corruption, filthiness"

"Take Dunkirk, for example," I pushed on. "His lieutenants and heelers hate him because he doesn't divide squarely. The only factor in his power is the rank and file of the voters of our party. They, I'm convinced are pretty well aware of his hypocrisy—but it doesn't matter much what they think. They vote like sheep and accept whatever leaders and candidates our machine gives them. They are almost stone blind in their partizanship and they can always be fooled up to the necessary point. And we can fool them ourselves, if we go about it right, just as well as Dunkirk does it for hire"

DISAPPOINTS ELIZABETH.

Jersey Central Fails to Make Improvements at Elizabeth Depot.

Elizabeth, April 1.—It became known yesterday that John A. Kohlenberger had secured a year's lease on the property at Trumbell street and the crossing of the Long Branch division of the Central Railroad. The announcement came in the nature of a great disappointment to the thousands who felt assured that when the Central came into possession of the property, it would tear it down at once, making improvements about the Elizabethport depot, and reducing the dangers surrounding the Schiller street grade crossing.

The Central's delay in making these improvements is regarded as in line with the general railroad policy of retrenchment owing to the stringency in the money market and the radical railroad legislation being proposed in all parts of the Union.

The Central has been buying hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property along the Long Branch division, and the opinion has been general here that the company contemplated immediately making extensive changes.

Court Plainfield's Busy Session.

Court Plainfield, N. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, received thirteen applications and installed twenty-two candidates at its meeting Friday night. A large number of visiting members from Courts Dunellen, Bound Brook and Newark witnessed the initiatory work, which was conducted by Court Plainfield's own team. In the good and welfare a pleasant time was spent, with short addresses from the visitors and vocal selections by members of the local court. Cream and cake were served afterward and a smoker enjoyed.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Ike Richards, of Somerset street, is still paying the highest prices for second-hand clothing.

If in search of a home to lease or buy see M. F. Gano, of Park avenue, before you do anything. He has something that will just suit you and at right prices.

Visitors to J. W. Gavett's china store always find much to attract their attention on all the counters and shelves. The array of articles, useful, ornamental and a combination of both, is almost bewildering. Visitors are always welcome.

THIRD PLACE IN THE MEET

Plainfield Made Showing In State Y. M. C. A. Competition.

PATERSON THE WINNER

Took Championship With Eighteen Points—Plainfield Contestants All Equalled Or Bettered Their Former Performances.

Plainfield tied with Orange for third place in the Y. M. C. A. State athletic meet at Paterson Saturday night, with seven points. Paterson won, leading Newark, her nearest rival, by five points. The fight for supremacy was one of the closest in the history of New Jersey competition in this branch of sport. Not until the last man had finished in the last even was the outcome of the meet decided.

Wonderful form was displayed by Adams, of Newark, in the standing broad jump. He not only won this event, but established a new record for the Eastern section of the A. A. U. N. A. His best figure was 10 feet 1¼ inches. The previous record stood at 9 feet 4½ inches. A technicality practically prevented Swick, of Newark, from winning the gold in the fence vault. The supports of the bar were directly beneath the low gallery so that Swick, although capable of clearing a greater height than Grubb, of Passaic, in jumping hit the gallery, and was placed second, giving way to his Passaic opponent.

The greatest excitement of the evening came with the 220-yard dash. Owing to the narrowness of the track only two men were run at once, the winners being determined by the respective times, Mara, of the home association, won hands down in 27 3-5 seconds.

The Summaries:

220-Yard Run—Won by Mara, Paterson; Courter, Orange, and Krantz, tied for second place. Time, 27 3-5s.

Running High Jump—Won by Wildnauer, Orange; second, Mills, Montclair; third, Moy, Newark; height, 5 ft. 6 in.

Twelve-Pound Shot Put—Won by Rogers, Paterson; second, Lawrence, Plainfield; third, Schal, Elizabeth; distance, 42 ft. 1 in.

Fence Vault—Won by Grubb, Passaic; second, Swick, Newark; third, Lieder, Elizabeth.

Standing Broad Jump—Won by Adams, Newark; second, Lawrence, Plainfield; third, Swick, Newark; distance, 10 ft. 1¼ in., breaking Eastern section Y. M. C. A. record by 8¾ inches.

15-Yard Dash—First heat won by Mara, Paterson; second, Pickering, Newark. Second heat won by Terhune, Newark; second, Spear, Plainfield. Third heat won by Krantz, Paterson; second, Henderson, Orange. Fourth heat won by Manning, Plainfield; second, Calder, Montclair.

Semi-Finals—First heat won by Terhune; second, Mara; third, Pickering. Second heat won by Krantz; second, Henderson.

Final Heat—Won by Krantz; second, Terhune; third, Mara.

Plainfield contestants did well. They all, with one exception in a single event, bettered or equalled their previous marks. They were up against a combination of strength that was unexpected; they did well to land third honors.

In the 15-yard dash Templin, Spear, Douglass, Banks and Manning entered for Plainfield. Manning and Spear were in the finals, but were nosed out of third place. Burgess, Steiner, Odell and Lueder were in the running high jump; Burgess was the best of the Plainfielders, going 5 feet 2 inches. Collier, Lawrence and Payne were in the shoot put. Viebrock, Lueder and Lawrence were in the fence vault. Lawrence, Lueder and Burgess were in the standing broad jump. In the 220-yard run Templin, Spear, Viebrock, Douglass, Odell, Banks, Burgess and Manning competed.

Paterson, the winner, scored 18 points. Nine associations took part. There were 116 entries.

DIAMOND DUST.

Fred VanAuken, of this city, a cadet at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, and who is on the pitching staff of the baseball team, is acting captain of the team while on the Eastern trip.

Jesse Ayers, manager of the Dunellen Amateur League team, says that he will not be prepared to give out his lineup until fifteen days before the season opens. He has fifteen candidates trying for positions on the team.

There will be one difficulty in the management of the Inter-City Amateur League, this season, and that is keeping the league purely amateur. Already there are rumors of a breaking of the rules in the selection of material for the teams. According to the rules no player who engages in the game during the week or on Sunday for any money consideration whatsoever, is eligible for membership in the amateur league. One manager received a letter from a player, who said he would like to play with his team if he could arrange it so that he would get $4 or $5 a game. The league officials must hold to a strict observance of the eligibility rules or the season will be a failure.

It is definitely decided that the Rahway A. C. will not play Saturday ball during the season, owing to a lack of support on the part of the Rahway fans.

CAMP BOWSER DEFEATS P. H. S.

High School Plays First Game and Lose by 9 to 3.

The Plainfield High School played its first baseball game of the season, Saturday, on Crescent Oval, with Camp Bowser, and were defeated by the score of 9 to 3. The game was not particularly swift or marked by any star plays. Murphy pitched a swift game for P. H. S., striking out nine men. Abbott pitched for Camp Bowser and struck out fourteen.

The line-up:

P. H. S.	Camp Bowser.
Murphy	Abbott, pitcher

Y. M. C. A. Baseball Meeting.

Candidates for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team met at the association Friday night and talked over plans for the intercity pennant race. It was decided to have the candidates out for field paces in a week or ten days. The weather, it was decided, was too changeable at present for practice. Physical Director Listman said this morning that he was not ready to give out the names of the probable team members. Howard Craig is temporary captain of the team.

Andrew Stiglitz, Jr., Injured.

Dog Attacks a Boy.

The young son of Patrolman Andrew Saffron, of North avenue, was severely bitten in the nose Saturday night by a dog which had made his home about the Plainfield Club Company stables. The lad was playing with the dog, when he suddenly turned and imbedded his teeth in the boy's nose. The wound was cauterized.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES

Miller, the rector, preached on the Resurrection impressively, and referred to the persecution of the church in France at the present time. He predicted the final triumph of the church over the irreligionists of that country. The altar was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and palms.

Trinity Reformed.

The Easter programme at Trinity Reformed church was conducted on the customary elaborate scale and comprised three services in all, the first being a sunrise gathering beginning at 6 o'clock, in charge of Frederic H. Andrews.

At the customary morning service, Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, acting pastor, delivered a strong, impressive Easter sermon from the text Colossians iii-1: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God." The musical programme was in charge of Organist and Choirmaster A. L. Titsworth, and the manner of its rendition entitles him to no small degree of credit. The effectiveness of the instrumental parts was added to by Mrs. Violet Truell Johnson, violinist.

A beautiful display of lilies and ferns about the pulpit added greatly to the spirit of the occasion.

The evening service was in charge of the Sunday-school and an extremely interesting programme was enjoyed by a large gathering. The features were fine music by instrumentalists, singing by the school, a stirring address by Dr. Johnson and words of encouragement to the scholars by Superintendent F. E. Smith. The singing was led by W. C. Leek and the accompanying musicians were Miss Lillian A. Force, piano; Miss Evelyn Berg and Kenneth Stuart, violins; E. D. Young, cornet, and Elmer Wheeler, flute.

Recitations were rendered by members of the school as follows: "Glad Easter," Theo. Nall; "Faith," Christine Conrad; "The Children Are Happy," Clara Lee; "Easter Bells," Edna Smith, Margaret Smith, Ella VanArsdale, Nellie McAfee and Marion Woolley; "Grandpa's Answer," Charles Todd; "Easter Message," Marguerite Barkalew, Marjorie Storr, Elsie Bodine, Adele Freeman and Magdeline Layton; "Easter Bonnets," Adelaide Hole; "Easter Bells," Maude McAfee.

The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the benediction pronounced by the venerable Rev. A. F. Todd, of Dunellen.

Warren Chapel.

The Easter services at Warren chapel, yesterday, were marked by special anthems morning and evening by the chorus choir, and two excellent sermons by the pastor, Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey. The chapel was prettily decorated for the occasion. In the morning the choir sang, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," and an offertory, "He Is Risen," including a solo by Miss Nora B. Schenck. In the evening the selections by the choir were "Easter Echoes," and "Jesus the Lord is Risen." The Sunday-school exercises in the afternoon were largely attended. The school sang Easter carols and there was an interesting talk by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of The Sabbath Recorder.

Grace M. E.

While Easter was observed at the morning and evening services with special sermons and appropriate carols, the principal celebration of the day at Grace M. E. church was conducted in the afternoon by the Sunday-school. Addresses were made by Dr. Parsons, Raymond Brokaw and Superintendent Conroy; Miss Bertha VanNuis Willis and Miss Zimmerman, of the First M. E. choir, sang solos and a number of Easter verses were recited by the pupils. The collection taken was for the foreign mission fund. Dr. Parsons occupied the pulpit at teh church services. His morning subject was "Now is Christ Risen from the Dead." Mrs. Thomas McDonald, of the Congregational church, sang a solo at night.

Hope Chapel.

No especial service marked the day at Hope chapel though large congregations were in attendance. Rev. L. R. Howard occupied the pulpit and in the morning the Patterson baptismal fount, the gift of Mrs. Robert Patterson, of Port Chester N. Y., in memory of her son, Harvey L. Patterson, was used for the first time. The floral display was elaborate. At the Sunday-school session, the pupils sang Easter carols with Judge Runyon as accompanist and under the leadership of S. B. Howe.

Monroe Avenue.

The morning service at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church was taken up entirely by the exercises of the Sunday-school department in charge of Walter McGee. The children sang carols with Miss Charlotte Aldrich acting as accompanist, and also gave recitations. An address was made by Rev. E. E. Roberson. The evening service was held as usual and an Easter sermon was preached by the pastor. The church was very prettily decorated with palms, plants and cut flowers.

Mrs. Frank Pearson, of Cos Cob, Conn., is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. O. B. Hill, of East Fifth street.

WITH THE FESTIVE GRIPPE.

Written by One Who Evidently Has "Been There."

The grippe is the most vicious of diseases. It begins in the night and sleeps not by day. Nor will it let its victim sleep. Where it comes from is not known, but everyone is aware when it gets there, that it has come to stay. It takes off its things and puts its trunk in your best room. It seems to be on an indefinite leave of absence from home to make life as uncomfortable for its host as possible. It puts its feet on your best furniture, uses your best linen towels to clean its shoes, and takes especial delight in leaving its dirty linen about for you to pick up. It assaults you from the front and from the rear. It pounds away at your head until you can stand it no longer; it runs up and down your spinal column; puts your legs out of commission and destroys your appetite. The grippe is the most unfeeling and thoughtless of all diseases. Where some diseases are content with affecting certain organs or certain portions of the human frame, and letting it go at that, the grippe comes in and lays siege to the entire system of human economy. It knows no feelings of decency or consideration. It laughs you to scorn, and when you are alone it mocks your groaning. Of all diseases spare me from the grippe.—Detroit Free Press.

CHANCE TO MAKE A PAIR.

Smart Young Man Had Less Fun Than He Anticipated.

Whoever is acquainted in the vicinity of St. Johnsbury, Vt., knows of Orville Lawrence, of whom many stories are told like the following:

Mr. Lawrence was driving up to the St. Johnsbury house with a little fox terrier sitting at his side. A sporty young drummer was sitting on the piazza smoking a cigar in company with some friends, and he resolved to have some fun at the expense of Mr. Lawrence.

"Sir, how much will you sell that dog for? I should like it very much for my wife, who loves pups."

"Wall," said the old man, "you had better take it, and then your wife will have two."

Origin of the "Broad Arrow."

The unmistakable "broad arrow," of which the escaping Gloucester convicts naturally tried to rid themselves as soon as possible, has no inherent penal significance, but is simply the sign of state ownership on the prison clothes, says the London Chronicle. How this arrow came to be a royal mark is quite uncertain. The story that it was taken from the arms of Henry Viscount Sydney, who was master general of ordnance at the end of the seventeenth century, is exploded by the fact that it was a royal mark before his time. Pepys hankered after the idea that the "arrow" might be really an anchor, and others have seen in it a commemoration of the English archers' prowess. It has been boldly identified also as the three nails of the cross, as a mystic Druid letter signifying superiority, and as the symbol of Mithras as sun god.

The Spaniard of To-day.

I find the typical Spaniard of to-day in an Aragonese peasant, elderly but lithe, whom I lately saw jump from the train at a little country station to examine a very complicated French agricultural machine drawn up in a siding; he looked at it above and below with wrinkled brows and intent eyes, he ran all around it, he clearly could not quite make it out; but there was no flippancy or indifference in his attitude toward this new, strange thing; he would never rest, one felt, until he reached the meaning of it. And the grief of many of us will be that in this eager thirst for novelties the Spaniard will cast aside not a few of the things which now draw us to Spain.—Havelock Ellis, in the Atlantic.

A British Institution Failing.

As regards the long and deadly warfare between the turkey and its flat-breasted rival, the goose, for the prime honors of the Christmas dinner table, an expert confesses that the goose's defeat in popularity is probably irretrievable now, according to an English exchange. "The flesh is proving," said he, "too rich for the delicate tastes of well-to-do people, and there is not enough of it for the poor. None the less, for the real trencherman who has a healthy gusto and a well-filled purse, your turkey, which has to be helped out with sausages and bacon to give it a flavor, is nowhere in it with your goose."

Hint for a Short Sermon.

About 25 years ago the annual session of the Maine Methodist conference was held in Portland. The Rev. John Collins, a canny Scot, was then in his prime and a member of the conference. He was called on to open with prayer one of the afternoon sessions, which was to be addressed by a minister whom we will call Mr. M., a man who was well known as a lengthy sermonizer.

Remembering this failing in the course of his prayer "Uncle John" exclaimed: "Oh, Lord, bless Brother M., who is to preach to us; may he preach the everlasting gospel, but may he not be everlastingly about it."

How to Keep Furs.

If garments are not cleaned before they are laid away and there are moth eggs in them, neither camphor nor any other preventive will keep them from developing and eventually destroying the fur.

If furs are well brushed and freed from dust, they need not be packed away in any of the much used moth preventives.

In packing furs away for the summer they shoud first be well aired, cleaned and sunned or moths' eggs that are not visible now may develop during the hot weather.

The whipping of the furs should continue until no dust arises. Then the pieces should be put out in the sunshine for a day or two and then beaten again.

If the lining is soiled or worn, remove it before putting the garment away.

WEST END STORM SEWER

Measure in Common Council Passed to Second Reading After Some Argument.

MR. GLOAK OBJECTS

He and Mr. Tyler Have Lively Time and Mr. Mellick Tries to Restore Harmony—Sectional Feeling.

Daniel F. Ginna, chairman of the street committee, introduced the ordinance providing for the construction of the Plainfield avenue storm sewer in the Common Council last night. Percy H. Stewart and J. W. Sandford spoke in favor of the scheme and urged that the Common Council provide some relief from the wretched condition during heavy rains in that section of the city. Letters favoring the sewer were also received from P. V. R. VanWyck, Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and E. H. H. Ladd.

Mr. Gloak, who is a member of the street committee, offered decided objections to it's going through until it was first threshed out in committee meeting. He moved that it be referred to the committee for that purpose. Mr. Ginna declared that he had repeatedly tried to get the members of the street committee together, but had failed. Mr. Tyler said that the Plainfield avenue storm sewer was first agitated four years ago, when Mr. Gloak was chairman of the street committee, but before he could speak further, Mr. Gloak replied that he was not chairman of the committee then, and when Mr. Tyler asked him who was, he said, "Well, I wasn't the chairman." Mr. Tyler stated that when the Richmond street sewer was first introduced he waived all objection on the ground of "a gentleman's agreement" that the Plainfield avenue sewer should receive equal favor in consideration. Subsequently the street sprinkling question was brought up and the question of paying for the work. It was urged that it was something greatly needed, and the Third ward members were asked to forego the Plainfield avenue sewer improvement another year, when it was agreed that there would be no trouble in putting it through.

Mr. Gloak was getting restless during Mr. Tyler's explanation and when he concluded was promptly on his feet with a denial of certain statements. He said that it was two years ago and not four that the Richmond street sewer was undertaken and the street sprinkling had nothing to do with the Plainfield avenue improvement. What he objected to was the remarks of Mr. Tyler at the committee meeting that "he was going to have the Plainfield avenue sewer, that it had to go through." He said that he did not like to be told things in such a way.

At this point Mr. Mellick poured oil on the troubled waters and was the means of ending the argument. He said that it was the first time in all his experience in the council that such a sectional feeling was displayed and he urged that as all the members were present to represent the best interests of the city that it was their duty to give the West End of the city something it needs. He believed it would be a grave error to turn down the improvement, all were laboring for one common end, the city's good, and he could see no reason why the improvement should not be granted. It would give great convenience to the residents and should not be delayed.

As a last retort, Mr. Gloak stated that there was no recommendation from the committee and he didn't like the way the matter had been handled.

President Daniel then put Mr. Gloak's motion to refer the ordinance back to the committee, and it was lost by a vote of eight to two, Councilmen Tyler, Frank Randolph, Ginna, Mellick, Hibbard, Charles Randolph, Montgomery and Daniel voting against and Councilmen Gloak and Buxton for the motion.

Mr. Ginna's motion to adopt the ordinance on second reading prevailed, all the members voting in favor of it. It was ordered advertised and will come up for final adoption at the May meeting.

Delightful Evening Assured.

Those who attend the entertainment to be given at Trinity Reformed church tonight will have the privilege of listening to a programme of exceptional merit. There will be piano selections by Mrs. Ida Randolph-Smalley, recitations by Miss Justice Roberts and soprano solos by Miss Nora B. Schenck. All are talented and a delightful evening is assured.

PLAN TO MACADAMIZE MANY THOROUGHFARES

PUBLIC HEARING TO BE GIVEN ON ORDINANCE ON MONDAY NIGHT, MAY 6.

Provisions for macadamizing many streets in the city, closely following action taken to establish the grade in them, was made in an ordinance introduced by Mr. Ginna, chairman of the street committee, at the April meeting of the Common Council, last night. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings, ordered advertised and at the meeting to be held May 6, it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt it on third reading after granting a public hearing.

The streets to be macadamized are the following: West Second street, between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue; Randolph road, between Arlington avenue and Cedar brook; Arlington place, between Park and Arlington avenues; Cottage place, between Washington and Richmond streets; College place, Denmark road, Sycamore street, between Fourth and Fifth streets; Hillside avenue and West End avenue, between Front street and Green brook.

The ordinance authorizes the issuance of nine $1,000 street improvement bonds, and that upon the completion of the work application is to be made to the Court of Common Pleas for the appointment of commissioners who shall assess benefits according to the usual plan, but in no instance is a property-owner to be assessed beyond actual benefits to him and the balance is to be paid by the city out of the general tax for such purposes. In the cast of West End and Hillside avenues, and Denmark road the gutters are to be paved with slag on each side of the street. The width of the macadam varies from sixteen feet in a majority of streets to thirty-two feet in West End and Sycamore avenues. The work is to be completed by September 30 next.

MISS BEECHING PRESIDENT.

Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-School Teachers' Union Elects.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, held in the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon. These officers were re-elected for the coming year:

President, Miss Nettie Beeching; first vice president, Mrs. J. A. Powlison; second vice president, Mrs. Frederick Baker; third vice president, Mrs. D. R. Darby; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. R. W. Barnes; musician, Mrs. L. R. Schofield; librarian, Mrs. William Morse.

Owing to removals the membership is slightly decreased from that of a year ago, but the interest has increased. The regular contributions were made during the year to the Y. M. C. A., and that of the different Sunday-schools. While no new work was taken up during the year, that performed has been of a practical nature.

DEVELOPED A JAG.

Photographer Then Rough-Housed Studio and Was Locked Up.

J. E. Rembrandt, a photographer, with a taste for the quick development of jags, accumulated a load on top of a hangover, this morning, and went to the studio where he was employed, to give a finished exhibition of rough-house. A tenant heard him smashing things, and the cries of a woman employed there, who was terrorized by the goings-on, and called up police headquarters.

Chief Kiely went to the studio, and placed Rembrandt under arrest. The photographer didn't want to come, but the head sleuth sprang a jiu-jitsu grip on him and he changed his mind. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

16-Year-Old Bride.

Rosaline Bonaviglia, a pretty 16-year-old Italian girl, was married to Dominick Maccerre, by Justice Hezekiah Hand last night. The ceremony was performed at the justice's home on East Sixth street. The bride's parents were with her, and a lively celebration was held at their home on Hunter avenue, Scotch Plains, after the ceremony. The groom is an expert wood-carver, employed in the Aeolian factory at Garwood.

Sang at Waldorf-Astoria.

The Weslyan Glee and Musical Clubs, which give the annual concert at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, tonight, under the auspices of the Men's Association, sang at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, last night, before a large audience. The organization is believed to be stronger than ever this year. It numbers thirty members.

—Dr. A. K. Brennan moved yesterday from 317 to 401 Grant avenue.

HEALTH OFFICER FELL INTO APRIL FOOL JOKE

HE THOUGHT COLORED OFFICER WAS MAN WHO BROKE ORDINANCE.

Through not knowing all the officers on the police force, Health Officer Leon Thurlow fell into the role of victim in an April fool joke at police headquarters yesterday afternoon. He was much chaffed over it about the municipal officers this morning.

Mr. Thurlow, not knowing Patrolman Saunders, mistook the officer for a colored man brought to headquarters for a breach of the health ordinances. When Mr. Thurlow, hearing that the man had been taken into custody, hurried to headquarters to see how the case was to be disposed of. Chief Kiely and Saunders was there when he arrived. The colored prisoner was out of sight in the rear.

"There is the man," said Chief Kiely, pointing to Saunders. Mr. Thurlow walked up to the colored officer and began to rate him for his supposed offense. Saunders, catching an illuminating wink from the chief, carried on the joke. Mr. Thurlow talked to the officer for twenty minutes, annoyed and surprised by the seeming flippancy and indifference of the supposed offender, for twenty minutes before he discovered his mistake. He acknowledged that the joke was on him, and he has had to submit to a lot of "jollying."

VETERAN FIREMEN HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Exempts Elect Officers and Delegates to the State Association.

The Exempt Firemen's Association held its annual meeting last night, and elected the following officers: President, V. W. Nash; vice president, Charles Connover; secretary, Guillermo Thorne; treasurer, E. M. Laing; trustees, D. W. Littell, E. M. Laing, W. A. Woodruff, T. O. Doane, Jeremiah A. Moore.

The association will be represented by Guillermo Thorne and J. O. Cranston at the Relief Association. George Clark is the representative to the Board of Visitors. Delegates to the State Exempt Association, of which D. W. Littell is president, are as follows: J. O. Cranston, Charles Connover, George Studer, E. T. VanWinkle, George Ball. The life members of the State Association from the Plainfield organization are: V. W. Nash, E. M. Laing, W. A. Woodruff, Guillermo Thorne, T. O. Doane, E. A. Vermeule, J. E. Flannery and D. W. Littell.

The association increased its membership during the year. The reports showed a strong financial condition.

Sued for $7.

Suing on principle, because he was convinced careless driving had led to the accident, W. L. Smalley pressed a suit for $50 in tort against Abram Kunzman, in the district court this morning, seeking recompense for damages done to one of his delivery wagons in a collision with a rig owned by Kunzman. Mr. Smalley's rig was only damaged to the extent of $7, and that is all he claimed. The jury of six men decided in his favor within five minutes after leaving the court room. W. L. Hetfield, Jr., appeared for the plaintiff.

Warning to the Scavengers.

At the regular meeting of the borough Board of Health last night, the members discussed the methods pursued by the local scavengers and arrived at the conclusion that a change must be effected or licenses would be taken away. Some of the men have been in the habit of dumping loads in the borough limits, a violation of the ordinance, while others have been using wagons unfit for the purpose. Notices that a change for the better must be made will be sent out.

Company K Dance.

With one of the nicest crowds to enjoy it, Company K's dance, last night, was a great success. The committee in charge was made up of Sergt. Clarence H. Bilyeu, Sergt. Allen Tranchand, Corp. James Conkling, Corp. Bert Ford, Corp. Roy DeCamp, and Privates Joseph Bembrook and Samuel Rothberg.

Ackerman Bills.

Senator Ackerman yesterday introduced a bill that defines the manner in which executors, etc., may invest money as guardians or trustees, and a bill that amends act of June 13, 1898, defining powers of municipal governing bodies in the matter of issuing and retirement of street improvement bonds.

A Foregone Conclusion.

Governor Stokes last evening sent to the Senate the name of Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson, of Jersey City, for confirmation as secretary of State, and the Senate under suspension of the rules confirmed this reappointment of the popular colonel.

CONSIDER STREET WORK

Much Business of Minor Importance Occupies the Time of Common Council.

THE MONTHLY REPORTS

Ordinance Creating Office of Police and Fire Surgeon Goes to Second Reading With Slight Opposition.

It being announced by the owners, Woolston & Buckle, that the lease held by the city for certain rooms in the building on North avenue occupied by the Common Council, Mayor Fisk, Board of Health and other officials, is invalid by reason of the change of ownership, Councilman Tolles, chairman of the finance committee, moved at the April meeting, last night, that the committee be authorized to have the lease corrected or to form and presented to the Common Council for approval with the idea of making a new lease. The agreement has not expired, but no changes were made in it after Smalley Bros. sold the structure to Woolston & Buckle and the city is now occupying more room than when the lease was first made. It will be corrected and submitted for approval of the owners and Common Council.

Mr. Gloak moved an amendment to the ordinance covering the duties of the city physician, Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, which provides that he shall be a police and fire department surgeon, attend to emergency cases and provide medicines, as heretofore and that for the performance of the extra services he shall receive an additional $200 as salary, making $600 in all. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised, Mr. Tyler alone voting no.

Mr. Ginna called up the ordinance approved July 3, 1906, providing for the macadamizing of certain streets, and it was adopted on third reading. He also called up the ordinances on third reading to establish the side lines on West Front street, between Central avenue and Grant avenue and Grove street and West End avenue; to open and lay out Arlington avenue, between Fourth and Fifth street, and they were adopted. Mr. Ginna's ordinance providing for the extension of the sanitary sewers was withdrawn to allow for alterations in the wording of the ordinance which was not clear. Public hearings were granted on the above ordinances, but only in the case of the Plainfield avenue storm sewer ordinance, which was introduced later and adopted on first and second readings did any one speak for or against them.

Residents of Richmond and East Seventh streets petitioned for a fire alarm box at that point and the matter was referred to the fire committee, as was also a similar petition from residents of Grant and Sherman avenues for a fire box there.

The communication from the Board of School Estimate, certifying $90,000 as the amount needed for the erection of the new public school building at Essex street and Darrow avenue, was referred back to the board for completion as to a few details.

James Craig and others asked for two electric lights, one on West Front street, near Jefferson avenue, and the other on Jefferson avenue. The petition was referred to the light committee.

Mayor Fisk appointed Benjamin Urquhart, the colored mail-carrier, a special policeman and the appointment was confirmed. The petition from M. D. Ree for an electric light on Berkely avenue, was referred to the light committee. The resignations of Frank Stilwell, special policeman, and Theodore Martin, a regular policeman, the latter to take effect April 15, were accepted. Stillwell resigned about a month ago.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that seventeen permits were granted during the past month. City Judge William N. Runyon presented his quarterly report. There were 174 cases before him, of which number thirty-two were fined, twenty-five sent to jail and sentence suspended on 139. Four cases were dismissed and one put in charge of the probation officer. The sum of $152 was collected and $20 was given to Chief Kiely for expenses, the balance being turned over to the city treasurer.

Clerk Horace G. Adams, of the district court, reported receipts of $99.76 and expenditures of $32.76, with a balance of $67, for the past month.

The petition of J. C. Blimm, of East Third street, asking for the return of $10.80 as excess taxes due to a clerical error, was acted upon favorably.

Upon motion of Mr. Tolles $3,000 was transferred from the general fund to the fire fund and $1,500 from the general fund to the poor fund. Mr. Tolles moved that when the HAMPTON L. CARSON A POSSIBILITY AT P. H. S. EXERCISES.

The City Board of Education held its monthly meeting last night but a few minutes sufficed to transact all the business that came before it. The Board of School Estimate submitted a formal report in which it specified the fact that $90,000 had been decided upon as the amount needed for the new school to be erected on Essex street. Permission was granted Superintendent Maxson to have the course of study reprinted and the teachers' committee was empowered to make the necessary appointments for the coming year.

On motion of Mr. Cave, a resolution was passed to the effect that bids for the usual coal supply be advertised for and that they be opened at a special meeting on Monday night, April 15. The president was empowered to secure a place for holding the annual commencement exercises and suggestions were received for the speaker. The names of Dr. Jesse L. Hurlburt, formerly of this city, but now of Morristown, Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, of Philadelphia, and several others, were mentioned.

RAILROAD WORKERS STRIKE.

Troubled Feared if Company Tries to Replace Men.

No men were allowed to work along the thirty-six miles of Jersey Central Railroad between Somerville and Easton yesterday. The workmen who were receiving $1.40 a day now demand $1.65, but made no demands before they struck. The policy of the strike leaders all along the line is to strike first and make the demands afterward. The men complain that they are required to be out on the road thirteen hours a day. Three hours of this time is consumed by the gangs in reaching their work.

The officials of the Central have given in intimation that they will grant the demands of the men, and it is probable that any attempt to replace them will be met by violence on the part of the strikers, who are mostly Hungarians and Italians, and are now drinking heavily.

BOARD DELAYS ACTION.

Members Undecided As to Protest Against Committee's Report.

Trenton, April 2.—The State Board of Riparian Commissioners held a meeting yesterday afternoon to determine whether they should issue a protest against the report of the special committee appointed by the last Legislature to investigate the subject of the disposal of the State's riparian lands. The commissioners decided to take no action for the present, the prevailing opinion being that the committee would not recede from its findings as published in the report issued a few days ago.

It was said by one of the members of the State board that a protest might yet be issued, and that if it should be it probably would be addressed to the Governor instead of the special committee.

MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB OBJECTS TO SHAW PLAY

ADOPTS RESOLUTION PROTESTING AGAINST "MRS. WARREN'S PROFESSION

The Monday Afternoon Club at its meeting yesterday in the Casino formally adopted a resolution of protest against the production of "Mrs. Warren's Profession" at the local theatre on Friday night. The resolution was introduced by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, a daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and after several had spoken in vigorous terms against the appearance here of Bernard Shaw's handiwork it was decided by an unanimous vote to have the protest published in the local papers. A member of the club said this afternoon that she did not believe they would send a copy of the resolution to the local authorities.

The resolution follows:

"Resolved, That the Monday Afternoon Club have heard with indignation and regret that 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' is to be produced in Plainfield. They desire to protest against the production in our city of this play, or others of a similar character, as calculated to injure public morals."

The last paper in the programme on "Primitive Man in America" was presented by Miss Susan M. Rafferty. Its subject was "The Government and the Red Man.' The paper was one of unusual merit, giving in a concise and interesting manner some ment in dealing with the conditions. the various policies adopted by different administrations of the government in dealing with the problem. With some mistakes acknowledged, there has been an earnest desire on the part of the government to deal fairly and justly with these wards of the nation, according to Miss Rafferty's statements. The paper elicited interesting discussion.

The Lesson of the Eagle and the Weasel

The familiar story goes that once, when an eagle pounced upon a weasel and soared with it high into the air, the weasel fastened its fangs deep into the eagle's breast and commenced to draw its life-blood. The eagle tried to shake the weasel off, but the weasel hung on until the eagle fell lifeless to the ground.

There is a moral in this for every sufferer from coughs or colds. Don't let your cough hang on—for every day it weakens your lungs and gradually wears down your system until serious lung troubles develop.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Mrs. Warren's Profession," the dramatic treat of the season, will be at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night. A foolish New York police—headed by a commissioner who had no more comprehension of the subtilties of Shaw, Ibsen or Maeterlinck than an East Side fish wife—elected to stop the first performance of "Mrs. Warren's Profession." This was a never-forgotten shock to the free thinking theatre-goers of the great American metropolis, the courageous students of the morbid drama, and most especially to George Bernard Shaw, the originator of the play. Vigorous and far reaching work was undertaken and exactly six months after the performers and managers were subpoenaed, three of New York's most learned judges sat in judgment, and decided that "Mrs. Warren's Profession" was a play with a mission and its presentation was quite within the jurisdiction and under the protection of the law. As a consequence the doors of the Manhattan theatre were thrown open to the public, who flocked and strove for seats week after week, and the sensation seekers and morbidly inclined, who gathered for live wire jolts went forth to praise one of the best constructed plays they had witnessed in years.

Maude Fealy, the youngest star on the American stage, is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night in Martha Morton's latest comedy, "The Illusion of Beatrice," supported by a selected New York company with a complete scenic production. The talented young actress has won a unique position for herself in her profession and has a remarkable record. She has been on the stage ever since she was a child, her mother having been a noted player. When at an age when most young ladies are still in college, Maude Fealy occupied the enviable position of being leading woman for the world's greatest actor, the late Sir Henry Irving, sharing honors in London with that great tragedian. Since her return to this country, Maude Fealy has added to her many triumphs, her latest being the leading role of "The Illusion of Beatrice." In this charming comedy, Martha Morton, the authoress, has evolved a role for Miss Fealy that is exactly suited to her sweet and girlish personality. The character of a poor foundling being brought up under the impression that she is scion of a royal family, has been cleverly treated by the authoress, and Maude Fealy brings all her magnetic force and winning charm to bear in presenting a character that will draw tears and laughter alternately. Miss Fealy's manager, John Cort, has spared no expense in presenting his young star before the public, both as to the strength of the supporting company and as to a complete scenic production. The appearance of Maude Fealy in this city is one of the most important events of the season and a large and fashionable audience is looked for.

An innovation in the way of a show is booked for the New Plainfield theatre for Monday night, April 15. It is a musical comedy called "Tom, Dick and Harry," in which Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, who cornered the fun market last season, are the principal mirth-provokers. "Tom, Dick and Harry" is a novelty because it possesses a plausible interesting plot and is such a clever compound of music, frivolity and humor that it would make a hit on the North Pole, where everyone expects to receive a chilly reception. This is the creation of Harry Williams, Aaron Hoffman and Egbert Van Alstyne, and they have done their work uncommonly well.

—Miss May Brown, of the West End, has taken a clerical position in New York.

—H. H. Coward, of East Front street, has issued invitations for a dance to be given by him in the Camera Club rooms Thursday night.

—Robert Radford, who owns the property at West Front street and Elmwood place, is planning some extensive improvements. He proposes to move the old house now standing on the corner to the rear of the lot, facing Elmwood place, and then erecting a modern dwelling on the corner.

Miss Nellie Brown, of Dunellen, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. "Bob" Fitzsimmons left yesterday morning for Harrisburg, Pa., where they will resume their tour in "A Fight for Love." They play through Pennsylvania and Ohio until next month, when they return east and close their season at the New Plainfield theatre.

"The Vanderbilt Cup," with Barney Oldfield's great auto racing scene and all the accessories that gave the play its long Broadway run, is to be an early attraction at the New Plainfield. Grace George in "Clothes" and Eugene Blair in "The Woman in the Case" are also to be here this month.

George M. Cohan's new play, "Fifty Miles From Boston," had its initial performance at Springfield, Mass., tial performance at Springfield, Mass., of the "Down Easters" is worth anything it will give "Johnny Jones" and "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" a tight run. The play was originally written for Lulu Glaser, who changed her mind about accepting it just before its completion. The principal part is being taken by Miss Grayce Scott, who is considered a very clever comedian beside a character actress. The company includes a number of well known players, among them Fritz Williams, Donald Brian, Emma Janvier and James Morley.

Manager Counihan returned yesterday from Atlantic City, where he enjoyed the Easter parade and incidentally talked with some of the "big people" about plans for next season. While he is not giving away any secrets he has confided the fact that Plainfield will have the greatest galaxy of theatrical stars in its history during 1907-8.

America's youngest dramatic star, Maude Fealy, who has won the greatest success of her career in Martha Morton's new comedy, "The Illusion of Beatrice," in which she will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, was leading woman for the late Sir Henry Irving when but eighteen years of age. In this connection a most amusing story is told. When Miss Fealy appeared with Sir Henry Irving for the last time in London, a beautifully engrossed testimonial was presented to her by a number of London admirers. The young actress, glowing with pride, showed the document to Sir Henry Irving and with girlish delight, read the list of the names appended to the testimonial. As she mentioned each name, Sir Henry nodded his head with approval, saying, "I know him well," or "he is a friend of Mine." Finally, Miss Fealy read the last name on the list, which was Albert Edward. "I don't know who that is," said Sir Henry, "do you, Miss Fealy?" The young actress said she did not but would find out. The next day she sent the following note to Sir Henry Irving, "I find that Albert Edward is His Majesty, The King."

Rich Man Weds Poor Girl.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 2.—William A. Dunlap, the wealthy hat manufacturer and Texas mine owner, married Miss Lavender A. Byers here yesterday. Miss Byers was a pretty manicurist whom he met while she was employed in an establishment in the St. James Building, Broadway and Twenty-sixth street, New York. Miss Byers is eighteen years old and is tall and slender, approximating to a considerable degree what is commonly referred to as the "Gibson" type. She had worked as a manicurist for two years.

GUARD AGAINST THE DESTRUCTIVE MOTH

It's a great inconvenience and loss to have one's best clothing destroyed by moth. The busy little insects are almost sure to get in and do much damage, unless you use which affords the best protection for your furs and winter garments. This is an unexcelled preparation and has a pleasant odor.

MA RUGGLES AND CHILDREN AT H. C. PARISH HOUSE.

A Fine Entertainment Has Been Arranged by Borough Episcopalians.

Mother Ruggles and her large family of children will be seen at Holy Cross Parish House tomorrow evening. Mrs. Ruggles, who prides herself upon her ancestry, being a McGrill, will show herself equal to the task of getting her ten active youngsters ready for a swell dinner party. Her ideas of polite society and social usage combined with her efforts to make fashion plates of her little ones are bound to set the audience into roar of laughter. Mrs. Ruggles will be represented by Earl Moran, her eldest daughter Sarah Maude will be true to life in the skillful hands of Walter Knowlton delineating the character; Baby Larry will be taken by Master Harry Kanen; Clem, Con, Pearia and the rest of the kids will be seen in the persons of Riley, Brakeley, the Nobles, Carroll Taylor, Alan Diman and several other members of the club.

Mother Ruggles is not to furnish all the entertainment however. It is understood that a very amusing coon, Jumbo Jim, will make lots of funny trouble in the family where he is employed. Russell Conroy is the real article when he gets on the burnt cork, and Hannah, the maid, will be very spicy in her set to with Jumbo. Will Taylor, as Hannah, is voted to be the best ever. Stern Guardian Gobbtelon will be represented by William Little. The boys say Bill is all right. As for Adelaide the caste all agree that in Percy Watson she is the sweetest, demurest little maiden that ever had a stern guardian to run away from. Her lover, Fred Gray, in real life other wise known as Henry Merville, is so fascinating a hero that no one wonders when Adelaide elopes with him. Bert Miller certainly makes a choice and sad wife of Gobbleton, turning up when least expected. The lawyer who is well named Cheathem, a second Webster in skill and ability, is safe in the hands of the best pitcher in town, Ira Vail. Two laborers, horny handed sons of toil, are certainly it, when Blazier and Berse get to work. Jumbo Jim as the farce is called is not to be sneezed at.

Before the play a boy from Orange, Roland Bomeisler, will sing a ballad. He will sing again before Mrs. Ruggles appears. Those who heard the boy sing at the organ recital say there is nothing quite so good as a fine boy soprano which Master Roland is.

Earthquake In Armenia.

Constantinople, April 2.—The report that a severe earthquake, accompanied by loss of life has occurred at Bitlis appears to be confirmed, but the number of deaths is unknown. Beyond a brief message from the missionaries at Bitlis reporting that the town is badly damaged, that they are homeless and that their people are encamped in the snow, which in places is twenty-five feet deep, no news of the disaster has reached this city.

JERSEY ART AT JAMESTOWN.

State Building, During the Southern Exposition, Will Have a Picture Exhibition.

Trenton, April 2.—The walls of New Jersey's building at the Jamestown Exposition will be decorated with paintings from the brushes of New Jersey artists.

This will be a radical departure from the former mode of decorating State buildings, and the work has been placed in charge of F. F. Fredericks, director of the Trenton School of Industrial Arts.

Stork Overtook This Train.

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—While a Michigan Central immigrant train was speeding on its way to Windsor yesterday morning a baby boy was born to Mrs. Mary Rosenbloom, a Russian immigrant, on her way to the United States. The mother was anxious that the child be born in the United States, the land of her adoption, and the engine driver put on full speed at her request, but the stork took matters in its own hands and the youngest member of the Rosenbloom family will have to claim the Dominion of Canada as the land of his nativity, although he missed being born under the Stars and Stripes by only a few hours.

U. S. Inspects Union Property.

Rahway, April 2.—Several farms adjoining each other, located on St. George's avenue, running northward from the T. A. McNaughton properties, have been looked over by United States Government and military officials for the past few months at various times, as a proposed site for a government proving ground. The extensive roll of the hills lying to the west, with the level fields to the north and east, made a favorable impression on the visitors. The close proximity to Rahway and other cities added to the advantages of the site.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

OFFICIAL.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, February 7th, 1907, at 2:30 p. m. Roll-call showed the following members present: Director King and Freeholders Adams, Cady, Cladek, Darby, Doane, Donahue, Gruener, Jones, Krouse, Maurer, Meisel, Perry, Pierson, Robinson, Smith, Swain and Woodruff, 18; absent, Freeholders Fay and Wilbur, 2.

Owing to the absence of the clerk, Mr. N. R. Leavitt was designated and appointed to act as clerk, pro tem.

On motion the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was laid over.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From E. E. Williamson, President, etc., as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 8th, 1907.

Hon. Beujamin F. King, Elizabeth, N. J. Dear Sir: As President of the State Crarities Aid Association I made my yearly inspection of the Union county jail, and I found it as usual, in most excellent condition; perfectly clean and its inmates under the best of discipline. I wish to express my gratification as President of the Association at the progress being made in the construction of a prison for women, and that in a short time quarters will be provided for minors. I was questioned by the Association to say to you that the Union county jail is today the cleanest, the best managed, and in every respect the best governed jail in the State.

I am yours sincerely,
E. E. WILLIAMSON,
President State Charities Aid Association.

On motion of Freeholder Cady received and ordered to be spread on the minutes in full.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By special committee on Milton avenue drawbridge of Rahway, N. J.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to this board for the purpose of investigating the work on the drawbridge at Milton avenue, in Rahway, for which F. Ayers rendered a bill to this board for $211.63, desire to report, that they have inspected the bridge and work done, and the circumstances surrounding said repairs, and while they feel that the objections made to the payment of said bill seem to be proper, yet your committee would recommend the payment of said bill, as we find from actual inspection, and explanation by the contractor that the work and materials charged for were performed and furnished. Your committee would also recommend the adoption of a rule that no Freeholder order work to exceed the sum of fifty dollors without receiving authority from this board.

Respectfully,
Thomas J. Pierson, Henry Krouse, Chas. A. Smith, Peter H. Meisel, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Adams the report was received and recommendations therein contained adopted without dissent.

By the committee on claim of David Taylor for damages, etc.

Gentlemen: Your committee, to whom was referred the claim of David Taylor for injuries to horse by falling through bridge at Washington avenue, Plainfield, being a county line bridge, would respectfully report that they had conferred with a similar committee of the Somerset county board, and have agreed on a compromise settlement of thirty-five dollars; one-half to be paid by each county. Would recommend that a warrant be drawn for $17.50 in favor of David Taylor.

S. P. T. Wilbur, Committee.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Abrush dipped in salt water should be used in cleaning bamboo furniture.

Good macaroni is of a yellowish tint, does not break readily in cooking and swells to two or three times its bulk.

A simple and very efficient disinfectant to pour down a sink is a small quantity of charcoal mixed with water.

Warm bread and cake should be cut with a knife and blade of which has been heated by standing it in boiling water.

To remove fruit stains from the hands hold the hands in the fumes of a sulphur match or over burning sulphur.

When a house is being painted, pails of water should be placed in the rooms. A handful of hay plunged into the water helps to get rid of the smell.

Wring chamois out of soapy water without rinsing. When it dries it is soft and serviceable, instead of stiff.

ANCIENT ARMIES.

Italy a little before Hannibal's time was able to send into the field nearly 1,000,000 men.

The army of Terah, king of Ethiopia, consisted of 1,000,000 men and 300 chariots of war.

Hannibal during his campaign in Italy and Spain plundered 400 towns and destroyed 300,000 men.

Sesostris, king of Egypt, led against his enemies 600,000 men, 24,000 cavalry and twenty-seven scythe armed chariots in 1491 B. C.

The city of Thebes had a hundred gates and could send out at each gate 10,0000 fighting men and 200 chariots—in all, 1,000,000 men and 2,000 chariots.

Hamilcar went from Carthage and landed near Palermo. He had a fleet of 2,000 ships and 3,000 small vessels and a land force of 300,000 men. At the battle in which he was defeated 150,000 were slain.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"But Dunkirk is their man isn't he?" he suggested.

"Any man is their man whom you choose to give them," replied I. "And don't you give them Dunkirk? He takes the money from the big business interests, and with it hires the men to sit in the legislature and finances the machine throughout the state. It takes big money to run a political machine. His power belongs to you, people, to a dozen of you, and you can take it away from him; his popularity belongs to the party, and it would cheer just as loudly for any other man who wore the party uniform."

"I see," he said reflectively; "the machine rules the party, and money rules the machine and we supply the money and don't get the benefit. It's as if my wife or one of my employes run my property."

"Much like that," I answered. "Now, why shouldn't you finance the machine directly and do away with Dunkirk who takes as his own wages about half what you give him? He takes it and wastes it in stock speculations—gambling with your hard-earned wealth, gambling it away cheerfully, because he feels that you people will always give him more."

"What do you propose?" he asked; and I could see that his acute business mind was ready to pounce upon my scheme and search it hopefully if mercilessly.

"A secret absolutely secret, combine of a dozen of the big corporations of my state—those that make the bulk of the political business—the combine to me under the management of some man whom they trust and whose interests are business, not political."

"He would have enormous power," said Roebuck.

I knew that he would point first and straight at that phase of my scheme, no matter how subtly I might disguise it. So I had pushed it into his face and had all but pointed at it myself so that I might explain it away. "Power?" said I. "How do you make that out? Any member of the combine that is dissatisfied can withdraw at any time and go back to the old way of doing business. Besides, the manager won't dare appear in it at all,—he'll have to hide himself from the people and from the politicians, behind some popular figurehead. There's another advantage that mustn't be overlooked. Dunkirk and these other demagogues who bleed you are inflaming public sentiment more and more against big corporations—that's their way of fighting you into yielding to their demands. Under the new plan their demogogery would cease. Don't you think it's high time for the leaders of commerce and industry to combine intelligently against demagogery? Don't you think they have cringed before it and have financed and fostered it too long?"

This argument which I had reserved for the last, had all the effect I anticipated. He sat rubbing his broad, bald forehead, twisting his white whiskers and muttering to himself. Presently he asked: "When are you and Lottie Ramsay going to be married?"

"In the fall," said I. "In about three months."

"Well we'll talk it over again—after you are married and settled. If you had the substantial interests to give you the steadiness and ballast, I think you'd be the man for your scheme. Yes, something—some such thing as you suggest—must be done to stop the poisoning of public opinion against the country's best and strongest men. The political department of the business interests ought to be thoroughly organized as the other departments are. Come to me again after you're married."

I saw that his mind was fixed, that he would be unable to trust me until I was of his class, of the aristocracy of corpulent corporate persons. I went away, much downcast; but two weeks afterward he telegraphed for me, and when I came he at once brought up the subject of the combine.

"Go ahead with it," he said. "I've been thinking it over and talking it over. We shall need only nine others besides myself and you. You represent the Ramsay interest."

He equipped me with the necessary letters of introduction and sent me forth on a tour of my own state. When it was ended, my "combine" was formed. And I was the combine—was master of this political blind pool. I had taken the first, the hardest step, toward the realization of my dream of real political power—to become an unbossed boss, not the agent and servant of plutocracy or partizanship, but using both to further my own purposes and plans.

I had thus laid out for myself the difficult feat of controlling two fiery steeds. Difficult, but not impossible, if I should develop skill as a driver—for the skillful driver has a hand so light that his horses fancy they are going their own road at their own gait.

CHAPTER [illegible]

Miss Ramsay Revolts.

The last remark Roebuck had made to me—on his doorstep, as I was starting on my mission—was: "Can't you and Lottie hurry up that marriage of yours? You ought to get it over and out of the way." When I returned home with my mission accomplished, the first remark my mother made after our greeting was: "Harvey, I wish you and Lottie were going to marry a little sooner.

A note in her voice made me look swiftly at her, and then, without a word, I was on my knees, my face in her lap and she was stroking my head. "I feel that I'm going to—to your father, dear," she said.

I heard and I thought I realized; but I did not. Who, feeling upon him the living hand of love, was ever able to imagine that hand other than alive? But her look of illness, of utter exhaustion—that I understood and suffered for. "You must rest," said I; "you must sit quiet and be waited on until you are strong again."

"Yes, I will rest," she answered, "as soon as my boy is settled."

That very day I wrote Carlotta telling her about my mother's health and asking her to change the date of our wedding to the first week in August, then just under a month away. She telegraphed me to come and talk it over.

She was at the station in her phaeton to meet me. We had not driven far before I felt and saw that she was intensely irritated against me. As I unburdened my mind of my anxieties about mother, she listened coldly. And I had to wait a long time before I got her answer in a strained voice and with averted eyes: "Of course, I'm sorry your mother isn't well, but I can't get ready that soon."

It was not her words that exasperated me; the lightning of speech from the storm-clouds of anger to clear the air. It was her expression.

Never have I known anyone who could concentrate into brows and eyes and chin and lips more of that sullen and aggressive obstinacy which is the climax of provocativeness. Patience, in thought at least, with refusal has not been one of my virtues. This refusal of hers, this denial of happiness to one who had deserved so much and had received so little, set temper to working in me like a quick poison. But I was silent, not so much from prudence as from inability to find adequate words.

"I can't do it," repeated Carlotta, "and I won't." She made it clear that she meant the "won't"—that she was bent upon a quarrel.

But in my struggle to train those stanchest of servants and maddest of masters, the passions, I had got at least far enough away to choose both the time and the ground of a quarrel. So I said: "Very well, Carlotta. Then, that is settled." And with an air sufficiently deceptive to pass muster before angry eyes, I proceeded to talk of indifferent matters.

As I sat beside her, my temper glowering in the straining leash, I revolted her conduct and tried to puzzle out its meaning. It is clear, thought I, that she does not care for me as people about to marry usually profess to care. Then, does she wish to break the engagement?

That tamed my anger instantly.

Yes, I thought on, she wishes to be free—to free me. And, as my combine is formed and my career well advanced in the way to being established, what reason is there for trying to prevent her from freeing herself? None—for I can easily explain the situation to mother. "Yes," I concluded, "you can avoid a quarrel, can remain friends with Carlotta, can give and get freedom." What had changed her? I did not know; I did not waste time in puzzling; I did not tempt fate by asking: "You are poor, she is rich," I reminded myself. "That makes it impossible for you to hesitate. You must give her no excuse for thinking you lack pride."

Then I reasoned and planned, my temper back in its old kennel and peaceful as a sheep. That evening I avoided being alone with her; just as I was debating how to announce that I must be leaving by the first train in the morning a telegram came from Roebuck calling me to Chicago at once. When we were all going to bed, I said to Mrs. Ramsay: "I shall see you and Ed in the morning, but—" to Carlotta—"you don't get up so early. I'll say good-by now"—this in the friendliest possible way.

I was conscious of Mrs. Ramsay's look of wonder and anxiety; of Ed's wild stare from Carlotta to me and back again at her. She bit her lip and her voice was unsteady as she said: "Oh, no, Harvey. I'll be up." There was a certain meekness in her tone which would probably have delighted me had I been what is usually called "masterful."

When I came down at seven o'clock after an unquiet night, Carlotta was lying in wait for me, took me into the parlor and shut the door. "What do you mean?" she demanded, facing me with something of her wonted imperiousness.

"Mean?" said I, for once feeling no resentment at her manner.

"By leaving—this way," she explained, with impatience.

"You heard Mr. Roebuck's telegram," said I.

"You are angry with me," she persisted.

"No, Carlotta," said I. "I was, but

She Was Waiting at the Station in Her Phaeton to Meet Me.

I am not. As soon as I saw what you wished I was grateful, not angry."

"What did I wish?"

"To let me know as gently and as kindly as you could that you proposed to end our engagement. And I guess you are right. We do not seem to care for each other as we ought if we—"

"You misunderstood me," she said, pale and with flashing eyes, and in such a struggle with her emotions, that she could say no more.

If I had not seen that only her pride and her vanity were engaged in the struggle, and her heart not at all, I think I should have abandoned my comfortable self-deception that my own pride borbade discussion with her. As it was, I was able to say: "Don't try to spare me, Carlotta. I'm glad you had the courage and the good sense not to let us both drift into irrevocable folly. I thank you." I opened the door into the hall. "Let us talk no more about it. We could say to each other only the things that sting or the things that stab. Let us be friends. You must give me your friendship, at least." I took her hand.

She looked strangely at me. "You want me to humble myself, to crawl at your feet and beg your pardon," said she between her teeth. "But I shan't." She snatched away her hand and threw back her head.

"I wish nothing but what is best for us both," said I. "But let us not talk of it now—when neither of us is calm."

"You don't care for me!" she cried.

"Do you love me?" I rejoined.

Her eyes shifted. I waited for her reply, and when it did come, I said: "Let us go to breakfast."

ALL-PLAINFIELD TEAM DOWNS THE GARWOODS

ORGAN TOWN FOLKS LOSE THREE STRAIGHT IN BOWLING SERIES.

A picked team of Plainfield bowlers known as the "All-Plainfields" or the "ponies," rolled a series of three games on McLaughlin's alleys last night with five men representing the Garwood A. C. It proved a clean sweep for the former, the nearest the Garwood's came to landing a game being twenty-three pins. In the first they were defeated by 127 and in the third by forty-six.

Ed Britton started out with the Garwoods but a bunch of splits gave him a 119 score and he dropped out. His place was taken by Chauncey Koons who handed in some good figures, 186 and 193. Meyer did the best shooting for the Garwoods, landing an average of 204. For the "ponies," Skinner and Farlee led the aggregation and mowed the pins down like "regular" bowlers.

The scores:

The Pythian "A" team, the best team in the Pythian league of Newark, will play a picked local team tomorrow night, at McLaughlin's alleys.

Mullen and Conklin roll a postponed series in the tourney with VanEmburgh and Blatz and Kiely and Runyon will also roll a postponed set with Woolston and Cunningham tonight.

The big tourney at McLaughlin's, which has been in progress all winter, is scheduled to close Friday night, but it will be impossible owing to several games that must be rolled off. At the present time, Gaddis and Dilks are in the lead; with Kiely and Runyon second and Mack and Meyer third.

Preparing for Golf Season.

Hughes Fights Back.

New York, April 2.—While his enemies at Albany are planning his defeat, Governor Hughes took an active hand in the fight by making a notable speech at Utica last night. In it he appealed to the people of the State to save the Public Utilities bill from the amendments suggested by the public service corporations. The speech was made before the Utica Chamber of Commerce at the annual banquet of that organization. The Governor replied to the critics of the utilities bill with a warning that the will of the people cannot be permanently disregarded. He demanded a free hand for the proposed State Public Service Commission in regulating the corporations of this State. Declaring that federal regulation is not State regulation, and that federal powers and States powers are exercised in different spheres, he objected to a general court review of the administrative acts of the proposed Public Service Commission, on the ground that it is not in accordance with the theory of our government that an attempt should be made to convert the Appellate Court into an administrative board. The Governor is facing in the State Legislature a combination of Republicans, Democrats and Hearst men, who have determined to fiht to the bitter end his policy for State regulation of public utility corporations. As a means to that end the Governor's opponents are straining every nerve to delay, if not prevent, the ousting of Otto Kelsey, Superintendent of Insurance, and they believe they will succeed today in reversing the recent action of the Senate Judiciary Committee and obtain from it the decision to give Mr. Kelsey the fullest sort of a hearing.

M. D.'S OPPOSE BILL.

Allopathic Physicians Object to Creation of An Osteopathic Examining Board.

Trenton, April 2.—Physicians from many parts of the State who are opposing a creation of an osteopathic examining board and osteopaths who want to cut apart from the present State Board of Medical Examiners, took up nearly two hours before the house committee on miscellaneous business yesterday afternoon.

The bill considered was House No. 469, which Assemblyman Jone W. Lane, of Essex, introduced last week at the instance of the osteopaths who were not satisfied with Senate bill No. 302, which the regular physicians introduced last week as a compromise measure.

Dr. David English, of New Brunswick, was the first speaker for the opponents of the bill.

"One thing I would like to state at the beginning of this meeting, is that the medical men are not here to speak of medical things, but the care of the public health. The passage of this bill would violate the enactments of the whole State laws in this respect."

Dr. English stated that the bill of the osteopaths was faulty in most respects. "It will impair the general good work of the State Board of Medical Examiners."

Dr. Charles E. Fleck, an Orange osteopath, in his argument in favor of their bill, said that osteopathy is abused on mechanical principle. The old school is based on chemical. The osteopaths do not consider it necessary to use drugs.

He maintained that the purpose of the osteopaths' bill was to prevent unfledged osteopaths from "hanging out their shingles" without a thorough knowledge on the part of those in authority as to whether those who come in have had the proper instruction.

Franklin A. Fort, of East Orange, counsel for the State Osteopathic Association, spoke on the legal status of the bill. He said that there was nothing unusual in the measure, and it should be passed to legalize a "profession that is being recognized more and more each year."

Big Profits on $10,000.

New York, April 2.—From the books of the Davis-Robison-Reilly poolroom syndicate last night came the revelation of the profits and the distribution of them during a period of nine years. It was District Attorney Jerome who made the first discovery as he read page after page of the neatly kept accounts, and it was his assistant, Almuth C. Vandiver, who had obtained the slips and checks from bank and trust company officers, who had called at his office with assurances that they would do all in their power to assist in this the warmest hunt ever conducted for the elusive "man higher up" sought for so many years. Books of the first two or three years were illustrative, and they showed that with a "bank roll" of $10,000, the syndicate made from $5,000 to $30,000 a month—at least $250,000 a year—which went to five persons in varying percentages.

Tug Sinks, Two Drown.

New York, April 2.—Run down and sunk by the ferryboat Musconetcong, of the Christopher street line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad service, in the snowstorm and darkness early yesterday morning, the tugboat James D. Dailey was sought by wrecking tugs last night. The hull of the sunken tug is supposed to contain the bodies of John Shanaphy, of South Amboy, a mate of the Dailey, and a fireman, James McCluskey, of No. 19 South street.

CHIEF KIELY A "WIZARD"

Came Within Two of Getting Perfect Bowling Score in Tourney Series.

BROKE CITY RECORDS

In Three Games Made an Average of 261.1, a Feat Never Equalled by a Local Pin-hitter.

In the presence of a big crowd at McLaughlin's alleys, last night, Chief P. S. Kiely came within two of making the coveted perfect bowling score, thereby breaking the local record and establishing himself as the city's champion pin-hitter. He made eleven straight strikes and sent the ball down the boards for the twelfth, hitting nicely in the pocket. Two of the pins wavered, however, and then settled back to stay, making his score 298 instead of the possible 300. The previous high score for the city was 296 made last fall by Harry Radin.

The chief's exhibition of "wizard" shooting took place in the course of a series of tourney games between himself and his partner, Judge Runyon, and Charles F. Meyer, Jr., and Dan Mack. The big score was only one example of what he can do as in the three games of the match he made an average of 261.1, thus establishing another record. In addition, the Kiely-Runyon combination also beat the tourney's high team score twice, the previous figures being 446, made by themselves last winter. In the first game they got a total of 463 and in the third 481. Mack and Meyer were also on the job and though they lost the first and third, they captured the second by a lead of twenty-one, the figures standing 401 to 380.

Before the series with Mack and Meyer, the "municipal" team rolled three games with Woolston and Cunningham and took them all. The winning of the five games and the loss of but one gives them a chance to tie Gaddis and Dilkes for first place in the tourney. Kiely and Runyon have won twenty-seven games and lost twelve while Gaddis and Dilkes have won twenty-eight and lost eleven. Each team has three more games to roll, the opponents in each instance being the Schaub brothers of Raritan, and it is possible that they will take place tomorrow night. As it stands now, the chief and the judge will get second prize for place, high team score prize, high team average prize, and it is possible the chief will get high individual average.

The high rolling seemed to have been contagious, last night, as in another tourney series, John Conklin went "crazy" and made three scores over 200. They were 224, 204 and 206, and not to be outdone Harry VanEmburgh loomed up with a 237 and a 193. The only unfortunates during the evening were Sam Cunningham and "Willie" Mullen, who fell into the 130 class. Mullen and Conklin took two out of their three games.

The scores:

Kiely	279	207	298
Runyon	184	173	183
Meyer	178	225	178

Woolston	140	179	175

Mullen	151	134	146
Conklin	224	204	206

P. C. C. Will Open Soon.

The officers and trustees of the Plainfield Country Club met at the Casino last night and discussed informally matters pertaining to the opening of the season, which will probably be the last of this month. The course is now open for play and is pronounced to be in good condition. The season's schedule, which is in the hands of the golf committee, will be ready for distribution in about ten days. There will be the usual number of club competitions for cups offered by individuals and the club. The prospects are bright for a successful year.

WHITEHOUSE STATION EXPERIENCES BAD FIRE

BUSINESS SECTION WIPED OUT AND WHOLE TOWN THREATENED.

A fire, which started early yesterday morning, completely wiped out a business section of Whitehouse Station and threatened at one time to destroy the whole town. The loss is estimated at about $10,000, which is almost covered by insurance.

Charles Vanderbeek's baker shop, William Reilly's barber shop, Frank G. Sharp's butcher shop, a large storage room and the Union Hotel office and sheds were burned to the ground with their contents.

An alarm was sent in to the Whitehouse firemen, and it was largely due to their efforts that the flames did not spread. At one time the Union Hotel, the postoffice and the residences of Coroner Eugene Hoffman and Mrs. Harriet G. Pidcock were threatened.

A telegram for help was sent to Somerville, but the local firemen got the flames under control and the request was countermanded. The blaze is said to have originated in the bakery.

Over the baker shop lived Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis and Thomas Durling and his daughter, Carrie. They were awakened by the flames breaking through the floor into their rooms.

Mr. Durling had been ill for several days and was too weak to escape. Several townspeople got him out and carried him to a place of safety. The others escaped by the stairs and went out at the back of the building.

The burned structures were owned by Augustus C. Durling, Charles W. Pidcock, Mrs. H. Eugene Park and William C. Quick, the last named being proprietor of the Union Hotel. Scarcely any of the contents of the building were rescued. Miss Durling lost a gold watch and $100 in cash.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB STEADILY GROWS

BIGGER BY FOURTEEN MEMBERS SINCE JAN. 1—EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT.

One of the pleasantest entertainments of their series of monthly affairs was enjoyed by the members of the Congregational Church Men's Club last night. A good-sized gathering enjoyed a varied programme of music, story and impersonations to the full.

The chief entertainer was Frank G. Reynolds, of Boston, Mass., a professional. He sang, gave imitations and rendered an admirable monologue. Master James Vail played piano selections, and Bertram Tallamy sang. Refreshments were served.

One new members was added to the club list. The membership has been growing steadily for several months. Fourteen names have been added to the list since the first of the year.

The last of the social sessions will be held on May 7. The affair will be a "ladies' night." The entertainers will be announced later.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Miss Rachel Daudt Becomes Wife of Fred Mortimer Slater.

Miss Rachel Daudt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. Daudt, of Grove street, and Fred Mortimer Slater, son of Mrs. F. M. Slater, of Jackson avenue, were married at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was witnessed only by immediate relatives because of the serious illness of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, whose death occurred this morning.

Rev. Dr. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman and there were no attendants. Miss Daudt wore a costume of pale gray cloth and carried bride roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Slater will make their home in Newark where the groom has furnished an apartment. He is employed in the Newark offices of the Public Service Corporation.

Lecture On Wrecking.

Capt. H. B. Saunders entertained a large crowd at the Y. M. C. A. last night, with his lecture on marine wrecking before the boys' department. He showed a number of graphic views illustrative of the work of saving wrecked vessels. Capt. Saunders is conected with a wrecking firm and knows the work thoroughly.

Photographer Released.

Hugh J. Todd, a photographer arrested yesterday for drunkenness, was released this morning by Judge Runyon, because his woman partner, on whose complaint he was arrested, refused to appear against him.

C. W. M'CUTCHEN CHOSEN PARK GOLF CLUB PRES.

TRUSTEES HOLD AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT PARK CLUB.

Officers were elected and plans made for the opening of the golf season at a meeting of the trustees of the Park Golf Club held last night at the Park Club. This meeting was deferred until this time, owing to the absence of C. W. McCutchen, who was re-elected president, with Reuben Knox vice-president and Charles B. Morse, secretary and treasurer.

These committees were appointed: Green, Reuben Knox, chairman; Alexander Gilbert, Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll; house, Miss Lydie Loizeaux, chairman; Miss May Shreve, Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, A. W. Kenworthy; golf, Charles B. Morse, chairman; John L. Watson, J. B. Betts; membership, Chas. B. Morse, chairman; John E. Stamer, Walter M. McNaughton.

William Kiernan was appointed green keeper and he will start at once putting the course in condition. For this time of the year the course is excellent and the prospects for a successful season are better than ever before.

The golf committee discussed plans for the year and it was decided to re-engage George Anderson as steward. Lunches and suppers, which were so popular last year, will again be a feature of club life. The popularity of the play for the Hyde cup, which lasted through October last year, induced the trustees to decide in favor of a series of monthly competitions for cups to be offered by individuals and the club. These in addition to play for the President's cup and the regular holiday trophies, will tend to bring out a large and enthusiastic field. It was left to the golf committee to arrange the details for these competitions. A challenge was received from the New Brunswick Golf Club for a series of matches and it was left to the golf committee to arrange the same if a sufficient interest is shown.

No definite date was fixed for opening the course, but this will depend altogether on the weather and the progress made in putting the course in shape. By a vote of the trustees, Millard Fillmore Elderton and Walter C. Dobbins were elected honorary members of the club.

WESLYAN MUSICAL CLUBS DELIGHT LARGE AUDIENCE.

College Boys Present a Fine Programme at Monroe Avenue M. E. Church.

Under the auspices of the Men's Association of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, the Wesleyan Glee and Musical Clubs gave their annual Easter concert in the church last night before an audience that more than filled the auditorium. The concert was without doubt the best ever given by the club here and each number on the programme was encored. The glee club as well as the musical clubs are exceptionally well balanced and in the rendition of the several numbers showed care in training. In the vocal selections the club wisely refrained from the old worn-out college songs and gave instead many new and popular songs were substituted.

An added pleasure were the recitations by Mr. Price, whose clever work won for him great applause. An effective selection was James Whitcomb's Riley's "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," with glee club accompaniment. The programme was as follows:

"Medley, "air by Northrop, '07, Mandolin Club; "In Absence," Buck, Glee Club; readings, Mr. Price; "A Lemon in the Garden of Love," Glee Club; reading, Mr. Price, with Glee Club; "Spin, Spin," Jungst, Glee Club; reading, Mr. Price; "His Honor the Mayor," Mandolin Club; "Victory," Waite, '06, Glee Club.

Hunt Club to Open Season.

The opening of the season for the Watchung Hunt Club will be held on Saturday, when the first hunt will be held. The start will be made at the Plainfield Country Club and end at the Watchung Hunt Club's home at Colonia. Afterward tea will be served under the direction of Mrs. Charles C. Marshall, of New York; Mrs. Charles D. Freeman, of Colonia and Mrs. Lewis E. Waring, of this city. It is expected that if the weather is favorable there will be a large turn-out of the members.

Approaching Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, of West Seventh street, for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, and William Fleet Taliaferro, formerly of Gloucester County, Virginia, but now of Plainfield. The event will be celebrated Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will reside at West Seventh and Liberty streets, Mr. Taliaferro having purchased that property.

PRESS SAVES COUNTRY

James E. Martine Eulogizes the Newspapers at Jefferson Dinner.

REPLIES TO McSHERRY

Lawyer Said Unbridled Press Was Worse Than Corporations—Martine's Appreciation On the Father of Democracy.

James E. Martine was the principal speaker at the first annual banquet of the Young Men's Democratic Club of New Brunswick, last night. The dinner was a Jefferson day affair.

It was held at the Mansion House. There were 200 diners, Democrats from various parts of the county being among them.

Mr. Martine, speaking on "Our Country," replied to the speech made by Howard McSherry on St. Patrick's Day, in which the lawyer said it was not the corporations that were ruining the country, but the unbridled press. Mr. Martine said that the liberty of the press conserved the interests of the people. The papers exposed the rottenness of the corporations and curbed them. They did more for the people than any other agency.

Continuing, Mr. Martine spoke of Thomas Jefferson. It was he, the speaker said, who brought about the nullification of church and state in Virginia; he worked always for political liberty and free religion. He was a wealthy man, but he always bore a good reputation. Had a law framed by him been passed in 1800, the slaves would have gradually been freed and the Civil War would not have been fought. Jefferson drew that measure, although he was himself a slaveholder. It was defeated by one vote, and would have passed had a representative from New Jersey been in his seat.

The speakers besides Mr. Martine were Representative William Hughes, of Paterson, and James Baker, of Hudson county.

REPLIES TO PROTEST AGAINST THE SHAW PLAY

MANAGER COUNIHAN EXPLAINS FACTS IN CONNECTION WITH BOOKING.

When interviewed by a Daily Press reporter this morning with reference to the Monday Afternoon Club's protest against the appearance in this city of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," Manager W. J. Counihan of the New Plainfield theatre expressed deep regret that its coming should have engendered any opposition.

"The play has been running in New York for the past four weeks," said Mr. Counihan, "and it was booked into my house through a responsible agency that realizes what it means to antagonize local sentiment. When 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' was first produced in New York it was stopped by a foolish and hysterical sentiment, but when the judiciary had passed upon it with calm deliberation, it was declared to be a play with a mission and its presentation was quite within the jurisdiction and under the protection of the law. Since then it has been in other cities in this section and another company is appearing in the West but I have yet to hear of a second protest outside of Plainfield.

"You will recall," continued Mr. Counihan, "that when 'Zaza' was first put on there were protests from every side but after the general public had seen the play it soon died away. In another direction, some people have insisted that 'McFadden's Flats' should not be allowed to be presented here; and so it goes. If I attempted to act as censor for all the plays that are booked into the New Plainfield on the strength of what people think they know about them, my house would be dark the greater part of the time. I have refused dates to burlesque shows and like productions a score of times and if I had thought for one minute that 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' would prove objectionable I would have refused to take it. My acceptance was based largely on the fact that the play was given a special matinee in New York for the benefit of clergymen and they admitted that it was different than what they had expected."

Congregational Easter.

An admirable programme marked the Easter music in the Congregational church Sunday. In addition to the regular choir, the double quartette of the Sunday-school sang, and Arthur Berg, of New York, played a violin solo. Rev. C. L. Goodrich preached on "Radiant Images." The church was nicely decorated.

THRONG OF FRIENDS HONOR DEAD HERO

CROWDS AT FUNERAL OF CONDUCTOR WHO RISKED LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

No funeral at St. Mary's church, Elizabeth, in several years has been as largely attended as the services there yesterday morning, when several hundred of his many friends were present to pay their last respects to the memory of Thomas J. McCabe, the Central Railroad conductor, who was fatally injured in the Communipaw terminal last week while trying to save the lives of two immigrants who stepped in front of a moving train. There were delegations present from the Y. M. C. A. of St. Mary's parish, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Elizabeth Council, K. of C., and the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors and Trainmen, in addition to a large number of city and county officials.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. L. J. Bohl, of St. Mary's church. He was assisted by the Rev. Eugene P. Carroll, of St. Bridget's church, Newark, who delivered the eulogy; the Rev. John H. Hagan, temporary assistant at St. Mary's church; the Rev. B. M. Bogan, of St. Mary's church, Plainfield, and the Rev. Father McCarthy, of Jersey City. There were upward of two score of floral tributes. The pallbearers were Paterick J. Connell and William J. McCloud, representing the Y. M. C. L. A.; Richard T. Potts, representing the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick; William J. Whelan, representing the Knights of Columbus, and Lester Brightman and Thomas Flanagan, for the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors and Trainmen. Interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

TRINTY ENTERTAINMENT PROVED A BIG SUCCESS.

Competent Artists Render a Splendid Programme for Deacons' Fund Benefit.

The entertainment given in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church, last evening, for the benefit of the deacons' fund of the church, attracted a large and thoroughly appreciative audience. The artists presenting the programme were Miss Justine Roberts, elocutionist; Mrs. Ida Randolph-Smalley, pianist, and Miss Nora B. Schenck, soprano soloist, and each one shared the honors of the evening.

Possibly, Miss Roberts received the greatest ovation for her clever work. In addition to the several numbers on the programme, Miss Roberts favor the audience with two impersonations of a child and besides gave a dialogue describing in several different languages the opinions of foreigners about the Statue of Liberty. In all her work she captivated the audience and was repeatedly encored.

Mrs. Smalley also received a flattering reception in her fine rendition of piano solos, and she shared with Miss Roberts in the generous applause following two piano duets, which opened and closed the programme. Mrs. Smalley was probably heard at her best in playing "Dinorah," by Hoffman, and "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn. Of special interest and pleasure were the piano duets on two pianos by Mrs. Smalley and Miss Roberts. The rendition was perfect, the effect being as though one instrument was played. With one one or two exceptions the piano solos were all from memory.

The solo work by Miss Schenck was all to be desired. She has a soprano voice that is both rich and full and her selections were those best suited for it. She was also encored each time. The programme follows:

Duet, "Beautiful Blue Danube," Strauss; Miss Roberts and Mrs. Smalley; vocal solo, "A Winter Lullaby," DeKoven, Miss Nora B. Schenck; reading, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Wiggin, Miss Roberts; piano solo, "Dinorah," Hoffman, Mrs. Smalley; vocal solo, "Good Night, Little Girl, Good Night," Macy, Miss Schenck; character sketch, "A Family Plate," Pauline Phelps, Miss Roberts; piano solo, (a) selected, (b) "Butterfly," Chaminade, Mrs. Smalley; monologue, "Up the Aisle at the Wedding," Miss Roberts; piano solo, "Rondo Capriccioso," Mendelssohn, Mrs. Smalley; piano duet, "British Patrol," Asch, Miss Roberts and Mrs. Smalley.

Adele Watt Named.

Adele F. Watt, former wife of Ex-Commodore Archibald Watt, of the New York Yacht Club, at one time a resident here, has been named as co-respondent by Mrs. William H. Truman in a suit for absolute divorce from her husband. Truman was named as co-respondent when Watt sued for divorce.

Mrs. Mary J. VanNest and grandson, Ernest Conover, of Elmwood place, are spending the week in Washington.

MRS. AGNES PANGBORN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

HAD LIVED IN THE BOROUGH CONTINUOUSLY FOR SEVENTY-THREE YEARS.

Following an illness of six weeks from a complication of troubles, Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, for seventy-three years a resident of North Plainfield, died early this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred M. Slater, of Jackson avenue. Mrs. Pangborn had been a great sufferer for several months past and the end had been expected for some time. Previous to the fatal illness she had enjoyed good health and was remarkably bright for one of her years.

Mrs. Pangborn was born in England 1820 and came to this country when but eight years old. The family embarked on a sailing vessel and it required six weeks for the passage across the Atlantic. She resided with her parents at Jersey City for five years and then came to what is now North Plainfield, retaining her residence there until her death.

Mrs. Pangborn was married twice, her first husband being Ira Pangborn, a member of a well known Plainfield family in its early days. At his death she became the wife of his brother, Stephen Pangborn, who died a few years ago. She is survived by one son and four daughters. They are William H. Pangborn, of the borough; Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Mary Morse, of the borough; Mrs. Albert Hedden, of West Fifth street, and Mrs. William McDonald, of Newark. Mrs. Pangborn was a member of the First Baptist church and was a regular attendant until illness prevented. She was baptized in a former edifice of the present congregation by Rev. Mr. Hill over sixty years ago.

The funeral will be held at Mrs. Slater's home Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be in charge of Dr. Chambliss. Interment will be in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

P. B. A. EXTENDS AID TO ITS SUCCESSORS

GIVES BUILDINGS, GRANDSTANDS AND PARAPHERNALIA TO OTHER NINES.

After a conference with many of the subscribers to the fund raised last year, the officers of the Plainfield Baseball Association met at the Hotel Iroquois, last night, there being an attendance of members as well as officers, and after a full discussion, decided to present to the Y. M. C. A. and the Clinton Avenue Baseball Clubs, the buildings on Crescent Oval used for the past few years as grandstand and bleechers, together with the fences and all other paraphernalia owned by the association, for the purpose of encouraging the sport in the future in this city.

It was with the understanding that Philip Daab waived all claims in the franchise that those at the meeting reached the above conclusion. This statement was signed by William N. Runyon, president; N. B. Smalley, vice president; Charles W. Runyon, treasurer.

This matter has been pending for several weeks, the management of the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenue teams being desirous to secure Crescent Oval as well as the equipment on the grounds. The clubs have obtained a lease of the land for the coming season from the owners, and will use the same jointly. In the opinion of those at last night's meeting the decision reached was the best and will tend to increase the interest in the National game in Plainfield. The clubs now controlling the grounds will begin at once the work of putting them in condition for the opening of the season on May 1.

TWO WERE HURT.

Horse Ran Away Throwing Occupants of Wagon Out.

Frightened by a trolley car, a horse owned and driven by Charles Drake, of the West End, ran away on West Fourth street, last night, throwing him and his companion, Norman K. Barnes, out and severely injuring them. The animal turned completely around at the approach of the car, upsetting the wagon and wrecking it completely.

Both Mr. Drake and Mr. Barnes were considerably cut and bruised about the face and body and were obliged to seek the services of a physician. The horse was badly cut about the legs and otherwise injured and will be out of commission for some time.

HOW UNION STANDS ON THE GOVERNORSHIP

"Silent" Smith's Opinion is that County will be Guided by Sentiment Throughout the State.

HAS SOME FAVORITES

Fort, Collins, Fisk, Frelinghuysen, Pitney and Riker Among the Possibilities.

Supreme Court Clerk William Riker was busy yesterday buttonholing political leaders, his object being to impress them with the fitness of his brother Chandler W. Riker as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Among those with whom he talked was Register of Deeds Frank. H. Smith, the Union county chairman.

Regarding the situation in Union county, Mr. Smith told the Essex county man that the county would be guided largely by the sentiment of the party throughout the State and would be for the man deemed to be the strongest and best fitted by the State leaders and the people. He also stated that Supreme Court Judge J. Franklin Fort and Supreme Court Judge Pitney had many admirers in Union who would work hard for them. Particularly was this the case, he said, among members of the bar. State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, he declared, was unusually strong in Plainfield, where his personal friends would do their utmost in his behalf.

"It may be," said Mr. Smith, "that Mayor Charles L. Fisk will be brought out by his friends for the nomination. If such should be the case he will undoubtedly get the solid delegation from Plainfield and moreover would be supported in other parts of the county. Mr. Fisk he would desire the nomination. The leaders in our county will see to it that the will of the people of the county is obeyed so far as we are concerned.

he would desire the nomination.

It was said in Trenton yesterday that Secretary of State Dickinson was talking in favor of Judge Gilbert Collins. To what extent he will go in behalf of Collins is problematical according to the wise ones but he is said to be very partial to the man from his own county. State Senator Frelinghuysen's boom is the most active one just at present and it is reported that the Raritan man cherishes the fond hope that he will be the nominee.

URGE BUSINESS MEN TO ATTEND MEETING

FULL ATTENDANCE WANTED AT BOARD OF TRADE MEETING,

President Harry W. Marshall has called a meeting of the Board of Trade for tomorrow night and he expresses the hope that there will be a large and representative of business men present as business of importance will be transacted. An effort is being made to make the body a more active one; one that will be a material help to the community.

In referring to the plan to make the meetings more interesting and more productive of good results, Secretary Edward F. Feickert said today that there were many things to be done in the near future which would be of great benefit to the business interests of the community. Nothing could be accomplished, he added, unless the merchants take an active part in the deliberations.

Library Directors Meet.

Routine business was transacted at the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library, last night. The president reported that he had filed with the city clerk the certificate to the Common Council for appropriation for tax money for the ensuing year. The treasurer's and librarian's reports were presented and filed, after which the meeting adjourned.

Board of Trade to Meet.

The rejuvenated Board of Trade, with its new officers in the chair, will meet tomorrow night in the Coward building on Park avenue. It is expected that matters of importance will be presented for discussion.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Mrs. Warren's Profession," the greatest Bernard Shaw play which ran for so long and caused so much discussion in New York, London and Paris, will be given here with Miss Virginia Drew Trescott and an exceptional supporting company at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night.

Maude Fealy, the youngest dramatic star on the American stage and who was the leading woman of Sir Henry Irving, while still in her teens, has won her a most pronounced success in Martha Morton's latest comedy, "The Illusion of Beatrice," in which she will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. When Maude Fealy was but eighteen years of age, she was selected by Sir Henry Irving to become his leading woman in London. The old world critics stood aghast when they heard the news. The announcement that a young American girl was to succeed that popular idol, Ellen Terry, aroused almost a storm of indignation among players and the press of London. But Sir Henry Irving only smiled and asked everyone to wait. When Maude Fealy first appeared with Sir Henry Irving, her reception was a cold one but ere the first act was over, she had stirred that London audience to its depth, while before the last act of the play, the young American actress was showered with flowers by the occupants of boxes and stalls and the "pit" and gallery yelled their approval. Maud Fealy captured London's approval in a single night. Her remarkable girlish personality and charming ways are shown to particular advantage in "The Illusion of Beatrice," which New York critics declare to be the cleverest work from the pen of the noted dramatist, Martha Morton.

Bickel, Watson and Frothe, who once made the sawdust arena ring with laughter and later caused the same effect in the vaudeville theatres, will be seen here at the New Plainfield theatre on Monday afternoon and night, April 15, in a musical comedy entitled "Tom, Dick and Harry," as stars under the management of A. H. Woods. This is their second season of immense success in this field of amusement. Their unique talents are greatly enhanced in an environment of pretty girls, fine scenery and a supporting company of merit. "Tom, Dick and Harry" is a whirl of laughter, jingling music and feminine beauty from start to finish.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

THE STOMACH.

My but peoples' stomachs do cause a lot of trouble. I offered to wager some doctors in St. Paul, Minn., that one half of all sickness is caused by the stomach. After I assured them that my medicine did nothing but put the stomach in shape and they had spent a day listening to what people who called on me had to say, they had to agree with me. They heard people come in and tell me that for years they had been near the grave with Bright's disease, or lung trouble, or kidney complaint and all manner of diseases and that the New Discovery had cured them. Of course these people were mistaken, it was nothing but their stomachs. As a matter of fact when the stomach gives out most everything else is thrown out of order too.

C. H. POWELL.

When a person feels tired and dull and despondent, is loosing flesh and don't sleep well, has a poor memory, a bad taste in the mouth, a coated tongue, and other troubles he's liable to believe a lot of things are the matter with him. Nine chances to one it's his stomach. I've seen Cooper's New Discovery bring back health to too many people in just this shape to believe anything else. Here's a letter about it:

"I suffered for a long time without knowing just what was the matter with me. I seldom felt like eating. I lost greatly in weight. My digestion was extremely poor and when I did eat I invariably suffered afterward. I was constipated and frequently suffered from nerve racking, violent headaches. When I heard of what the Cooper remedies were doing for others I resolved to try them."

"Relief came with the first bottle. My appetite and digestion improved rapidly. I am no longer constipated nor do I have those dreadful headaches. I sleep well and am gaining flesh." C. H. Powell, 13 Harrison Addition. Duluth, Minn.

We are selling immense quantities of these medicines and our customers express great satisfaction.

OF THE MAKING OF HATS.

One of the Sunday newspapers has been instructing its women readers how to make "a $150.00 hat" for $18.96 or even $5.66, or "a $60 Mushroom" for $9.80. This information may be valuable to women who have been in the habit of getting hats from abroad or in exclusive 5th avenue shops, but it had no interest for the women familiar with this store's millinery—for long ago we made it possible for them to buy really elegant hats made of the finest imported materials for very much less than it was once the rule to ask. And the hats we sell at $9.75, $7.75 and as low as $4.75 have many of the merits of hats costing several times as much.

We make a specialty of hats at the low prices just quoted, and put into them excellent materials and have some of our most skilled trimmers devote much of their time to the creation of effective designs. In each line you will find many novel creations and at the prices they certainly cannot be equalled in Newark or New York.

BIENNIAL SESSIONS.

One of the most sensible measures passed by the State Senate during the present session is the Avis concurrent resolution making the sessions of the Legislature hereafter biennial instead of annual. The resolution in question went through the upper house yesterday a vote of twelve to eight and it is notable that it numbered among its friends the very best men in the body. Provision is made for the necessary constitutional amendment. The terms of the legislators are made two years and that of the governor four.

There is no excuse whatever for convening the Legislature annually. Such a practise is not only a waste of public moneys but is a real harm to the best interests of the State. Many useless laws are enacted and their number is ever increasng. Too many laws are apt to produce, and frequently do produce a worse condition than too few. Other States have long since abandoned holding annual sessions and there is every reason why New Jersey should do likewise.

HARRIMAN ADMITTED.

Harriman is the latest addition to the membership of the Roosevelt Ananias Club. He has been admitted to full fellowship with the other seven and is at liberty to enjoy all the rights and privileges such as throwing mud at the President assuming the role of a party martyr. Mr. Harriman's colleagues include H. M. Whitney, J. E. Wallace, W. E. Chandler, G. O. Shields, H. W. Bowen, T. C. Platt, Bellamy Storer and Alton B. Parker.

Of "Teddy" may it also be said: "We love him for the enemies he has made."

The current number of The Sabbath Recorder appears in a new and more convenient form. While the weekly publication of the American Sabbath Tract Society is small in size its scholarly editor, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, has brought it to the first rank in religious journalism.

Mr. Colby has introduced a bill in the Legislature which provides for a salary of $1,500 for fire captains in second class cities. Why not add free rent and six months' vacation?

Paper On the Philippines.

A paper on the Philippine Islands prepared by Mrs. James Middledith and read by Mrs. Walter M. McGee, gave both pleasure and instruction, to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church when presented yesterday afternoon at the monthly meeting held in the church lecture room. The situation, climate and social life were described, as well as the native Igarotes and Moros with their habits changed very greatly since the occupation of the islands by the United States. Mission work of the Protestant church following Spanish influence in the islands will be the subject considered at the next meeting. The paper was preceded by the devotional services led by Mrs. Robert S. Barnes, and succeeded by letters of Miss Linda D. Butler from Mexico, read by Mrs. Charles Conover.

Pre-Nuptial Celebrations.

In honor of Miss Attalie Lohrke and Rev. George A. Warner, whose wedding will take place on April 13, William Ashley gave a delightful musicale yesterday afternoon at his home on Prospect street, East Orange, and last night Mr. and Mrs. Alexander King and Miss King, of East Orange, gave a kitchen shower for the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McAvoy, of John street, entertained about forty friends at their home last night in honor of Mr. McAvoy's sister, Miss Nellie McAvoy, of New York. There were guests from New York, Elizabeth and this city. Dancing was the feature.

Zimmerman, S. Kline, Edward Coughlan, Elsa Shanz; to sell ice, The ePople's Ice Company, of Scotch Plains. The plumber's bond of George J. Tobin was ordered filed. During March there were reported twelve marriages, thirty-two births, one still-birth and thirty-seven deaths.

Seminary Easter Dance.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Seminary on West Seventh street, the young women pupils there enjoyed their annual Easter dance, last night. NEW DIRECTORY IS A FINE PIECE OF WORK

PUBLISHERS DESERVE GREAT CREDIT FOR IT—BIGGER AND BETTER.

The Barton-Wand Directory Company has issued the 1907 directory of the City of Plainfield, in conjunction, as in past numbers, with the directories of North Plainfield, Westfield, Mountainside, Dunellen, Fanwood and Scotch Plains.

The book is a handsome piece of work. It is neatly printed, and attractively bound. As for the contents, they will be found very satisfactory. The directory is better, bigger, and brighter than ever before. There are more names, and the matter is even more accurate than the splendid directories of other years. It touches the top-notch of directory work.

As in the directory of last year, the colored population is indicated by stars before the names. This feature has been found useful, and will be continued.

Sayre Boy Doing Well.

GUARD AGAINST THE DESTRUCTIVE MOTH

It's a great inconvenience and loss to have one's best clothing destroyed by moth. The busy little insects are almost sure to get in and do much damage, unless you use which affords the best protection for your furs and winter garments. This is an unexcelled preparation and has a pleasant odor.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, March 7, 1907, at 2:30 p. m.

Owing to the absence of the Clerk Mr. N. R. Leavitt was designated and appointed as Clerk pro tem.

Roll call showed the following members present:

Director King and Freeholders Cady, Cladek, Darby, Doane, Fay, Gruener, Donahue, Jones, Krouse, Maurer, Meisel, Perry, Pierson, Robison, Smith, Swain, Wilbur and Woodruff—19.

Absent—Freeholder Adams—1.

On motion, the reading of minutes of previous meeting was laid over.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Boards of Freeholders, Union and Somerset counties:

Gentlemen—Herewith I hand you statement of the net cost of building West End Avenue bridge, to the prosecution of which work I gave time and attention, without compensation, nearly all of last summer and fall.

You will note that with the one hundred dollars, withheld at the time you accepted the bridge from the estate of William Farrier and his bondsman included, the amount of profit would be less than thirteen dollars, while on the other hand, if you retain this money and expend same, William Farrier estate will be a loser to the extent of eighty-seven dollars.

In my opinion, and considering the circumstances under which this work was undertaken and carried to conclusion, the loss entailed by the permanent retention of the sum withheld at last payment should not be required, and I trust your respective boards will see your way clear to pay this amount to the estate of William Farrier and provide that any additional work desired on this bridge be done at the expense of the two counties interested.

The estate of William Farrier, consisting of his widow, Mrs. Farrier, is ill able to afford the loss of the sum entailed, and I trust your boards will accord to us the same treatment in this matter as you would like to receive under similar circumstances.

Very truly yours,
Charles E. Kelly, Bondsman, Estate of William Farrier.

Showing a profit of $12.79.

County Engineer Hubbard briefly explained the circumstances attendant upon the building of said bridge—the death of the contractor, Mr. Farrier; loss of money to the estate by reason of the death of Mr. Farrier; the acceptance of the bridge and retention of $50, to secure the making good of certain deficiencies and discrepencies in the construction of said bridge.

After some discussion it was ordered that the matter be referred to the Committee on Plainfield Bridge, with power. The Director appointed Freeholders Wilbur and Doane to fill the vacancies on the above-mentioned bridge committee.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Gruener:

Resolved, That the Director appoint a committee of three to investigate the damage done to the bridge over the south branch of the Rahway river on Woodbridge road above the Six Roads, in Rahway, by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Co., and report the condition of said bridge and their recommendations to this Board.

Freeholder Gruener briefly explained that the bridge had been damaged as to mason work and iron rods by reason of the conduits laid across said bridge by the said Telephone Company.

The resolution was then adopted without dissent.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Gruener, Cladek and Perry.

By Freeholder Pierson:

Resolved, That the Director appoint a committee of five, to meet with the officers of the New Jersey and Staten Island Ferry Company, for the purpose of revising the existing schedule of rates of ferriage, etc., over Staten Island Sound, between Elizabethport and Staten Island, and to report to the next meeting of the Board their recommendation of such revision.

The resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as said committee, Freeholders Pierson, Krouse, Donahue, Robison and Wilbur.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That the bill of "Elizabeth Revue," $31.25, for publication, and the following election bills, viz., W. H. Roll $25, Linden Township $30, J. F. Taylor $30, and James Reilly $10, be paid by the County Collector when approved by the Clerk of the County Board of Elections.

Roosevelt's Ideas Unchanged.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—By announcing that he does not deviate one hand's breadth from his "coherent plan" for government regulation of corporations, President Roosevelt has broken the silence which men on both sides of the stock market have begged him to break to restore public confidence in existing business conditions. In declining the invitation of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association to address its members Mr. Roosevelt quotes two old speeches and his last annual message to Congress to show the reforms he is working for. He "stands pat" on the record, and refuses to be swayed in his purpose because the stock market has gone up or down. His only allusion to the recent depression of stock values is the statement of his belief that what has occurred has merely illustrated in striking fashion the desirability of the course he has suggested. The precise form which the President wishes given to a law for the regulation of capitalization and sanctioning traffic agreements between railroads is not indicated by him. He will leave that to the friends of such legislation in Congress.

GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Plainfield.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make anyone "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life:
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.

Here is Plainfield proof that this is so:

Mrs. W. W. Mills, of 86 Summit avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I am willing to reiterate my former statement given in behalf of Doan's Kidney Pills, feeling that some other person may be benefited thereby. I had suffered with a severe pain in the small of my back and across the hips, and if I did any lifting or stooping my back became lame and sore. I used plasters but they only helped me for the time being. I was feeling unusually bad when my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and they were so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. In a few days I felt their good effect, and when I had finished taking them I was relieved in every way. I am glad to recommend this reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"I'll not go in just now," she answered, in a quiet tone, a sudden and strange shift from that of the moment before. And she let me take her hand, echoing my good-by, and made no further attempt to detain me.

That was a gloomy breakfast despite my efforts to make my own seeming good-humor permeate to the others. Mrs. Ramsay hid a somber face behind the coffee-urn; Ed ate furiously, noisily, choking every now and then. He drove me to the station; his whole body was probably as damp from his emotions as were his eyes and his big friendly hand. The train got under way; I drew a long breath. I was free.

But somehow freedom did not taste as I had anticipated. Though I reminded myself that I had acted as any man with pride and self-respect would have acted in such delicate circumstances, and though I knew that Carlotta was no more in love with me than I was with her, this end of our engagement seemed even more humiliating to me than its beginning had seemed. It was one more instance of that wretched fatality which has pursued me through life, which has made every one of my triumphs come to me in mourning robes and with a gruesome face. In the glittering array of "prizes" that tempts man to make a beast and a fool of himself in the gladiatorial show called Life, the sorriest, the most ironic, is the grand prize, Victory.

The parlor car was crowded; its only untaken seat was in the smoking compartment, which had four other occupants, deep in a game of poker. Three of them were types of commonplace, prosperous Americans; the fourth could not be easily classed, and, therefore, interested me—especially as I was in the mood to welcome anything that would crowd to the background my far from agreeable thoughts.

The others called him "Doc," or Woodruff. As they played, they drank from flasks produced by each in turn. Doc drank with the others, and deeper than any of them. They talked more and more, he less and less, until finally he interrupted their noisy volubility only when the game compelled. I saw that he was one of those men upon whom amiable conversation or liquor or any other relaxing force has the reverse of the usual effect. Instead of relaxing, he drew himself together and concentrated more obstinately upon his game. Luck, so far as the cards controlled it, was rather against him, and the other three players took turns at audacious and by no means unskillful play. I was soon admiring the way he "sized up" and met each in turn. Prudence did not make him timid. He advanced and retreated, "bluffed" and held aloof, with acuteness and daring.

At a station perhaps 50 miles from Chicago, the other three left—and Doc had $400 of their money.

I dropped into the seat opposite him—it was by the window—and amused myself watching him, while waiting for a chance to talk to him; for I saw that he was a superior person, and, in those days, when I was inconspicuous and so was not compelled constantly to be on guard, I never missed a chance to benefit by such exchanges of ideas.

He was apparently about 40 years old, to strike a balance between the youth of eyes, mouth, and contour, and the age of deep lines and grayish, thinning hair. He had large, frank blue eyes, a large nose, a strong forehead and chin, a grossly self-indulgent mouth—there was the weakness, there, as usual! Evidently, the strength of his mind and character gave him went in pandering to physical appetites. In confirmation of this, there was two curious marks on him—a nick in the rim of his left ear, a souvenir of a bullet or a knife, and a scar just under the edge of his chin to the right. When he compressed his lips, this scar, not especially noticeable at other times, lifted up into his face, became of a sickly, bluish white, and transformed a careless, good-humored cynic into a man of danger, a terror.

His reverie began, as I gathered from his unguarded face, in cynical amusement, probably at his triumph over his friends. It passed on to still more agreeable things—something in the expression of the mouth expressed thoughts of how he was going to enjoy himself as he "blew in" his winnings. Then his features shadowed, darkened, and I had my first view of the scar terrible. He shook his big head and big shoulders, roused himself, made ready to take a drink, noticed me, and said: "Won't you join me?" His look was most engaging.

I accepted, and we were soon sociable, each taking an instinctive liking to the other. We talked of the business situation, of the news in the papers and then of political affairs. Each of us saw that there he was at the other's keenest interest in life. He knew the game—practical politics as distinguished from the politics talked by and to the public. But he evaded, without seeming to do so, all the ingenious traps I laid for drawing from him some admission that would give me a clew to where he "fitted in." I learned no more about him than I thought he learned about me.

"I hope we shall meet again," said I cordially as we parted at the cab-stand.

"Thank you," he answered, and afterward I remembered the faint smile in his eyes.

I, of course, knew that Roebuck was greatly interested in my project for putting political business on a business basis; but not until he had explained why he sent for me did I see how it had fascinated and absorbed his mind. "You showed me," he began, "that you must have under you a practical man to handle the money and do the arranging with the heelers and all that sort of thing."

"Yes," said I; "it's a vital part of the plan. We must find a man who is perfectly trustworthy and discreet. Necessarily, he'll know or suspect something—not much, but still something—of the inside workings of the combine."

"Well, I've found him," went on Roebuck, in a triumphant tone. "He's a godless person, with no character to lose, and no conception of what character means. But he's straight as a string. Providence seems to have provided such men for just such situations as these, where the devil must be fought with fire. I've been testing him for nearly 15 years. But you can judge for yourself."

I was the reverse of pleased. It was not in my calculations to have a creature of Roebuck's foisted upon me, perhaps—indeed, probably—a spy. I purposed to choose my own man; and I decided while he was talking, that I would accept the Roebuck selection only to drop him on some plausible pretext before we began operations. I was to meet the man at dinner. Roebuck had engaged a suite at the auditorium. "It wouldn't do to have him at my house or club," said he; "neither do we want to be seen with him."

Coincidence is so familiar a part of the daily routine that I was not much surprised when my acquaintance, the astute poker player with the scar walked in upon us at the Auditorium. Roebuck was both astonished and chagrined when we shook hands and greeted each other like old friends.

"How do you do, Mr. Sayler?" said Woodruff.

"Glad to see you, Dr. Woodruff," I replied. "Then you knew me all the time? Why didn't you speak out? We might have had an hour's business talk in the train."

"If I'd shown myself as leaky as all that, I guess there'd have been no business to talk about," he replied. "Anyhow, I didn't know you till you took out your watch with the monogram on the back, just as we were pulling in. Then I remembered where I'd seen your face before. I was up at your state house the day that you threw old Dominick down. That's been a good many years ago."

That chance, easy, smoking-compartment meeting, at which each had studied the other dispassionately, was most fortunate for us both.

The relation that was to exist between us—more, much more, than that of mere employer and employe—made fidelity, personal fidelity, imperative; and accident had laid the foundation for the mutual attachment without which there is certain to be, sooner or later, suspicion on both sides, and cause for it.

The two hours and a half with Woodruff, at and after dinner, served to reinforce my first impression. I saw that he was a thorough man of the world, that he knew politics from end to end, and that he understood the main weaknesses of human nature and how to play upon them for the advantage of his employers and for his own huge amusement. He gave a small exhibition of that skill at the expense of Roebuck. He appreciated that Roebuck was one of those unconscious hypocrites who put conscience out of court in advance by assuming that whatever they wish to do is right or they could not wish to do it. He led Roebuck on to show off this peculiarity of his—a jumbling, often in the same breath, of the most sonorous piety and the most shameless business perfidy. All the time Woodruff's face was perfectly grave—there are some men who refuse to waste any of their internal enjoyment in external show.

Before he left us I arranged to meet him the next morning for the settlement of the details of his employment. When Roebuck and I were alone, I said: "What do you know about him? Who is he?"

"He comes of a good family here in Chicago—one of the best. Perhaps you recall the Bowker murder?"

"Vaguely," I answered.

"It was Woodruff who did it. We had a hard time getting him off. Bowker and Woodruff's younger brother were playing cards one day, and Bowker accused him of cheating. Young Woodruff drew—perhaps they both drew at the same time. At any rate, Bowker shot first and killed his man—he got off on the plea of self-defense. It was two years before Bowker and Doc met—in the lobby of the Palmer house—I happened to be there. I was talking to a friend when suddenly I felt as if something awful was about to happen. I started up, and saw Bowker just rising from a table at the far end of the room. I shan't ever forget his look—like a bird charmed by a snake. His lips were ajar and wrinkled as if his blood had fled away inside of him, and his throat was expanding and contracting."

Roebuck wiped beads of sweat from his forehead. "It was Doc Woodruff walking slowly toward him, with a wicked smile on his face, and that scar—you noticed the scar?"

I nodded.

"Well, you can imagine how that scar stood out. He came slowly on, nobody able to move a muscle to stop him. When he was about ten feet from Bowker and as near me as you are now, Bowker gave a kind of shudder and scream of fright, drew his pistol, and fired. The bullet clipped Woodruff's ear. Quick as that—" Roebuck snapped his fingers—"Doc drew, and sent a bullet into his heart. He fell forward across the table and his pistol crashed on the marble floor. Doc looked at him, gave a cold sort of laugh, like a jeer and a curse, and walked out into the street. When he met a policeman he said: 'I've killed Dick Bowker. Here's my gun. Lock me up'—perfectly cool, just as he talked to us to-night."

"And you got him off?"

"Yes. I hated to do it, too, for Dick was one of my best friends. But Doc was too useful to us. In his line he's without an equal."

"How did he get that scar?" said I.

"Nobody knows. He left here when he was a boy—to avoid being sent to the reformatory. When he turned up, after a dozen years, he said he had been a doctor, but didn't say where or how. And he had that scar. One day a man asked him how he got it. He picked up a bottle and, with his pleasant laugh, broke it over the fellow's jaw. 'About like that,' said he. People don't ask him questions."

"He's my man," said I.

DIAMOND DUST.

The candidates for the Dunellen team will meet for try-out on Saturday. Manager Jess Ayers will welcome all ambitious players to the diamond.

The Dunellen team will play its first game in the amateur league series with Bound Brook, at Dunellen, on May 25. There will be two games on the opening date, May 18, Clinton Avenue at Scotch Plans and Bound Brook against Y. M. C. A. at Crescent Oval.

According to the announcement of the officials of the Atlantic (outlaw) League, "Phil." Smth has signed with the Elizabeth Club and will be the main twirler on that team.

Ernest Linderman, Dave Driscoll, "Billy" Gilbert, and "Al" Farmer have signed to play with the Brooklyn team of the Atlantic League.

It is generally believed that Lefferts Minford will do the pitching for the Y. M. C. A. team this season. He has developed into one of the strongest twirlers in the amateur class and, with a good receiver, will make many a batter bite the dust.

It is reported that "Jimmie" Montross will be the slab artist for Scotch Plains during the season. Manager Johnston is signing a strong aggregation of players.

BASKETBALL.

The Pond basketball team won a victory by default over the Hope Men's Club last night. The game was to have been played at the Hope Y. M. A. gym. The Pond team will meet the Hope Boys' Club next Monday night.

INTRODUCES MEASURE TO TAX WHISKERED MEN.

Corish Offers Bill Which Is Referred to Game and Fisheries Committee.

Assemblyman Patrick H. Corish, of Essex, who has a penchant for the introduction of unique resolutions, played his "trump" card yesterday in the House.

The play was the introduction of the following bill:

Section 1. All male persons over the age of twenty-one years, who shall be the possessor of hirsute adornment upon the face, shall be taxed in the following manner, to wit:

(1) Ordinary moustaches, five dollars per annum.

(2) Moustaches accompanied by side whiskers, sometimes called "wind provokers," eight dollars per annum.

(3) Moustaches with a VanDyke beard, ten dollars per annum.

(4) Long flowing mutton chops, sometimes called "sluggers," fifteen dollars per annum.

(5) A fringe under the chin, known in the rural communities as "Billy goats," fifty dollars per annum.

(6) In case any of the above-mentioned whiskers shall be red in color, 20 per cent. additional tax shall be added thereto.

Section 2. The tax collector of each municipality shall be entitled to receive for his services in collecting the above taxes the sum of twenty-five cents.

Section 3. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Assemblyman Thomas C. Elvins, of Atlantic, who was temporarily in the chair, made the fun greater by referring the bill to the committee on game and fisheries.

CHECK FOR METHODISTS

Newark Conference Receives $10,000 From Executors of Murphy Estate.

EX. GOVERNOR'S FATHER

Money Will Apply to Centenary Fund For Aged and Feeble Ministers—Proceeding of Conference.

A check for $10,000, the biggest gift that the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has ever received, was turned over yesterday afternoon by the executors of the William N. Murphy estate, to apply to the centenary fund for aged Methodist clergymen. When the announcement was made last night at the first night session of the conference, which opened at Morristown yesterday morning, there was great rejoicing.

The gift is that provided for in the will of the late William H. Murphy, father of former Governor Franklin Murphy, a Newarker, and often alluded to as "the best friend the Methodists of the city ever had." It was given on condition that the Conference, by October, 1907, raise a like sum, and thus has been the means of adding $20,000 to a fund in need of support.

It is just fifty years ago this month that the fund was started for the aid of old and feeble clergymen who can benefit by the interest earned only when the $100,000 has been reached. The fund last night reached $83,080.68. How $17,000 lacking is to be raised was discussed. Both Dr. Daniel Halleron, president of the society, and Dr. Milton E. Blanchard, treasurer, agreed that it must come from the large churches of the Conference.

Mrs. Hadley R. Woodward, who is the conference secretary, said the society she represented had 100,000 members. She added that in the Newark conference are now 2,300 members of fifty-four separate auxiliaries. Mrs. Woodward told of the society's attempt to reduce a debt of $200,000 contracted by the society at large. Payment of $5,000 on this amount has been pledged by the Newark Conference Society, and the secretary said that four-fifths of this had already been paid in. Society members for last year, she said, had given $12,842.

The Rev. Charles E. Locke, of Brooklyn, referred briefly to Mormonism, and declared that to admit Utah as a State was political infamy. Mr. Locke thought that conditions could not be reformed at Salt Lake City for a long time. He predicted that the fight of reformation will be as difficult as it is long.

In his statistical report, Mr. Boyd said the society had in the last year fed 598 families, placed twelve children in homes, had given aid to 161 children, taught lessons to 501, sent out 591 bouquets of flowers, and provided a fresh air fund sufficient for 28 children. Reporting as to the financial condition of the Newark home, he said:

"This home started out last year with $323 in the treasury. Its receipts were $1,716.89, and its disbursements $1,709.79. The Jersey City home started the year with $354.68, and now has a balance of $687.42 on hand. Its receipts were $2,530.52."

While the Women's Home Missionary Society was in session in the main lecture room of the church yesterday afternoon, the Conference Life Insurance Association had a brief session in an adjoining room. The society's thirty-seventh annual report was presented by J. A. Cole, the secretary and treasurer.

Secretary Gutteridge gave a history of the centenary fund in his report, going back to the time it was chartered by the Legislature in 1857. He told of the first board of trustees, all but one of whom are now dead. Said Gutteridge:

"At the conference of 1889 the first corresponding secretary of the society elected to solicit funds was the Rev. C. S. Coit. He continued in office four years, during which time the fund increased to $18,494, which was the amount reported by the corresponding secretary in 1893. At the conference of 1893 the Rev. John A. Gutteridge was appointed corresponding secretary and for the first four years, through the generosity of the late William Murphy, who bore all the expenses, the secretary was enabled to give his undivided time to the increasing of the funds.

"At the conference of 1897 the assets in cash and pledged subscriptions amounted to $55,331.

"Since 1897 there has been no paid agent in the field, but your present corresponding secretary has continued to serve without expense to the society. Our good friend Mr. Murphy has passed to the better land. Mr. Blanchard has succeeded to the office of treasurer, and is ren-

CLERGYMAN PLEADS FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY

REV. MR. HOWARD URGES THAT DESIRED APPROPRIATION BE MADE.

Rev. Lawrence Riggs Howard adds his plea to that of Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany for an increased appropriation for the Public Library. Mr. Howard's letter follows:

Editor, The Daily Press:

The report that the Common Council might refuse to increase the appropriation for the Public Library has come to many Plainfielders as a most unpleasant surprise. It is evident that our lawmakers must be unacquainted with the wide extent to which the library has been used by the people of late, and the greatly increasing demands which they are consequently making upon it. This is undoubtedly a community which needs the most progressive and best equipped library which can be provided, and while the present library board and librarian seem to have both the will and the understanding necessary for it they are forbidden, by refusal of increased appropriation, to do more than they have in the past.

As one of a great many constant users of the library who has been able to see the great need of and the large possibilities of a larger income to be used there I hope that there may yet be possibility for reconsideration of this important question on the part of the finance committee of the Council.

I suppose there is no doubt but that this will take place if only the people who see the need will express their minds about it to a sufficient extent.

Very truly yours,
L. R. HOWARD.

STATE G.A.R. ENCAMPMENT

Outline of Programme at Annual Reunion to be at Atlantic City.

MR. BRIGGS TO SPEAK

Department Commander Atkins Pays a Tribue to Grand Army—Special Trains.

A meeting of the joint committee of the City Council and Board of Trade of Ocean City was held recently to make arrangements for the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held there in June. Mayor Champion presided and welcomed Department Commander Alfred Atkins, who spoke with pleasure of the fact that the people of Ocean City had invited the encampment to be held there.

It was decided to spend $100 for badges. The portrait of Department Commander Atkins will be placed on them.

As outlined, the encampment programme is as follows:

Thursday—Meeting of encampment at 2 p. m.

Parade at 5 p. m.

Camp-fire in the evening, at which United States Senator Briggs is expected to be present and speak.

Friday—The business meetings of the encampment will be held, the sessions ending in the afternoon.

Organ recital in the First Presbyterian church in the evening.

One of the members of the committee having made a remark, as a joke, to Department Commander Atkins that Ocean City was a "dry town," Mr. Atkins replied:

"The Grand Army of the Republic is a temperance organization. I mean that. I don't mean that all are total abstainers, but most of them are temperate. I can say that within the last few months I visited seventy-seven posts, and in only three places was I offered anything stronger than coffee. The members of the Grand Army have enough respect for themselves not to take anything that will injure them. Some do not like Trenton on this account. To the credit of the G. A. R., I may say that the majority of the members prefer coming to a place like Ocean City. We are proud of our record as soldiers and it is one of our sentiments that we shall remain so and gain the confidence and esteem of the people."

On account of the encampment three special trains will be run from Jersey City to Ocean City. Extra facilities for handling the visitors will be given by the railroad companies just before and during the holding of the encampment.

A LIGHTING CONFERENCE

Representatives of City P.P.A. Discuss Contract With P. S. C. Officials.

WILL MEET AGAIN

Said That a Rebate Will Be Made for Past Service and a Lower Rate Given in the New Contract.

For the ultimate purpose of making a new electric light contract with the Public Service Corporation, Mayor Charles J. Fisk arranged for a preliminary conference last night to discuss informally such provisions as the company or city officials cared to introduce. The meeting was held in the Mayor's office.

The Public Service Corporation was represented by L. D. H. Gillmore, of Newark, assistant to Frank Bergen, chief counsel for the company; H. C. Richardson, in charge of the Metuchen branch, and J. K. Arnold, Jr., who is in charge of the electric department in this city. The city was represented by Mayor Fisk and F. L. Montgomery, Henry D. Hibbard and William S. Tyler, of the light and tree committee; George P. Mellick, from the committee on public affairs; President Daniel, of the Common Council, and by courtesy of the Mayor, R. Henry Depew, Henry L. Hall and F. E. Kinsman, of the Plainfield Protective Association, attended.

The conference was purely for the purpose of considering matters pertaining to the street lighting in Plainfield, and while nothing that transpired last night is binding on either the city or the P. S. C., many suggestions were offered on both sides and some of these will be incorporated in a new contract to be drafted and submitted before final action is taken by the Common Council or the company.

It was admitted by the representatives of the company that there were certain irregularities in the lighting service in the past and they gave every assurance that in the future they would be corrected in so far as it would be possible to do so.

A feature of the discussion was the proposition offered by Mayor Fisk. It was that certain allowances be made by the company to the city for the irregularities in the past. This appeared to be well received by the P. S. C. representatives and they promised to present it to the company and do all in their power to effect a satisfactory adjustment of the contract. One sure thing developed as a result of the conference and that is there will be a substantial reduction in the future in the price of both arc and incandescent light services, and the city will have a far more satisfactory contract with the company.

Last night's conference was one of several that will probably be held. There was free and full discussion of the lighting question in which all present took part. The session lasted from 8 o'clock until nearly midnight and was harmonious in every way. The company representatives showed in every way their willingness to cooperate with the city in giving good and satisfactory service.

The Public Service Corporation light bills have been held up this year by the Common Council, pending the making of a new contract, and at each meeting the bills were simply reported as not ready for audit. When the new contract is made the Common Council will act on the old bills.

PARTY FOR SAILOR

John Wearren's Twenty-first Birthday Celebrated.

In honor of their son, John Wearren, who attained his majority yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wearren, of 211 Rock avenue, gave a reception and dance at their home, last night. There were 150 guests present from Philadelphia, Trenton, Jersey City, New York and this city. Dancing was the feature of the evening and was continued until an early hour this morning.

Mr. Wearren enlisted in the U. S. Navy a year ago and has been on the station boat Lancaster as a plumber. He expects to be transferred to the new battleship Kansas, which will be put in commission at the League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia, tomorrow. This battleship is one of the finest ever launched. It is 16,500 tons and will have a complement of 800 men. It will visit the Jamestown Exposition, after which it will proceed to the Asiatic Station. Mr. Wearren was obliged to take a strict examination to enter the service as a plumber, but he passed it easily, having served his time at the trade with A. H. Enander, of this city.

All-Day Meeting.

The Missionary Alliance will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Humphrey, of Seattle, will be in charge.

OIL AND TAR FOR ROADS

Union's Board of Freeholders Will Treat County Highways With Both.

EXPERIMENT A SUCCESS

Members of Board On Tour of Inspection—Found Last Year's Work Had Good Results.

When the appropriation for repairs of county roads are made in May by the Union County Board of Freeholders the work of oiling and tarring the roadways for the laying of dust will be resumed. Having this in mind the committee on county roads, consisting of Freeholders Adams, Krouse, Cladek and Pierson, went through a portion of the county yesterday afternoon to note the results of the use of oil and tar last year.

They left Elizabeth in carriages and went out Rahway avenue as far as Rahway and then to Westfield avenue. Major King, the director of the board, who accompanied the committee, said today that in a general way they found the roads they traveled over in very fair condition.

The oil and tar were distributed during the latter part of August last year on Rahway and Westfield avenues westward from the city line. On Westfield avenue the tar was used to a short distance above Bender's Hotel. Beyond that point the oil was used.

On Rahway avenue the tar was distributed for an eighth of a mile from the city line and oil used afterward. In all about eight miles of the road was treated.

The committee found yesterday that there was no lasting result of the distribution of oil but the effects of the sprinkling of tar was still noticeable in some spots. Because of this they are of the opinion that the tar is the more serviceable, but it is much more expensive. Using oil on the roads the expense is about $90 a mile, while the use of tar or "Tarvia," as it is called in trade, costs about $800 a mile.

Last year the oil and tar were distributed over the roads by men carrying large sprinkling pots filled from a boiler on a truck. This year an effort will be made to have the boilers in which the oil and tar are heated mounted on specially constructed carts with sprinklers attached and in this way save much of the cost of labor.

The appropriation last year for all county road expenditures was $17,500, and about the same amount will be appropriated this year. The roads treated will be in the more thickly-populated districts.

SECRETARY OF THE COUNTY ENGINEERS

ROBERT MEEKER ONE OF THE OFFICERS OF THE STATE ASSOCIATION.

Robert A. Meeker, of this city, was elected secretary of the State Association of County Engineers at a meeting in Trenton Tuesday afternoon. Twenty of the twenty-one counties of the State were represented by their engineers at the meeting, which was conducted in the offices of State Road Commissioner E. C. Hutchinson at the State House.

Good roads, their making, maintenance and repair were the sole topics under discussion.

The session was conducted until late in the afternoon. Prior to adjournment the following officers were elected: President, J. A. Albertson, of Camden; vice-president, Frank J. Eppele, of Mercer; secretary, Robert A. Meeker, State supervisor of roads; treasurer, Joshua Doughty, of Somerset. It was decided to meet in Trenton again next year.

State Road Commissioner Hutchinson entertained the members of the association at a dinner at Margerum's after the meeting.

Miss Counihan Returns Home.

While here she also made an excursion to Atlantic City and other places and went back home with a splendid impression of the "East."

MRS. GERKEN QUITS HORSE SHOW IN ANGER

DISPLEASED BECAUSE HER FAMOUS TEAM FAILED TO LAND BLUE RIBBON

Because her famous pair of high steppers, "Newsboy" and "Shopgirl," which were exhibited at Plainfield's first two horse shows, were defeated for the first prize in the Durland horse show, New York, last night, Mrs. John Gerken, their owner and driver, threw the red ribbon presented her for second honors, on the tanbark and drove straight from the ring to the street. She swished her whip as she vanished as if expressing her opinion of the judge's decision.

Experts who have often seen the Gerken pair bear off first honors in shows said that "Newsboy" and "Shopgirl" were not up to their best form in appearance last night. They did not seem to be in the pink of condition, while C. W. Watson's mares, "Kittie Gray" and "Chatterbox," going together like one horse with true and brilliant action, put up the performance of their lives. Competition was wholly between these pairs and Mrs. Gerken had been confident that hers would get the blue.

Mrs. Gerken did not enter her horses in the local show last summer and it was said at the time that she had not been pleased with several decisions in which her horses figured second best the year before. While she owns a large number of prize-winning horses, "Newsboy" and "Shopgirl" are her especial pets and she has shown her temper on more than one occasion when they have failed to land the blue.

HOLY CROSS BOYS' CLUB SCORES A HIT

GOOD EVENING'S ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED BY THE BOROUGH LADS.

Under the auspices of the Boys' Club of the Church of the Holy Cross a fine entertainment was given in the parish house, last night, before a large audience. The programme, as arranged by the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, was full of fun and kept everyone in good humor from beginning to end.

Features of the entertainment were solos by Rowland Bomeisler, the boy soprano from Grace church, East Orange. He sang "Two Maidens," by Edgar Newcomb; "Twickenham Ferry," by Marzials, and "Daddy's Little Baby Boy," by Neidlinger, and he received a great ovation.

The programme opened with a selection by a trio; "Smiles and Caresses," first and second violin and piano, Messrs. Berse, Knowlton and Conroy, and after two selections by Rowland Bomeisler, the roaring farce, "The Ruggles in Society," was given by the following cast:

"Mrs. Ruggles," Earl Moran; "Sarah Maud," Walter Knowlton; "Susan," Russell Brakeley; "Peter," Howard Riley; "Kitty," Alan Diman; "Clement," Carroll Taylor; "Elly," Walter Thomas; "Cornelius," Karl Noble; "Peoria," Harold Noble; "Larry," Harry Kanen.

The appearance of the German Band was a great success and their selections were well received. Following another solo by Rowland Bomeisler, the laughable sketch, entitled "Jumbo Jim," was given by this cast:

"Jumbo Jim," Russell Conroy; "Mr. Gobbleton," William Little; "Lawyer Cheatem," Ira Vail; "Henry Merville," Fred Gray; "Adelaide," Percy Watson; "Hannah," William Taylor; "Mrs. Gobbleton," Bert Miller; three laborers, Russell Vail, Harold Blazier and Benjamin Berse.

The club will net a profit of $50 which will go toward the fund for the summer's outing.

at The Horse Show.

NOTHING FOR THE POPE

No Matter How Heffernan Will Contest Turns Out.

NO RESIDUE AT ALL

Lawyer for the Estate Says He Expects Thomas Heffernan's Effort to Break Instrument Will Be Abandoned.

There is no need for the Pope to worry over the fate of his bequest under the will of the late Michael Heffernan, of this city, according to Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., who represents the estate. It will be all the same to His Holiness, he said, whether or not Thomas Heffernan, brother of the dead man, succeeds in his effort to have the instrument set aside. Even if the will is sustained, as Mr. Hetfield expects it to be, there will be nothing left for the Pontiff after the other bequests have been turned over to the legatees.

Michael Heffernan's property consisted only of a house and lot on East Third street and a vacant lot in addition. It will not bring much more than $2,000. Heffernan made a number of small bequests, and those, with the money he set aside for funeral expenses and a tombstone, fees and necessary expenses attendant on the settlement of the estate, will just about leave the dollar willed to Thomas Heffernan and no more.

Mr. Hetfield said today that he expected Heffernan's action to be discontinued. He had no doubt that the will would be allowed to stand just as it was drawn.

Michael Heffernan, in arranging his testament, did not plan to enrich the Pope. He had a list of bequests prepared for Mr. Hetfield's guidance when the lawyer came to draw the will, and the Pope was not mentioned in it. The alwyer asked him as to the disposition of the "residue and remainder of the estate," a phrase that usually figures in wills.

"I have calculated things pretty closely," replied the old man, "and I am thinking there will be mighty little, if anything, left after the legacies are paid. If there is anything, give it to the Pope of Rome."

That was how the Pope got into the will, Mr. Hetfield said. Heffernan didn't expect him to get anything, and he wouldn't.

FLED FROM NEGRO.

Woman Thought Colored Man Was Pursuing—Wouldn't Make Charge.

A woman living on East Seventh street telephoned to Neuman Bros.' grocery store, at 8:30 o'clock last night, that she had been pursued by a negro on her way home a few minutes before. She said she was sure the negro, from whom she escaped by increasing her pace, had meant to harm her, and she asked the grocery people to tell the policeman on the best of the occurrence. She described the negro.

Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy was told of the incident, and, armed with the description, started out in search of the colored man. He ran into him on Watchung avenue. He brought the negro to the woman's house for identification, and she said it was the right man. She refused to make a charge against him, however, and McCarthy let him go. The police said this morning that the negro had not really acted suspiciously, and they were convinced the woman had given away to groundless fears.

HELPED NOMINATE LINCOLN.

Nathaniel Voorhees Thinks He and Senator Cullom Are the Only Survivors of Convention.

Nathaniel Voorhees, father of former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of New Jersey, who is an octogenarian, is becoming reminiscent lately over the convention that in 1860 named Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency of the United States. He was a delegate to that historical gathering, and he says he has reason to believe that he and United States Senator Shelby M. Cullom are its only survivors.

There are Republicans still living—many of them—who voted for Fremont and Dayton, the first candidates the Republican party ever put in the national field, and Democrats who even tell of their first vote having been cast for Andrew Jackson, and some, reasoning by analogy, think that all the throng who helped to name Lincoln cannot yet have passed to the great reckoning, and so are inclined to advise the aged delegate to look further for survivors.

A man could have cast his vote for Lincoln and Hamlin in 1860 and still be only sixty-eight years old today. But the delegate to a National Convention is generally older than the citizen at first voting age, and, on the assumption that those who were in the Lincoln convention were thirty-five years of age, they would be considerably past the fourscore mile stone now, and most of them, would be even older.

The proportion of men who pass the fourscore mark is very small, and Mr. Voorhees' conclusion that there are but two survivors of the 1860 gathering does no violence to the probabilities.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of East Sixth street, have moved to 1310 South avenue.

SPECIALS

Fresh Jersey Eggs

At this season of the year almost every grocer makes a special drive on eggs. Many people wonder why there is such a variety of prices. Here is one reason—the prices of eggs are made according to their freshness upon arrival at the market. Most of the eggs in this market are received from the West, South and nearby Jersey. Now suppose I bought a case of each kind. I would receive the Westerns and Southerns in twenty to thirty days, while the Jerseys would be in my store and on sale tomorrow. Do you see the point? There would be a dozen shipments of Jerseys sold and consumed while the others are in transit. We receive all of our eggs direct from Flemington every day or two. We will make you a special price for Saturday of 23c per dozen.

We have done a lot of talking this winter about our potatoes. We have the quality to back it up. Fine mealy cookers, "Finest in town," is the verdict from all the buyers.

We buy from one of the largest receivers in New York and pay them a premium to ship us from their finest lots. Quality is the first consideration and then the price. We will quote you special prices for Saturday only.

Finest table butter, per lb 37c
Very good butter, per lb 32c
Pullman Print Butter per lb 40c

Flour Special

We will offer you for Saturday only a lot of Gold Medal and Pillsbury flour at a very low price.

Glen Gardner, April 4.—Word has been received here of the sudden death of Peter Kline, seventy years old, which occurred in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York city. Mr. Kline was a native of this village, the son of the late Rev. David Kline, for many years pastor of the Spruce Run Lutheran church, near this place. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and had been in the Soldiers' Home at Kearny for some time. A few days ago he went to New York city and became suddenly ill. He was taken to the hospital, but his relatives knew nothing of his sickness until notified of his death. He leaves one brother, John Kline, who is at the Soldiers' Home, and these sisters: Mrs. Theodore Vosler, of this place; Mrs. Mary Fritz, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Hutchinson, of Dunellen; Miss Fannie Kline, of Bayonne; Mrs. George Adams, of Chatham, Mass. Virginia Drew Trescott, in "Mrs. Warren's Profession," at the New Plainfield Theatre Next Friday Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

A million apron-string wives are largely responsible for the temporary outbreaks upon the parts of erring husbands. The old Adam—the same who got wise in the Garden of Eden—has always flared up under two much nagging and pecking, and women of Mrs. Warren's type reap the harvest. The young man may sew his oats, and the crop may be a pretty thistley one, but some good woman will anchor him in time, and if "Mrs. Warren's Profession" diffuses some knowledge and better balances some young unsophisticated brains, its mission will be accomplished. "Mrs. Warren's Profession" will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

Considerable interest attaches to the engagement of Maude Fealy at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night in that her appearance is to be made in the title role of "The Illusion of Beatrice," the new comedy by Martha Morton. Miss Fealy has by long and successful work as a leading woman with Sir Henry Irving, Wm. Gillette, E. S. Willard and Wm. Collier, demonstrated her ability as a versatile actress until, finally by common consent, she is placed among the leading feminine stars of the country. Under the direction of John Cort, the youngest star on the dramatic stage has been provided with a play in which the title role is admirably suited to Miss Fealy's girlish personality. The action of the play begins in the New York home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart. The latter, a society woman, has taken up magazine writing as a fad and learning of her husband's ward, Beatrice, attempts to make capital of the affair by incorporating the romatic incidents of the girl's life into a story. It seems that Stewart, who had been in Paris, some years before his marriage, discovered a foundling in his rooms one night. He gave the child into the keeping of the Concierge's wife who brought her up believing the foundling to be the child of an Austrian princess who had run away with a Hungarian musician and was later reinstated at court. The child was surfeited with stories of her parantage and royal ancestors, and when she was brought to America to be educated by Stewart her imperious manner enhanced the aristocratic school beyond measure. Beatrice graduates and comes to Stewart's home. His wife refuses to believe the story of the foundling and believes the girl to be John's child. The complications begin with this incident and lead through splendid dramatic and comedy situations.

Bickel, Watson and Wrothe are said to have pretty near a mirth trust in "Tom, Dick and Harry," the melange of hilarious nonsense and music that makes the heart joyful, in which A. H. Woods is now starring them in their second season of wondrous success. But as they make no increase in the charge for their mirth no one can object. Bickel, Watson and Wrothe in the past two seasons have proven themselves a real discovery for musical comedy purposes and Mr. Woods has given them the finest setting in vehicle, company, chorus and scenery that money could obtain. They will dispense laughter at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, April 15, appearing for the benefit of the ushers.

Rev. Charles L. Cooder, of Rahway, will give an illustrated lecture at Grace church, Friday night, April 12, on the subject of "300 Years of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America."

Mrs. William M. Stillman, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Mrs. C. A. Marsh, Mrs. John Gray Foster and Mrs. Isaac Field have been chosen as delegates by the McAll Auxiliary to attend the State convention to be held on May 9 and 10.

The members of Grace church wishing to attend the illustrated lecture on Peru to be given at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday night, April 9, by Mrs. F. P. Adams, can obtain tickets from Arthur Murphy, secretary of the Men's Club.

—Edwin Davis, of Montclair, who is connected with the Ingersoll-Rand Company, has moved to this city.

—H. H. Coward, of East Front street, will give an invitation dance at the Camera Club rooms tonight.

Just now a large force of men is engaged on the interior improvements, including painting, papering and installing new plumbing throughout.

$2,000,000 STEEL PLANT FOR NEWARK SUBURB.

New Carnegie Mill at Waverly Will Cover About 100 Acres of Land.

The Carnegie Steel Company has begun the erection of a $2,000,000 plant at Waverly, just south of the Pennsylvania Railroad and near the potter's field. This is Newark's portion of the $25,000,000 to be spent by the steel company in new work this year. One hundred acres of farm land were purchased last fall by agents of the company and since that time engineers have been busy preparing plans for the new buildings to be constructed there this summer.

Fifty men are at work constructing an eight-foot fence around the plot. It will require 7,000 feet of fencing to close in the ground and 1,700 feet have already been completed. As rapidly as tools arrive from Pittsburg more men will be put to work and the construction rushed to completion.

The plans of the company are to have the building completed within eight months and to have about 2,500 men at work in the shops within the next two years.

STATE'S LAWMAKERS AMEND BISHOSP' BILL

DEMOCRATS PUT PARCEL OF PARTISAN MEASURES.

The Klenert-Silzer amendment to the Bishops' bill; so called because Senator Silzer, of Middlesex, drew it, and Assemblyman Klenert, the Democrat leader, introduced it, passed the House at Trenton yesterday afternoon by a vote of 33 to 18. It was got out with the aid of Republican votes, which was unexpected, and which has caused lots of gossip.

The amendments are not numerous, but they would never have passed except with Republican help, as the three Democrats, who have refused to stand by the caucus voted in the negative today.

Mr. Klenert supported the measure in a short speech. Mr. Barber, the Republican leader, opposed the bill, declaring it a subterfuge, by which the effects of the Bishops' bill would be largely vitiated. The screen section of the original bill was wiped out and the responsibility of the landlord was reduced.

Crowther, of Middlesex, was the first Republican to intimate his intention to support the bill. He said he was opposed to the screen feature for one thing. Klenert then made another litle speech, and the vote was taken.

dering most efficient service. The Laymen's Association of the Newark Conference has generously come to the aid of the Newark secretary and treasurer.

"The late Mr. Murphy has willed the society $10,000 on condition that the conference shall secure $10,000 additional by October, 1907. The presiding elders and the pastors have united in an effort to secure the conditional $10,000. A well known generous layman gave us another $10,000. At this late day there is but a small fraction of the necessary $10,000 required to secure the Murphy bequest. At the last conference the treasurer's report showed him to be in possession of interest-bearing assets to the amount of $70,241. This produced a revenue of $3,091 for the year, which was paid to the conference stewards for distribution among the claimants to supplement the regular collection for 1906. This was brought about by donations from the Laymen's Association by the collecting of old subscriptions and some bequests, the chief of which was the sale of property willed to the conference by the late Rev. Isaac W. Cole. This year's work has been entirely devoted to the effort to secure the balance of the $10,000 from the churches."

Prominent citizens are backing the officials in the matter. Antagonism is anticipated, but eventual success is promised.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Chauncey Olcott, the Irish singing comedian whose admirers are legion, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on April 29. He will appear in his latest play, "Eileen Asthore" (Eileen my treasure), supported by Florence Lester and the strongest company that Augustus Pitou has ever gotten for him.

Pugilist, or rather, Actor "Bob" Fitzsimmons, is so delighted with his home at Dunellen and the people and appearance of Plainfield that he has been spreading good words about them all over the country. In his play, "A Fight for Love," in which he has been appearing all season, he has localized three of the four acts and in the dialogue the names of well known Plainfield people are used frequently. When the curtain rises on the first scene it shows what the programme describes as "A blacksmith shop at Dunellen, N. J." In this act, "Bob" makes real horse shoes and puts them on a pony. The second scene is Fitzsimmons' gymnasium, Dunellen, N. J.; the third is a banker's mansion in New York and the fourth shows "The arena at Plainfield, N. J.," during which the lanky fellow has a stage fight with another pugilist to win the love of the heroine. "Bob" wins of course and when he responds to a curtain call he talks for five minutes on the Dunellen place and the city of Plainfield, which he designates as his "home town."

Manager John Cort has obtained the American rights to "The Stronger Sex," a play by John Valentine, recently and successfully produced in London. The piece will be presented in this country early next fall, with Maude Fealy in the leading feminine role.

The condition of Fritizi Scheff, who has been starring in "Mlle. Modiste," and who is seriously ill in a New York hotel, shows signs of improvement. Manager Charles Dillingham has disbanded the company of which she was the prima donna. The popular singing comedienne will not reappear professionally until next fall. Miss Scheff was to have appeared at the New Plainfield theatre next month.

The Misses Adele and Winonah von Ohl, of Willow Brook farm, left Plainfield this week or this summer work with the Buffalo Bill Wild West show. Miss Adele started Tuesday afternoon on her high school horse, "Jack" riding through to New York. Her sister left by rail yesterday, taking her trained calf "Chief." From New York they will go to Bridgeport, Conn., the winter quarters of the show, where they will rehearse until April 23. The show opens at Madison Square Garden as soon as the Barnum & Bailey circus leaves and the Misses von Ohl will be seen in a high school riding act, while "Chief" will add "comedy" to a second turn.

VALE, CIGARETTES!

This Is, for Boys Under 16, as Bill of Mr. Jess is Passed by the House.

Trenton, April 4.—The bill forbidding the sale of cigareetes to persons under 16 years of age was passed yesterday by a vote of 45 to 0.

The bill as originally introduced by Assemblyman Frank Jess, of Camden, made the age limit 18 years, but the committee made several changes in the bill which, however, does not materially kill its purpose of the bill.

Mr. Jess read a story from the Newark Advertiser on the cigarette habit, saying that it expressed his opinion on the subject.

"I am not opposed to the use of tobacco," said Mr. Jess, "but I do say that the use of cigarettes is a bane to our future citizens."

Assemblyman Daniel J. Brady, of Essex, spoke in favor of the bill, saying that army examinations have shown the "cigarette heart" to a great extent.

Several members who used cigarettes voted for the bill.

Supplementarily a resolution was adopted to the effect that Mr. Jess, the sponsor of the bill, furnish the members with "the cigars."

MAN MURDERED DURING BRAWL AT SOUTH RIVER.

Crime Followed a Riotous Celebration by Hungarians—Victim Recently Married.

New Brunswick, April 4.—During a brawl, which followed a riotous celebration of Easter Monday, by the Hungarians of South River and Sayreville, Joseph Tifie was shot and killed in front of Joseph Dlock's saloon, at South River, shortly before midnight Monday night. Louis Budi is accused of doing the shooting.

A dance was in progress at the saloon. The men had words and were put out by Dlock. It is alleged that Budi pulled a revolver immediately and fired two shots at Tifie, one gouging out the left eye and glancing from the skull, the other piercing the brain.

In the excitement following the shooting, Budi escaped to the swamps back of South River. Six deputies, sworn in by Mayor Mark, scoured the woods all night, but failed to capture the fugitive.

Tifie, the dead man, was thirty-three years old, and had been married only seven months. Budi is twenty-three years old.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 7: "Triumphant Grace."

By REV. WALTER E. BATES, D. D.

II Cor. ii, 14; Rom. v, 17, 18; viii, 28; I. Cor. x, 13; II Cor. iv, 15-18; xii, 9, 10.

In nothing is the power of Christ more manifest than in the grace He gives to His followers to cheerfully endure trials and persecutions.

This is much more than patience. It is not a grim holding on to the truth with dogged determination not to let go. It is not so much the feeling of rugged strength and the strong desire to battle down all opposition. Such courage may come to the natural man who has never felt the influence of the spirit of Christ.

The grace which triumphs is more of an inward exultation that we have found one whom we can love supremely and for whom we can do this little service to show that we do in real earnest love him truly. When it is not the doing anything, but just holding still, when everything hurts and matters go wrong, there is still the inner sense of gladness that it is for Him.

Did mother never tell you a secret when you were a bit of a child? Did she never call you a pet name and tell you not to tell it to any one else? Did you never in older years have some work together which the other children knew nothing of? Do you recall the secret heart swelling with which you went about feeling so good inside because you and mother understood something together? Ah, so it seems to me our Lord has a secret which he whispers to each one singly, a sweet name by which he calls no other one, a white stone in which is written the mystic symbol which only he and you can read. The grace he gives is sufficient for every hour of need—never twice alike, because never at any two times are the needs just identical, but always sufficient. What a blessed sense of comfort and confidence one comes to have when he has been through the hard places and the grace has been poured out!

Have you on the Lord believed?
Still there's more to follow.
Of His grace have you received?
Still there's more to follow.
More and more, more and more,
Always more to follow.
Oh, His matchless, boundless love!
Still there's more to follow.

But this is more than personal. Have you ever been on the high hills of observation to see how things are going with God's world? Down in the streets and through the swamps there is not much apparent progress. It looks as if everything was going to ruin at high speed. Get up on the mountains once in awhile; it is good for the heart and eyes. See how the world's night is wearing. In the great movements of society and the nations there is gain for righteousness.

Is it not of God's grace that there has been such an upheaval in civic matters in the past few years? Is it not matter for devout thanksgiving that there is an aroused public conscience that is demanding justice for all men regardless of position and wealth? Is it not the turning point when greed of gain shall no more control as it has and manhood shall have its true weight and proper recognition? Is there not here the clear manifestation of God's grace in bringing in a sounder estimate of the worth of things than has prevailed? The gospel is finding its way among men, and the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ shall yet rule in the affairs of men.

The Man of Cheer.

We love the man with a smile, the man with the roses on his tongue, the man who sees your boy's dirty face, but mentions his bright eyes; who notices your shabby coat, but praises your studious habits; the man who sees all the faults, but whose tongue is quick to praise and slow to blame. We like to meet a man whose smile will light up dreariness, whose voice is full of the music of the birds, whose handshake is an inspiration and his "God bless you!" a benediction. He makes us forget our troubles as the raven's dismal croak is forgotten when the wood thrush or the brown thrasher sings. God bless the men of cheer! There is plenty of trouble here, but we need not increase it. There is a lot of dying done ahead of time. There are living men who have already crossed Jordan two or three times, and, unfortunately, they are not of the type who "cross the river of Jordan happy in the Lord," but who sing, if they sing at all, dismalest, dreariest, deadliest music. The very tone is fatal to happiness. If you have faith, preach it; if you have doubts, bury them. If you have joy, share it; if you have sorrow, bear it. Find the bright side of things—God's side—and help others to get sight of it also.—Zion's Herald.

Praying.

A habit of sincere prayer is a habit of personal communication with God. No human being can form a habit of personal communication with God without having his or her character acted upon and lifted. "Saying" one's prayers may leave one exactly the same as before. Praying does not. The more we pray the better we become.

The noblest prayer is when one evermore
Grows inly liker that he kneels before.

Like Stars.

Ideals are like stars—you will not succeed in touching them with your hands; but, like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them you reach your destiny.—Carl Schurz.

Glory of Life.

To be a strong hand in the dark to another in the time of need, to be a cup of strength to a human soul in a crisis of weakness, is to know the glory of life.—Hugh Black.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 7.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The consecration of one day in seven.—Jer. xvii, 19-27. (Consecration meeting.)

Jeremiah's injunction concerning the Sabbath day was called forth by the increasing tendency on the part of the people of Jerusalem and Judaea to disregard the Sabbath. He received his instructions from the Lord, and they were most emphatic. He was to stand in all the gates of the city and to declare to the kings of Judah and to all the people that the Lord said unto them, "Take heed to yourselves and bear no burden on the Sabbath day. * * * but hallow ye the Sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers." But they refused to obey God's command concerning the Sabbath, and God pronounced His judgment against them. God will honor those who honor Him and hold to strict account those who lightly set aside His laws and trample under feet His day.

The same reason exists today for emphasizing Sabbath observance as existed in the time of Jeremiah. The tendency to desecrate the Sabbath is most marked. This is true in many walks of life, political, business, social and individual. What can justify political conferences on the Sabbath or a council of government officials in time of peace? What can justify the distribution of mail on the Sabbath? In the days of the telegraph and telephone who depends upon the mail to dispatch urgent and necessary business on any day?

The Sunday newspaper is absolutely without excuse. It is no necessity, for if thousands of conscientious Christian people who do not read it can get along without it why cannot the others? It is no answer to say that the work of preparation is largely done on Saturday. It is sold and read on the Sabbath, and through its existence thousands have become indifferent to the church and have had their religious lives impaired. Granted even that in large cities there must be some public means of transportation and that even on most of our railroads some train service must be furnished, yet who will dare say that much of the Sunday traveling is not unnecessary? Social functions and social visiting are mostly unnecessary on the Sabbath and far from a work of mercy. Yet they are ever on the increase. "Friends came in to see us" is an ever increasing excuse for nonchurch attendance. There is also an ever increasing encroachment of the business world upon the sanctity of the Sabbath. The American people may well ask, "Whither are we drifting?" for no nation can exist that with increasing regularity disregards God's laws and lightly esteems holy and sacred things. The Sabbath is God's day. On that day He rested from His creative work and therefore sanctified it. It is necessary also for man. "The Sabbath was made for man," but not for his pleasure and recreation, but his highest spiritual welfare. He who disregards the Sabbath not only disobeys God, but stands in his own light.

But what can counteract this tendency? There is one thing at least that can greatly help, and that is for the Christian people of our land to be more strict in "remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy." What has been our practice? Are we desecrating the Sabbath? Then let us heed the injunction of the Lord through the prophet and "hallow the Sabbath day, as God commanded our fathers."

BIBLE READING.

Gen. ii, 1, 2; Ex. xx, 8-11; xxiii, 12; xxxi, 12-18; xxxiv, 21; Neh. xv, 32-36; Deut. v, 12-14; Neh. x, 31; Matt. ii, 23-28; Luke iv, 16.

A Famous Bedspread.

Dr. Francis E. Clark describes as follows in the Christian Endeavor World an experience he had in Liverpool during one of his trips in England:

"I have attended but one 'floating meeting' in Liverpool, and that was an enthusiastic gathering that filled a large church in the heat of summer time. May I venture to relate a personal incident? On that occasion a most elaborate and beautiful bedspread was presented to Mrs. Clark and myself, wrought with various symbols of the sea, anchor, compass, capstan and wheel and containing the names of scores of societies and hundreds of individual Liverpool Endeavorers who are interested in floating work. It was designed by W. D. Williams and W. D. Mitchell and was largely wrought by Mrs. Hannah Dawber. I shall prize it as one of my most treasured possessions and hope to pass it on to my children's children as a precious family heirloom. It only remains to say that floating Endeavor work has taken a strong hold of the hearts of many other Christians besides the Liverpool Endeavorers, and in Great Britain, as well as in our own land, are multitudes whose hearts beat warm for those who do business on the great deep. The London Floating society is particularly active, and many other seaport towns are equally interested."

Training School of the Church.

Go on in your campaign for new members, for the measure of Christian Endeavor blessing is the number of young people that come under its influence. Go on in your work of training these young people for definite service. The church of the future is in the youth of today. Without the primary and the grammar school there can be no high school, college or university; without the apprentice there can be no master workman; without the training school in the church there can be no workman "that needeth not to be ashamed."—William Shaw in Ohio Endeavorer.

CHAPTER VII.

Bygones.

A telegram had been thrust under my door—"I must see you. Don't fail to stop off here on your way back. Answer. —Carlotta."

Again she was at the station in her phaeton. Her first look, long before I was near enough for speech, showed me how her mood had changed; but she waited until we were clear of the town. "Forgive me," she then said in the abrupt, direct manner which was the expression of her greatest charm, her absolute honesty. "I've got the meanest temper in the world, but it don't last, and as soon as you were gone I was ashamed of myself."

"I don't understand why you are making these apologies," said I, "and I don't understand why you were angry."

"That's what it means to be a man," she replied. "Your letter about your mother made me furious. You hadn't ever urged me to hurry up the wedding on your own account. And your letter made me feel as if, while you personally didn't care whether we ever married or not, still for your mother's sake you were willing to—to sacrifice yourself."

"Let me see my letter," said I.

"I tore it into a thousand pieces," said she. "But I don't mean that you really wrote just that. You didn't. But you made me jealous of your mother, and my temper got hold of me, and then I read the meanest kind of things into and under and all round every word. And—I'm sorry."

I could find nothing to say. I saw my freedom slipping from me. I watched it, sick at heart; yet, on the other hand, I neither tried nor wished to detain it, though I could easily have made a renewal of our engagement impossible. I have no explanation for this conflict of emotions and motives.

"Don't make it so hard for me," she went on. "I never before in my life told anybody I was sorry for anything, and I thought I never would. But I am sorry, and—we'll have the wedding the first day of August."

Still I found nothing to say. It was so painfully obvious that, true to her training, she had not given and was not giving a thought to the state of my mind and feelings. What she wished, that she would do—the rest did not interest her.

"Are you satisfied, my lord?" she demanded. "Have I humbled myself sufficiently?"

"You haven't humbled yourself at all," said I. "You have only humbled me."

She did not pause on my remark long enough to see what it meant. "Now that it's all settled," she said, gayly, "I don't mind telling you that I began to make my preparations to be married on the first of August—when, do you think?"

"When?" I said.

"The very day I got your nasty letter, putting me second to your mother." And she laughed, and was still laughing, when she added: "So, you see, I was determined to marry you."

"I do," said I, dryly. "I suppose I ought to feel flattered."

"No, you oughtn't," she retorted. "I simply made up my mind to marry you. And I'll do it, no matter what it cost. I get that from father. But I've got mother's disposition, too—and that makes me far too good for such a cold, unsentimental, ambitious person as you."

"Don't you think you're rather rash to confess so frankly—when I could still escape?"

"Not at all," was her confident answer. "I know you, and so I know nothing could make you break your word."

"There's some truth in that"—and I hope that I do not deceive myself in thinking I was honest there. "More truth, perhaps, than you guess."

She looked shrewdly at me—and she laughed queerly, and struck the, guessed," said she. "Nobody's ever so blind as he lets others think. It's funny, isn't it? There are things in your mind that you'd never tell me, and things in my mind that I'd never tell you. And each of us guesses most of them, without ever letting on." She laughed queerly, and struck the horse smartly so that he leaned into a gait at which conversation was impossible.

When we resumed, the subject was the details of our wedding.

At home again, I found my mother too ill to leave her bed. She had been ill before—many times when she wouldn't confess it, several times when she was forced to admit it, but never before so ill that she could not dress and come down stairs. "I shall be up to-morrow," she assured me, and I almost believed her. She drew a letter from under her pillow. "This came while you were away," she went on. "I kept it here, because—" a look of shame flitted across her face, and then her eyes were steady and proud again—"why should I be ashamed of it? I had the impulse to destroy the letter, and I'm not sure but that I'm failing in my duty."

I took it—yes, it was from Boston, from Betty. I opened it and fortunately had nerved myself against showing myself to my mother. There was neither beginning nor end, just a single sentence:

"From the bottom of my broken heart I am thankful that I have been spared the horror of discovering I had bound myself for life to a coward."

The shot went straight to the center of the target. But— There lay my mother—did she not have the right to determine my destiny—she who had given me my life and her own? I tore up Betty's letter, and I looked at mother and said: "There's nothing in that to make me waver—or regret." It was the only lie I ever told her. I told it well, thank God, for she was convinced, and the look in her face repaid me a thousandfold. It repays me once more as I write.

Carlotta and I were married at her bedside, and she lived only until the next day but one. When the doctor told me of the long concealed mortal disease that was the cause of her going, he ended with: "And, Mr. Sayler, it passes belief that she managed to keep alive for five years. I can't understand it." But I understood. She simply refused to go until she felt that her mission was accomplished.

"We must never forget her," said Carlotta, trying to console me by grieving with me.

I did not answer—how could I explain? Never forget her! On the contrary, I knew that I must forget, and that I must work and grow and so heal the wound and cover its scar. I lost not a day in beginning.

To those few succeeding months I owe the power I have had all these years to concentrate my mind upon whatever I will to think about; for in those months I fought the fight I dared not lose—fought it and won. Let those who have never loved talk of remembering the dead.

I turned away from her grave with the resolve that my first act of power would be to stamp out Dominick. But for him she would not have gone for many a year. It was his persecutions that involved us in the miseries which wasted her and made her fall a victim to the mortal disease. It was his malignity that poisoned her last years, which, but for him, would have been happy.

As my plans for ousting Dunkirk took shape, I saw clearly that, if he were to be overthrown at once, I must use part of the existing control of the machine of the party—it would take several years, at least three, to build up an entirely new control. To work quickly, I must use Croffut, Dunkirk's colleague in the senate. And Croffut was the creature of Dominick.

Early in September Woodruff came to me, at Fredonia, his manner jubilant. "I can get Dominick," he exclaimed. "He is furious against Dunkirk because he's just discovered that Dunkirk cheated him out of $100,000 on that perpetual street railway franchise, last winter."

"But we don't want Dominick," said I.

My face must have reflected my mind, for Woodruff merely replied: "Oh, very well. Of course that alters the case."

"We must get Croffut without him," I went on.

Woodruff shook his head. "Can't get him," he said. "Dominick controls the two southern ranges of counties. He fiances his own machine from what he collects from vice and crime in those cities. He gives that branch of the plum tree to the boys. He keeps the bigger one, the corporations, for himself."

"He can be destroyed," said I, waving aside these significant reminders.

"Yes, in five years or so of hard work. Meanwhile, Dunkirk will run things at the capital to suit himself. Anyhow, you're taking on a good deal more than is necessary—starting with two big fights, one of 'em against a man you ought to use to do up the other. It's like breaking your own sword at the beginning of the duel."

"Go back to the capital," said I, after a moment's thought; "I'll telegraph you up there what to do."

It was my first test—my first chance to show whether I had learned at the savage school at which I had been a pupil. Scores, hundreds of men, can plan, and plan wisely—at almost any country general store you hear in the conversation round the stove as good plans as ever moved the world to admiration. But execution—there's the rub! And the first essential of an executive is freedom from partialities and hatreds—not to say, "Do I like him? Do I hate him? Was he my enemy a year or a week or a moment ago?" but only to ask oneself the one question: "Can he be useful to me now?"

"I will use Dominick to destroy Dunkirk, and then I will destroy him," I said to myself. But that did not satisfy me. I saw that I was temporizing with the weakness that has wrecked more careers than misjudgment. I felt that I must decide then and there whether or not I would eliminate personal hatred from my life. After a long and bitter struggle, I did decide once and for all.

I telegraphed Woodruff to go ahead. When I went back to Pulaski to settle my affairs there, Dominick came to see me. Not that he dreamed of the existence of my combine or of my connection with the new political deal, but simply because I had married into the Ramsay family and was therefore now in the Olympus of corporate power before which he was on his knees—for a price, like a wise devotee, untroubled by any such qualmishness as self-respect. I was ready for him. I put out my hand.

"I'm glad you're willing to let bygones be bygones, Mr. Sayler," said he, so moved that the tears stood in his eyes.

Then it flashed on me that, after all, he was only a big brute, driven blindly by his appetites. How silly to plot revenges upon the creatures of circumstance—how like a child beating the chair it happens to strike against! Hatreds and revenges are for the small mind with small matters to occupy it. Of the stones I have quarried to build my career, not one has been, or could have been, spared to waste as a missile.

I went down to the Cedar Grove cemetery, where my mother lay beside my father. My two sisters who died before I was born were at their feet; her parents and his on either side. And I said to her: "Mother, I am going to climb up to a place where I can use my life as you would have me use it. To rise in such a world as this I shall have to do many things you would not approve. I shall do them. But when I reach the height, I shall justify myself and you. I know how many have started with the same pledge and have been so defiled by what they had to handle that when they arrived they were past cleansing; and they neither kept nor cared to keep their pledge. But I, mother, shall not break this pledge to you."

CHAPTER VIII.

A Call from "the Party."

About a month after the Chicago and Fredonia bill was smothered in committee there appeared upon the threshold of my office, in the administration building of the Ramsay company, a man whom at first glance you might have taken for an exhorter or a collector for some pious enterprise. But if you had made a study of faces, your second glance would have cut through that glaze of oily, apologetic appeal. Behind a thin screen of short gray beard lay a heavy loose mouth, cruel and strong; above it, a great beak and a pair of pale green eyes, intensely alive. They were in startling contrast to the apparent decrepitude of the stooped shambling body, far too small for its covering of decent but somewhat rusty black.

"Senator Dunkirk," said I, rising and advancing to greet the justly feared leader of my party. I knew there was an intimate connection between this visit and the death of his pet project. I thought it safe to assume that he had somehow stumbled upon Woodruff's tunnelings, and with that well-trained nose of his had smelled out their origin. But I need not have disquieted myself. I did not then know how softly Woodruff moved, sending no warnings ahead, and leaving no trail behind.

For several minutes the senator and I both felt for each other in the dark in which we both straightway hid. He was the first to give up and reveal himself in the open. "But I do not wish to waste your time and my own, Mr. Sayler," he said; "I have come to see you about the threatened split in the party. You are, perhaps, surprised that I should have come to you, when you have been so many years out of politics, but I think you will understand, as I explain myself. You know Mr. Roebuck?"

"I can't say that I know him," I replied. "He is not an easy man to know—indeed, who is?"

"A very able man; in some respects a great man," Dunkirk went on. "But, like so many of our great men of business, he cannot appreciate politics—the difficulties of the man in public life whose persuasion and compromise must be used, authority almost never. And because I have resisted some of his impossible demands, he has declared war on the party. He has raised up in it a faction headed by your old enemy, Dominick. I need not tell you what a brute, what a beast he is, the representative of all that is abhorrent in politics."

"A faction headed by Dominick couldn't be very formidable," I suggested.

DIAMOND DUST.

The members of the Clinton Avenue team will be on Crescent Oval for practice Saturday afternoon. Manager Dorflinger says that his aggregation fully expects to win the pennant in the amateur league series.

It is rumored that Davis, of the P. H. S. baseball team, may do some of the catching for Y. M. C. A. this season. He is rated as one of the best amateur catchers in this vicinity. He formerly caught for Phil. Smith.

While little has been heard from the Bound Brook team, it is said that Manager Hawk will spring a surprise by having a team of exceptional strength and that it will make a bold bid for the pennant.

Now that Plainfield is to have amateur baseball this season an opportunity will be given to see how the fans appreciate that class of ball. The semi-professional variety failed to draw the crowds and it is hoped that the amateur kind will fill the bill.

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club has elected several new members and everything points to a great season for the game not only at the Plainfield Club, but at the Park Golf Club, where there is renewed activity.

"Marty" O'Loughlin is practicing every day at the Plainfield Country Club, getting in condition for the season. He hopes to make some new records in the various tournaments that will be open to him.

Several changes are being made in the course at the Plainfield Country Club, which will be of benefit to the women players. An effort will be made this season to attract more of the fair sex to the course.

The golf committee of the Plainfield Country Club, of which Thomas VanBoskerck is the chairman, is busily engaged making out the schedule of competitions. It bids fair to exceed all previous ones.

The Westfield Golf Club is getting busy in preparation for the season's competitions. A number of improvements have been made about the clubhouse and on the course.

BOWLING

Gaddis and Dilkes and Kiely and Runyon, the leaders in the big tourney at McLaughlin's, roll their final games tonight, both with the same team, the Schaub brothers, of Rariton. Much interest in attached to the games from the fact that it is still possible or Kiely and Runyon to tie Gaddis and Dilkes for first place. The former have won twenty-seven games and lost twelve, while the latter have taken twenty-eight games and dropped eleven. If Kiely and Runyon should take the three straight and Gaddis and Dilkes should drop one, it would be even up. In the event of Gaddis and Dilkes dropping two, first money would go to the municipal team, the prize being $40. The Schaub brothers are a couple of good rollers and if they happen to strike their proper gait they will give their opponents a run for the money and possibly upset all calculations.

Rolled Final Games.

The bowling teams from Newark Lodge, of Newark, and Perseverance Lodge, this city, met on McLaughlin's alleys, last night, in the final games of the series they have been rolling. Perseverance came out ahead with two wins and one loss, the third cue getting away by a narrow margin. The Newark Lodge was ahead on the series, however, and stands as the winner of the series of nine games. Following last night's match the Newarkers enjoyed a supper at Timbo's as the guests of Plainfielders.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BALL.

First of the Games for City Championship Next Saturday Afternoon.

The nines of the city and borough high schools will meet in the first game for the championship of Plainfield at Crescent Oval next Saturday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. Each year Leal's, P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. engage in a struggle for supremacy on the diamond, and Saturday's game will signalize the start of 1907's race.

Van Zandt or Murphy will pitch for P. H. S. Mehaffey, who is a more seasoned player than any other man on either nine, will pitch for North Plainfield. He was one of the P. H. S. twirlers last year.

Entries For Meet.

All the entries have been filed for the interscholastic meet, which will be held next week at the Y. M. C. A. The boys of the local schools are practising in the gymnasium daily.

A Stubborn Grass Fire.

The borough fire department was called out at 2:30 yesterday afternoon for a blaze in the grass about Hydewood Hall on Mountain avenue. It theratened to communicate to the barns and other buildings on the property and the employees of Francis deL. Hyde and Louis K. Hyde found it impossible to put it out. The department laid in 1,500 feet of hose to get water on the fire but it was after 5 o'clock before the last spark was extinguished. The department answered an alarm at 11 o'clock yesterday morning for another fire near the residence of W. L. Murray on Rockview avenue.

His Finger Badly Crushed.

Harry Knight, a toolmaker at the Potter Press Works, had one of his fingers badly crushed between gears at the shop yesterday afternoon. He had the finger dressed at the hospital and will be laid aside from work for some time.

K. OF C. CARNIVAL.

Grant Avenue and Front Street Selected As the Location For It.

At a meeting last night of the general committee on the carnival, which the Knights of Columbus will hold under their auspices, all the preliminary arrangements were made. Committees have been appointed to look after the various matters connected with the carnival.

It will open on June 3, and will last for a week. The place selected is at Grant avenue and Front street, which will make an ideal location. The Hippodrome Company representatives have looked over the grounds and say they are admirably adapted for their attraction.

One point in the carnival is that every attraction will be on its on merit and will give a show that will be well worth the price of admission. The Knights are very exacting in this regard. Chairman Theodore Shirley has taken hold of the details and has already made many of the necessary arrangements. The advertising committee will also enter upon their duties at once, as have the other committees.

COMMITTEE RESIGNS.

Trustees of Country Club Had Curtailed Its Powers.

Because the trustees of the Plainfield Country Club have thought best to curtail the powers of the golf committee, and certain privileges which the trustees believe it should not have, especially in the care of the handicaps for the season, the committee tendered its resignation last night.

In the majority of golf clubs the golf committee takes full charge of all competitions and makes the changes in the handicaps from time to time as required. It is this authority that the local committee believed it should have, but the trustees have thought otherwise.

A member of the committee in speaking of the matter this morning, said that he would not be willing to serve unless the full authority is delegated to the committee and that every member had presented his resignation, last night. This will necessitate the appointment of a new committee, which must be done soon if the season's schedule is to be gotten out on time.

County Receives Battle Flags.

The Union County Board of Freeholders at the April session in the Court House, Elizabeth, this afternoon, received Gen. J. Madison Drake of the famous Drake Zouaves, who on behalf of his company presented the county with three old battle flags that saw service in the Civil War. One of these was presented to the Zouaves when they made their trip to California in 1888. Gen. Drake made the presentation speech and they were received by Director King for the county. The flags will be placed in the rotunda of the Court House.

Miss Anna Luders Marries.

Miss Anna Luders, formerly of this city, and Charles Wing, of North Plainfield, were married last night at the home of the bride in East Millstone, by Rev. Henry Lockwood, pastor of the Reformed church, of that place. The affair was a quiet home one and was attended only by the relatives and a few friends. Miss Helena Luders, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Miss Amelia Luders, another sister, was maid-of-honor. William Luders, a brother, of Philadelphia, was best man. The couple will reside in North Plainfield.

JUDGE J. B. DILL HOST OF MASONIC MASTERS

JURIST HONORS THE RETIRING AND NEW HEADS OF ANCIENT ORDER.

The leading Masonic function of the season was held last night in the Women's Club, East Orange, in the form of a reception given by Judge James B. Dill to the incoming grand master of Masons of New Jersey, Austen Hall McGregor, of Newark, and to the outgoing grand master, Walter Chandler, of Elizabeth. The reception was largely attended by men who are prominent in Masonic and busines circles in this State, among them being Jacob Kirkner, of this city, past grand commander of the Knights Templar of New Jersey.

Elaborate preparations were made to have the reception a grand success. The auditorium where the function was held was a mass of decorations, including palms, ferns and cut flowers, and streamers of the national colors.

The music was furnished by Clauder's string orchestra, and vocal music by Hope Lodge Glee Club, under the leadership of Arthur D. Woodruff, of New York. The orchestra was entirely hidden on the stage by an embankment of ferns and flowers.

The evening's festivities were opened by Justice J. Franklin Fort, of the Supreme Court, who acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced as the speaker of the evening, Grand Master Austen H. McGregor, who delivered a short address on "Brotherhood and Masonry." Winthrop E. Scarritt was the next speaker and at the conclusion of his remarks presented to Judge Dill, the host of the evening, in behalf of his guests, a costly Masonic jewel. Judge Dill was taken by surprise, as he said that the gift was entirely unexpected. In a few well chosen remarks the judge thanked his brother Masons for the gift. The jewel is very expensive and is of the best of workmanship.

Other addresses were delivered by Past Grand Master Walter Chandler, Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master William D. Wolfskeil, of Elizabeth, and Right Worshipful Grand Warden J. Clarence Conover, of Freehold.

A banquet followed the speeches and good fellowship prevailed at the tables.

Following the banquet dancing was indulged in.

The reception committee consisted of the following well-known Masons: Austen Hall McGregor, Walter Chandler, Justice J. Fraklin Fort, General R. Heber Breintnall, all of Newark, and General Joseph W. Congdon, of Paterson.

GODD TO KNOW.

Bananas should not be put into a refrigerator—in fact they should never be allowed to get colder than 50 degrees. A chill turns bananas black, prevents them ever ripening properly and renders them unfit for use.

Fruit stains upon the hands may be removed by rubbing with the juice of ripe tomatoes.

Don't be afraid of being too clean or washing away your skin with too frequent use of soap. Pure soap is a tonic, and if needs be it can be used twice a day on the entire body with no other than beneficial effects. The cold bath is stimulating and pleasant, bupt it is not a cleansing bath.

For rheumatism try the very simple cure of hot water. Take at least a pint before retiring at night. The object of taking hot water late at night is that during the hours you are resting, and the digestion is not being tried, the hot water can do its work on the gastric juices.

PRESENTS BATTLE FLAGS

Three Flags and a Banner Given to Union County to Hung in Court House.

GIFT OF GEN. DRAKE

Silken Banner Cost $1,000—Flags Had Waved In Great Battles of the Rebellion.

An interesting ceremony took place yesterday afternoon in the Freeholders room of the Union County Court House in Elizabeth at the monthly meeting of the board. It was presentation to the County of Union of three battle flags and a banner which had been in the possession of Elizabeth's Veteran Zouaves for more than twenty years. Two of the flags formerly were carried by the Fourth United States Infantry in the Civil War, while the other was the battle flag of Phil Kearny's Brigade.

The banner, a silken one valued at $1,000, was presented to the Zouaves in July, 1886, in San Francisco, by the George H. Thomas Veteran Guard of that city when the Zouaves made their memorable trip across the continent to attend the annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in the City of the Golden Gate.

General J. Madison Drake, commander of the Zouaves for forty years, presented the relics.

In making the presentation he said, in part:

"These remnants of the colors of the Fourth United States Infantry, presented to me by Captain William H. Gill, U. S. A., who long since crossed the silent river, waved in the fore-front at Fredericksburg, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and were with Grant when he swept through the Wilderness.

"The silken banner, a beautiful work of Oriental art, costing more than $1,000, was presented to the Veteran Zouaves of this city by the George H. Thomas Veteran Guard of San Francisco, Cal., while guests of that famous command in 1886.

"These relics of the greatest fraticidal conflict the world has ever known, beside which all other contests were pigmies in comparison, which I today deliver into your custody, lent the luster of their stars to the gloom of despair, as well as to joy in the hour of victory, grandly borne as they were by brave hands forward through smoke and carnage, planting them at last, after four long and terrible years, on the edge of the spring line at Appomattox. Four years of the lives of our country's defenders are wrought into their faded woof.

Died for the Flag.

"I recall instances of unparallaled bravery exhibited in the war for the Union, where no less than five men in one regiment, who loved our flag above all things else, sacrificed their lives, one after another, in defending our beautiful and priceless standard from the foe. It was instances of this character that added luster to the American soldier, and established for him a reputation for courage and interpidity never attained by any other. It was because of this inborn heroism that our unsullied flag now floats upon hosestly gained but useless possessions in a far-off land, however much we may lament the fact, and it is because of this that America's glorious sun of peace is now in the zenith, high up under the dome of the Union, preserved by the sacrifices of its gallant defenders, its refulgent rays illuminating a happy and prosperous land, with but one flag, from whose ethereal blue no star was lost in disunion's eternal night of political darkness.

"And what is the lesson which we should carry away from this scene—what the suggestion which surings from this hour and occasion? If it is anything, it seems to me to be this—that we need, all of us, to emulate the robust fidelity to all the duties of citizenship which the soldiers of the Union uniformly displayed, and to seek with equal self-sacrifice the best good of the republic in all the relations we sustain, and every exercise we make of the power inherent in us."

Freeholder Benjamin King, director of the Board of Freeholders, accepted the gift in behalf of the county.

Licensed As a Lay-Reader.

H. S. Guinn, of South avenue, superintendent of the Sunday-school at St. Stephen's church, has been licensed by Bishop Scarborough, as a lay-reader. It is quite necessary that there should be someone with authority who can act in case of emergency, and it was at the request of the rector, Rev. A. S. Peck, that Mr. Guinn was licensed.

—Be sure and see the big fruit and vegetable display at Neuman Brothers store tomorrow. Extra large assortment but with prices lower than usual.

PURELY ROUTINE WORK AT FREEHOLDERS' SESSION

BOARD TO PLACE A BRONZE TABLET IN THE COURT HOUSE.

Matters chiefly of a routine nature were considered at the April meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders, yesterday afternoon. It was reported that a bridge on Westfield avenue, near Woodbridge, was damaged somewhat by the heavy cables of the telephone company, which are run across it, and the board decided to fix it and send the bill to the telephone company.

It was decided to place a bronze tablet near the guns in the Union County Court House, giving of history of them.

The committee appointed to arrange for the widening of the county road at South avenue and Broad street, Westfield, reported that it would be necessary to buy land to make the improvement, and it recommended that Westfield buy the land and then the avenue could be widened. The board has no authority to purchase land for such purposes.

A letter was received from the secretary of the Staten Island Ferry Company, stating that he desired to confer with a committee from the board on a plan to rearrange fares.

N. J. AND P. T. PLANS A NEW TROLLEY LINE

WILL CONNECT SOMERVILLE WITH PRINCETON.

It is authoritatively announced that the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Traction Company will construct a new line from Princeton to Somerville, a distance of eighteen miles, during the coming summer. T. G. Kitchen, the engineer in charge of the surveys, is now on the work.

Mr. Kitchen states that part of the railway will be located on private right of way from fifty to 100 feet away from the public roads. Most of the public roads will be no grade crossings of any railroad. It is contemplated to establish a traction fast line to Princeton which will cover the distance in twenty minutes.

The road will connect at Princeton with the Trenton line, making the first through trolley line from the State capital to the northern section of the State.

The road will also carry freight at night, and freight and passenger stations will be established in all towns along the line. There will be several bridges, the largest being across the Raritan river, where the bridge and its approaches will exceed 1,800 feet.

PARK CLUB DANCE.

Several Hundred Persons Enjoy the Annual Affair.

The Easter dance attracted several hundred members and friends to the Park Club last night. The club was decorated, chiefly with palms and flowers, banked about the stage, behind which vonDer Heid's full orchestra was seated. The affair marked the resumption of social activities in the city and borough. During the evening refreshments were served. The patronesses were Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. Walter M. McGee and Mrs. Chas. A. Reed.

The next social event of interest at the club will be in informal dance on Saturday night.

Forty Years Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry. Corsa, of East Second street, celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary Wednesday night, the affair being held at the Camera Club rooms. Dancing was a feature of the evening, the Virginia Reel being a popular number. During the evening supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Corsa received a number of gifts, including a Morris chair from the East Second Street Euchre Club.

Will Present Tax Budget.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting on Tuesday night, April 9, for the purpose of considering the tax budget and adopting the same. There is more work than usual on the budget this year for the fact that many of the departments want more money and the finance committee is trying to give it without increasing the tax rate too much.

The Peasant Prince Coming.

Under the direction of William E. MacClymont, who will give his comic opera, "The Peasant Prince," at the New Plainfield theatre in May, the principals held a satisfactory rehearsal Wednesday night at his home. The opera gives promise of being one of the best amateur productions yet seen here. The chorus comprises sixty people.

STOCKHOLM BRIDE FOR INSURANCE MAN

MISS FRANCIS G. EDMAN BECOMES MRS. FRANK ALLEN.

Miss Frances Geraldine Edman, of Stockholm, Sweden, and Frank Allen, of Pittsfield, Mass., were married at 8 o'clock, last evening, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. B. Probasco, on East Front street, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Rev. George Clover, superintendent of St. Luke's Hospital, New York, of which institution the bride is a graduate trained nurse, and who was for many years her pastor, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine, trimmed with Irish point lace, and she carried a prayer-book. She was attended by her sister, Miss Carla Dagmar Edman, of Paris, who wore a gown of white taffeta, trimmed with point de Venice and carried carnations. The best man was Dr. Norman H Probasco. The bride was given in marriage by Dr. J. B. Probasco.

As the bridal party entered the parlor the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Howard M. Case, piano; Paul DeVike, 'cello, and George M. C. Smith, viola, and during the reception which followed they rendered a fine programme of music.

The house was lavishly decorated with flowers, the parlor being green and white, and the dining room being garnished with sweet peas, the chief color being pink.

The bride received many gifts from friends and relatives here and abroad. She also received many cablegrams of congratulations. After a short bridal tour the couple will live for the present at No. 78 Washington avenue, and later will move to Pittsfield, Mass., where the groom is employed as auditor for the Berkshire Life Insurance Company.

The bride is the third daughter of the late Francis Bernard Edman, a broker in Stockholm, and is a descendant on her mother's side of Governor Francis Shirley, one of the early Governors of Massachusets, who came over to America as a young man.

WATCHUNG STONE CO. HAS PUT IN APPARATUS.

Champlain L. Riley Chosen Head of New Stone Crushing Concern.

The Watchung Stone Company, recently incorporated under the laws of the State, has established an office at 816 Third place. The officers are President, Champlain L. Riley; vice-president, H. W. Riley; secretary, Ira W. Travell; treasurer and general manager, Warren B. Travell.

The company's plant is located on the first mountain at the head of Harrison street, the borough, where thirty acres have been acquired and complete and modern equipment established there. The land extends from the top of the mountain to the base, where storage pockets and weighing scales have been built at Mountain avenue and Harrison street. The plant is equipped with a crusher of the Gyratory type, the output being from 200 to 400 tons a day. A. Robins' belt conveyor is used to carry the stone from the crusher to the screen and a balance gravity railway 1,000 feet long carries the stone from the screen to the large storage, which has a capacity of 1,500 tons, arranged so that teams can drive through the tunnels beneath them.

The company has received the contract from the city to supply it with crushed stone during the coming year, its bid of $1.04 being the lowest of several received. It is expected that the contract will be publicly awarded at the next Common Council meeting.

HOPE CHAPEL HOLDS CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

ENCOURAGING REPORTS RECEIVED FROM THE VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS.

Hope chapel's congregation held its annual meeting for the reception of reports and the transaction of various items of business. Rev. L. R. Howard presided as chairman and Ralph Eckert was made secretary. The attendance was large.

It was shown by the reports that all the organizations connected with the chapel had enjoyed a prosperous year and that the outlook is very encouraging. The benevolences raised from all sources amounted to $2,400, exclusive of the Henry C. Squires' organ memorial fund for which $745.13 is now in hand. Fourteen new members were received into the church during the year and there are now 335 names on the roll. The congregation raised $1,009.21 in the past twelve months, according to the report of Treasurer Robert Slorah.

The Sunday-school department now has a membership of over 500 and the growth that was apparent under the superintendency of the late Henry C. Squires has been continued since H. R. Munger and G. Herbert Condict have been in charge, the latter being superintendent at the present time. Treasurer John H. Cose reported the school's receipts for the year to have been $598.44 with a balance of $19.38. A general report for the department was given by Mr. Condict and though he has not been in charge long enough to be thoroughly familiar with the details before he succeeded Mr. Munger, the gathering received a comprehensive resume.

Reports were received from the secretaries and treasurers of the various organizations as follows: Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. M. W. Clark, secretary; Mrs. L. R. Howard, treasurer; membership thirty-seven; receipts for the year $388.98; balance on hand, $5.48. Ladies' Missionary Society, Mrs. M. W. Clark, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Brown, treasurer; membership, forty-seven; receipts for the year, $116.46, not including a missionary box of $50; balance, $7.41. Christian Endeavor Society, Morris Hunter, secretary; Miss Clara Hunter, treasurer; membership, twenty-seven; receipts for the year, $26.90; balance, $3.10. Men's Club, Wallace Morton, secretary; H. C. Vogel, treasurer; membership, twenty-five. Boys' Club, secretary, Walter Firstbrook; treasurer, Harry Kerney; membership, thirty; receipts for past six months, $53.92; balance $14.58; Mary Miller Wright Memorial Missionary Society, Miss Edna Eckert, secretary; Mrs. L. R. Howard, treasurer; membership twenty; only three meetings have been held, the society having been organized only a short time ago. Flower Committee Women's Bible Class, Mrs. John Johnson, treasurer; receipts for the year, $19.74; balance, $4.09; Flower Committee Men's Bible Class, Donald McInness and Thomas Hendry, treasurers; reecipts $5.06; balance $4.58. Penny-a-Week Society, receipts for year, $150.91; balance, $100.91, $50 having been paid for the education of a little girl at Wolfpoint, Mont. Cooking School, report presented by Miss Clara E. Masters; thirty-eight members, four teachers and four substitutes.

Robert Slorah was re-elected treasurer with Walter Bradford, Thomas Hendry, Donald McInness and Fred Wharton assistants. A new Ways and Means committee was appointed to consist of David Bowden, Walter Firstbrook, Donald McInness, Henry C. Vogel, John Slorah and Mrs. M. W. Clark.

On complaint made by Alexander Millar, of this city, who is secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad, Frank W. Hill, who was private stenographer to E. H. GETS MONEY BACK.

Counsel for Mrs. Rogers Locates Her $50 Cash Bail.

Through the publication in The Daily Press of the story about the mysterious disappearance of $50 bail given by Mrs. Susan Rogers, colored, in the bicycle theft case of William Jones against Cepheus Floyd, the money has been found and returned to the owner by J. Henry Crane, counsel for Floyd.

Floyd was charged by Jones of stealing a bicycle, and his aunt, Mrs. Rogers, furnished the bail at the preliminary hearing before the late Justice Mosher, who accepted the money. It was afterward learned that he gave the money to George Ball for safe keeping. In the meantime the Grand Jury threw the case out. Justice Mosher subsequently died. Mrs. Rogers wanted her money back. When Mr. Ball read the story in this paper he communicated with Mr. Crane. Mr. Crane secured an order from Prosecutor English and the money has been returned to Mrs. Rogers.

POLICE ARE ACTIVELY AFTER THE AUTOISTS

ARREST ONE OWNER FOR SPEEDING, ANOTHER FOR NOT SHOWING NUMBER.

Acting on complaints against autoscorchers, Chief of Police Kiely instructed his men yesterday afternoon to be watchful for violations of the speed law. Not long after the instructions were given, Patrolman Kelly saw S. W. Rushmore making the dust fly on West Front street. Kelly recognized the autoist and reported him through the police box. An officer was sent to Rushmore's house, and he was ordered to appear before the city judge. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

While Mr. Rushmore was talking to Sergeant Herbert Overbaugh on the case this morning, Paul F. Gillette, agent for the Mitchell auto, went by in a car without a license number. DEWEY PARK CAR BARNS OPENED WITH RECEPTION

EMPLOYES AND THEIR FRIENDS THE GUESTS OF PUBLIC SEVICE.

The new car barns of the Public Service Corporation, located at Dewey Park, were formally opened last night, the event being marked by a big reception to employees and their friends by the corporation. It was an unique event in more ways than one and the first time the Public Service has ever shown its hospitality in the social line.

The motormen, conductors and other employees of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and New Brunswick divisions were invited by the company to attend the opening and each was given the privilege of bringing one or two friends. The result was a crowd of several hundred arriving at the barns, many of the visitors being women. An hour or more was spent in looking over the place and afterward everybody gathered in the main storage room which had been arranged with seats. The throng was addressed by N. W. Bolen, of Newark, assistant superintendent of transportation; R. S. Church, claims agent in Union and Middlesex counties, and J. B. Gettings, district superintendent. They spoke of the company's reasons in making the change from Plainfield and other places to Dewey Park and declared that the move would be much more beneficial to the employees.

An orchestra from this city was in attendance and rendered musical selections and vocal solos were rendered by Messrs. Hunter, of Elizabeth, and Boyle, of New Brunswick, while Frank Quinn, of Westfield, gave a song and dance. Refreshments were served in conclusion and for those who cared to remain, dancing became the order.

The committee which arranged and had charge of teh affair for the company consisted of George Luhr, chairman; William Davenport, Michael Walsh, Joseph Duryee, Jerry Griffin, Fred Selfridge and George Fine.

ARENS BUILDINGS THREATENED

Firemen Have Hard Fight to Save Them From Ground Blaze.

Chief Doane and members of the city fire department, aided by a lot of volunteers had a hard fight with a brush and wood fire off Rahway road, yesterday afternoon, that threatened to destroy the barns and ice house on Otto Arens' property. It was impossible to lay in a stream of water because of the distance away of the nearest hydrant and a special call was sent for the steamer but the danger had passed before it arrived.

The chief and his men blocked the flames by using chemicals and wet brooms, but for awhile it looked as though the ice house would surely go. The flames were all about it and the heat was so intense as to drive everybody back. At one time it was abandoned to its fate and the force combined to work about the barn but a shift in the wind saved the former structure. The blaze was under control when the steamer reached the scene and it was not put to work.

GAINS MANY MEMBERS

Board of Trade Secures Biggest Single Increase in Its History.

HOLDS LIVELY SESSION

Several Improvements for the City Animatedly Discussed — Public Bath Question Turned Over to the Common Council.

The Board of Trade held another enthusiastic meeting last night. Several new faces were among the score or more members who attended. A feature of the session was the addition of twenty-five new names to the membership roll, the largest increase ever made at one meeting.

The new members are D. J. Carney, A. E. Force, W. B. Travell, P. F. Gillette, D. S. Miller, Thad Doane, Jr., Ira L. LaRue, J. H. Crane, Edmund Rushmore, Milton Mendel, Armstrong Mulford, Samuel Townsend, L. R. Thurlow, Joseph Cadmus, W. R. Townsend, Albert W. Pangborn, G. W. Moy, Alexander Milne, A. E. Hoagland, J. A. Smith, J. F. W. Bamberger, Hyman Adelberg, A. C. Lohrman, William C. Dunham, Ralph L. Morrow. Most of the new members were secured by President Harry W. Marshall.

A communication from the L. J. Wing Manufacturing Company, makers of disc fans, relative to a new site for a factory, was referred back to the secretary for further correspondence, so the Board might learn what the Wing people wanted. A letter from Miss Margaret C. Holly, of the Organized Aid Association, to Mayor Fisk, and turned over by him to the Board, was read.

Public Bath.

Miss Holly's letter was on public baths. She said some place was needed where workingmen and boys could bathe.

President Marshall said he did not think the subject one for the Board of Trade to pursue. It belonged in the Councilmanic activities. He did not believe the city was prepared to pay the $3,000 Miss Holly thought the bath might be built for. L. B. Woolston said he approved of the idea, and thought some such place could be built right in or at the brook, where land was cheap. He said if the city would take some of the $2,500 it was spending in municipal water ownership investigation, which he said was all a farce, the bath might be built. The matter was referred to the president of the Common Council.

The Elizabeth Board of Trade sent a letter detailing some of the methods whereby the membership was increased and the influence of the body extended. Mr. Marshall said some of the suggestions would be acted upon. A gift of $50 for the publicity fund, from the Plainfield Trust Company, was acknowledged with thanks.

Station Names.

President Marshall reported in the movement to have the tickets from or to the Netherwood, Grant Avenue and Clinton Avenue stations changed to read as from or to, Plainfield, for flat rates from all the stations, and for a low-priced trip ticket. He said not much progress had been made. Answering an opening communication, General Manager Besler said there would be no difficulty about changing the names. A day or two later, the general manager wrote that the people in the Netherwood section had objected to the change so far as their station was concerned. Regarding the flat rate, Mr. Besler wrote that the Hepburn bill would interfere with it. Mr. Marshall said he intended to see Mr. Besler and press the matters to a definite understanding.

President Marshall announced the appointment of the following committee on subscription and membership: M. J. Roth, J. J. Kenney, H. Schwed, E. M. French, J. F. MacDonald, L. B. Woolston, Charles Conover, John Johnson, A. B. Laing and H. A. Todd.

Arc Lights.

The subject of arc lights was introduced by President Marshall. He said he had been told by a P. S. C. official that eighteen arc lights, covering the whole business district, could be installed at an expense of about $300. It was agreed that arc lights were needed, and a committee consisting of J. V. E. Vanderhoef, A. E. Force and Arthur Murphy was appointed to press the matter. They will have a petition circulated among the business men. At Mr. Vanderhoef's suggestion it was decided to have the Board represented at the conference between the P. S. C. and the Council as to new lighting rates for the city.

L. B. Woolston offered a resolution to the effect that the Board recommend that if the city laid permanent pavement, North avenue be included in the improvement. He said he could see no reason why North

STILL ANOTHER SOCIETY STAGE RECRUIT COMES.

Curtis Burnley, a Social Leader, to Seek Histrionic Honors on Metropolitan Stage.

New York, April 5.—Miss Curtis Burnley, a famous society leader of Richmond, Va., who is known in private life as Mrs. Hardin Burnley, is the latest social star to seek fresh honors before the footlights.

She was formerly Miss Lulu Vass and is a graduate of Dr. Curry's School of Expression in Boston. She was recently a pupil of Ned Wayburn's Training School for the Stage and it is under his direction that she made her first professional appearance on March 31, at the Edward E. Rice new idea concert at the Bijou theatre.

Miss Burnley did a very clever series of impersonations of the five ages of woman. Starting with the baby in its carriage, she quickly changed to the child of five, then to the girl of ten and the simpering miss of eighteen ending her act with a realistic imitation of the old Southern lady of sixty-five.

Big Express Robbery.

New York, April 5.—By the arrest of four young men employed by the United States Express Company and of two other men, accused of having acted as "fences," the police believe they have broken up a band which since last October has stolen more than $20,000 worth of goods from the company's branch, in West street, near Twenty-third street. According to their confessions, the men carried on their robberies in an organized manner, and have baffled the special agents of the company and the police for a long time. All the accused men were arraigned yesterday in the Jefferson Market Police Court. They are Charles W. Webb, of No. 5,502 Sixth avenue, Brooklyn; John Kane, of No. 132 Amity street, Brooklyn; Herbert Warshor, of No. 153 Sumner avenue, and Milton J. Carmen, of No. 25 Herkimer street, Brooklyn, all employees of the express company. Israel Aronow, of No. 111 Hester street, a dealer in silks and fine woollens, and Charles Cook, of No. 364 Flatbush aenue, Brooklyn, proprietor of a poolroom, are accused of having received the stolen goods from the express company men. Goods worth thousands of dollars were recovered by the police, following the arrest of Aronow and Cook.

30 Years for Burglar.

New York, April 5.—Thirty years' imprisonment at hard labor is the punishment Folke Angel-Brandt must undergo for entering the home of Mortimer L. Schiff, the banker, at No. 932 Fifth avenue, and, after assaulting Mr. Schiff, stealing two scarfpins valued at $2[illegible]. He was sentenced by Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions Court yesterday. He had been valet for the banker, but was discharged after he had written letters to Mrs. Schiff avowing his love for her. In pleading guilty to burglary in the first degree, for which he might have been sent to prison for life, he confessed that he had been armed with a knife and that it was his intention when he entered Mr. Schiff's house to murder him.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

As president of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of this city, is a busy woman these days, who, together with the aid of the other officers is preparing for the opening of the season.

Instead of the regular club team matches as last year, it is planned to select two representative teams from the twenty-four clubs in the association, and these teams will compete in the best three out of five matches.

Mrs. F. S. Lefferts and Miss Elsie Hurlbut will be the respective captains and it is the purpose to have each club pick representative players to engage in the match. The first match will be played on May 14 at the Knollwood Country Club and will be watched with considerable interest.

The twenty-four clubs in the association cover New York, New Jersey, all of Long Island, Connecticut, a distance of 100 miles from New York and each club numbers among its members many strong players.

The scoring this year will be changed from the old method to the Nassau system, whereby each woman will get at least a point for entering a match and three points if she wins.

Another feature to be continued this season will be the one-day tournaments. One of these will be held at the Plainfield Country Club on May 28, and another one will be held at Baltusrol early in June. The tournaments were a great success last year.

There will be the championship tournament as well as the Inter-City tournament. Mrs. Rogers will captain the Metropolitan team in its match with Philadelphia and Boston.

The executive committee of the Women's Golf Association will meet in New York on Tuesday, April 9, to make final preparations for the opening of the season. The schedules will probably be issued on April 10 and will contain a full and complete list of all events and conditions covering the same.

The schedules of matches in the East Jersey Golf League for the coming season was announced yesterday. The spring handicap tournament will be held on June 22, and the league championship on September 27 and 28. The schedule follows:

May 11—Glen Ridge at Forest Hill, Roseville at South Orange, Elizabeth at Summit (Canoe Brook).

May 18—Canoe Brook at Roseville, Forest Hill at Elizabeth, Glen Ridge at South Orange.

May 25—Elizabeth at Glen Ridge, Roseville at Forest Hill, South Orange at Canoe Brook.

June 1—Canoe Brook at Glen Ridge, Forest Hill at South Orange, Roseville at Elizabeth.

June 15—Glen Ridge at Roseville, Forest Hill at Canoe Brook, South Orange at Elizabeth.

June 22—Spring handicap, course to be selected.

September 7—Elizabeth at South Orange, Canoe Brook at Forest Hill.

September 14—Roseville at Glen Ridge, Elizabeth at Forest Hill, Canoe Brook at South Orange.

Woman Swindles the Poor.

New York, April 5.—Something new in the swindling line, with poor people for its victims, is being carried on by a woman having the appearance and manner of a servant. This woman, whom the police are seeking, watches the want columns of newspapers and seeks those who advertise for positions as house servants. Saying she was a domestic in a family in East Seventy-sixth street, the swindler called on the woman and said her mistress desired a care taker for the summer. She told the woman to call on her mistress in the evening. She then left the place, but in a few moments returned and announced she had lost a five dollar bill and borrowed $5. She told this woman she would return the money that night, but when the woman who sought the caretaker's position went to the address in East Seventy-sixth street she found that the person whose name had been given her did not live there and that the person posing as a servant was not known there.

—Albert J. Beal has moved from South avenue to Newton Centre, Mass.

—Miss N. O. Lockert, formerly of East Front street, has taken an apartment in the Stirling Building on Park avenue.

—It is expected that Peter Morgan, of Poughkeepsie, who has the contract for the southside sanitary sewer, will begin work next week if the materials arrive on time.

Stenographer Arrested.

New York, April 5.—Accused of giving publicity to E. H. Harriman's letter to Sydney Webster, which has led to a decided question of veracity between the chancellor and President Roosevelt, Frank W. Hill, a stenographer to whom Mr. Harriman dictated the letter, was locked up in the City Hall station last night. Mr. Hill was arrested in the office of Assistant District Attorney Krotel, late yesterday afternoon, after he had confessed, when confronted by unquestionable proof, that he had kept his notes of the letter, had transcribed them and had sold the letter to a newspaper here, after he had offered it for sale to another newspaper in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn. Whether he was actuated by the need of money, or by the desire to be avenged on Mr. Harriman for discharging him, he would not say. "I was twenty-one years in Mr. Harriman's office," said Mr. Hill, as he was starting for the station, "and he discharged me, after all that time, without cause. But I am so broken up by my arrest that I really cannot talk more about the matter."

Plainfield, N. J., April 5, 1907.

Just why any resident of the Netherwood section of the city should object to having the name "Plainfield" beneath the word "Netherwood," on the signs at the Jersey Central station in the East End is hard to understand. As the timetables and signs read today, the stranger would never know that that locality is a part of the city. The same thing applies to the Grant Avenue and Clinton Avenue stations, in which sections no objection has been made to the effort of the Board in this matter.

It is only a short time since the Jersey Central acted favorably on the request of the Bayonne Board of Trade to letter its signs at West Eighth street and other stops within that city's limits to show clearly that the stations were all in Bayonne.

It is clearly the duty of the Common Council, and not of the Board of Trade, to take up the subject of public swimming pools, though it would not be amiss for the latter body to use every endeavor to have the city fathers favorably pass upon the scheme. At the same time few thinking persons will agree with the argument made by a member of the Board of Trade that the $2,500 to be appropriated for the water investigation could better be spent in such an undertaking.

It was not expected, of course, that the Newark News would approve the reappointment of Colonel Samuel Dickinson to the office of Secretary of State.—Trenton State-Gazette.

Surely the Trenton paper did not mean to pay so high a tribute to its Newark contemporary.

It seems almost impossible that the street committee of the Common Council will recommend that North avenue be passed by in the matter of permanent pavements. Surely that thoroughfare is entitled to more consideration than Second street in this respect.

Probably Mr. Harriman might give an interesting answer to a certain New York paper's query: "What are we going to do with Mr. Roosevelt," but then the answer might be barred from the mails.

If it comes to the worst, any one of those "Twenty-eight Righteous Men" of Pittsburg ought to be able to make ends meet by hiring out as a museum freak or as a vaudeville headliner.

Harriman says he has no time to be a United States Senator. In that respect he is in no better position than the present misrepresentatives of the Empire State.

There are nine men in this country who would return a verdict that the President has a "brain storm."

Boies Penrose would be in line for a spankingfest were "Matt," the plum tree man, still on earth.

This Ghost Pumps Water.

Piqua, Ohio, April 5.—Ghostly manifestations in the Heeter home, three miles east of Sonora, in Preble county, which are attested to by residents of the neighborhood, have drawn hundreds of venturesome persons to the home in the last two days, seeking to penetrate the mystery. Not only by rappings in the house does the spirit give evidence of its presence, but in the yard the pump handle moves up and down, impelled by some invisible force, while the water flows freely. Sounds of thumping are heard, kettles rise from the stove, float about in the air and then return to their places. By a series of rappings, a certain number of raps corresponding to each letter in the alphabet, the alleged ghost has made it known that it is the spirit of Martha Donald, now dead, who once lived in the house.

avenue should have been left out of the plans for hard pavement. It needed the permanent pavement as much as any thoroughfare. The resolution was passed.

Sidewalks and Cars.

F. A. Dunham suggested that the Council be called upon to take same action regarding sidewalks out of plumb and below grade. He said there were many of them, and that their condition made walking after rains or thaws very disagreeable. It was agreed that if the walks needed attention the Council should order the work done all over the city. The subject was laid over for a month.

D. W. Littell protested against the small cars run on the Fourth street, Arlington avenue and Netherwood lines. He said they were too small for the traffic, and straphanging was often necessary. The cars were dirty, filthy and not fit to ride in, he said. It was a good thing on which to test the promise of President McCarter, made at the Board of Trade banquet, that he would be glad to help Plainfield remedy any such condition, President Marshall said. The Fourth street cars, Mr. Marshall said, ran through a section that brought undesirable companions for passengers at all particular about themselves, and he thought larger cars might give them room to spread out and not touch elbows so closely. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. McCarter.

GOVERNOR STOKES SIGNS THREE IMPORTANT BILLS.

Governor Stokes yesterday afternoon signed house bill No. 51, introduced by Mr. Brady. It authorizes cities having a public water supply derived from sources beyond the city limits in order to protect such water from pollution, to maintain a system of drains and sewers for intercepting all sewage and other polluting matter. The construction of such sewers shall be approved by the State Board of Health. A bond issue is authorized not to exceed $100,000.

The Governor approved Senate 101, the Minturn measure, prohibiting the unauthorized use of names or emblems of fraternal organizations for advertising purposes.

Another bill signed was House 383, by Mr. Lane. This qualifies newspapers published not less than three months prior to the passage of this act for the publication of legal notices, provided that such newspaper is published by a firm or corporation that has been in the publication business for five years. It validates legal notices published in such papers.

PREFERS TEN-PINS TO HUSBAND

Defendant, in Separation Case, Declares Wife "Bowling Mad."

Because his wife was "bowling mad" Peter J. Eiseman, a wealthy real estate dealer of Brooklyn, says his home was broken up. Mrs. Eiseman's reason for her family troubles is that her husband gave her and their 9-year-old child only fifteen cents per day to live on. She filed a suit for a separation some days ago, and today before Justice Connors in Special Term of the Supreme Court the question of alimony and counsel fees came up.

Mr. Eiseman in the answer to the petition of his wife for a separation, said that his wife was a member of several bowling clubs, and that she was one of the champion women bowlers of Brooklyn. She had medals and badges and a whole lot of decorations to prove that she had beaten the women who tried to bowl her over.

He insisted she would go out at about 2 o'clock during four or five afternoons each week, and she would not show up again until 11 o'clock, when it was time to go to bed. In the meantime, according to his statement, he would have to go home to a cheerless hearth and a cold cupboard. He had no dinner except what he scraped up for himself or what he bought at a restaurant.

TRACTION FIGHT DRAGS.

Public Service in End May Absorb the Jersey Central Company.

The fight between the Public Service Corporation and the Jersey Central Traction Company, for the trolley franchise on the new Amboy bridge, is to be a long drawn out affair, and it would not surprise some people if the Public Service absorbed its rival before the final battle arrived.

The Jersey Central has a petition before the Middlesex Freeholders for the franchise, but has had the hearing on it postponed from time to time. The Freeholders again yesterday postponed the eharing until April 24.

Lehigh Valley's New Equipment.

In order to meet the requirements of its increasing business, and in anticipation of a continuous growth of the traffic tributary to its line, the Lehigh Valley Railroad has had delivered to it and has in course of construction the following equipment: New equipment delivered since July 1, 1906: 2,010 box cars, (80,000 lbs. capacity each); 1,000 twin hopper gondolas, 500 low side gondolas, 15 locomotives, 3 tugs, 10 covered barges, 2 car floats, 1 100-ton wrecking crane, 1 dining car, 10 horse cars, 10 express cars. BISHOP FITZGERALD DIES IN HONG KONG

CABLEGRAM RECEIVED AT METHODIST CONFERENCE ANNOUNCING DEATH.

A cablegram announcing the death at Hongkong, China, of Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, of the Methodist Episcopal church was received yesterday during the session of the Methodist Conference. Just one month ago a daughter of Bishop Fitzgerald, Cornelia, died at Penang. The bishop left his home in St. Louis, on October 22 last, to go on a tour of inspection of the missions of his church in Southern Asia, and to China to attend the centennial celebration of the beginning of Protestant missions in China, which will be held at Shanghai this month.

Bishop Fitzgerald as a young man was a practising lawyer, and was educated in the Princeton law school and in the office of the late Frederick Frelinghuysen, who was Secretary of State under President Arthur. After he had completed his studies he was admitted to the bar in 1858 and he then practised law for three years with more than the usual success of a man so young.

It was while the young lawyer was practising in partnership with Chancellor Runyon, of New Jersey, in 1861, that he began to attend the services at a religious revival at Newark, which changed his career. After the conclusion of the revival the young man joined the Newark Conference of the Methodist church, in April, 1862, and became an itinerant minister.

He served one year at the East Newark change, and from that time until 1881, when he was elected recording secretary of the Missionary Society of his church, he held pastorates in Elizabeth, Jersey City, Newton, Paterson, again in Elizabeth, and the Centenary church, Jersey City. He was presiding elder of the Newton district in 1878 and of the Newark district in 1880. For eleven years he filled the recording secretaryship so creditably and had advanced so in pulpit oratory and pastoral ability that he was rewarded by his church with elevation to the office of general superintendent, or bishop.

The bishop was vice president of the board in control of Drew Seminary and was also one of the seminary trustees.

MIDDLESEX SHY ON ROADS.

Will Get Only Four Miles This Year Under State Aid Act.

Middlesex county is to get only about four miles of roads built under the State aid act this year, according to instructions received from the State Road Commissioner, E. C. Hutchinson. At the meeting of the board yesterday morning, petitions came in from all part of the county, asking for new roads. This led Director Frank Pownall to exclaim:

"If I had the power I would bond the State of New Jersey for $20,000,000, and build all the macadam roads necessary for the whole State."

GUARD AGAINST THE DESTRUCTIVE MOTH

It's a great inconvenience and loss to have one's best clothing destroyed by moth. The busy little insects are almost sure to get in and do much damage, unless you use which affords the best protection for your furs and winter garments. This is an unexcelled preparation and has a pleasant odor.

COMEDY IN MODERN SMUGGLING.

An Incident in Europe That Was Very Funny.

Smuggling in these days is far removed from the grim realities which characterized it 70 years ago. A charming piece of light comedy which quite recently took place in the Grisons brings this fact into clear relief. The game is now so little dangerous that girls in their nonage can play it, even with the glamor of armed conflict thrown in.

Two sisters named Bachero, aged 17 and 19, were engaged in getting a quantity of contraband tobacco from the Swiss to the Italian side of the frontier when they were surprised by two customs officers in the Stilfserjoch Pass.

Instead of being a ground for alarm, this was merely the cue for an episode worthy of light opera. While the elder of the two sisters pushed on as rapidly as possible with her load, the younger, with all the coolness of a brigand of romance, posted herself behind a ledge of rock and opened fire upon the officers with a rifle. It was not that she aimed at them with any serious intent. Bloodshed, indeed, was no part of the program. It was enough to burn powder, and plenty of it. The officers, finding themselves under fire, naturally took cover and returned it.

This went on for about half an hour without any harm being done, and, indeed, so far as the fair girl smuggler was concerned, without any being intended. Her sole purpose was to keep the enemy in check till her companion had got far enough ahead to be secure. As soon as she judged that this had been done, she slung her rifle and, slipping away by the impossible mountain tracks familiar only to smugglers, made good her retreat to rejoin her sister on the other side of the border. Both escaped, leaving the officers with a painful sense of having been laughingly outwitted.—Berne correspondence Pall Mall Gazette.

SCOTCH LAD GOT EVEN.

He Turned the Joke on the Yankee Tourist.

An American tourist on a visit to Glasgow, on emerging from the railway station, was accosted by a lad with the familiar shout of "Carry your bag, sir?"

The gentleman handed the boy the bag and requested to be shown through Glasgow.

Crossing George's square, they came opposite to Sir Walter Scott's monument, and the boy said proudly:

"That is one of the largest monuments in Scotland."

"Oh," said the Yankee, with an air of indifference, "we have threepenny cigars as big as that in America."

They got onto a tram car going east, and just as they alighted at the terminus a long circular piece of iron on a lorry drawn by 12 horses came up the street.

The American, in surprise, asked the boy what that was for. The boy, remembering what the Yankee had said about the cigars, and with a resolve to be even with him, replied:

"Oh, a new hotel has just been built in the Toongate, and that is the kitchen poker."

The Potato Monument.

"If I ever get rich enough to present the city of New York with a manument I am going to give a copy of one I saw in Germany this summer," said a man who travels. "That is the most sensible thing in the statue line I ever saw. It is a monument to potatoes. It is certainly unique. The upper part consists of a statue to Sir Francis Drake, who is revered for having introduced the plant into Europe. This, as well as the pedestal, is draped with garlands of the potato vine, with the full grown tubers intact. On the pedestal are inscriptions. The first sets forth that the above figure is Sir Francis; the second explains in words of highest praise what a blessing the potato has been to mankind; the third records that the statue is the gift of a certain Andrew Frederick, of Strasburg; the fourth contains the names of the erectors. It strikes me that a monument to some valuable product of nature is much more appropriate than all the stone effigies of celebrities that cluster our parks at the present time."

Wrong Man.

While Dooly was holding court in Washington county, Georgia, a certain Gen. Hanson came in and sat down at the side of the judge, and began to tell him about the vast amounts of property he owned.

"Stop just a moment, general," said Dooly. "Mr. Sheriff, call in Jones, the receiver of tax returns."

In a few moments that worthy appeared.

"Mr. Receiver," said the judge, "come up here and make an inventory of Gen. Hanson's property. He had mistaken me for you."—Sunday Magazine.

Different Shades.

The celebrated medium rapped three times on the black cabinet.

"And now, kind sir," she said, in a spooky voice, "what shade would you like me to tell you about?"

"Why," replied the little man in the audience, "I would like you to tell me the shades my wife told me to match when I started down town to-day."—Chicago Daily News.

The Engagement Ring.

She—You know the old proverb about riches taking wings.

He—No, but I know about witches taking rings.

BRITISH MILITARY TRAINING.

Soldiers Play at War on a Vast Tract of Land.

England has reserved a tract of land several hundred square miles in extent on which her soldiers play at war, according to F. A. Talbot in the Technical World Magazine. The Russian-Japanese war served to emphasize the radical revolution which has taken place in warfare due to the remarkable improvements which have been wrought in the devising of long-range and quick-firing weapons, combined with improvements in explosives.

The result of this revolution in warfare is that a battle front may range over as much as 60 or 70 miles. Consequently a grave difficulty presents itself in the training of an army to comply with and to understand these new conditions, since it is essential that an army in peace should be brought to a high standard of efficiency which will enable it to cope with any peculiar difficulty that may present itself in actual combat. But to train an army upon this basis necessitates a vast tract of land having a conformation of the most difficult nature and far removed from the influences of human habitations, to enable the men to have the fullest scope in which to practice the new conditions of their science.

KEEN INTELLIGENCE WANTED.

A Story That Illustrates What Banks Are Looking For.

Pierce Jay, the commissioner of banks of Massachusetts, at the American Bankers' association's convention in St. Louis, advocated a better accounting system.

"But above all," said Mr. Jay, in a discussion of his idea, "we want intelligence, if embezzlement is to be thoroughly put down. Systems are good, but intelligence is better, and in cashiers and tellers and bookkeepers and note clerks we want the same keen, quick intelligence that characterized old Capt. Hiram Cack of Gloucester.

"Cack lay very ill. One day he got down-hearted, feeling that his case was hopeless.

"'I fear, doctor,' he said, 'there isn't much hope for me.'

"'Oh, yes, there is,' the doctor answered. 'Three years ago I was in your condition precisely, and look at me now.'

"Cack, intelligent and alert, said quickly:

"'What doctor did you have?'"

Sorrows of a Humorist.

"This thing of being a humorist is about the saddest thing I know," sighed Simeon Ford. "An ordinary person can have his moods and humors as he pleases, but I must always be on the job. I am constantly being invited out, not because I'm liked for myself alone or because of my manly beauty, but because I am expected to entertain the assemblage. The rest of the company may be as dull as dishwater, but if I do not shake up the gathering with a few jokes the hostess glares at me and really feels resentful. I may be sunk in the slough of despond, but just as soon as I take my seat all lean forward and eye me expectantly.

"My son, never get a reputation for being funny. It is the most mournful thing on earth."

Organ to Save Woodpile.

A number of years ago a village in the eastern part of the town of Middleboro was very much wrought up over the introduction of a musical instrument in their church service. At the final meeting when the matter was to be settled excitement ran high.

One man whose reputation for honest dealings was not always above suspicion made a fiery speech in opposition. A neighbor whose back yard joined the speaker's could hardly wait for the close of the remarks. Then jumping to his feet without waiting to address the chairman, he said:

"Gosh, sir, if I had known the gentleman was so afraid of an organ I should have had one hung on my woodpile years ago."

Wires Need a Rest.

"Messages," said a telegraph operator, "always slide over the wires better on Monday than on any other day. The wires, you see, have profited by their Sunday rest.

"It is a fact that inanimate as well as animate things get tired and need a vacation occasionally. You know how true this is of razors, of automobiles, of locomotives—and it is just as true of telegraph wires.

"A wire after its Sunday rest gives a quicker, a fuller and a more delicate transmission. It is like a piano that has just been tuned."

Proper Coat of Arms.

John Thomas Brady got in to-night from St. Louis. John Thomas stopped a little while in Pittsburg on his way here.

"I heard some of them guys out there talking about getting a coat-of-arms," he said. "Now, take it from me that the only right thing for most of this bunch in the way of a coat-of-arms would be a set of burglar's tools properly displayed." — Washington Correspondence.

MONEY.

The first coining machine was invented by Bruchner in 1553.

The bronze cent and two cent pieces were first coined in 1684 and the nickel half dime in 1866.

The earliest Greek coins bore a lion or tortoise on one side and a punch mark on the other.

During the reign of Numa Pompillus, 700 B. C., an experiment was made with wooden money.

Here Are All the Spring Styles:

The Watson store is actually filled to the limit with Spring Styles. Not a few, but all the styles; not old fabric patterns, but the choicest of the new, and many that cannot be found elsewhere.

Watson Made Suits, $10 to $25.

The neatest, and what will be the scarcest color effect of the year is here in plenty—Brown. Only in the high-class custom shops can this color be found. Why not a brown Watson made suit.

A Watson Made Spring Overcoat, $15.

A Watson made spring overcoat at $15.00. You'll know why we made a special mention of coats at this price when you see them. The styles are dashy—they're swell, and the materials are choice patterns in gray cashmeres and cheviots; velvet collar, and finished with the best of a finish, such as only the Watson tailors can give to clothing. Other spring Overcoats, $10 to $25.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

It is never more than once in a decade that such an entertaining and interesting play as "The Man of the Hour" is written and produced and sometimes it is not as often as even that. It is therefore not to be wondered at that New York theatregoers have welcomed the production as the one bright success of the present theatrical season for it strongly appeals to people in every walk of life. The Savoy theatre is crowded at all performances and the play which is now in its sixth month will, undoubtedly, have to be continued indefinitely in order to satisfy the demand for a piece that is fresh, bright and wholesome. The sharp, crisp, clever dialogue with which "The Man of the Hour" abounds makes the play go with a vim that is refreshing. Seats are now selling for twelve weeks in advance including the usual Thursday and Saturday matinees.

The Actors Society of America will give on Tuesday night, at the Hudson theatre, its third annual benefit performance in aid of their building fund. This society, while sometimes confused with the Actor's Fund, is an old separate business association to which the leading professionals belong and is one of the most honored theatrical institutions of America. For the performance there has already been received a remarkable number of offers from the best artists of both sexes and to help assure the success of this third annual benefit the Professional Woman's League will turn to and assist by giving under the direction of Mary Shaw a one-act playlet called "A Gentle Jury," in which the most prominent actresses now playing in the city of New York will play both the leading and the minor parts. This is the first time that the Professional Woman's League has offered to join forces with any other organization and as they recently made for their own organization a little more than $6,000 with a benefit bazaar it seems likely that their aid will be material in the success of the Actors' Society benefit. Among those who have volunteered their services are Ethel Barrymore in the one-act play, "Carrotts;" Edwin Abeles and supporting company in the yacht scene from "Brewster's Millions;" Victor Herbert with a 'cello solo of his own compositions; Holbrook Blinn and supporting company in the one-act play, "A Blaze of Glory," by Paul Armstrong, which was recently a sensation at the Lambs Gambol when Nat Goodwin played it and Mr. Armstrong contended that it was played without his consent; Mary Shaw and a company made up of leading actresses of the Professional Woman's League in a one-act play, "A Gentle Jury," and Edgar L. Davenport and his company in the one-act play, "The Man About Town," by Stanilus Stange, by permission of Charles Dickson.

LITERARY

The cover of the Burr-McIntosh Magazine for April is a reproduction of the famous painting, "The Mirror," by George R. Barse, Jr., of the National Academy of Art. It is one of the most exquisite reproductions that has appeared in any magazine for a long time. The portrait form contains many very prominent stage people, among them being Ellen Terry, Madam Pauline Donalda, Madam Giannina Russ, Antoinette Perry, Mlle. Linva Cavalieri and Miss Grace Ellison. This issue contains an article by Mr. Burr McIntosh on the present condition of the Philippines, illustrated with photographs made by Mr. McIntosh, as official photographer of the Taft Exposition in 1905. This article will not fail to attract attention of all who are interested in our Eastern possessions and, particularly, as it was written by a man on the ground who is in a position to learn the actual state of affairs. Altogether this issue of the Burr McIntosh Monthly is superior to any previous issues, attractive as all of them have been.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold its April meeting on Monday night, at the Casino.

—Michael White, the employe of the Manganese Steel Safe Works who received severe injuries at the works last week while helping to move a large safe, is improving at the hospital.

GADDIS AND DILKS WIN

Land First Place in Big Bowling Tourney by Defeating Schaub's Three Straight.

HAD A TIGHT SQUEEZE

Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon Finish Second and Also Get Two Additional Prizes.

By taking three games straight from the Schaub brothers in their final match, last night, William Dilkes and Percy L. Gaddis won the big bowling tourney which has been keeping the city's cracks busy at McLaughlin's alleys all winter. They finished in first place with a total of thirty-one wins and eleven losses, just one game better either way than the record of Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon. The latter team landed second with thirty wins and twelve losses, they also having taken three games from the Schaubs last night. Though the tourney has not yet been completed, these positions cannot be changed and interest now centers in the struggle for third place, which will be decided next week. It rests between Harry Radin and Harry Ackor, who have won twenty-four and lost fifteen, and Charles F. Meyer, Jr., and Dan Mack, standing with twenty-three and sixteen.

The finish was witnessed by a crowd of enthusiasts that taxed the seating capacity and the rooting was on the order of a tight baseball game. Kiely and Runyon took the Schaubs on first and got the first game easily by ninety-two pins. They had a narrow squeeze in the second and only finished twelve in advance, while in the last they had them thirty to the good. When Gaddis and Dilkes went at the Raritanites it looked as if the leaders were going to have things their own way, the first going to them by sixty pins. In the second game Gaddis fell down and the crowd looked for a sure defeat but he and Dilkes emerged by two pins, the scores standing 310 to 312. The last game was walkover for the Plainfielders, their lead being ninety.

By landing first place, Gaddis and Dilkes get the first prize of $40. Kiely and Runyon get $20 for second place and in addition they get $10 for hngh team score and the chief will get $10 for high individual average. There is also a possibility that they may get another $10 for high team average, the figures not having been computed as yet.

There were two other tourney matches last night, in which Causebrook and McLaughlin took two games from Woolston and Cunningham and Radin and Ackor trimmed Koons and Skinner to the same tune. In one of his games Harry Ackor fell into the crazy net and got 266.

DUNGAN TO MAKE HIS APPOINTMENTS.

Colonel Will Name Regiment Officers to Fill Three Vacancies.

It is expected that Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, the new commander of the Second Regiment, New Jersey National Guard, will make announcement tonight of his appointments on the regimental staff to fill three vacancies.

These vacancies are occasioned by the promotions of Quartermaster Harry J. Salter, Commissary Robert L. Patterson and Judge Advocate Edwin Robert Walker to the Second brigade staff.

The new colonel will visit the Second Regiment armory in Trenton this evening, on the occasion of the drill of the third battalion, which is the last of three ordered by the colonel.

This battalion is composed of Companies C and I, of Elizabeth; Company E, of Plainfield, and Company M, of Somerville.

The battalion will be under command of Major William B. Martin and each company will be under command of its respective captain. The close order drill will be gone through and the drill will close with a batalion parade.

Colonel Dungan has received his commission and will tonight take the oath of office before Brigadier General Dennis F. Collins, provided the latter is present at the armory.

It is not known if Trenton will get any of the appointments to be made by Colonel Dungan. It is understood that one of the places at least will go to Somerville, and there may be more.

Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey, of Rochester, has announced that he had reached a definite decision as to his future work. He will remain in Rochester and organize a brotherhood modeled somewhat after the St. Andrew's Brotherhood that he formed in his old parish many years ago, and he will engage in settlement work in that city under the direction of the new brotherhood.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

RHEUMATISM

Old Mr. Rheumatism hangs on tight and bites and pinches when he takes hold. It's quite a job to shake him off. It's hard to believe that all the pain and trouble he causes comes from such a little thing. Just a tiny bit of acid in the blood the kidneys haven't taken care of. But the kidneys aren't to blame. I used to think they were. Now I know better. It's that overworked and overgrowded stomach giving the kidneys part of its work and the kidneys can't do it. I found this out with Cooper's New Discovery. It puts the stomach in shape, that's all it does, and yet I have seen thousands of people get rid of rheumatism by taking it. That is why I am positive that rheumatism is caused by stomach trouble. Here is a sample of letters I get every day on the subject.

LAWRENCE TUSCANY.

"For a long time I have been a victim of sciatica and inflammatory rheumatism, and my suffering has been too great to describe. For weeks I lay helpless with every joint in my body so tender and sore that I could not bear to move. The slightest touch would cause me the greatest agony. Several doctors treated me but they failed entirely. I tried many remedies but nothing seemed to reach my case, so I continued to lay helpless. My kidneys and stomach were affected also. I could eat but little, digest less and gradually my strength left. I lost flesh rapidly."

"I began the use of the famous Cooper medicines of which I heard so much. To my surprise and delight I improved immediately, and after using several bottles I felt like another person. My strength and appetite returned. The pain and soreness left me and now I feel better than I have for months." Lawrence Tuscany, 1122 Aldrich Ave., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

We sell Mr. Cooper's celebrated preparations.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"But Dominick isn't the nominal leader," replied Dunkirk. "Roebuck is far too shrewd for that. No, he has put forward as the decoy my colleague, Croffut—perhaps you know him? If so, I needn't tell you what a vain, shallow, venal fellow he is, with his gift of gab that fools the people."

"I know him," said I, in a tone which did not deny the accuracy of Dunkirk's description.

"Their object," continued the senator, "is to buy the control of the party machinery away from those who now manage it in the interests of conservatism and fair dealing. If they succeed the only business interest that will be considered in this state will be the Power trust. And we shall have Dominick, the ignorant brute, lashed on by Roebuck's appetites, until the people will rise in fury and elect the opposition—and you know what it is."

"What you say is most interesting," said I, "but I confess I haven't imagination enough to conceive a condition of affairs in which anybody with 'the price' couldn't get what he wanted by paying for it. Perhaps the business interests would gain by a change—the other crowd might be less expensive. Certainly the demands of our party's machine have become intolerable."

"It astonishes me, Mr. Sayler, to hear you say that—you, who have been in politics," he protested, taken aback by my hardly disguised attack upon him—for he was in reality "party" and "machine." "Surely, you understand the situation. We must have money to maintain our organization, and to run our campaign. Our workers can't live on air; and, to speak of only one other factor, there are thousands and thousands of our voters, honest fellows, too, who must be paid to come to the polls. They wouldn't vote against us for any sum; but, unless we pay them for the day lost in the fields, they stay at home. Now, where does our money come from? The big corporations are the only source—who else could or would give largely enough? And it is necessary and just that they should be repaid. But they are no longer content with moderate and prudent rewards for their patriotism. They make bigger and bigger, and more and more unreasonable demands on us, and so undermine our popularity—for the people can't be blinded wholly to what's going on. And thus, year by year, it takes more and more money to keep us in control."

"You seem to have forgotten my point," said I, smiling. "Why should you be kept in control? If you go out, the others come in. They bluster and threaten, in order to get themselves in; but, once they're elected, they discover that it wasn't the people's woes they were shouting about, but their own. And soon they are docile 'conservatives' lapping away at the trough, with nothing dangerous in them but their appetites"

"Precisely—their appetites," said he.

"A starved man has to practice eating a long, long time before he can equal the performances of a trained glutton," I suggested.

His facial response to my good-humored raillery was feeble indeed. And it soon died in a look of depression that made him seem even older and more decrepit than was his wont. "The same story, wherever I go," said he sadly. "The business interests refuse to see their peril. And when I, in my zeal, persist, they—several of them, Sayler, have grinned at me and reminded me that the legislature to be elected next fall will choose my successor! As if my own selfish interests were all I have in mind! I am old and feeble, on the verge of the grave. Do you think, Mr. Sayler, that I would continue in public life if it were not for what I conceive to be my duty to my party? I have toiled too long for it—"

"Your record speaks for itself, senator," I put in, politely but pointedly.

"You are very discouraging, Sayler," he said forlornly. "But I refuse to be discouraged. The party needs you, and I have come to do my duty, and I won't leave without doing it."

"I have nothing to do with the company's political contributions," said I. "You will have to see Mr. Ramsay, as usual."

He waved his hand. "Let me explain, please. Roover is about to resign—as you probably know, he's been chairman of the party's state committee for 17 years. I've come to ask you to take his place."

It was impossible wholly to hide my amazement, my stupefaction. Had he had the shadowiest suspicion of my plans, of the true inwardness of the Croffutt-Dominick movement, he would as readily have offered me his own head. In fact, he was offering me his own head; for, with the money and the other resources at my command, I needed only this place of official executive of the party to make me master. And here he was, giving me the place, under the delusion that he could use me as he had been using Roover.

He must have misread my expression, for he went on: "Don't refuse on impulse, Sayler. I and the others will do everything to make your duties as light as possible"

"I should not be content to be a mere figurehead, as Roover has been," I warned him. He had come, in his desperation to try to get the man who combined the advantage of being, as he supposed, Dominick's enemy, and a member of one of the state's financially influential families. He had come to cozen me into letting him use me in return for a mockery of an honor. And I was simply tumbling him, or rather, permitting him to tumble himself, into the pit he had dug for me. Still, I felt that I owed it to myself to give him a chance. "If I take the place, I shall fill it to the best of my ability."

"Certainly, certainly—we want your ability." Behind his bland cordial mask I saw the spider eyes gleaming and the spider claws twitching as he felt his net quiver under hovering wings. "We want you—we need you, Sayler. We expect you to do your best."

My best! What would my "best" have been, had I been only what he thought—dependent upon him for supplies—surrounded by his lieutenants, hearing nothing but what he chose to tell me, and able to execute only such orders as he gave or approved!

"I am sure we can count on you," he urged.

"I will try it," said I, after a further hesitation that was not altogether show.

He did not linger—he wished to give me no chance to change my mind and fly his net. I was soon alone, staring dazedly at my windfall and wondering if fortune would ever give me anything without attaching to it that which would make me doubt whether my gift had more of bitter or more of sweet in it.

Dunkirk announced the selection of a new chairman that very afternoon—as a forecast, of course, for there was the formality of my "election" by the 63 members of the state committee to be gone through. His proposition was well received. The old-line politicians remembered my father; the reformers recalled my fight against Dominick; the business men liked my connection with the Ramsay company, assuring stability and regard for "conservatism;" the "boys" were glad because I had a rich wife and a rich brother-in-law. The "boys" always cheer when a man with money develops political aspirations.

I did not see Woodruff until I went down to the capital to begin my initiation. I came upon him there, in the lobby of the Capital City hotel. As we talked for a moment like barely acquainted strangers saying nothing that might not have been repeated broadcast, his look was asking: "How did you manage to trap Dunkirk into doing it?" I never told him the secret, and so never tore out the foundation of his belief in me as a political wizard. It is by such judicious use of their few strokes of good luck that successful men get their glamour of the superhuman. In the eyes of the average man, who is lazy or intermittent, the result of plain, incessant, unintermittent work is amazing enough. All that is needed to make him cry: "Genius!" is a little luck adroitly exploited.

I left Woodruff to join Dunkirk. "Who is that chap over there—Dr. Woodruff?" I asked him.

"Woodruff?" replied the senator. "Oh, a lobbyist. He does a good deal for Roebuck I believe. An honest fellow—for that kind—they tell me. It's always well to be civil to them."

Dunkirk's "initiation" of me into the duties of my office wiped away my last lingering sense of double, or, at least, doubtful, dealing. He told me nothing that was not calculated to mislead me. And he was so glib and so frank and so sympathetic that, had I not known the whole machine from the inside, I should have been his dupe.

It is not pleasant to suspect that, in some particular instance, one of your fellow men takes you for a simple-minded fool. To know you are being so regarded, not in one instance, but in general, is the highest degree exasperating, no matter how well your vanity is under control.

Perhaps I should not have been able to play my part and deceive my deceiver, had I been steadily at headquarters. As it was, I went there little and then gave orders, apparently contenting myself with the credit for what other men were doing in my name. In fact, so obvious did I make my neglect as chairman that the party press commented on it and covertly criticized me. Dunkirk mildly reproached me for lack of interest. He did not know—indeed, he never knew—that his chief Lieutenant, Thurston, in charge at headquarters, had gone over to "the enemy" and was Woodruff's right-hand man. And it is not necessary for me to say where Woodruff got the orders he transmitted to Thurston.

My excuse for keeping aloof was that I was about to be transformed into a man of family. As I was fond of children I had looked forward to this with more eagerness than I ventured to show to my wife. She might not have liked it, eager though she was also. As soon as she knew that her longings were to be satisfied she entered upon a course of preparation so elaborate that I was secretly much amused, though I thoroughly approved and encouraged her. Every moment of her days was laid out in some duty imposed upon her by the regimen she had arranged after a study of all that science says on the subject.

As perfect tranquillity was a fundamental of the regime, she permitted nothing to ruffle her. But Ed more than made up for her calm. Two weeks before the event, she forbade him to enter her presence—"or any part of the grounds where I'm likely to see you," said she. "The very sight of you looking so flustrated unnerves me."

While he and I were waiting in the sitting-room for the news, he turned his heart inside out.

"I want to tell you, Harvey," said he, "that the—boy or girl—whichever it is—is to be my heir."

"I shan't hold you to that," I replied with a laugh.

"No—I'll never marry," he went on. "There was an—an angel. You know the Shaker settlement?—well, out there."

I looked at him in wonder. If ever there was a man who seemed unromantic, it was he, heavy and prosaic and so shy that he was visibly agitated even in bowing to a woman acquaintance.

"I met her," he was saying, "when I was driving that way—the horse ran, I was thrown out, and her parents had to take me in and let her nurse me. You've seen her face—or faces like it. Most of those Madonnas over on the other side in all the galleries suggest her. Well—her parents were furious—wouldn't hear of it—you know Shakers think marriage and love and all those things are wicked. And she thought so, too. How she used to suffer! It wore her to a shadow. She wouldn't marry me—wouldn't let me so much as touch her hand. But we used to meet and—then she caught a cold—waiting hours for me, one winter night, when there'd been a misunderstanding about the place—I was in one place, she in another. And the cold—you see, she couldn't fight against it. And—and—there won't be another, Harvey. All women are sacred to me for her sake, but I couldn't any more marry than I could—could stop feeling her sitting beside me, just a little way off, wrapped in her drab shawl, with her face—like a glimpse through the gates of Heaven."

Within me up-started the memories that I kept battered down.

"Your children are mine, too, Harvey," he ended.

I took from Carlotta's work-basket an unfinished bit of baby clothing. I went to him and held it up and pointed to the monogram she had embroidered on it.

"E. R. S.," he read aloud. Then he looked at me with a queer expression beginning to form in his eyes.

"Edward Ramsay Sayler, if it's a boy," said I. "Edwina Ramsay Sayler, if it's a girl."

He snatched the bit of linen from me and buried his face in it.

The baby was a boy—fortunately, for I don't admire the name Edwina, and I shouldn't have liked to handicap a child with it. Carlotta and Ed were delighted, but I felt a momentary keen disappointment. I had wanted a girl. Girls never leave their parents completely, as boys do. Also I should rather have looked forward to my child's having a sheltered life, one in which the fine and beautiful ideals do not have to be molded into the gross, ugly forms of the practical. I may say, in passing, that I deplore the entrance of women into the world of struggle. Women are the natural and only custodians of the ideals. We men are compelled to wander, often to wander far, from the ideal. Unless our women remain aloof from action, how are the ideals to be preserved? Man for action; woman to purify man, when he returns stained with the blood and sin of battle.

But—with the birth of the first child I began to appreciate how profoundly right my mother had been about marriage and its source of happiness. There are other flowers than the rose—other flowers, and beautiful, the most beautiful for its absence.

CHAPTER IX.

To the Seats of the Mighty.

We, our party, carried the state, as usual. Our legislative majority was increased by 11, to 37 on joint ballot. It was certain that Dunkirk's successor would be of the same political faith; but would he be Dunkirk? At first that venerable custodian of the plum tree hadn't a doubt. He had come to look on it as his personal property. But, after he had talked to legislators-elect from various parts of the state, he became uneasy. He found that the party's members were dangerously evenly divided between himself and the "Dominick-Croffut" faction. And soon he was at me to declare for him.

I evaded as long as I could—which did not decrease his nervousness. When he put it to me point-blank, I said: "I can't do it, senator. I will not mix in quarrels within the party."

"But they are saying you are against me," he pleaded.

"And your people are saying I am for you," I retorted.

"But surely you are not against me and for Schoolcraft? What has he done for you?"

"And what have you done for me?" I replied—a mere interrogation, without any feeling in it. "Tell me. I try to pay my debts."

His eyes shifted. "Nothing, Sayler, nothing," he said. "I didn't mean to insinuate that you owed me anything. Still, I thought—you wouldn't have been state chairman, except—"

As he halted, I said: "Except that you needed me. And you will recall that I took it only on condition that I should be free."

"Then you are opposed to me," he said. "Nobody can be on the fence in this fight."

"I do not think you can be elected," I replied.

As he sat silent, the puffs under his eyes swelled into bags and the pallor of his skin changed to the gray which makes the face look as if a haze or a cloud lay upon it. I pitied him so profoundly that, had I ventured to speak, I should have uttered impulsive generosities that would have cost me dear. How rarely are our impulses of generosity anything but impulses to folly, injustice and wrong!

"We shall see," was all he said, and he rose and shambled away.

They told me he made a pitiful sight, wheedling and whining among the legislators. But he degraded himself to some purpose. He succeeded in rallying round him enough members to deadlock the party caucus for a month—members from the purely rural districts, where the sentiment of loyalty is strongest, where his piety and unselfish devotion to the party were believed in, and his significance as a "statesman." I put this deadlock continue—41 for Dunkirk, 41 for Schoolcraft—until I felt that the party throughout the state was heartily sick of the struggle. Then Woodruff bought, at $12,000 apiece, two Dunkirk men to vote to transfer the contest to the floor of a joint session of the two houses.

After four days of balloting there, seven Dominick-Croffut men voted for me—my first appearance as a candidate. On the seventy-seventh ballot Schoolcraft withdrew and all the Dominick-Croffut men voted for me. On the seventy-ninth ballot I got, in addition, two opposition votes Woodruff had bought for me at $800 apiece. The ballot was: Dunkirk, 41; Grassmere (who was receiving the opposition's complimentary vote), 38; Sayler, 43. I was a senator of the United States.

There was a wild scene. Threats, insults, blows even, were exchanged. And down at the Capital City hotel Dunkirk crawled upon a table and denounced me as an infamous ingrate, a traitor, a serpent he had warmed in his bosom. But the people of the state accepted it as natural and satisfactory that "the vigorous and fearless young chairman of the party's state committee" should be agreed on as a compromise. An hour after that last ballot, he hadn't a friend left except some galling sympathizers from whom he hid himself. Those who had been his firmest supporters were paying court to the new custodian of the plum tree.

"Nobody That Knows Me Ever Sees Me When—at That Time."

The governor was mine, and the legislature. Mine was the federal patronage, also—all of it, if I chose, for Croffut was my dependent, though he did not realize it; mine also were the indefinitely vast resources of the members of my combine. Without my consent no man could get office anywhere in my state, from governorship and judgeship down as far as I cared to reach. Subject only to the check of public sentiment—so easily defeated if it be not defied—I was master of the making and execution of laws. Why? Not because I was leader of the dominant party. Not because I was a senator of the United States. Solely because I controlled the sources of the money that maintained the political machinery of both parties. The hand that holds the purse strings is the hand that rules—if it knows how to rule; for rule is power plus ability.

HE GUARDED JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Fred Bach, Sr., of Bloomington, Ill., Tells of Handcuff Incident.

Bloomington, Ill.—One of the few survivors, perhaps the only one, of the union soldiers who guarded Jefferson Davis following his capture at the close of the civil war is Fred Bach, Sr., of this city. Mr. Bach remembers distinctly the incidents connected with the incarceration of the famous prisoner in Fortress Monroe.

He says Davis was irritable and peevish and constantly complained of the noise made by the guards pacing back and forth. The prisoner was much dejected and in bad condition physically. Out of compassion for his condition Mr. Bach and most of the other guards were as considerate as possible. He says the food served Mr. Davis was changed several times upon the request of the prisoner. At first he was served the common rations of the enlisted men. Next he was given meals from the officers' mess and finally food was brought from the hotel.

Fred Bach, Sr.
(One of the Union Soldiers Who Guarded Jefferson Davis.)

Gen. Nelson A. Miles was then in command of the fort and Mr. Bach says that he knew of no instance where Gen. Miles was cruel to the prisoner except possibly when Davis was handcuffed. This was done upon express command of the assistant secretary of war, C. A. Dana, who considered public sentiment demanded it. The incident of the shackles was a sorrowful one.

When Capt. Titlow came with the order Davis was thunderstruck. "I will not submit to it. I would rather die," he exclaimed. It was necessary to overpower him before the irons could be attached to his wrists and ankles. He refused to eat following this action and declined physically and mentally. When Dr. Craven reported the effect of the shackles upon the prisoner the war department promptly ordered them removed.

HAS NO PEDALS OR SEAT.

Curious Bicycle, Imported in 1830, Still in Existence.

Boston.—Frank O. Hale of Springfield, Mass., has in his possession a curiosity in the shape of a bicycle, brought from France in a New Bedford whaling vessel in the year 1830.

Mr. Hale, as a boy, used to knock about the docks at New London. Then he became acquainted with Capt. Ira Potter, who presented the curio to him about the year 1860. The wheel was given to the captain by a passenger on his vessel while coming over from France.

It has been on exhibition in Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore. At Boston it once cleared $42 for the Odd Fellows, an admission of five cents being charged.

The bicycle has no pedals and is propelled by shuffling one foot along on the ground and on a decline lifting both feet and "letting her coast." For this reason it is called a "walking machine."

The "Walking Machine."

The machine shows fine workmanship. There are only two pieces in the iron frame. The steering is done by turning a swivel, an ingenious contrivance. The wheels are of wood. There is no seat and the rider was accustomed to place a cushion on the iron rfame.

A bicycle similar to the one owned by Mr. Hale is recorded as having been run in France in 1816.

This mode of riding was hard on the footwear and the bicycle tourists of those days were accustomed to wear special iron-shod shoes.

After this old style came the high wheels, then safeties with hard and then with soft tires, until the present perfect machines were evolved.

Red Tie as Danger Signal.

The origin of the red tie used by the employes of the London & South-Western railway lay in the idea that in case of emergency it could be pulled off and waved as a danger signal, as a matter of fact, it has often been used in this way, notably at Seaton Junction, when an express train was saved from destruction by a railway man, who thus warned the driver of peril ahead.

NEW IDEA OF CONSUMPTION.

Doctor Says Disease Is Primarily Derived from Cattle.

A London physician, Dr. [illegible] Picket Turner, who has made a first-hand study of the disease for many years, advances the theory that the medical world is attacking the problem of consumption by an utterly false route.

His view, briefly stated, is that tuberculosis is an animal disease primarily derived, in all cases, from cattle. It belongs, he says, to the mycotic group of diseases, diseases in which the original source of infection is a plant. Bovine cattle derive tuberculosis from timothy and other allied grasses by natural affinity.

Man acquires the disease by ingestion or inoculation, never by inhalation. It is not hereditary, neither is there any predisposition to it in the individual. The bacillus in a state of nature is saprophyte, feeding on decay of the vegetable world. In the bacillus becomes pathogenic, capable of causing disease—in cattle—when they are deprived of actinism or the property of the chemical rays of sunlight.

It would, if all this be true, become reasonable to assume that by restoring actinism to cattle the bacillus would again become a saprophyte, in which case consumption would be extirpated.

NO SNAKES IN CANADA.

The Great Forests Are Singularly Free from Reptiles.

A curious thing about Canadian forests is that there are no snakes, and even from a description the Indian guides did not seem to understand what a snake would be like.

Fishing all through Canada is as good as the hunting, and should one fail to bag a moose he is fully recompensed for the trip by the abundance of other game, including bear and deer. There is a weird melancholy about Canadian forests, with their hundreds of small lakes and rivers scattered here and there, and although the scenery never rises to the magnificent, there is something haunting, aside from the sport in it, that draws the hunter back season after season. Canada is filled with legends and strange superstitions, most of them of Indian origin, and all of them interesting to a degree, especially when related by one of the Indian guides who can be induced to talk.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Skating One.

Yvette Guilbert, the famous French actress, is an excellent skater. In the Bois de Boulogne, in Paris, there is an ice rink where Mme. Guilbert's skating is one of the principal attractions.

Talking about skating in New York one day, Mme. Guilbert said:

"It is only through perseverance that one learns to skate well. I am sure no one ever suffered more than I in learning to skate.

"I remember one day in my girlhood, the second or third time I had ever been on the ice, I was returning home in a crowded omnibus, and a kind old man got up and offered me his seat.

"I shook my head, and the old man laughed a good deal when I said:

"'No, thank you. I've been skating, and I'm tired of sitting down.'"

Longing for Country Life.

A strange thing is the universal longing of professional men and others who have come to the city and have prospered as they advance in life to get back to the country. It is seldom that they do return, and when they do there is often disappointment and things do not appear as they did long ago. The change is in the man himself, but he thinks it is in the country. Nevertheless, the desire to get back to the old country place to end one's days is very general. Sir Walter Scott refers to it and compares the course of a man through the world to that of the hare which is started from her lair and after a long chase and making a large circle ends by returning to the nest from which she started.

All Pieces But the Pawn.

The archbishop of Canterbury, on one occasion, when addressing the members of a chess club, said that though he "was not a distinguished chess player, he could claim to be a representative of chess in an unusual degree, for he had seen a good deal of kings and queens, had lived in two castles and was the only living man who was both a knight and a bishop, so that he represented all the pieces except the pawn."

Hottentot.

The origin of this name for the natives of South Africa is peculiar. It is said that the early Dutch soldiers at the Cape of Good Hope particularly noticed the click that forms so distinct a feature of the Kaffir language, which sounded to them like a continuous repetition of the syllables "hot" and "tot." They therefore called the natives Hottentots, the "en" meaning "and" in the Dutch language.

Dog Days.

Bill—Did you get any frankfurters while you were on your vacation?

Jill—No; I asked for 'em several times, but they told me they were out of season.

"That's all nonsense. You were away during the dog days, weren't you?"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Beat All-Around.

"The count's rich wife said he beat her."

"His creditors said he did the same thing to them."—Baltimore American.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Virginia Drew Trescott, who needs no introduction to the American public, will play the part of "Mrs. Warren" in the production of George Bernard Shaw's strong play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. The production and cast are to be the same as that seen at the Manhattan theatre, New York, for the past five weeks.

For the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, Manager Counihan has secured Ada Gray's version of the ever popular "East Lynne" with Miss Julia Gray in the dual role. It will be presented with one of the strongest casts that has ever appeared in the famous drama and will be equipped with scenic and electrical effects on an elaborate scale. Despite the pretentiousness of the production, bargain prices will prevail at both matinee and night performances.

The present tour of Maude Fealy, the youngest dramatic star on the American stage, is one of the most successful of the season and the former talented leading woman of the late Sir Henry Irving, is meeting with flattering praise in every city in which she was seen in her latest triumph, the comedy by Martha Morton, entitled "The Illusion of Beatrice." Of Maude Fealy's skilled work in "The Illusion of Beatrice," the New York Telegraph recently said: "Not in many years has a star won so pronounced a success as has dainty Maude Fealy in Martha Morton's latest creation. The role of Beatrice fits Miss Fealy like a glove and her impersonation is of a high artistic plane. The production is one of the really few genuine successes of the day." Miss Fealy will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night.

One of the many features to be presented by John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels, which will appear at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, April 13, is a beautiful and up-to-date dancing number, entitled "The Great Event." The idea was conceived by Manager Vogel and arranged by Barney Fagin, the world's master producer of intricate dances and terpsichorean movements. The scene is laid at the famous Sheepshead Bay race course, and the prancing thoroughbreds are at the post awaiting the signal for the start, they get the word "They're off," hoof-beats are heard in the distance and immediately after the finish the jockeys appear neatly attired in the regulation colors, representing the world's famous owners and stake winners. William Rowe, the famous and world-renowned solo clog dancer, has been engaged to rehearse and produce the act in the absence of Mr. Fagin, whose foreign engagements prevent his doing so.

To hide behind targets on the range at West Point Military academy and try to explain to each other how to escape by dodging the bullets, to get possession of three keys which operate a flying battery and try to escape the danger of being shot for having them in their possession by surreptitiously transferring them to each other's pockets; to try to gain possession of a plug hat that would make either one of them president of the nation on the island of Port O'Domingo, where the singly plug hat on the entire island is the symbol of highest authority and to try to devise a way whereby all three can marry the same beautiful senorita without committing "trigamy" are some of the fool things by which Suicide by Sorrowing Boy.

New York, April 5.—Although he was only fifteen years old, the love that Frederick Collinder bore for his mother was as strong as ever was that of manhood, and when he was told that soon she would be taken away from him forever he could not bear it. He killed himself yesterday, and the mother, lying on a bed of illness from which she is not expected ever to rise, keeps calling for him constantly, for she does not know he is dead. Although he had brothers and sisters, "Freddie" had always been his mother's favorite child and they were rarely separated, except when he was at his work as errand boy for Henry Wellbrook, a grocer at No. 157 Stuyvesant avenue, Brooklyn. The moment the noon hour came the boy would hurry to his home, at No. 779 Gates avenue, and spend his lunch time at the bedside of the ailing woman, reading to her and offering his small comfort, and all his evenings were passed with her until his bedtime.

Cat After Bird Kills Woman.

New York, April 5.—Coroner Acritelli was notified yesterday of the death by asphyxiation from gas of Mrs. Sophie Wiberg, seventy-three years old, in her apartment, No. 124 East Eighty-seventh street. The aged woman lived with her niece, Miss Helen E. Ewald, together with a handsome Angora cat and pet canary. During the afternoon it appears the gas stove in the room was lighted and that later the aged woman dropped off to sleep. It seems probable to those who investigated the death that the cat had tried to catch the canary bird and in the excitement pulled loose the gas tube from the stove.

SLEEVE FORMS STRANGE BUST.

Coat Hung on Hook Takes on Remarkable Likeness of Dante.

Manchester, N. H.—The accompanying picture is the subject of a remarkable and unique incident. A few days ago a bookkeeper employed in a Hanover street store entered the office, after lunch, and as usual hung her coat on the hat tree. A short time afterwards Mr. Colburn, who occupies a part of the store, had occasion to pass by and his glance caught the outline of a human face in the coat which hung there. He called the attention of the others in the store to look at it, and it was so pronounced that they could not fail to see it. The coat was of a light shade, and in looking at the outline it looked like a bust modeled in clay.

Prof. Thyng, the instructor of drawing in the public schools, had occasion to enter the store, and the face was shown to him, and he said it was one of the most remarkable things he had ever seen, and he studied it for some time. He said it was almost a perfect bust of Dante and that a master-head had modeled it.

Bust Formed by a Coat.

The picture does not do justice to the subject, as it is impossible to get in all the lights and shades. After a picture was made the coat was taken down and attempts were made to reproduce the picture of the face, but it was impossible.

The coat was hung up by the armhole, the sleeve forming the face, and one of the fronts of the coat falling over formed the hood. The most remarkable thing in connection with the picture is that it is in perfect proportion. It was a most difficult thing to photograph, as the coat hung in a bad light, but the plate was exposed for 40 minutes and the results were most gratifying.

"BOTTLE PLANT" A LIFE-SAVER.

Grows in Southwest and Furnished Flow of Water When Cut.

New York.—In the southwestern part of the United States and in Australia there grows in desert places the "bottle plant," which has saved the lives of many men who, smitten by the sun, footsore and well nigh spent, have almost died for lack of water. The "bottle plant," on being cut, gives out a small flow of the precious fluid. And well it deserves its name, for it not only holds water, but is shaped like a bottle.

In the tropics, where all growing forms take on beauty, the traveler's palm serves the place of the less beautiful "bottle." It is a native of Madagascar, fan shaped and frequently grows to an enormous size. It stores up water from rains and from the cool dews of night. Its green fronds are emblems of safety to travelers who have lost their way. A cut in one of its leaves will produce enough water, with a not unpleasant taste, to satisfy a strong man's thirst.

Plant That Is a Fountain.

Here you see a native who is lucky enough to have a glass incising the plant and catching the falling stream. At such a fountain a person enjoys an advantage denied to persons who live in crowded cities, for here the water has no taint of deadly microbe and is singularly fresh and pure. It is related that a London clubman who was used to the best things in life became lost in Madagascar, and coming upon the traveler's palm refreshed himself, but with his thankfulness voiced the complaint that it was too bad the palm did not give forth club soda to be mixed with another liquid with which he was well supplied.

GERMS CAUSE DYSPEPSIA

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS, THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oldman says:

"If your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

Pepsoids are sold at drug stores at 50c. a bottle on an absolute guarantee or money refunded. If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle. You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 9

Fresh Jersey Eggs

At this season of the year almost every grocer makes a special drive on eggs. Many people wonder why there is such a variety of prices. Here is one reason—The prices of eggs are made according to their freshness upon arrival at the market. Most of the eggs in this market are received from the West, South and nearby Jersey. Now suppose I bought a case of each kind. I would receive the Westerns and Southerns in twenty to thirty days, while the Jerseys would be in my store and on sale tomorrow. Do you see the point? There would be a dozen shipments of Jerseys sold and consumed while the others are in transit. We receive all of our eggs direct from Flemington every day or two. We will make you a special price for Saturday of 23c per dozen.

Fine Potatoes

We have done a lot of talking this winter about our potatoes. We have the quality to back it up. Fine mealy cookers, "Finest in town," is the verdict from all the buyers.

Fancy Butter

We have as fine a piece of butter as comes to this city, 100 per cent. better than you get from most dealers. We buy from one of the largest receivers in New York and pay them a premium to ship us from their finest lots. Quality is the first consideration and then the price. We will quote you special prices for Saturday only.

ST. JOSEPH'S CELEBRATION

The Right Reverend Bishop to be Present at Jubilee Observance Tomorrow.

DIGNITARIES EXPECTED

Monsignor O'Brady, Monsignor Fox and Very Rev. McNulty to Take Part in Celebration of the Mass.

Distinguished priests from various parts of the diocese will attend the silver jubilee celebration of St. Joseph Roman Catholic church tomorrow morning. Bishop McFaul will preside at the mass, and Monsignor Brady, of South Amboy, will be the celebrant. Father Dietrich, of Bound Brook, will be the deacon; sub-deacon, Rev. James Devine, New Brunswick; master-of-ceremonies, Rev. Edward Dunphy, of Dunellen. Among the visiting priests will be: Rt. Rev. Monsignor Fox, V. I., Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Grady, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Connolly, Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Connell, Very Rev. Dean Mulligan, Rev. Andrew Egan, Rev. John Tyrell, Rev. Henry Duchgeischel, Rev. W. Schandel, Rev. W. Schwarze.

Rt. Rev. James T. McFaul, D. D. LL. D., Bishop of Trenton.

The musical programme of the service will include Kyrie, Gloria in Excelsis, Credo, Sanctus, O'Salutarus, and Agnus Dei. There will be a duet by James Bailey and Alfred LaPorte.

After the mass, Father Miller, the rector, will entertain the visiting priests at the rectory.

The beginning of the borough parish occurred when a few Catholics first gathered at the Verdon homestead on upper Somerset street, and then made arrangements to meet in the barn on that property. The congregation grew so rapidly that after two months' time it was found necessary to secure a hall near the centre of the town. In the meantime, Mr. Verdon was appointed as a committee of one to visit Archbishop Hughes and secure the services of a priest for the congregation. He assured Mr. Verdon that he would send one to Plainfield at the first opportunity, and Father James McDonough was sent in 1851. In 1881 the State was divided into two dioceses, one being called the Newark Diocese and the other the Trenton Diocese, and North Plainfield was in the latter. Bishop O'Farrell consecrated St. Joseph's church, and Father John Brady, now

AUTO SPEEDER FINED $10 IN THE CITY COURT

S. W. RUSHMORE PLEADS GUILTY; DEFENDS HIS SIRENADES.

S. W. Rushmore pleaded guilty to the charge of overspeeding his automobile in the city court this morning, and was fined $10.

Mr. Rushmore said he felt he was only technically guilty, and had not speeded to the danger of anybody. The real ground of complaint against him, he understood, was the siren horn he used. It might be annoying, he admitted, but he manufactured the horn and had to test it in some way. He thought the special nature of the circumstances should be taken into consideration. Further, he submitted, he did not run his car for pleasure, as did the so-called speed-maniacs, but merely for business purposes.

Chief Kiely said he had received more complaints against Mr. Rushmore than against any other autoist; he believed he exceeded the speed limit almost continually. The siren, the chief continued, was an annoyance to a good many people.

Judge Runyon said he felt it was necessary to impose a penalty for the speed violation. The siren didn't figure in the charge, but he felt compelled to penalize the speeding. Mr. Rushmore smiled without undue pain and promised to pay this afternoon. His promise was accepted.

Clarence Hand, of Fairview avenue, will return to Cornell on Monday.

Standing Committee of M. E. Church Reports That $100,000 Institute Fund Has Been Raised.

The ninth annual convention of the laymen's association of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was held yesterday in Morristown in connection with the regular Conference meetings. Two sessions were held, the morning session being in the First Baptist church. It was given over to the verification of credentials and the reading of reports from the field.

Papers were read by J. R. Curran, of Paterson; J. V. Foster, of Jersey City, and M. S. Daniels, of Newark, on the church extension movement in their respective districts. An address was delivered by Rev. F. H. Wright on "The Italian in America."

At the afternoon session reports were received from several committees, included among them being that to consider the financial relations of the "supply" men of the Conference to the Conference at large. F. W. Fletcher, for the committee, said that in the district were sixty-two supply preachers, eleven of whom have two or more charges. Ten per cent. are paid $300 per year, 5 or 7 per cent. receive $400, 6 per cent. $500, while a number receive only $250. He said the men doing the most work seemed to be getting the least salary.

The standing committee on the centenary fund, whose purpose was to raise an endowment fund of $100,000 for the Centenary Collegiate Institute, reported that their efforts had met with success and the fund was raised.

The following officers were elected: President, James R. Joy, of Plainfield; vice president, M. S. Daniels, of Newark; secretary, A. B. Meredith, of Nutley; treasurer, F. S. Petter, of Jersey City. District president—Elizabeth, Wellington Moorehouse.

A discussion on lay representation at the annual conferences was held, and addresses on the subject were made by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, D. D., H. K. Carroll, LL. D., and Rev. James M. Buckley, but no action was taken.

The meeting was brought to a close after an address on "The Layman's Opportunity," by Rev. D. G. Downey.

Last evening was held the anniversary of the Conference Epworth League in connection with the Board of Education, Freedmen's Aid and Sunday-school. The session was presided over by Rev. M. W. Womer, of East Orange, President of the Newark Conference, Epworth League. The speakers were Rev. William F. Anderson, D. D., corresponding secretary of the Board of Education, and Rev. Stepen J. Herben, D. D., editor of the Epworth League.

Prayer was offered by Rev. C. X. Hutchinson, and Rev. S. F. Davis sang a solo. The executive committee of the Conference Epworth League included Rev. George Mooney, Rev. H. B. Leech, Rev. Jesse L. Hurlburt, Rev. C. X. Hutchinson and Paul Day, M. S. Daniels, J. R. Joy and G. H. Lincks. Rev. Austin E. Armstrong is secretary.

DRUNKS STIR THE FORCE

Two Calls For Patrol Wagon Causes Much Scurrying of Cops.

SALOON DOOR SMASHED

Dog Fancier Heaved a Rock When More Drink Was Refused—Seventy-Year-Old One Disappeared.

Because he had been refused more drink by the bartender, George H. Parker, 48 years old, of Cushing road, a breeder of fancy dogs, threw a rock through a pane of glass in the door of Rafferty's saloon, Park avenue, yesterday afternoon. He had been drinking more than was good for him, and the barkeeper decided he had had all that was necessary for any one man to carry. Parker, enraged at the refusal to serve him with more liquor, went out into the roadway, picked up a stone and drove it straight into the doorpane. Then he ran.

Patrolman Charles Flynn started after him a few minutes later, on a wheel and overtook him on East Fifth street near Watchung avenue. Parker was in ugly mood, and gave the policeman trouble. He tried to hit Flynn several times, and the policeman was forced to block quickly. Parker cut himself about the head and face in his tantrums.

The arrest caused considerable excitement. Parker swore a blue streak in a loud tone, and this and his struggles drew a big crowd. On the way down Fifth street, Patrolman McGinley met his fellow officer and the prisoner and gave his assistance. A bit further on Patrolman Tomas Nolan fell in behind the other two policemen. At the Watchung avenue corner Policemen Theodore Martin and Frank Sweeney were standing as the others came up. At the same time, the patrol wagon rattled down the avenue and a short distance behind came Detective-Sergeant Flynn on a bicycle. Just as the drunk was heaved into the wagon, Patrolman McDonald turned into Watchung avenue from North avenue. The people who happened to be passing gathered an impression that a riot call had been sounded. Nothing happened after Mr. Parker was pushed along the bottom of the patrol wagon, and the bluecoat force silently melted away. Some of the excitement was transferred to Park avenue and Second street a few minutes later when the wagon was called out to get a drunk from in front of the Hotel Kensington. When the wagon got to the scene the drunk had disappeared, and most of the loose cops, re-enforced by Patrolman Payne scurried about that corner. They didn't find the drunk, because a North Plainfield clergyman had taken him under his guidance.

Maze Green, of North Plainfield, a seventy-year-old, was the drunk. The clergyman couldn't hold him in and turned him over to the police at the station house.

Maze and the strenuous Parker were arraigned in the City Court this morning, both penitent. At Chief Kiely's request, Parker's case was adjourned to Wednesday, in order to give the police a chance to get witnesses. Maze pleaded illness and a tendency to apoplexy, and won a suspended sentence. Judge Runyon said he didn't want Maze dying in a fit around the station house. Maze has been pinched before.

FANWOODITES COMPLAIN.

Protest Against Action of John Mair in Blocking Ditches.

The Fanwood Township Committee, at its April meeting last night, received a delegation of residents from Alton, who entered a protest against the action of John Mair in blocking the ditches in front of his property and thus forcing the water to back up and cover the land of adjoining property-owners. The complaint was made by Louis Teitz, who said that his corps and property in the past had been damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

After an investigation it developed that the course of the water was an artificial one and the committee advised the delegation that its redress would have to be secured through the courts, that the committee had no power to act.

Will Repeat Easter Music.

The Easter music rendered by the choir of the First Baptist church will be repeated tomorrow night. Miss Florence Wohlfert, violinist, will assist in the service. The solo work will be taken by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano; Miss Gertrude Heinz, contralto; William Holmes, baritone, and George Smith, tenor.

Mrs. Luxboy's Funeral.

CALLS BOROUGH'S HAND

Stone Co. Objects to Council's Method of Receiving Bids and Awarding Contracts.

DECLARED UNLAWFUL

Assertion Sustained and New Bids Will Be Advertised For to Be Opened When Received.

Asserting that its method of receiving bids and making awards had been conducted contrary to law, the Watchung Stone Company, through its president, Champlain L. Riley, protested to the Borough Council last night, against the giving out of the yearly contract for furnishing the cracked stone needed in street work. In a communication, the reasons for the company's action were fully explained and after they had been heard by the council, Mayor Smalley made the suggestion that bids be readvertised for and the contract awarded in strict keeping with the legal conditions. A resolution to this effect was offered and carried.

In President Riley's communication, he stated that the borough had advertised for stone bids to be delivered at Frank W. Rowley's office at 218 West Front street on April 1. The general manager of the company was at the place on the date and at the time specified for the purpose of bidding but neither his bid or any other was opened. The law demands that when bids of proposals for supplies or for public works or buildings are called for by officials, they must be unsealed in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents and the contents of each one made known, a record of the same being made for further reference.

Mr. Riley asserted that this was not done and when the manager asked Mr. Rowley when or where the bids would be opened he was unable to state. Thursday the chairman of the street committee informed Warren B. Travell, the stone company's manager, that no time or place had yet been fixed for opening the bids. The protest was made after receiving this information and the president's letter declared that no action should be taken on the bids, irrespective of the question whether the Watchung Stone Company was the lowest or not. In a closing paragraph he wrote:

"Common fairness to bidders for the furnishing of supplies to the borough, and sound business principles as well, require that the time and place for receiving and opening the bids should be definitely fixed in the advertisements calling for them, and that the bids should be publicly opened at that time and place in the presence of the bidders and that immediate record be made, so that the bidders and the public may know that the bids are fairly presented and the contract awarded to the lowest bidder."

The communication was referred to the committee on streets and public health and after the resolution calling for new bids was passed, Mayor Smalley asked that they be gotten as quickly as possible as the street department needs the stone.

In speaking of the matter this morning, Manager Travell, of the stone company, stated that Mayor Smalley had informed him that his concern was to get the contract and under the circumstances the protest could not be construed as a "sore back" because of losing it. The company only wished to point out, he said, that the borough's method of receiving bids and awarding contracts was wrong and should be remedied.

In the regular order of business at the meeting, the Board of Health asked for an appropriation of $1,000 for its work in 1908, the same to be given to the secretary and treasurer on January 1 next. Recorder Dollver reported eleven arrests during March and $20 in fines collected. Peter Dooley was appointed a regular fireman to succeed Ambrose Campbell, resigned, his pay to be $50 a month for the first three years. In connection with fire matters, Councilman Smith offered a resolution that new uniforms be purchased for the two paid men at a cost not to exceed $40 and same was passed. Mr. McGee offered a resolution that $1,000 be borrowed to meet claims, after which council adjourned until next Monday night when a report on street matters will be presented by Councilman Waldron.

BOROUGH IN THE CLUTCHES OF SOMERSET COUNTY

CAME TO GREET MOTHER; SAW HER GRAVE INSTEAD

DID NOT KNOW SHE WAS DEAD UNTIL FRIEND BROKE THE NEWS.

Leaving a hospital in New York for the first time in six months, Samuel Kellogg, a former resident of this city, came to Plainfield yesterday to see his mother. Unknown to him, she had been buried a month ago, and he learned of her death for the first time from a friend whom he met on North avenue.

Kellogg has been very ill. Weeks ago he learned that his mother was in Muhlenberg Hospital, where she afterward died, but further than that he had not heard. Yesterday, although barely able to move about, he left the hospital to come here and see his mother. He stopped downtown a while after reaching this city to attend to a bit of business, and just as he was preparing to go to the hospital he met Edward C. Searing, an old friend.

"I am on my way to see my mother," said Kellogg, after a few minutes' conversation.

"Where do you expect to see your mother, Sam?" asked Searing gravely.

"Why she is at Muhlenberg Hospital," answered Kellogg. He was amazed and shocked when Searing gently broke the news of his mother's death. Kellogg was so affected by the intelligence that he could not attend to his business until late in the afternoon, and through the delay he lost the train he expected to take back to New York. He had been instructed by the hospital physician to be at the institution by a certain time yesterday afternoon for a continuation of his treatment, and the break in it, following the shock he experienced, may have a very grave result.

MONO FIELD CLUB COMPLETES ORGANIZATION.

Plans Made to Place a Strong Amateur Nine in the Local Baseball Field.

The Mono Field Club members met in the Hotel Iroquois parlors, last night, and perfected organization by electing the following officers: President, William H. Bechtel; vice president, George A. Conover; secretary and treasurer, Dan F. Randolph; manager, Herbert Conover.

The club has planned to put one of the strongest amateur nines in the field that Plainfield has ever had and during the next couple of weeks the officers will devote considerable time to selecting the players for the team. Among the candidates for positions are John Enright, who was a member of the Safe Works league nine; Taylor Mehaffey, formerly with the P. H. S.; Jack Peacock, one of the borough High School's strongest men last year; Eugene McLaughlin, Frank Emmons, Richard Bird, Grover Schuck and several others who have done good work with local aggregations. New uniforms have been ordered and the schedule is being made up in order to get down to business by the first of May. City teams wanting games are asked to communicate with Manager Conover at once.

The club has planned to have a permanent home and a committee composed of Grover Schuck, Herbert Conover and Richard Bird was appointed to secure the needed rooms. They will report at another business meeting to be held next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Evangelistic Campaign.

An evangelistic campaign will be commenced at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night under the direction of the western evangelists, Edward Acomb, of Minneapolis, and Henry A. Ironsides, of San Francisco. They will preach nightly except Monday and Saturday. The Sunday evening meetings will begin at 7:0 o'clock and during the week the evening meetings will begin at 7:45 for song service and the preaching at eight o'clock.

The garage which Andrew C. Thompson is having built in Park avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, is now near completion. Mr. Thompson expects to take possession Monday. The garage is a modern up-to-date one-story cement block fire proof building, having a floor space of 120 by 25 feet.

Councilmanic Committee Reports That There is No Hope of Securing Fair Return for Taxes.

ITS ROADS NEGLECTED

Mr. Hyde Furnished Figures to Show How North Plainfield Suffers at Hands of Board of Freeholders.

After an investigation that has been in progress since the communication was first received, the Laws, Ordinance and Taxation Committee of the Borough Council last night, reported on Francis DeL. Hyde's protest that the Somerset County Board of Freeholders discriminated against North Plainfield in the expenditure of money for road improvements. At his own expense, Mr. Hyde had maps prepared and figures compiled to show where the borough residents were not receiving just returns for the taxes they paid and that sections at the other end of the county were getting all the benefits. As he is one of Plainfield's largest property owners he asked that something be done to compel the freeholders to make a more equal division and in his communication he suggested appealing to the State Legislature if the matter could not be adjusted otherwise.

The Laws, Ordinance and Taxation Committee was authorized to follow up the protest and the report they submitted was as follows:

Your committee on laws, ordinances and taxation would report on the communication of F. deL. Hyde, president, &c., Union County Investment Co., to the Mayor and Council of this borough, and referred to this committee, as follows:

That while it deprecates the condition of affairs disclosed by the petition and accompanying map (which without verification we assume to be correct) that this borough does not, in the opinion of the petitioner, receive from the Board of Chosen Freeholders its just ratio of benefits in proportion to the amount of county taxes paid by the property owners, still after consideration and investigation we are of the opinion that upon the facts as stated in said communication no successful legal action can be taken against the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Somerset county.

The phraseology of the great majority of the statutes referring to freeholders is "The said freeholders are hereby authorized to lay out, alter and change roads which have been rendered impassable;" again, "It shall be lawful for the Board of Chosen Freeholders to improve and keep in repair such new roads," and again, "That any board of chosen freeholders may cause any or all roads over which it shall have acquired and assumed control in the manner provided by law to be suitably lighted," &c., &c. Thus showing that their power is considered discretionary. In support of this we find in the case of the State vs. The Freeholders of Essex, reported in 3 Zabriskie at page 214, "where an application in the name of the State, by William O. Price and others, for a mandamus to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Essex to compel them to erect and rebuild a bridge," &c. Judge Nevius states, and cites as his authority, exparte Nelson I Cow. 417, "But where an inferior jurisdiction, invested with discretionary power to do or omit any particular act, has not been guality of clear and manifest abuse, in the exercise of that description, a mandamus ought not to be granted for this court cannot control and ought not to coerce that discretion." Hence we are of the opinion that it would be inexpedient to involve the borough in litigation and the expenses attendant thereon, in a question of this kind where there seems to be no prospects of a result favorable to the borough.

As to the suggestion in the petition that we seek legislative aid to correct the grievance therein complained of, namely to govern the expenditure of the moneys in the possession of the freeholders in the different political subdivisions in proportion to the amount received by them from said subdivisions or "on the basis of taxes actually paid by the taxpayer of the borough or township or on the basis of population." We are of the opinion that the Legislature would refuse to deprive the Boards of Chosen Freeholders of the discretionary power which they now have.

Western R. R. Strike Off.

Chicago, April 6.—Through the mediation of Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, a settlement of the Western railroad controversy was effected yesterday. A compromise was agreed to by both sides, and today the labor chiefs will meet the general managers and sign the new schedule. By the terms of the agreement a material advance in wages is to be made to the employees over what was originally offered by the managers. This advance will approximate $300,000 a year, which, added to the original increase offered by the railroads, will add about $6,000,000 a year to the payrolls of the forty roads involved. Both sides to the controversy yielded to the urgent appeals of the federal mediators and made concessions in the interests of peace and the welfare of the general public. The greatest concessions made by the employees was the waiving of the nine hour day.

"East Lynne," with Miss Julia Gray in the leading role, is the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight.

When Maude Fealy, the youngest dramatic star on the American stage and former leading woman for the late Sir Henry Irving, recently appeared in her latest success, "The Illusion of Beatrice," in Milwaukee, Wis., she played to a series of remarkably large and enthusiastic audiences and was given a series of ovations at each performance. Of this superb attraction, which is to be seen here at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, the Milwaukee Free Press said: " 'The Illusion of Beatrice' gives Maude Fealy the great chance of her remarkable career. The young girl, who at eighteen years of age shared honors with the late Sir Henry Irving, has been supplied with a role that enables her to display to a degree her charming personality and magnetism. She plays with remarkable simplicity and repose, and her temperament lends to the portrayal and undoubted raidiance. The supporting company is good and the entire production without a flaw. The young star and her play met with decided approval from the audience and success is sure to greet Maude Fealy where she is seen this season."

Pronouncedly clever with all the requirements so essential to laughter, the real thing, spryer and more gay than ever, "McFadden's Flats" will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday afternoon and night. The Waldorf Astoria is great and 'tis estimated that we are to have one that will be greater so, 'tis likewise with the "Flats." The farce is great, but this year 'tis greater. The spectacular fantasy or vaudeville gaiety excels in magnificent magnitude and splendor its last year's production—veritable in the vaudeville sense of the term, and if possible, more amusing than ever, while the scenes pervade in artistic effects and coloring. Everything is beautiful, new and bright costumes, and the concourse of singing and dancing girls completely captivating in gleeful song and graceful motion.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels have reached the highest summit of perfection, towering above all similar attractions, a monument to the march of progressive minstrel enterprise. It is unequalled, conducted on a broad and liberal basis, the company containing the leading lights of minstrelsy, the very cream of laugh-producers, and the pick of high class novelty entertainers, presenting a programme entirely different to all other minstrel organizations, and a welcome relief from the old and thread-bare methods so long in use by similar enterprises. The public's wants have been carefully considered by Manager Vogel, who has acquired recognition for the advancement and further development of minstrelsy, receiving the praise and steadfast financial support of all lovers of amusement. This famous organization will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night.

A musical comedy of exceptional merit and excellence will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, April 15, as the first annual benefit for Assistant Treasurer Leonce Texier and the house ushers. It is called "Tom, Dick and Harry," and produced by A. H. Woods, the well known manager. "Tom, Dick and Harry," is the most elaborate offering of its kind on the road today and its success last season may be regarded as a guarantee of its quality. This comedy was especially created to give scope and sway to the abilities of three of the cleverest comedians in the business, namely, Bickel, Watson and Wrothe. They were formerly circus men, in fact three of the best clowns and platform comedians who ever shared honors with the cake walking horse, red lemonade and baby elephant and colossal side show. They are immensely clever in all that they say and do. Bickel does a Dutch bandmaster that is the funniest act of its kind on any stage today; Watson as a tramp is the acme of perfection, while Wrothe as the Irishman with an amusing and infectious brogue, captivates his audience from the start. "Tom, Dick and Harry," which by the way is the combined efforts of Harry Williams, Aaron Hoffman and Egbert VanAlstyne, is right up to the second in its freshness and originality.

LAFAYETTE ALUMNI.

The Lafayette Alumni Association of New Jersey, which was organized recently in Newark, will hold its first annual dinner and reunion on the night of April 12 at Achtel-Stetter's, 842 Broad street, Newark. The executive committee, which has the dinner in charge, composed of the officers and elected members, has spared no pains in getting in touch with all the former students of Lafayette now living in New Jersey. More than 300 notices and invitations have been mailed. Among those expected is James H. Neighbor, of Dover, who graduated in the class of 1848.

President Ethelbert D. Warfield and Dr. W. B. Owen will represent the college and speed the new association with words of cheer. Robert H. McCarter and Carroll Bassett, of Summit, will make short addresses. The Lafayette College Glee Club Quartette will lead the singing, assisted by a string orchestra.

LID ON MIDDLESEX SUNDAYS.

Excise Officers Will Lose Jobs if Law Is Not Enforced.

Judge Theodore B. Booraem at New Brunswick yesterday served notice on the Excise Board in that city that he had determined to force the saloons and hotels in the county over which he exercises licensing power to obey the Sunday closing law and the Bishops law, and he asked the Excise Board to enforce the same provisions in New Brunswick. He wants to make Middlesex county absolutely dry on Sunday.

While the court has no authority to direct the acts of the Excise Board, the members are his appointees, and teh order is taken to mean that if they do not do their duty he will decline to reappoint them to office. In his order he says that he feels that the members of the Excise Board are the agents of the court, receiving its appointment from the court.

The saloon men know that Judge Booraem is sincere in his fight for enforcement of the law, as he refused to renew the licenses of eighteen established places this week.

The Lehigh Valley R. R. Inaugurates Another Arrangement for the Greater Convenience of the Travelling Public.

A circular just issued by the General Baggage Agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad announces the placing in effect of a special delivery checking system for baggage, which enables patrons of the line to have baggage checked from residences, hotels or other points direct to residences, hotels, steamship piers, etc., at destination.

This system has been in eect covering a limited number of cities for some time, but the new arrangement extends it widely so that it now covers practically all of the important cities east of Cincinnati and Chicago including points in Canada.

On baggage thus checked, the transfer charges are collected when the checking is done; the amount for transfer being reasonable.

This will prove a great convenience to passengers who dislike the trouble of looking after the detail of the transfer of baggage to and from stations, and the cost will be no greater and in some instances less than would be charged locally by transfer companies.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

David Shay, who was the clerk at the Plainfield Country Club, last season, and who has been acting in a similar capacity at the Jekyl Island Club in Georgia during the winter, arrived in town yesterday for a brief stay. He expects to return to the club soon. While away he received several offers to go with other golf clubs this summer.

Announcement of the new golf committee at the Plainfield Country Club will be made soon.

The Plainfield Country Club is now well equipped for the comfort and convenience of the members. Lighting and heating systems have been installed and with the other improvements makes the clubhouse one of the most attractive in the Metropolitan district.

It is understood that more attention will be given to team matches by the Plainfield Country Club, this season, and it is possible that matches may be arranged with several nearby clubs. A match with the Park Golf Club would be interesting.

The green committee of the Plainfield Country Club is very active these days making ready for the opening of the season. The general conditions are favorable and even now the course is in good shape.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Dartmouth baseball squad is making its first southern trip and has been successful thus far.

The collegian Storer is playing a fine game for the Pirates. Incidentally, the Pittsburg team represents more college men than any other.

Up to date the Brooklyn Nationals have shown by far the most speed and there will be disappointment among the followers of the team should they fail to make a good start when the league season opens.

Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgs, claims to have the best pitching staff in the National League, barring the Chicago Club.

If Phil. Smith plays in the Atlantic (outlaw) League, it will be the means of keeping him out of the league clubs recognized by the National Commission. "Lou" Wiltse had this trouble when he left Baltimore and went to the Tri-State League. He has never been able to secure re-instatement.

Sunday baseball will be a strong attraction at Elizabeth, this season, as there will be several Sunday teams, including the Stars, Atlantic League Club and the Palmers.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Mr. Love will speak at the Plainfield Rescue Mission tonight in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue.

Preparatory services were held at Warren chapel, last night, and the regular communion service will be held tomorrow morning.

Communion service will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning, with a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss.

Commencing with tomorrow the First Baptist church will follow the new rule of holding communion services the first Sunday in each month, which is according to the custom of other Baptist churches throughout the country.

The Easter musical programme will be given at the First Presbyterian church, tomorrow, when Miss Anna Case, the new soprano soloist, will commence her duties there. Clifford A. Braider, organist, has arranged a fine programme. Miss Jessamine Burd, of Somerville, the new contralto, will join the quartette choir May 1.

Dead at the Wheel.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 6.—With the spoke of the pilot wheel clutched in a death grip and a hand extended toward the bell rope, George W. Conant was found lying dead in the pilot house of the packet Lorena, near East Liverpool, Ohio, at an early hour yesterday morning. Without a guiding hand the big packet, filled with passengers, who were peacefully sleeping, wandered hither and thither through the dense fog and was running at high speed into a rock studded pool when Captain John Richardson stopped the craft from rushing to destruction. Faithful to the last dying breath, Conant exhausted his last bit of strength trying vainly to reach the signal rope, a pull of which would have stopped the boat. His hand was within a few inches of the cord when death overtook him. The prompt action of Captain Richardson was all that saved the lives of a score of passengers.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church for the election of officers and presentation of reports will be held at the church Wednesday night, April 17.

In connection with the repetition of the Easter music at the First Baptist church, tomorrow night, the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, will preach on the subject, "Does the Bible Clearly Teach That We Shall Know Each Other in the World to Come?"

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, who left on Thursday for Atlantic City, arrived safely at Galen Hall Sanitarium, Dr. Schenck standing the trip exceedingly well. It is sincerely hoped that the bracing salt air and the treatment at the sanitarium will prove very beneficial to him and restore him to full health.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Phebe Ann Townsend.

Mrs. Phebe Ann Townsend, widow of Tappen Townsend, died yesterday afternoon at her home on Mountain avenue, Scotch Plains, following an illness of about two weeks. She was in her eighty-fifth year and had been a resident of this section for a long time, though she was a native of New York State. She was a member of the Hicksite Society of Friends in this city and attended the meetings at the Watchung avenue meeting house as long as her health permitted. There are surviving one son, Stephen T. Townsend, and two daughters, Mrs. T. J. Nichol and Miss Lydia Townsend, all residents of Scotch Plains. Mrs. Townsend was also an aunt of Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue.

Leland Clark Smith.

Leland Clark Smith, of Clark street, Westfield, who was well known in Plainfield, died Thursday at Guanjuato, Mexico, where he had gone on business. He was the son of the late Dr. T. V. Clark and had a promising career. The body is being brought home and the funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon.

ALMOST A FIRE.

New Market Girl Saves House With Ready Action and a Shriek.

Miss Mabel Cole, of New Market, went up into her room early last evening to dress for a dance, and struck a match to light a lamp over her dresser. The head flew off and set fire to a pin cushion. The flames spread to a curtain in a twinkling, and, in some way started a pile of matches on a chair going. Miss Cole threw the clothes and the pin cushion out of the window and shrieked.

Her father, Capt. B. A. Cole, a doughty tugboat master in the employ of the Central Railroad, answered her call. He tore down the curtain, and stamped out tongues of flame that had begun to spring up in the carpet. He extinguished the fire before more than little damage had been done. Miss Cole did not faint.

Mrs. Pangborn's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, who died Tuesday morning, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Slater, of Jackson avenue. It was conducted by Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was afterward made in the North Plainfield cemetery, six sons acting as pall bearers. They were James Pangborn and Tinton Ryno, of Jersey City; George Demarest and William Demarest and F. Mortimer Slater, of Plainfield, and Herbert Ryno, of Bayonne.

Unconscious After Accident.

Confused in her efforts to avoid the accident, Miss Emma Danz, of New Market, stumbled directly in front of a bicycle ridden by David Lawson on the main street of the village yesterday afternoon, and was knocked down. She was unconscious when picked up, and remained in that condition for half an hour. She is suffering from shock and a number of bruises.

Valentine Goldsmith, of Fairview avenue, who has been spending Easter week in New York, has returned home.

NOT AN ORDINARY MEMORY.

The driver of the furniture moving van admitted that he had a very bad memory. In fact he could hardly remember what work he had performed the day before.

"No, I can't recall just where it was that Mr. Suddenmove had me take his household goods. My memory is very poor, sir," he replied to the bill collector.

"But you moved him only a week ago."

"Yes, sir, but you see we move so many people that it's a hard matter to recollect."

The bill collector slipped a half dollar in the man's palm. "That ought to do your memory good," he remarked.

"It ought to," the man replied, "but you see this ain't no common, everyday memory of mine, and it has to be jogged considerable. Why, it cost Mr. Suddenmove a dollar to make me forget."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Different Shades.

The celebrated medium rapped three times on the black cabinet.

"And now, kind sir," she said, in a spooky voice, "what shade would you like me to tell you about?"

"Why," replied the little man in the audience, "I would like you to tell me the shade my wife told me to match when I started down town today."—Chicago Daily News.

An Infallible Rule.

"Mr. James is very fond of mushrooms," said Mrs. James, "but I am so fearful of his eating toadstools that I almost never get them. I wish I knew a way to tell the difference."

"I know an infallible rule."

"Do tell me, and I shall be your everlasting friend."

"If you die, it's toadstools; if you live, it's mushrooms."—Judge.

He Was Satisfied.

Father—Is the teacher satisfied with you?

Tommy—Oh, quite.

"Did he tell you so?"

"Yes; just the other day he said to me: 'If all my scholars were like you, I would shut up my school this very day.' That shows that I know enough."

Good in Bald Heads.

"I always patronize a bald-headed barber," remarked the wise guy.

"Because why?" queried the simple person.

"Because," explained the w. g., "he can't separate me from the price of a bottle of hair tonic."—Chicago Daily News.

A Little Careless.

"She wrote a dandy sensible article for the magazines on how to live on a thousand a year, but none of them would buy it."

"How was that?"

"She forgot to have any money left over to subscribe for magazines."—Judge.

Nonbeliever.

"All we women want," remarked the strong-minded female, "is justice."

"I don't believe it," rejoined the fussy man. "If such were the case you would cease to patronize photographers who have the best retouchers."—Chicago Daily News.

Hard to Please.

"Waiter! This looks very much like a hair in this stew?"

"Yes, sir; it's hare stew, sir!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Sad Case.

Mrs. Slybel—The boy grows more like his father every day.

The Caller—Poor dear! And have you tried anything?

EVIDENTLY NOT.

"My dear fellow," said the manager to the young author, "there are some witty lines in this musical comedy of yours and it has a much better plot than such things generally have, but it will never do. I couldn't think of producing it."

"What's the main objection?"

"The scene is laid away up in the polar regions, and of course it would look ridiculous if we didn't have the chorus pretty warmly clothed. It would never do for girls whose skirts reach only to their knees and whose waists were cut very, very low to come dancing in where everything was supposed to be covered with snow and ice."

"But why not let the ladies be dressed as if for cold weather?"

"What? Say, I guess you don't know why we have musical comedy, do you?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Explaining It.

"I'd like to oblige you, but all the ready money I had, some $5,000, has just gone to purchase an auto."

"But I thought you told me the other day that none of your money would ever go into an auto?"

"So I did, but that was before Old Smoothe squeezed me in a stock transaction. It was Smoothe who bought the auto."—Houston Post.

Making Up the Value.

"My dear baron what are you doing? Smoking two cigars at the same time?"

"Well, you see, my dear fellow, in this beastly hole you can't get sixpenny cigars, such as I am in the habit of smoking, so I have to make shift with a couple of threepenny ones."—Royal Magazine.

Handicapped.

"Have the Eskimos adopted any of the ways of civilization yet?" asked the young man with the plastered hair.

"Exceedingly few," said the arctic explorer. "Think how costly it would be, for instance, to put on a full dress suit up there and wear it to tatters in one evening."—Chicago Tribune.

Are You So Smart?

"What," queried the youth, "is your idea of the real smart man?"

"What was that story?" asked Familyman, anxiously. "I'd like to tell it to my wife."

OPENING FOR MORE SALOONS.

Elizabeth Excise Board Fails to Adopt Restricting Resolution.

The Elizabeth Board of Excise, which was expected at its session yesterday afternoon to adopt a resolution declaring its intention to grant no new licenses during the year, failed to so act. There was a long "star chamber" conference before the public meeting of the board, and it is said that the matter was discussed at length.

After the meeting one of the members, apparently voicing the sentiments of his fellow commissioners, gave out the assurance that, despite the board's failure, those who expected to secure new licenses during the present year would be disappointed. He declared that the members of the board were of the opinion that Elizabeth had, for the present at least, a sufficient number of saloons.

—Mr. and Mrs. James C. Field, formerly of Watchung avenue, have moved to West Sixth street.

FACTS, NOT FICTION.

Experiences of Plainfield Citizens Are Easily Proven to Be Facts.

The most superficial investigations will prove that the following statement from a resident of Plainfield is true. Read it and compare evidence from Plainfield people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Plainfield will endorse our claims.

S. C. Conklin, of 134 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was suffering from aches and pains in my side, back and hips. My kidneys did not work as they should, and as far as I could learn from physicians I was in very bad shape with by kidneys and bladder. I was casting about for a cure but nothing I did helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy. I took three boxes and they cured me. I gave a statement at that time telling what this remedy did for me and I am glad to repeat the praise I gave Doan's Kidney Pills at that time."

What Our Reporter Saw in New York

A recent visit to one of the largest paint factories in the world, disclosed machinery that was producing 10,000 gallons of Paint, and doing it better and in less time than 100 gallons could be made by hand mixing.

This was the celebrated L. & M. Paint.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil makes 7 gallons of paint at a cost of less than $1.20 per gallon.

If any defect exists in L. & M. Paint will repaint house for nothing.

Donations of L. & M. made to churches.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

"The Man of the Hour" proves to be an overwhelming success at the Savoy theatre. A success without a star in the cast is a rare occasion to the theatrical world, but in the Brady-Grismer production the capable cast is so evenly balanced that the supposedly essential feature is unnecessary. Recent experiences in aldermanic manifestation develops another strongly familiar scene in "The Man of the Hour," and politicians who are familiar with the game find the play a timely exposition of political affairs not only in New York but fitting well any large city in America. The piece is full of humor while still depicting conditions known to all newspaper readers that its merit is appreciated by all degrees of the social and official world.

Pixley and Luders' latest musical comedy, "The Grand Mogul," which Klaw & Erlanger have given a magnificent production at the New Amsterdam theatre, will begin its third week at this house next Monday evening. There have been many musical successes presented in New York during the past ten years, but never before one that scored such a remarkable success from the musical standpoint alone. There are eighteen musical features and every one is a positive hit. In fact, there are so many really excellent numbers following in rapid succession, and they are all so enthusiastically applauded, each performance becomes a sort of musical sensation. The score is certainly a treat to everyone who delights in light music. The book, too, is excellent and interesting. It is arranged in three acts. The first act, with its scene laid in Honolulu, is substantially a prologue and presents the Hawaiian Islanders on the stage for the first time. The native "hula-hula" dances, presented by twenty-four beautiful young girls, are very artistic and attractive. The second and third acts, with scenes in the Island of Inde in the Philippines, are sung with most attractive snap and dash, Frank Moulan sustaining the principal comic role. The company surrounding Mr. Moulan is a talented one, Maude Lillian Berg singing the prima donna part with superb artistry. Matinee performances are presented Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

The New York Hippodrome is an admirable substitute for Florida as a winter resort, as, at the big playhouse, tourists and others may witness a typical, tropical scene, even in the coldest weather, when the beautiful mermaids and a dozen fishermen splash merrily in the great water tank supposed to represent the ocean. The water is heated and bathing in it seems an alluring prospect, if one may judge by the pleasure with which the mermaids and fishermen disport themselves. This scene is the big feature of "Neptune's Daughter," and is making New York talk as it has never talked before about a stage novelty. Of all the thousands of people who witness this scene, not one can tell where the mermaids go when they disappear beneath the water. New circus acts are constantly being introduced in the arena, and the opening spectacle, "Pioneer Days," with its band of Sioux Indians, are intensely dramatic series of admirable stage pictures of early life in the West.

BLIND PHILANTHROPIST, RALPH VOORHEES, BURIED.

Funeral Services of Former Governor's Father Held Yesterday at Clinton.

The funeral of Ralph Voorhees, well known throughout New Jersey for his philanthropy, and who died at his home at Clinton on Tuesday, took place yesterday.

Mr. Voorhees, who was nearly 70, was blind. He possessed great wealth, and his hobby was to devote it to worthy educational purposes. He founded the Elizabeth Voorhees College at Vellore, India, the biggest college in Southern India, and of which Dr. William I. Chamberlain, of Rutgers College, was president before assuming his duties here last year. A gift to Rutgers College was the Voorhees Library, a $75,000 structure.

Mr. Voorhees recently donated $100,000 to the Presbyterian College in Tennessee, and also took upon himself the burden of supporting an industrial college in the South under the advice of Booker T. Washington, for negroes. Hope College, Holland, Mich., received a present of $20,000.

Mr. Voorhees is survived by a widow. He leaves a brother, State Treasurer Daniel Voorhees, also president of the Clinton National Bank, and several nephews, among them being former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of Elizabeth, and Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, of Rutgers College, and director of the State Experiment Station.

TO CLEAN LEATHER.

Carefully dust the leather, then wash with warm water, being particular to remove all soiled spots and dirt.

Wipe dry and then wipe over with a black cloth dipped into the beaten white of egg mixed up with its bulk of warm water.

Flaxseed water is always good for cleaning leather-upholstered furniture.

Pour half a cupful of boiling water over two tablespoonfuls of flaxseed and bring to the boiling point. Strain and when cool apply with a cloth to the leather.

TO give relief when most needed to get the insurance money in the hands of the afflicted family with as little red tape as possible,--such has ever been the aim of Nearly half the total number of industrial Claims paid by The Prudential in 1906 were paid direct by the local offices, thus obviating the delay of sending the papers to headquarters before payment.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Anna Held is still playing to crowded houses at the Broadway theatre, presenting the musical comedy "The Parisian Model," to enormous audiences. The book and lyrics written by Mr. Harry B. Smith are bright and humorous, the music composed by Max Hoffmann assails the ear with a melodic determination that is irresistible. Miss Held, chic and piquantly resourceful, plays "Anna," the beautiful model in a dressmaking establishment on the Rue de la Paix, and captivates the audiences in her sons, "A Gown for Each Hour of the Day," illustrated by five beautiful changes of costume on the stage, her duet with Mr. Bigelow, "A Lesson in Kissing," and a song that bids fair to become more popular and decidedly more attractive than any she has ever sung, "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave." Miss Held is splendidly supported. Not only the leading people are fine but the chorus is of the highest calibre and trained to the minute. "The Parisian Model" is the crowning triumph of Miss Held's career before the footlights. She has ever had a bright happy background in her numerous efforts to second her own cleverness, but nothing so good, so clever as "The Parisian Model." Matinees are given only on Saturday during the engagement of Miss Held at the Broadway.

Two still alarms were received at fire headquarters last night, the first at 7 o'clock for a grass blaze on Sherman avenue, and the second at 8 o'clock for a dangerous bon fire in the rear of the Schephlin building on West Front street. Both were put out before any damage occurred.

Mrs. Kolb and son, Charles Kolb, of Fairview avenue, have gone south, where they will meet Mr. Kolb, who has been there some time for his health.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

I was not master because I had the plum tree. I had the plum tree because I was master.

The legislature attended to such of the demands of my combine and such of the demands of the public as I thought it expedient to grant, and then adjourned. Woodruff asked a three months' leave. I did not hear from or of him until midsummer, when he sent me a cablegram from London. He was in a hospital there, out of money and out of health. I cabled him $1,000 and asked him to come home as soon as he could. It was my first personal experience with that far from uncommon American type, the periodic drunkard. I had to cable him money three times before he started.

When he came to me at Washington, in December, he looked just as before—calm, robust, cool, cynical and dressed in the very extreme of the extreme fashion. I received him as if nothing had happened. It was not until the current of mutual liking was again flowing freely between us that I said: "Doc, may, I impose on your friendship to the extent of an intrusion into your private affairs?"

He started, and gave me a quick look, his color mounting. "Yes," he said after a moment.

"When I heard from you," I went on, "I made some inquiries. I owe you no apology. You had given me a shock—one of the severest of my life. But they told me that you never let—that—that—that peculiarity of yours interfere with business."

His head was hanging. "I always go away," he said. "Nobody that knows me ever sees me when—at that time."

I laid my hand on his arm. "Doc, why do you do—that sort of thing?"

The scar came up into his face to put agony into the reckless despair that looked from his eyes. For an instant I stood on the threshold of his chamber of remorse and vain regret—and well I knew where I was. "Why not?" he asked, bitterly. "There's always a—sort of horror—inside me. And it grows until I can't bear it. And then—I drown it—why shouldn't I?"

"That's very stupid for a man of your brains," said I. "There's nothing—nothing in the world, except death—that cannot be wiped out or set right. Play the game, Doc. Play it with me for five years. Play it for all there is in it. Then—go back, if you want to."

He thought a long time, and I did not try to hurry him. At length he said, in his old offhand manner: "Well, I'll go you, senator; I'll not touch a drop."

And he didn't. Whenever I thought I saw signs of the savage internal battle against the weakness, I gave him something important and absorbing to do, and I kept him busy until I knew the temptation had lost its power for the time.

This is the proper place to put it on the record that he was the most scrupulously honest man I have ever known. He dealt with the shadiest and least scrupulous of men—those who train their consciences to be the eager servants of their appetites; he handled hundreds of thousands of dollars, millions first and last, all of it money for which he could never have been forced to account. He had at one time as much as half a million dollars in checks payable to bearer. I am not confiding by nature or training, but I am confident that he kept not a penny for himself beyond his salary and his fixed commission. I put his salary at the outset, at ten thousand a year; afterward, at fifteen, finally at twenty. His cimmissions, perhaps, doubled it.

There are many kinds of honesty nowadays. There is "corporate honesty," not unlike that proverbial "honor among thieves," which secures a fair or fairly fair division of the spoils. Then there is "personal honesty," which subdivides into three kinds—legal, moral and instinctive. Legal honesty needs no definition. Moral honesty defies definition—how untangle its interwinings of motives of fear, pride, insufficient temptation, sacrifice of the smaller chance in the hope of a larger? Finally, there is instinctive honesty—the rarest, the only bed-rock, unassailable kind. Give me the man who is honest simply because it never occurs to him, and never could occur to him, to be anything else. That is Woodruff.

There is, to be sure, another kind of instinctively honest man—he who disregards loyalty as well as self interest in his uprightness. But there are so few of these in practical life that they may be disregarded.

Perhaps I should say something here as to the finances of my combine, though it was managed in the main precisely like all these political-commercial machines that control both parties in all the states, except a few in the south.

My assessments upon the various members of my combine were sent, for several years, to me, afterward to Woodruff directly; in $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 checks, sometimes by mail, and at other times by express or messenger.

These checks were always payable to bearer; and I made through Woodruff, for I kept to the far background in all my combine's affairs, an arrangement with several large banks in different parts of the state, including one at the capital, that these checks were to be cashed without question, no matter who presented them, provided there was a certain flourish under the line where the amount was written in figures. Sometimes these checks were signed by the corporation, and sometimes they were the personal checks of the president or some other high official. Often the signature was that of a person wholly disconnected, so far as the public knew. Once, I remember, Roebuck sent me a thousand-dollar check signed by a distinguished Chicago lawyer who was just then counsel to his opponent in a case involving millions, a case which Roebuck afterward won!

Who presented these checks? I could more easily say who did not.

From the very beginning of my control I kept my promise to reduce the cost of the political business to my clients. When I got the machine thoroughly in hand, I saw I could make it cost them less than a third of what they had been paying on the average, for ten years. I cut off, almost at a stroke, a horde of lobbyists, lawyers, threateners without influence, and hangers-on of various kinds. I reduced the payments for legislation to a system instead of the shameless, scandal-creating and wasteful auctioneering that had been going on for years.

In fact, so cheaply did I run the machine that I saw it would be most imprudent to let my clients have the full benefit. Cheapness would have made them uncontrollably greedy and exacting, and would have given them a wholly false idea of my value as soon as it had slipped their short memories how dearly they used to pay.

So I continued to make heavy assessments, and put the surplus in a reserve fund for emergencies. I thought, for example, that I might some day have trouble with one or more members of my combine; my reserve would supply me with the munitions for forcing insurgents to return on their agreements.

This fund was in no sense part of my private fortune. Nowhere else, I think, do the eccentricities of conscience show themselves more interestingly than in the various attitudes of the various political leaders toward the large sums which the exigencies of commercialized politics place absolutely and securely under their control. I have no criticism for any of these attitudes.

I have lived long enough and practically enough to learn not to criticize the morals of men any more than I criticize their facial contour or their physical build. "As many men, so many minds"—and morals. Wrong, for practical purposes, is that which a man can cajole or compel his conscience to approve.

It so happened that I had a sense that to use my assessments for my private financial profits would be wrong. Therefore, my private fortune has been wholly the result of the opportunities which came through my intimacy with Roebuck and such others of the members of my cambine as were personally agreeable—or, perhaps it would be more accurate to say, not disagreeable, for, in the circumstances, I naturally saw a side of those men which a friend must never see in a friend. I could not help having toward most of these distinguished clients of mine much the feeling his lawyer has for the guilty criminal he is defending.

CHAPTER X.

The Face in the Crowd.

Except the time given to the children—there were presently three—my life, in all its thoughts and associations was now politics: at Washington from December until congress adjourned, chiefly national politics, the long and elaborate arrangements preliminary to the campaign for the conquest of the national fields; at home, chiefly state politics—strengthening my hold upon the combine, strengthening my hold upon the two political machines. As the days and the weeks, the months and the years, rushed by, as the interval between breakfast and bedtime, between Sunday and Sunday, between election day and election day again, grew shorter and shorter, I played the game more and more furiously. What I won, once it was mine, seemed worthless in itself, and worth while only if I could gain the next point; and, when that was gained, the same story was repeated. Whenever I paused to reflect, it was to throttle reflection half-born and hasten on again.

"A silly business, this living, isn't it?" said Woodruff to me.

"Yes—but—" replied I. "You remember the hare and the hatter in 'Alice in Wonderland.' 'Why?' said the hare. 'Why not?' said the hatter. A sensible man does not interrogate it with what seemed to me bitter disgust and disappointment and regret.

While this temper was struggling to boil over into action, Carlotta appeared. She had never stayed long at Washington after the first winter; she preferred, for the children and perhaps for herself, the quiet and the greater simplicity of Fredonia. But—"I got to thinking about it," said she, "and it seemed to me a bad idea for a man to be separated so long from his wife and children—and home influences."

That last phrase was accompanied by one of her queer shrewd looks.

"Your idea is not without merit," replied I judicially.

"What are you smiling at?" she demanded sharply.

"If it was a smile," said I, "it was at myself."

"No, you were laughing at me. You think I am jealous."

"Of what? Of whom?"

She looked fixedly at me and finally said: "I want to tell you two things about myself and you. The first is that I am afraid of you."

"Why?" said I.

"I don't know," she answered.

"And the second confession?"

"That I never trust you."

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"Yet you are always telling me I am cold."

She laughed shortly. "So is a stick of dynamite," said she.

She stayed on at Washington.

CHAPTER XI

Burbank.

It was through Carlotta that I came to know Burbank well.

He was in the House, representing the easternmost district of our state.

I Saw Only the Lips and Eyes of Elizabeth Crosby.

I had disliked him when we were boys in the state assembly together, and, when I met him again in Washington, he seemed to me to have all his faults of 15 years before aggravated by persistence in them. Finally, I needed his place in congress for a useful lieutenant of Woodruff's and ordered him beaten for the nomination. He made a bitter fight against decapitation, and, as he was popular with the people of his district, we had some difficulty in defeating him. But when he was beaten, he was, of course, helpless and hopelessly discredited,—the people soon forget a fallen politician. He "took off his coat" and worked hard and well for the election of the man who had euchred him out of the nomination. When he returned to Washington to finish his term, he began a double, desperate assault upon my friendship. The direct assault was unsuccessful,—I understood it, and I was in no need of lieutenants. More than I could easily take care of were already striving to serve me, scores of the brightest, most ambitious young men of the state eager to do my bidding, whatever it might be, in the house that in return I would "take care of" them, would admit them to the coveted inclosure round the plum tree. The plum tree? Is there any kind of fruit which gladdens the eyes of ambitious man, that does not glisten upon some one of its many boughs, heavy-laden with corporate and public honors and wealth?

Burbank's indirect attack, through his wife and Carlotta, fared better.

The first of it I distinctly recall was after a children's party at our house. Carlotta singled out Mrs. Burbank for enthusiastic commendation. "The other women sent nurses with their children," said she, "but Mrs. Burbank came herself. She was so sweet in apologizing for coming. She said she hadn't any nurse, and that she was so timid about her children that she never could bring herself to trust them to nurses. And really, Harvey, you don't know how nice she was all the afternoon. She's the kind of mother I approve of, the kind I try to be. Don't you admire her?"

"I don't know her," said I. "The only time I met her she struck me as being—well, rather silent."

"That's it," she exclaimed triumphantly. "She doesn't care a rap for men. She's absorbed in her children and her husband." Then, after a pause, she added: "Well, she's welcome to him. I don't see what she finds to care for."

"Why?" said I.

"Oh, he's distinguished-looking, and polite, offensively polite to women—he doesn't understand them at all—thinks they like deference and flattery, the low-grade molasses kind of flattery. He has a very nice smile. But he's so stilted and tiresome, always serious,—and such a pose! It's what I call the president's pose. No doubt he'll be President some day."

"Why?" said I. "It is amusing to watch woman fumble about for reasons for her intuitions."

DRY READING FOR A CHILD.

Decidedly Grown-Up Book Little Virginia Had Perused.

Virginia is five years old, and has learned to spell cat and dog. The other day, on her return from kindergarten, she decided to call upon her neighbor in the adjoining flat. The lady was busy writing and Virginia, being a well-trained child, did not interrupt. She played awhile with the kittens and her hostess, being still absorbed with her writing, she said: "I think I'll read until you get through.

"Yes, dear, help yourself to a book," said the woman.

Virginia selected one from the shelves, and, spreading it open on the table, assumed a very grown-up attitude, and appeared engrossed in her reading. At regular intervals she turned the leaves for quite a long time. Growing tired of the silence she softly donned her hood and coat, and as she opened the door, called back: "Good-by, Mrs. ——. I'll come again when you have more time."

Later the woman wondered what book Virginia had found so interesting. When she looked at the title she smiled. It was the sixty-second annual report of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

FEE FOR THE LAWYER.

Jury Had Reason for Adding Money to Damages Claimed.

During a term of the superior court in an Eastern county the jury awarded one cent damages in several suits, to the winning party. One morning when the jury rendered its verdict in one of these cases, Dennis A. Maher, one of the best known jury lawyers in the city, said it recalled a verdict he got in a case several years ago. He had sued a man for a claim of $1.25. The judge in the municipal court decided against his client, and Dennis appealed to the superior court. When it was tried, the jury, the foreman of which was a great friend of Attorney Maher, reversed the decision of the lower court, and brought in a verdict for $6.

The court called the foreman up to him and said: "Mr. Foreman, is there not some mistake; the plaintiff only sued for $1.25, but you have given a verdict for $6."

"No, your honor, there is no mistake," replied the foreman. "We thought Lawyer Maher should be allowed something for his services."

Timber for Wine Casks.

"The growing scarcity of timber suitable for the manufacture of staves is a problem that confronts two continents and in which all the wine drinking world, and therefore the civilized world, is concerned," said I. B. Goldman, a stave grower and shipper of Hope, Ark.

"Timber best suited for manufacture into staves comes from Arkansas and small portions of Louisiana, Texas, Alabama and Tennessee. The timber has been cut in larger amounts every year to meet the growing demand. Prices have advanced, of course, but the demand still advances, for no other wood can take the place of that produced in our section.

"Most of the staves are shipped to Barcelona, Spain, where they are used in the manufacture of wine casks. Both Europeans and Americans have tried to invent something to take the place of the stave, but so far without success. Glass and earthen casks have been tried, but wine does not age the same in these receptacles and it has quite a different flavor."

Indian Keeps His Pledge.

Indian devotion to a pledge is not a myth; it survives to this day. At the May term of the court at Vinita Charles Boling pleaded guilty before Judge Parker at Sallisaw. He was sentenced to 60 days in the federal jail and to pay a fine of $25, says the Kansas City Journal.

He asked to be permitted to stay out of jail and make a crop in order to provide for his family, and Judge Parker granted the request, releasing Boling, who is a Cherokee, on a promise to appear at Vinita on December 1 to begin his sentence. No bond of any kind was required.

Boling was waiting at the court house one morning recently when the doors were opened, and is now in jail serving his sentence. He says his crop is gathered and his family is provided for during the winter.

Women in Parliament.

Protests by women in parliament were not unknown during the Middle Ages. Stow tells us approvingly of "a crew of stout dames" who had the courage in 1428 "to checke a great duke in open parliament." "There was one mistris Stokes," he procuude, "with divers other stout women of London, of good reckoning, well apparrelled, came openly to the upper parliament and delivered letters to the duke of Gloucester, and to the archbishoppes and to other lordes there present, containing matter of rebuke and sharp reprehension of the duke of Gloucester," on account of his treatment of his wife Jaqueline. "But what good successe their labours tooke, my Author reporteth not."

It Would Depend.

"What would you say," he asked, "if I were to propose a trial marriage to you?"

"Well," she replied, "a good deal would depend on the amount of alimony you were willing to settle on me at the end of the term."

BARK CLOTH NOT WANTED.

Product of Cotton Has Displaced the African Material.

The Brachystegia tree grows throughout Uganda, portions of German and British East Africa, and Portuguese East Africa, usually from 35 to 50 feet in height, and when the bark is removed, which can be done once a year, and natives generally select trees of about two feet in diameter. The natives are not making much of the bark cloth nowadays, for they are buying cotton cloth for use in place of it. It is usually made by pounding the bark with flat stones and pulling the fiber lengthwise at the same time. The cloth if pulled with the fiber will stand quite a strain, but if pulled diagonally, tears very easily. It is usually made in sheets, averaging about ten by six feet. Many sheets have holes, and all are patched or made of two or more smaller pieces.

The bark cloth is looked upon by the merchants in this part of the world as a curio only. A firm in Mombasa shipped about 2,500 sheets to New York about the end of 1905, but made no money, so far as can be found out, and they discontinued shipments to that port. The same firm a few months later on, in 1906, shipped about the same quantity to London, with the same result, and shipments to that port have stopped. The firm has now on hand 400 sheets, which it would be glad to dispose of.

ONE FOR THE MINISTER.

Boston Divine Decidedly Scored on Would-Be Joker.

A good story is told of the Rev. Humphrey Moore, for many years a Congregational minister in Boston, who was noted for his bluntness and natural wit.

This characteristic was never better illustrated than at a meeting one day of the "society with the long name," when Rev. Mr. Moore gave a long address which was an eloquent appeal for the humane treatment of horses and all other dumb animals.

In the audience was a young minister who evidently thought the venerable Mr. Moore had taken up much of the time and, thinking to have a little fun with his venerable brother, said "that he thought the poor worked horse would neigh, the ass would and every jackass bray his prayer."

At this point the Rev. Mr. Moore interrupted with the remark that he expected they would, but did not think they would begin so soon.

The roars of laughter which followed the sally were not quite so loud at the time.

Not at All Feminine.

An amusing story, illustrative of French ideas of chivalry, is told of Prof. A. Guyot Cameron, of Princeton, who for several years was a professor of French at Yale. While in New Haven, Prof. Cameron was very much annoyed one night by the presence of a bat in his room, and appealed to his landlady for assistance.

After climbing on several chairs, and chasing the bat about the room for some time, the woman finally succeeded in bringing it to the floor with a tennis racket, and killed it.

Telling some friends of the incident afterward, Prof. Cameron described the chase, and then added condescendingly: "Of course it was very good of Miss ——, and I appreciate her kindness, but really it was not at all feminine."

Bread Bags on Doorknobs.

A late home-comer, walking through the uptown residential section of Philadelphia after midnight, would be surprised to see what appears to be white crape hanging from hundreds of door and bell knobs. This is not an indication of a child's death, however, but merely a bread bag that the baker supplies his customers. For years householders had to put up with uncertainty about their bread, not knowing whether some of the numerous rats that make the night less silent had investigated and pawed over the morning loaf. But now the bakers, in order that their customers might feel more secure, have provided these white bags, which the housekeeper hangs on the door knob at night and the baker fills early in the morning.

Windsor an Expensive Castle.

No royal castle has cost the nation more in hard cash than that of Windsor.

When George IV. announced his intention of making it a family residence parliament granted him $1,000,000 toward its reconstruction. For four years the work went merrily on under fresh grants, and the king then took possession of the private apartments. That did not end the expenditure, however.

By the time William IV. had satisfied himself that there was nothing more to be done the castle had swallowed up close to $5,000,000.—London Chronicle.

The Most Precious Gem.

An official of the National Museum at Washington gives some facts not generally known concerning the relative values of diamonds and rubies.

According to the latest figures obtainable, a ruby weighing as much as five carats is worth ten to twelve times as much as a diamond of the same weight, even though the latter be of the first water. The ruby, therefore, instead of the diamond, is the material that embodies the highest money value in the smallest compass.

ST. JOSEPH'S JUBILEE

25th Anniversary of Parish Marked by Most Imposing Ceremony of Church.

BP. Mc FAUL PRESIDES

Father Leahy Sketches History of the Congregation—Dinner Given By the Pastor to Visiting Prelate and Clergy.

The silver jubilee mass, Coram Pontificate, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of St. Joseph's parish in North Plainfield took place yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. It was a most elaborate ceremony. Twenty priests took part, and the ceremonial moved along in rhythmic solemnity. A choir of children's voices added sweetness and beauty to the occasion. Had there been St. Joseph's weather, the occasion would have stirred the hearts of the congregation into a remembrance of the May morning fifty-six years ago when the mass so dear to the Catholic was first celebrated in this community. There is a tradition that St. Joseph is the patron of good weather. Yesterday was a bit bleak for the season, but it was brisk and exhilarating and brought out a congregation which was only limited by the capacity of the church.

In the church edifice were a few who sat there twenty-five years ago. There was the gray haired Monsignor-Father Brady, who celebrated mass which ushered in the new parish, and who officiated in the same capacity yesterday. He had earned his gray hair, and his purple robe after all these years of labor. The bleak unfinished walls of the first day were replaced yesterday by suitable furnishings; a feeling of domesticity pervaded the place. Those who have passed through the vicissitudes of twenty-five years, and who have linked their lives with this interesting parish enjoyed the delicious bit of romance. They remembered the kindly, benevolent, learned Bishop O'Farrell as he spoke there a quarter of a century ago. His eye beamed in a manner which attracted everyone in the church and who thought it beamed on him alone.

Yesterday the Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, invested with the robes and insignia of the exalted office, took his place at the altar. Twenty-five years ago yesterday a meagre pittance was offered to begin the work. Yesterday the offerings amounted to over two thousand dollars. So great has been the prosperity of the parish that all its property is free of debt, and a large amount of money is placed aside for a new church. These

WESTFIELD WOMAN SUCCUMBS TO BURNS

DIED AT MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL AFTER LINGERING TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

Miss Anna Legsding, who lived with her brother on upper Broad street, Westfield, was brought to Muhlenberg hospital, Saturday night, suffering from terrible burns received in an accident at her home. The physicians did everything possible for her but the greater part of her body had been affected and she died last night.

Miss Legsding was engaged in preparing the evening meal when in some way her skirt swept near the open grate of the stove. It ignited and seemingly inside of a few seconds she was enveloped in flames from head to foot. The brother made a heroic attempt to save her but she was so panic-stricken that it was impossible to hold her any length of time. She was hurried to this city as soon as possible in the vain hope that something might be done for her.

The body is at present at Cole's undertaking rooms but will be taken to Westfield for interment. Miss Legsding was fifty years old and was quite well known in the town.

COURT'S PERSONAL APPEAL.

Judge Runyet Gets Two Young Fellows to Sign the Pledge.

Lawrence Bray, Harry Molleson, William Mullen and Edward Britton were arraigned in the city court this morning on a charge for fighting outside of a lunch wagon Saturday night. Judge Runyon told Britton and Mullen they were too good to be going the broad way.

"I have learned to know you two well from our association in the bowling tournament, and I feel you are too thoroughbred to be allowed to go the wrong way. I will regard it as a personal favor if you will sign the piedge for a year."

They promised and the magistrate thanked them. He asked the other two to join the water wagon party, but they didn't feel as if they wanted to shoulder the responsibility.

Had Jag and a Rocker.

Edward Dalton was arrested on South Second street Saturday night by Patrolman Arthur McGinley. He was drunk and carried a wooden rocker. He said a man told him to get the rocker from a barn on South Second street. He was fined $5 or 20 days by City Judge Runyon this morning.

GEORGE F. ODIORNE DEAD

Stock Broker, Who Had a Varied Career, Follows His Wife to the Grave.

NEWSPAPER MANAGER

Master of Sailing Vessel, When 20; Later a Trader, Hotel Manager, Newspaper Worker and a Broker.

George Frederick Odiorne, who was business manager of the Courier-News for nearly fourteen years, died this morning at the home of his brother-in-law, Frank W. Runyon, of West Sixth street. He had been ill since last December with a lingering disease and grew rapidly worse following the death of his wife who passed away six weeks ago. During the past few days he had been in a semi-conscious state and the end had been momentarily expected.

George Frederick Odiorne was born at Roxbury, Mass., fifty-six years ago Saturday and was one of a family of eleven children. His father was State Senator George F. Odiorne, who opened up the exclusive "Back Bay" district and who was one of the most prominent politicians in Massachusetts at one time.

When but fifteen years old, the son became infatuated with the sea and shipped aboard a vessel, more in a spirit of venture than anything else. He became an expert sailor and five years later was master of a big vessel. He circumnavigated the globe many times, underging novel experiences and making a prominent name for himself in shipping circles. Strangely enough, he never experienced a storm and this form of sea terror was foreign to him. His father had always been opposed to his following a sailing career, however, and at the age of twenty-seven parental inducement resulted in his giving it up.

He then went to Madagascar as the representative of a big trading company and remained three years. Returning to America he became manager of the Windsor Hotel at Denver, Col. It was one of the largest and most up-to-date hotels of the day and proved a successful venture. Tiring of the business in 1883, Mr. Odiorne came East and lived quietly until 1891, when he assumed the position of business manager of the Plainfield Courier, established in this city in that year by Mr. Runyon. He remained in the position until the merged Courier-News was sold to the present owners a little over two years ago. Since then Mr. Odiorne had been a bond broker with an office in New York, continuing in business until his health failed.

On August 17, 1889, Mr. Odiorne married Miss Annie Munelle, daughter of the late Dr. William Munelle of Wheeling, W. Va., her death occurring six weeks ago Saturday. The surviving relatives are a sister, Mrs. Louise Stebbins, who is very ill at her home in South Orange; and three brothers, John F. Odiorne, a manufacturer residing at Hackensack, Walter Odiorne, superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Reformatory at Huntington, and Howard Odiorne, a cotton raiser in South Carolina.

The funeral will be held at Mr. Runyon's home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body will be placed in the receiving vault at Hillside where Mrs. Odiorne is at the present time and the interment of both will be made later.

REV. E. E. ROBERSON DECIDES TO REMAIN.

Urged by Congregation, Pastor to Continue at Monroe Avenue Church.

At a congregational meeting held after the preaching service at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, an unanimous call was given to the pastor, Rev. E. E. Roberson, to return for another year. Notwithstanding the call received from the M. E. church, of Orange, he expressed his willingness to remain if the Bishop so decides.

It was planned that Mr. Roberson should go to the Orange church and that Rev. Audley J. Bliss, of the Rahway M. E. church be sent to the Monroe Avenue church, but a discussion of the changes resulted in asking Mr. Roberson to consider his decision, which he did. Mr. Bliss received a call from the M. E. church, of Somerville, and if the latest change meets with the Bishops' approval, he will no doubt be sent there. The Monroe Avenue church members felt that Mr. Roberson had accomplished a great work during the past year and that he should remain another year. However, they would not stand in the way of his promotion if the Bishop was agreeable to the change. The chances are that Mr. Roberson will remain in Plainfield.

REVIVALISTS BEGIN WORK

Western Evangelists Start Week's Series of Meetings at Y.M.C.A. Auditorium

MR. IRONSIDE SPEAKS

Talk On the "Blood"—Meetings Every Evenings—Afternoon Session On Thursday.

Under the auspices of the Brethren, whose meeting house is at East Front street and Bank place, Henry A. Ironside, of San Francisco, and Edward Acomb, of Minneapolis, evangelists, began their revival at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, last night. In spite of the chill and rain, and the church services, the attendance was of good size. Mr. Ironside spoke.

His theme was the prerequisite of blood in the atonement for salvation. He took his text from the story of the visitation of death to the first-born of all the Egyptians, in Exodus, 12:13, "When I see the blood, I will pass over you." The slaying of the lamb, then, the speaker said, merely foreshadowed the greater sacrifice on Calvary, where the Lamb of God was slain.

The Blood, Mr. Ironside said, was the theme of themes. He felt that it was the thing to speak of in beginning the Gospel story. Some people did not like the gospel of the Blood of Atonement, calling it a slaughter-house religion, but there was nothing to the Gospel of Salvation without the Blood.

Blood was necessary for the salvation of the world, and those who wished to be saved must accept the death of Christ as their patent to salvation. There was no difference, in the eyes of the Lord, between man and man, when it came to Salvation, but all alike fell short of the righteousness necessary to win to Heaven. Some might be better than others, but the best, resting in his own righteousness, was not good enough for the Heavenly presence, and that was all that could be said of the vilest sinner. It was the acceptance of Christ's sacrifice as the price of personal salvation that enabled the one who tried for righteousness to go into Heaven. Christ made up what was lacking. The Blood of Atonement was the only ground for Salvation.

Speaking of the externals of religion, Mr. Ironside said that joyousness, a feeling of salvation, did not figure in the safe-guarding of the soul. For seventeen years, he said, he had rested in the Blood of the Lamb, but he had never felt the so-called sense of personal salvation and often felt depressed, but he knew he was to be saved, because he accepted the Atonement and rested under the Blood. That was all he needed; his joys, his feelings of insecurity, did not figure; the Blood would be his patent to salvation.

The meetings will continue tomorrow night and go on until the following Sunday, when they will close. One afternoon meeting will be held, on Thursday, at the Bank place meeting-house.

BURNED TO DEATH IN A SANITARIUM FIRE

FORMER PLAINFIELD WOMAN SUFFERS TERRIBLE FATE IN CONNECTICUT.

In a fire that destroyed the Grand View Sanitarium, at South Windham, Conn., early Saturday morning, Mrs. Backus, a former Plainfielder, was burned to death. She was a resident of Windham.

There were twenty patients. John Donohue, head of the company which operated the institution, was away, but his family, who were in the building, escaped and helped rescue the patients. A furious wind was blowing and the structure was quickly consumed. There is no fire department at Windham.

Several of the sanitarium patients had very narrow escapes from death and were overcome by smoke. Most of them lost all their belongings. The Grand View stood on a hill and the flames were seen for miles. Its occupants knew nothing of the fire until it had cut off all exists save the windows. They were panic-stricken and their escape is next to miraculous.

It was reported that more than one life was lost, but this could not be verified. The sanitarium was formerly a summer hotel. The loss is $25,000.

INJURED IN RUNAWAY.

George Larkin Badly Hurt in Mishap; Members of His Family Bruised.

While driving home from the annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, at New Market, last night, George Larkin, one of the oldest residents of Piscataway Township, his son-in-law, Walter Dunn, and members of his family were thrown out of the wagon. It required the services of Dr. Main and another physician to close the cuts about Mr. Larkin's head and restore him to consciousness. The other members of the family escaped with slight injuries.

The party was leaving the church yard when the horse, a fractious one, first became unmanageable. The animal suddenly made a quick turn in the road and upset the carriage, throwing the occupants out. Mr. Dunn was quickly on his feet and he quieted the horse.

JAIL FOR FLIM-FLAMMER

Thomas Held Kennary's $10 Bill by Slick Manipulator.

HE TORE NOTE IN HALF

Kennary Wanted to Withdraw Charge, But Judge Runyon Wouldn't Allow Him To.

Convicted of flim-flamming a companion of ten dollars, Edward Thomas, twenty-seven years old, was sentenced to fifty days in jail and fined $50 in the City Court this morning. Judge Runyon, in passing sentence, said he was the most artful dodger brought before him in a long time.

Thomas was arraigned with Gus Sutterlein, whom the police have described as a "sport," on complaint of John Kennary. Kennary and the defendants were drinking in the barroom of the Kensington hotel, when Sutterlein was handed a $10 bill by Kennary, who told him to pay for another round of drinks. Thomas said, "Give me the money," and Sutterlein handed it to him. Thomas asked for another one, and Kennary, thinking, he testified, that it was all in fun, gave another $10 bill to him. A few minutes later Thomas handed him what appeared to be the two bills folded up. He put the bills in his pocket without suspicion but taking them out again for some reason, he discovered that the supposed two bills were in reality the halves of one bill folded over in such a way as to look like two.

Thomas denied tearing one bill or keeping the other, and submitted to two searches by Kearney. The missing bill was not found in his pockets, but Kennary was not satisfied and had a warrant sworn out for him at police headquarters.

Thomas was found and arrested by Patrolman Dobson. At the station house he was searched to his skin, and the missing bill was found inside of his underdrawers.

In court this morning he said he couldn't account for it. He thought he must have made a mistake in trying to slip the bill into his watch pocket when he was fooling at the cafe and dropped it between his trousers and his underwear.

Kennary didn't want to press the charge, but Judge Runyon refused to allow him to withdraw the complaint of disorderly conduct. Sutterlein was released, because there was no testimony to connect him with the manipulation of the torn bills.

Dr. Maxson On Success.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, gave a chapel talk at the Plainfield High School this morning in which he pointed out two lessons that pupils may gain from nature: "You must adapt yourself to conditions," he said, "or you will fail. Do not conform to conditions that hinder you, but make them submit to your will, and therein lies the second lesson, that you may change conditions. Thus, you lay a foundation for the success that is due you."

Have You Lately Heard of Such Silk Bargains?

READ THIS.

The Dry Goods Economist, New York, says that fashions are now turning strongly toward silk and that prices for manufactured silks are higher than they have been for some time—Newark Evening News, Wednesday, April 3.

It but mildly expresses conditions—prices are higher and good silks are scarcer than in many years, and no relief is in sight. It is wise economy for every woman to buy bargains (like these) in good silks (like these) as quickly as offered. Our long-time-ahead contracts and position in the markets still allow us to purchase some kinds—more than generally the case—below prevailing prices—a situation we do not take advantage of—but extend straight to you. Here are bargains in staple silks that we may not be able to match again in we do not know how long a time. Buy now—buy here.

$1.25 BLACK TAFFETA SILK.

Made by one of the best manufacturers in this country, 27-inch, for waists and gowns, good weight, rich lustre, may be absolutely depended upon for good, hard wear; cannot be made today to sell under $1.50 owing to the increase in raw silk, price..... .88

$1.50 YARD-WIDE TAFFETA SILK.

Black, finely woven, substantial body, splendid black, for entire gowns, one of the best bargains in this width in some time, and in all probability will not be able to again offer in this season at. $1.19 the price; buy while you can, buy tomorrow at.....

$1.00 BLACK DRESS TAFFETA SILK.

21-inch, high grade, made of very finest silk, deep black, perfect weave, silk that we can recommend as one of the best wearing made, a grand bargain, another special rare good quality—a $1.00 grade fast disappearing, at..... .74

Fashionable 89c Polka Dot Habutai 44c.

The Opportunity of the Season—The woman who misses it will surely regret it; an extraordinary bargain in the most stylish design for spring and summer when silk prices are soaring and special prices in good silks are rare indeed; we started with 5,000 yds. and it is selling fast; 27-inch Printed Japanese Habutai, good weight, woven from finest raw silks, famous for wearing qualities; beautiful, brilliant luster; one-half inch and three-quarter inch dots on white ground; white and navy dot, white with gray dot, white with red dot, white with brown dot, white with black dot; slight imperfections, so slight that most stores would sell as perfect; nothing to mar appearance or wear; rich stylish silks that most any woman would be pleased to have a waist, skirt or dress of at regular price. Regularly 89c, while it lasts at..... .44

METROPOLITAN GOLF HANDICAPS LISTED

TWENTY-THREE MEMBERS OF PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB AMONG NUMBER

The handicap committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association, of which Leighton Calkins, of this city, is the chairman, has issued the official list of handicaps for the season, which is based on the system invented by Mr. Calkins. The following members of the Plainfield Country Club are handicapped as follows:

Robert Abbott, 3; Frank O. Reinhart, 4; J. Whitney Baker, Dudley H. Barrows, W. Lester Glenney, 5; Frank C. Talmadge, Willard Wadsworth, 6; Morris J. Dumont, N. P. Rogers, Jr., J. H. B. Wharton, 7; William Glenney, R. Percy Rowland, Clement B. Morgan, E. B. Shoemaker, 8; Leighton Calkins, Henry D. Hibbard, S. D. Lounsbery, Roger F. Murray, George F. Schoonmaker, Edgar I. Serrell, H. Reeve Stockton, T. Earl Stockton, Morgan T. Townsend, 9.

It is the plan to keep the list always up to date, and for that purpose club handicappers are urgently requested to send in voluntary reports from time to time throughout the season, whenever one or more players show any improvement in playing form. This will throw only a little work on each club, and will be of great assistance to the handicap committee. The responsibility rests with the club failing to make reports of their players are continued on this list with ratings which ought to be reduced or otherwise modified.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager James Feeney, of the Suburban Club, would like to arrange games with the teams at Nazareth, Bangor and Penn Argyl, Pa.; also the Ingersolls and the representative team at Phillipsburg. The team was out again Saturday for practice and showed up strong.

Now comes the report that "Phil." Smith is likely to pitch for the Westfield Lackawanna League team. It is the talk among the fans at Westfield that his services are available.

Several local fans attended the formal opening of the baseball season at the Polo Grounds, New York, on Saturday, when the Giants played their first game at home against Yale.

As four of last year's members of the team have returned, Leal's School will have one of the strongest aggregations in its class. A number of good games have been scheduled for the early part of the season, before school closes.

In 1928, when George Hurlburt Dougherty, grandson of Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlbert, former pastor of the First M. E. church, one of the most prominent clergymen in the Newark conference, becomes of age, he can furnish proof that over twenty years ago he was an assistant pastor of a Methodist Episcopal church. He can claim that he was the youngest assistant pastor of any denomination in the world. For "Rev." George Hurlburt Dougherty was made an assistant pastor at the age of four days, with a yearly salary of $1.

The church which has this baby as assistant pastor is the Broad Street Park Methodist Episcopal church, Trenton. The baby holding the position is the son of Rev. George P. Dougherty, who is now serving his third year as pastor there.

The baby was born March 21 and was made assistant pastor Mch. 25 at the first quarterly conference. When Presiding Elder Wagg learned of the birth of a son to Rev. and Mrs. Dougherty he sent his congratulations. While the conference was in session William Buchholtz, one of the laymen, made a motion that George Hurlburt Doughterty should be appointed assistant pastor. This was quickly seconded and carried.

The presiding elder allowed the motion to be recorded. Then the salary of the new assistant came up before the body. It was decided that he receive $1 a year. That amount was turned over to the younger Doughterty at the close of the conference.

The mother of the "Rev." Jr., was Miss Bertha Grace Hurlburt, daughter of Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlburt. Mrs. Dougherty was born in this city.

Since the announcement of his appointment the baby clergyman has received hundreds of congratulatory telegrams, post cards and letters.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. J. P. Searle, of the Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, who preached in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, and Arthur L. Titsworth, the organist, were classmates at Rutgers, and Mr. and Mrs. Titsworth entertained Dr. Searle while in town.

Albert Springer, Herbert Heinbeck and Harry J. Manning, organized as a vocal trio, furnished special music at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting in the South Plainfield Baptist church, last night. Arrangements have been made for the trio to sing every Sunday night in the future and make music a feature of these services.

The special Easter music attracted a large congregation to the First Presbyterian church, yesterday morning and evening. Miss Anna Case sang one or two solo parts. E. D. Cutting, tenor, and F. C. Iglehart, Jr., baritone, each had solo parts. Mrs. E. H. Bird, as contralto, took Miss Edna Nicholl's place, owing to death in the latter's family. In the evening the choir sang "The Resurrection," by Shelley; "Come See the Place," by Reed, while Mr. Cutting sang a solo, "The Resurrection Morn," by Howard L. Case.

RECOGNITION IN HEAVEN

Dr. Chambliss Declares Bible Teaches That Friends will Behold One Another.

GIVES HIS REASONS

Divine Bases His Argument On Scriptual Quotations—Perfect Joy There.

"Does the Bible Clearly Teach That We Shall Know Each Other in the World to Come," was the subject of the discourse by Rev. J. A. Chambliss at the First Baptist church last night, before a large congregation. Basing his reasons on the Scriptural quotations, friends and relatives will know each other in the future life, and furthermore the Heavenly joy will be perfect.

"I do not say that people deceive themselves," declared Dr. Chambliss, "when they say that they will be satisfied with Him alone, but that they are pious beyond that which is written. The chief question is do the Scriptures teach that we shall know each other in Heaven. Theories and guesses are poor substitutes, but what we want is 'Thus saith the Lord.' We are told by the Scriptures that we shall see the prophets, patriarchs and apostles, but this would be without point if there was to be no recognition, and the Scripture which says that these apostles shall judge the twelve tribes of Israel would be without reason unless there is to be recognition.

"Then arises the question shall we know the apostles, prophets and patriarchs and not each other. The Lord never had favorites on earth and His measure was not according to man's mind. I believe that right here in Plainfield there are saints whose crowns will be as radiant as that of Paul's. The Scripture teaches that we shall know, that there will be companionship, a re-union, and a perfect fellowship together as the 'Bride of the Lamb.' 'We shall be known even as we are known.'

"There is only one thing that would prevent recognition and that is the destruction of the memory. Let the physical changes be as great as they may, if the memory remains there will be recognition. Then the question remains shall we remember? We are told that before the Judgment Throne we shall be our own witnesses, and that the Judge will appeal direct to each individual as to what they did and did not do on earth. Thus we are taught by the Bible that we shall remember the past and it is impossible to question this truth. There will be particular blessings for special services. Some will have the glory of the sun, others the glory of the moon and still others the glory of the stars. Every man will be rewarded according to his own labor. That recognition will be possible it also follows that we shall mingle one with another. These facts are so confidently stated in the Scriptures that they must be accepted as the hope of the believer."

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING.

Congregations Here and At New Market In Yearly Session.

The sixty-ninth annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church of Christ was held in the church, yesterday afternoon and evening, when officers were elected and reports presented for the past year. Dr. Henry M. Maxson acted as moderator. The meeting opened at 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon with social greetings and at 4 o'clock the business session commenced with prayer by the pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw.

The report of the Board of Trustees was presented by Dr. Henry M. Maxson, the secretary, and by William M. Stillman, treasurer. These showed a satisfactory condition financially and spiritually.

Dr. Maxson was elected trustee for five years, to succeed himself. The other officers chosen are as follows: Church clerk, Asa F. Randolph; assistant treasurer, George E. Stillman; auditors, Arthur L. Titsworth, Charles H. Dunham; chorister, David E. Titsworth; organist, Miss Jessie M. Utter; ushers, Arthur J. Spicer, George Clark, J. Wendell Mosher, Charles Neagle, F. Rollin Williams, Milton St. John, A. B. Titsworth.

This closed the afternoon session and a social and fellowship hour was enjoyed, during which supper was served by the social and refreshment committees of the Women's Society for Christian Work and the Christian Endeavor Society, of which Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard was the chairman.

The evening session convened at 7:30 o'clock, with devotional exercises by Rev. George B. Shaw. Reports of the various departments of church work were presented, including one by the pastor. It was stated that only one death had occurred in the church during the past sixteen months. The present membership is about 250. Reports were given by Asa F. Randolph, church clerk; Orra S. Rogers, superintendent of the Sabbath-school; Mrs. Orra S. Rogers, recording secretary of the Women's Society for Christian Work, and Miss E. Marie Rogers, secretary, for the senior, intermediate and junior Christian Endeavor societies. All reports were encouraging and showed progress.

An interesting part of this service was the roll-call and reading of letters from absent members. One of these letters was from Mrs. D. B. Rogers, of Horseheads, N. Y., the only living constituent member of the church. She is the mother of L. T. Rogers, of this city.

A committee comprising the pastor, Rev. George B. Shaw; J. A. Hubbard, president of the Board of Trustees, and the deacons, was appointed to arrange for the observance of the seventieth anniversary of the church which will occur in February, 1908. Before the meeting closed A. C. Hunting was elected moderator of the next quarterly meeting.

The annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church of Christ, of Piscataway Township, was held in the church at New Market yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. I. F. Randolph was moderator, A. E. Curtis secretary and J. R. Dunham treasurer. George R. Crandall was elected trustee for the term of five years and C. E. Rogers was elected church clerk. The church membership is 100.

Following the meeting the men of the church entertained the members at supper in the parsonage and a phonograph entertainment was enjoyed.

This church has had a prosperous year under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Jordan and the new year opens with bright prospects.

Pope's Protest But Form.

Paris, April 8.—Among the Montagnini documents published yesterday in the Autorite is a most important letter from Cardinal Merry del Val instructing Mgr. Montagnini to inform Cardinal Richard, the Archbishop of Paris, under pledge of secrecy, that he must not believe the protests of the Pontiff regarding separation. These, it says, would be merely doctrinal and platonic, and, after talking loudly, the Pope would accept in practice.

Wedded a Month Ago.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Helena Liable, of Trenton, and Henry C. Brose, of 25 Vine street, North Plainfield. The ceremony took place in Jersey City, on Marsh 12 last, Judge Sweeney, of that place, officiating. The couple is making their home in the Babcock building.

Miss Dolliver's Debut.

Borough Recorder and Mrs. Charles M. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue, are parents of a girl, born to them Sunday morning.

Edward F. Feickert, assistant secretary of The Plainfield Trust Company, is detained at home by illness.

Monroe Staats, of West Second street, has taken a position as clerk at the City National Bank, succeeding Charles Eoff, resigned.

At the funeral services of Mrs. Agnes Pangborn, Friday afternoon, Miss Winifred Carroll feelingly rendered "Sometime We'll Understand," and "The Christian's Goodnight," favorite hymns of the deceased.

Rev. Dr. J. P. Searle, of New Brunswick, who occuped Dr. Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, was greeted by a good sized congregation at the morning service and delivered a scholarly sermon from the text Rev. 2-13, to the spiritual uplift of all.

NEWARK TO HAVE A MASONIC TEMPLE

STRUCTURE WILL BE ERECTED IN CENTRAL AND CONVENIENT LOCATION.

Newark is to have a Masonic Temple. It is to be a building with accommodations for the fraternity that will meet every demand of the several chapters and will have lodge rooms in conformity with the plans approved by the grand lodge officers. The temple will be erected in a central and convenient location, which, for the present, is known only to the committee having the project in charge.

Masons throughout the northern section of the State have awaited the opportunity of aiding in the construction of a temple suitable for their purposes, and many plans have been suggested from time to time. Recently one of the lodges in the city discussed this matter thoroughly and determined upon definite action. A circular letter was prepared and copies thereof, put in circulation during the past two weeks, have met with instant response from members of almost every lodge in Newark.

According to the plan proposed in the letter sent out by Triluminar Lodge No. 112, F. and A. M., it is proposed that the temple be built by the subscriptions of members of the local lodges. The plan as formulated by Simon Friedberger, chairman of the committee, to which the whole proposition has been referred, is to offer stock through the officials of the various lodges at a par value of $300 a share to be paid for by subscribers at the rate of $5 a month for five years.

Money derived from this source is to be deposited so that it will draw interest and from time to time be invested in securities of undoubted value approved by a board of trustees to be hereafter elected by subscribers. When the funds are of sufficient amount the plans contemplated for the actual construction of the temple will proceed without delay.

The three-story brick building 114 Springfield avenue, Newark, sold six months ago by Samuel S. Scheuer & Company to Otto Reiss for $16,000, has again changed hands at private sale for $15,000, $1,000 less than that obtained by the real estate dealers. The new purchaser, Rosina Kohn, of Springfield and Belmont avenues, Newark, will convert the first floor of the property into a first class bakery.

SMALL ECONOMICS.

Rag carpets and rugs are much used, and here is a chance for mothers to entertain children and at the same time reap a benefit. Small boys, as well as girls, like to sew, and by cutting rags into strips and having the children sew them together, many a rainy afternoon or long evening can be pleasantly spent.

Underwaists for children may be made at home and be equal to the bought ones, if cut from heavy drilling and finished with bands stitched on where the buttons are to be sewed.

If embroidery is edged with Valenciennes lace it makes pretty and inexpensive collars and cuffs.

As a rule children like plants and flowers, and it is well to let them have one or two growing blooms for which they are responsible, for they will be interested in seeing them grow and will come to take a pride in having them look well, which means they have to be carefullytended, and this will give youngsters something to do in idle moments.

BEAUTY "DON'TS."

Don't dry your face in a hurry; a quick, anyhow rub coarsens the skin and injures its beauty.

Don't eat your meals uickly; this causes indigestion and a red nose.

Don't worry; other people's troubles are quite as bad as yours.

Don't real till midnight; one hour's sleep before 12 is worth five afterward.

Don't shut your bedroom window; fresh air is necessary for health.

Don't expect physic and tonics to keep you well if you neglect the laws of health and hygiene.

Don't think you can sit day after day over the fire when you ought to go out for a brisk walk without your complexion suffering.—Home Chat.

ANATOMICAL NOTES.

The proper distances between the eyes is the width of one eye.

The hyoid bone at the root of the tongue is entirely detached from the human skeleton.

There are 527 distinct muscles in the human body, of which eighty-three are in the head and face.

There are three times as many muscles in the tail of a dog as there are in the human hand and wrist.

The length of the sole of the foot should be equal to one-sixth of the height of a perfectly formed man.

Decay of Sentiment.

The feminine athlete of the more advanced sort has been an important factor in the abolition of sentiment. The girl whom men regard as a good "fellow," who plays billiards, golfs and smokes, who strides about in big boots and short skirts, is not of "such stuff as dreams are made of."—The Gentlewoman.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Maude Fealy, the youngest dramatic star on the American stage, is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, when she will be presented by her manager, John Cort, in Martha Morton's latest comedy, "The Illusion of Beatrice." Miss Fealy has a part suited to her girlish personality and pleasing and magnetic temperament. The story of a foundling, reared in luxury, and led to believe that she is a princess of royal blood, gives Miss Fealy every chance to display those remarkable talents that placed her in the position of leading woman with the late Sir Henry Irving while still in her teens. The company supporting Miss Fealy is a selected one of New York players and the play will be staged in a complete manner.

In looking over the various farces which have flitted their light fantastic way before the public gaze, an impartial and unbiased judgment would award first prize as a good thing, to "McFadden's Row of Flats." This frolicsome hodge podge of the stage comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Friday afternoon and night. A contemplation of its feminine charms leaves one in bewilderment and yet with complacent satisfaction. In farce comedy colloquial this farce "goes the limit," and from what one sees nowadays, it is possible to get more amusement and laughter out of "The Flats" than from a cycle of plain ordinary everyday artistic comedies. Much of the fun depends upon the funmakers, and a merrier bunch than those who cavort around the stage in "The Flats" could not be picked from any theatrical agency in the world. John Price will be there (he is so comical that the writer of this article never forgets him), and without question the gallery gods will be there to over-flowing to greet him, and their gladness to see him will be made manifest.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. The company is half a hundred strong and boasts of a roster second to none. Manager Vogel's reputation for being a standard bearer is enough to satisfy us that the performance will be in keeping with the heralding. The Oriental palace, a new and very elaborate first part setting, will be presented here for the first time, and it is said to be the most beautiful and costly affair ever used by any theatrical company in this or any other country.

River Steamer Burns.

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., April 8.—With flames pouring from every quarter and her more than one hundred passengers and crew clinging for their lives to outer rails the City of Troy, of the Citizens' line, was jammed at full speed into the private dock of Edwin Gould, above Dobbs Ferry, at 11 o'clock Friday night. This action saved the lives of every man, woman and child abroad, for, although the boat itself was a total wreck within twenty minutes after she was run ashore, all were enabled to tumble off in safety. Thirteen horses and a valuable cargo of freight was destroyed, as well as Mr. Gould's private dock and a nearby cottage used by one of his employees. Only one injury is reported, and that is to the first officer, W. S. Eager, who was overcome by smoke and is now at the Dobbs Ferry Hospital.

No More "Conspiracy" Talk.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—No more information about the "rich men's conspiracy" for the defeat of Roosevelt policies and the nomination of a "reactionary" by the Republican convention were forthcoming from the White House Saturday. Secretary Loeb was besieged with inquiries as to the accuracy of various reports that Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, revealed the "rich men's conspiracy" at a private dinner. Mr. Loeb contented himself merely with saying that as the story was given out at the White House no names were mentioned. Mr. Loeb carefully avoided saying whether it was or was not Senator Penrose.

Shave Cost Him Liberty.

New York, April 8.—When Detective Sergeants Goff and Levy saw Louis Devito, of No. 338 East 113th street, with small razor cuts on his clean shaven face Friday they chased and captured him on suspicion that he may know something of the burglary in Nathan Mathis' hardware store, at No. 2,159 First avenue, Thursday night. Several razors, shaving soap and $15 were stolen. Magistrate Finelite held Devito in $1,000 bail, Mathis having identified as loot from his store razors and soap the police say they found in the prisoner's possession. Devito denies the charge.

Nature Lovers to Meet.

Committees from various chapters of "The LaRue Holmes' Nature Lover's League" will meet in the Public School Building, Springfield avenue, Summit, Wednesday afternoon, April 10, at 2 o'clock. All members and others interested are invited. Chapters from Morristown, Madison, Chatham, Summit, Milburn, Short Hills, Springfield, South Orange and Minneapolis, Minn., will be represented and will present brief papers or addresses on various themes of interest connected with forest and bird-life.

Miss Olive Hedden, of the New Madison, has returned from a visit with relatives in New York.

LITERARY.

With every succeeding issue the new Circle magazine shows many improvements and advances. The April number contains several interesting original articles, in addition to the twenty-five regular departments, covering practically every subject of interest in the home. Laura B. Starr has an article, "Japanese Children at School and Play," which is illustrated by Genjiro Yeto, the famous Japanese artist, who also contributes an illustrated article, "The Boys' May Festival in Japan." "Inexpensive Housekeeping in Paris," by Georgiana Homer, contains much practical information on housekeeping in Paris; Garrett P. Serviss, the famous astronomer, contributes "What We Might See on the Moon;" "A Famous Doll's House" is an illustrated article by Alice Corkran, dealing with an unusual subject.

Current Literature under its new editor has become a record of contemporary life. Elsa Barker, the well-known poet, says of it that it is the best critical journal—critical in the wider sense—published in the world today. The leading articles for April are: "The Seven Railway Kings of America" (with seven full-page photographs of Morgan, Harriman, Hill, Vanderbilt, Gould, Frick and "The Sphinx of Rock Island," ex-Judge Moore); "Roosevelt and William II," an interesting exposition of the intimate threads of international diplomacy; "A Theological Thunderstorm in England," in which the views of the Rev. R. J. Campbell, prophet of heretic, whose recent utterances have set a thousand ministers to preaching sermons, are discussed clearly and without bias; "Immorality of Present-Day Fiction," and "George Moore's Onslaught on Puritanism in Literature and Life." "The Menace of Feminine Christianity" will make every reader sit up, while "Complexion as a Basis of Universal History," is one of the most sensational scientific theories ever put forward by a serious thinker. The play reprinted this month is Charles Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse."

From Joe Mitchell Chapple's article, "The Truth About Panama," in the National Magazine for April: In company with a German and English sea captain, I learned more fully than ever before the wisdom of making a lock canal, for those who have passed through the Suez Canal know of the time consumed, partly owing to the narrowness of the passage and the danger of hurrying, and partly from the character of the soil, which will not bear the friction caused by the rapid passage of a vessel through the water, for if the water be sent forcibly against the banks of the canal, it draws down the sand. The Panama Canal will have none of these defects. Here there will be a great reservoir of 110 square miles, where ships can be rendezvoused and proceed at full speed over the larger portion of the Isthmus, the actual narrow canal occupying but nine miles of the forty-nine miles across the Isthmus.

Pennsylvania Railroad Rate.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 8.—Governor Stuart Friday signed the bill making the maximum rate of fare on railroads within this State two cents a mile. The new law goes into effect on September 30, and applies to all steam railways. It prescribes a penalty of $1,000 for any corporation which violates its provisions, and also provides that a single fare need not be less than five cents. A bill exempting lines less than forty miles in length from the provisions of this act is pending in the House Railroad Committee. It will probably be amended so as to apply to roads less than fifty miles in length and reported favorably. It permits such lines to charge not more than five cents a mile. The railroads claim the act is unconstitutional because it is an unreasonable regulation, and they will test it in the courts.

Alden Moore, of Kensington avenue, has returned to Williams College.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Besides the state secret which is nightly discussed in "The Ambitious Mrs. Alcott," and which is now public property, as far as it can be, there is another secret connected with this Leo Ditrichstein and Percival Pollard play that very few people know about. Before the production of the play, it was generally understood that there was a suggestion in it of a famous international controversy; that within the past few years has been a carefully guarded diplomatic secret. The rumor got to be so strong that when the play was put in rehearsal at the Astor theatre, Managers Wagenhals & Kemper received a request that a member of a certain governmental office in Washington be permitted to attend one of the early rehearsals. It was explained that this was not an official request and that there was really nothing official about it, but that somebody "wanted to know." The source from which the request came, however, made it quite plain that there were some diplomats in Washington who were a little bit nervous as to just how much of a certain state secret the play would divulge. Wagenhals & Kemper gave their consent; the official presented himself promptly and during one entire afternoon, sat all alone in the body of the Astor theatre, a silent, lonely spectator of the new play. At the close of the rehearsal, he said: "You are quite right. The secret is there, but it is so delightfully told and so carefully clothed that I do not think there can be any objection to it from outside interests." Now Wagenhals & Kemper are wondering what would have happened if the playwrights had been less careful in their handling of the theme.

"They call me a star," said Rose Stahl the other night in her dressing-room at the Hackett theatre, "but I'm really a lightning change artist. I make as many changes of costume in 'The Chorus Lady' as a chorus girl in a musical show. When I come on in the first act I take off my hat, coat and gloves. I've hardly poked my nose in in the second act when I begin to take everything off that Anthony Comstock will allow. I put on another costume. At the end of the act I am seen tearing off my clothes again in order to save my sister from the bad man of the play. In the third act I come to the bad man's room, but there I only get as far as the hat and coat. In the last act I enter fully dressed and remove my things off stage. This constant change has become a standing joke with Mr. Forbes and myself. Shortly after I enter in the last act I have a sympathetic scene with my mother and my sweetheart. At the dress rehearsals some one in front said: 'Forbes, don't you think that scene would be more effective if Miss Stahl would take off her coat and hat?' For one moment I was frozen with fear, but to my relief I heard Mr. Forbes shout: 'Just let her try it, and I'll nail them on.'"

Tornado Kills a Score.

New Orleans, La., April 8.—A score of persons were killed Friday by a tornado which swept for three hundred miles across portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Parts of four towns were devastated, property damages exceeding $500,000. The tornado began at Alexandria, La., soon after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, killing four persons there, probably fatally injuring three and seriously injuring thirteen others. It neared the Mississippi River soon after daylight, killing five persons in Jackson, La., and at Bayou Sara, La., at least half a dozen others are reported killed. One person was fatally injured in Jackson. The tornado next appeared at Carson, Miss., and disappeared about noon near Selma, Ala., where the inhabitants saw whirling clouds rise into the air as they crossed the river. A negro was reported killed near Selma.

Carnegie Gives $6,000,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—Andrew Carnegie Friday notified the president and board of trustees of the Pittsburg Carnegie Institute that he was sending them $6,000,000. Of this amount $5,000,000 is United States Steel Corporation five per cent. bonds and $1,000,000 in cash. The cash is to be used in erecting more technical school buildings. The bonds are an endowment. One million dollars is to be added to the endowment of $2,000,000 already given the schools, and the other $4,000,000 is to be added to the institute's present $2,000,000 endowment. Altogether the institute trustees, who also control the technical schools, will have an annual income of $450,000. In his letter Mr. Carnegie says: "I think the technical schools rank first in practical importance, since they chiefly instruct the sons and daughters of workers in the mills and factories, who labor through the day and seek instruction at night."

Lost Finger, Ends Life.

New York, April 8.—After attempting to end her life a year ago by shooting herself in the head, Mrs. Clara Bothfeld, of No. 450 Ovington avenue, Bay Ridge, committed suicide Friday by drowning. Her body was found floating in New York Bay. Mrs. Bothfeld injured one of her fingers several years ago and it was necessary to amputate it. She brooded so much over the disfigurement that it brought on a nervous disease. Otto F. Bothfeld, her husband, is in business at No. 54 Broad street, Manhattan.

WESTFIELD FANS FORM AN ATHLETIC CLUB

THERE WITH THE GOODS AS USUAL—TO JOIN THE STATE LEAGUE.

Baseball matters for Westfield assumed a definite shape at a meeting of enthusiasts held at Gale's Club house in that place on Saturday night. The Westfield Athletic Club was organized with the following officers: President, Elbert E. Snyder; secretary, George A. Schaefer; manager, David T. Smith; treasurer, A. E. Snyder.

The team will be admitted to the Lackawanna League and a committee consisting of President Snyder, Manager Smith and Charles H. Denman was appointed to attend the schedule meeting of the league to be held at Newark next Saturday. Subscription lists are being circulated about Westfield to raise sufficient money to assure securing a team qualified to make a demand for the pennant from the start.

A "good wood" club has been formed from the old-time, dyed-in-the-wool, blown-in-the-glass, burnt-on-the-cork fans, each member agreeing to contribute a dollar a week from April 15 to September 1. This coterie will guarantee a weekly help of fifty dollars. There is every indication that Recreation Park will repeat in 1907 its successes of the past when everyboy in Union county had their eyes turned toward Westfield.

WESTFIELD GOLF.

Club Issues Booklet of Events For Season.

The Westfield Golf Club, through its secretary, Charles C. Marshall, has issued a booklet of events for the season of 1907 which shows that some thirty prizes will be played for in competition between May 1 and Election Day in November. One of the attractive features is the attention devoted to the women in the club, as many of the prizes are for them and are to be played for in mixed foursomes and in putting contests at clock golf.

Among the many good golf clubs in New Jersey for the overworked New Yorker the Westfield Golf Club ranks among the best, and is probaly the most accessible of any, being directly on the line of the trolley and only five minutes from Westfield depot.

thoughts are suggested by a brochure compiled by Father Miller and arranged by David J. Carney, which was distributed at the church yesterday.

The processional began promptly at 10:30; sixteen acolytes bearing the cross, and the censer, preceded the priests and bishop. They approached the altar during the "Hymn to the Pope." Then the mass was begun. Mgr. Brady was celebrant, Father vine, the sub-deacon. Father Dunvine, the sub-deacon; Father Dunphy, of Dunellen, was master of ceremonies; Father Walter T. Leahy, of Princeton, preached the sermon. He referred to the early history of the parish, and reviewed the incidents eloquently.

At the offertory the "Tantum Ergo" was sung by James E. Bailey and Alfred E. LaPorte. The mass was rendered by the boys' choir entirely according to the Gregorian chant. The Ite Missa Est was chanted by Father Diettrich.

After the services Bishop McFaul made a short address, in which he expressed himself as pleased with the progress of the parish, and indicated that a new church would be soon necessary. He spoke of the desirability of a parochial school.

The following priests took part: Monsignors John F. Brady and Fox; deacons of honor, Rev. Andrew M. Eagan, and Rev. John Tyrrell, attending Rt. Rev. James A. McFaul, bishop of Trenton; Mgr. O'Grady, Very Rev. Dean Mulligan, Fathers Devine, Diettrich, Leahy, Dunphy, Tyrrell, Shandel, Schwartz, Eagan Gabriel, and others, including the scholarly rector, Rev. William E. Miller.

THE PLUM TREE

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

Carlotta did uncommonly well. "Oh, I don't know. He's the sort of high-average American that the people go crazy about. He—he—looks like a President, that sort of—solemn—no-sense-of-humor, Sunday look,—you know what I mean. Anyhow, he's going to be President."

I thought not. A few days later, while what Carlotta had said was fresh in my mind, he overtook me walking to the capitol. As we went on together, I was smiling to myself. He certainly did look and talk like a President. He was of the average height, of the average built, and of a sort of average facial mold; he had hair that was a compromise among the average shades of brown, gray, and black, with a bald spot just where most men have it.

His pose—I saw that Carlotta was shrewdly right. He was acutely self-conscious, and was acting his pose every instant. He had selected it early in life; he would wear it, even in his nightshirt, until death. He said nothing brilliant, but neither did he say anything that would not have been generally regarded as sound and sensible. His impressive manner of delivering his words made one overvalue the freight they carried. But I soon found, for I studied him with increasing interest, thanks to my new point of view upon him,—I soon found that he had one quality the reverse of commonplace. He had magnetism.

Whenever a new candidate was proposed for Mazarin's service, he used to ask, first of all, "Has he luck?" My first question has been, "Has he magnetism?" and I think mine is the better measure. Such of one's luck as is not the blundering blindness of one's opponents is usually the result of one's magnetism. However, it is about the most dangerous of the free gifts of nature,—which are all dangerous. Burbank's merit lay in his discreet use of it. It compelled men to center upon him; he turned this to his advantage by making them feel, not how he shone, but how they shone. They went away liking him because they had new reasons for being in love with themselves.

I found only two serious weaknesses. The first was that he lacked the moral courage boldly to do either right or wrong. That explained why, in spite of his talents for impressing people both privately and from the platform, he was at the end of his political career. The second weakness was that he was ashamed of his very obscure and humble origin. He knew that his being "wholly self-made" was a matchless political asset, and he used it accordingly. But he looked on it somewhat as the beggar looks on the deformity he exhibits to get alms.

Neither weakness made him less valuable to my purpose,—the first one, if anything, increased his value. I wanted an instrument that was capable, but strong only when I used it.

I wanted a man suitable for development first into governor of my state, and then into a President. I could not have got the presidency for myself, but neither did I want it. My longings were all for power,—the reality, not the shadow. In a republic the man who has the real power must be out of view. If he is within view, a million hands stretch to drag him from the throne. He must be out of view, putting forward his puppets and changing them when the people grow bored or angry with them. And the President—in all important matters he must obey his party, which is, after all, simply the interests that finance it; in unimportant matters, his so-called power is whittled down by the party's leaders and workers, whose requirements may not be disregarded. He shakes the plum tree, but he does it under orders; others gather the fruit, and he gets only the exercise and the "honor."

I had no yearning for puppetship, however exalted the title or sonorous the fame; but to be the power that selects the king-puppet of the political puppet-hierarchy, to be the power that selects and rules him,—that was the logical development of my career.

In Burbank I thought I had found a man worthy to wear the puppet robes,—one who would glory in them. He, like most of the other ambitious men I have known, cared little who was behind the throne, provided he himself was seated upon it, the crown on his head and the crowds tossing the hats that shelter their dim-thinking brains. Also, in addition to magnetism and presence, he had dexterity and distinction and as much docility as can be expected in a man big enough to use for important work.

In September I gave him our party nomination for governor. In our one-sided state that meant his election.

As I had put him into the governorship not so much for use there as for use thereafter, it was necessary to protect him from my combine, which had destroyed his two immediate predecessors by over-use—they had become so unpopular that their political careers ended with their terms. Protect him I must, though the task would be neither easy nor pleasant. It involved a collision with my clients—a square test of strength between us. What was to me far more repellent, it involved my personally taking a hand in that part of my political work which I had hitherto left to Woodruff and his lieutenants.

One does not in person chase and catch and kill and dress and serve the chicken he has for dinner; he orders chicken, and hears and thinks no more about it until it is served. Thus, all the highly disagreeable part of my political work was done by others; Woodruff, admirably capable and most careful to spare my feelings, received the demands of my clients from their lawyers and transmitted them to the party leaders in the legislature with the instructions how the machinery was to be used in making them into law. As I was financing the machine of both parties, his task was not difficult, though delicate.

But now that I began to look over Woodruff's legislative programme in advance, I was amazed at the rapacity of my clients, rapacious though I knew them to be. I had been thinking that the independent newspapers—there were a few such, but of small circulation and influence—were malignant in their attacks upon my "friends." In fact, as I soon saw, they had told only a small part of the truth. They had not found out the worst things that were done; nor had they grasped how little the legislature and the governor were doing other than the business of the big corporations, most of it of doubtful public benefit, to speak temperately. An hour's study of the facts and I realized as never before why we are so rapidly developing a breed of multi-millionaires in this country with all the opportunities to wealth in their hands. I had only to remember that the system which ruled my own state was in full blast in every one of the states of the Union. Everywhere, no sooner do the people open or propose to open a new road into a source of wealth, than men like these clients of mine hurry to the politicians and buy the rights to set up toll-gates and to fix their own schedule of tolls.

However, the time had now come when I must assert myself. I made no radical changes in that first programme of Burbank's term. I contented myself with cutting off the worst items, those it would have ruined Burbank to indorse. My clients were soon grumbling, but Woodruff handled them well, placating them with excuses that soothed their annoyance to discontented silence. So ably did he manage it that not until Burbank's third year did they begin to come directly to me and complain of the way they were being "thrown down" at the capitol.

Roebuck, knowing me most intimately and feeling that he was my author and protector, was frankly insistent. "We got almost nothing at the last session," he protested, "and this winter—Woodruff tells me we may not get the only thing we're asking."

I was ready for him, as I was for each of the ten. I took out the list of measures passed or killed at the last session in the interest of the Power Trust. It contained 78 items, 34 of them passed. I handed it to him.

"Yes—a few things," he admitted, "but all trifles!"

"That little amendment to the Waterways law must alone have netted you three or four millions already."

"Nothing like that. Nothing like that."

"I can organize a company within 24 hours that will pay you four millions in cash for the right, and stock besides."

He did not take up my offer.

"You have already had 13 matters attended to this winter," I pursued. "The one that can be done—Really, Mr. Roebuck, the whole state knows that the trustees of the Waukeegan Christian University are your dummies. It would be insanity for the party to turn over a hundred thousand acres of public land gratis to them, so that they can presently sell it to you for a song."

He reddened. "Newspaper scandal!" he blustered, but changed the subject as soon as he had shown me and re-shown himself that his motives were pure.

I saw that Burbank's last winter was to be crucial. My clients were clamorous, and were hinting at all sorts of dire doings if they were not treated better. Roebuck was questioning, in the most malignantly friendly manner, "whether, after all, Harvey, the combine isn't a mistake, and the old way wasn't the best." On the other hand Burbank was becoming restless. He had so cleverly taken advantage of the chances to do popular things, which I had either made for him or pointed out to him, that he had become something of a national figure. When he got 81 votes for the presidential nomination in our party's national convention his brain was dizzied. Now he was in a tremor lest my clients should demand of him things that would diminish or destroy this sapling popularity which, in his dreams, he already saw grown into a mighty tree, obscuring the national heavens.

I gave many and many an anxious hour to anxious thought and careful planning that summer and fall. It was only a few days before Doc Woodruff appeared at Fredonia with the winter's legislative programme that I saw my way straight to what I hoped was broad day. The programme he brought was so outrageous that it was funny. There was nothing in it for the Ramsay interests, but each of the other ten had apparently exhausted the ingenuity of its lawyers in concocting demands that would have wrecked forever the party granting them."

"Our friends are modest," said I.

"They've gone clean crazy," replied Woodruff. "And if you could have heard them talk! It's impossible to make them see that anybody has any rights but themselves."

"Well, let me have the details," said I. "Explain every item on this list; tell me just what it means, and just how the lawyers propose to disguise it so the people won't catch on."

When he had finished I divided the demands into three classes—the impossible, the possible, and the practicable. "Strike out all the impossible," I directed. "Cut down the possible to the ten that are least outrageous. Those ten and the practicable must be passed."

He read off the ten which were beyond the limits of prudence, but not mob-and-hanging matters. "We can pass them, of course," was his comment. "We could pass a law ordering the state house burned, but—"

"Precisely," said I. "I think the consequences will be interesting." I cross-marked the five worst of the ten possibilities. "Save those until the last weeks of the session."

Early in the session Woodruff began to push the five least bad of the bad measures on to the calendar of the legislature, one by one. When the third was introduced, Burbank took the limited for Washington. He arrived in time to join my wife and my little daughter Frances and me at breakfast. He was so white and sunken-eyed and his hands were so unsteady that Frances tried in vain to take her solemn, wondering, pitying gaze from his face. As soon as my study door closed behind us, he burst out, striding up and down.

"I don't know what to think, Sayler," he cried. "I don't know what to think! The demands of these corporations have been growing, growing, growing! And now—You have seen the calendar?"

"Yes," said I. "Some of the bills are pretty stiff, aren't they? But the boys tell me they're for our best friends, and that they're all necessary."

"No doubt, no doubt," he replied, "but it will be impossible to reconcile the people." Suddenly he turned on me, his eyes full of fear and suspicion. "Have you laid a plot to ruin me, Sayler? It certainly looks that way. Have you a secret ambition for the presidency—"

"Governor!" and He Laughed in Wild Derision.

"Don't talk rubbish, James," I interrupted. Those few meaningless votes in the national convention had addled his common sense. "Sit down—calm yourself—tell me all about it."

He seated himself and ran his fingers through his wet hair that was being so rapidly thinned and whitened by the struggles and anxieties of his ambition. "My God!" he cried out, "how I am punished! When I started in my public career, I looked forward and saw just this time—when I should be the helpless tool in the hands of the power I sold myself to. Governor!" He almost shouted the word, rising and pacing the floor again. "Governor!"—and he laughed in wild derision.

I watched him, fascinated. I, too, at the outset of my career, had looked forward, and had seen the same peril, but I had avoided it. Wretched figure that he was!—what more wretched, more pitiable than a man groveling and moaning in the mire of his own self-contempt? "Governor!" I said to myself, as I saw awful thoughts flitting like demons of despair across his face, and I shuddered, and pitied, and rejoiced—shuddered at the narrowness of my own escape; pitied the men who seemed myself as I might have been; and rejoiced that I had had my mother with me and in me to impel me into another course.

"Come, come, Burbank," said I, "you're not yourself; you've lost sleep—"

"Sleep!" he interrupted, "I have not closed my eyes since I read those cursed bills."

"Tell me what you want done," was my suggestion. "I'll help in any way I can—any way that's practicable."

"Oh, I understand your position, Sayler," he answered, when he had got control of himself again, "but I see plainly that the time has come when the power that rules me—that rules us both—has decided to use me to my own destruction. If I refuse to do these things, it will destroy me—and a hundred are eager to come forward and take my place. If I do these things the people will destroy me—and neither is that of the smallest importance to our master."

His phrases, "the power that rules us both," and "our master," jarred on me. So far as he knew, indeed, so far as "our master" knew, were not he and I in the same class? But that was no time for personal vanity. All I said was: "The bills must go through. This is one of those crises that test a man's loyalty to the party."

"For the good of the party!" he muttered with a bitter sneer. "Crime upon crime—yes, crime, I say—that the party may keep the favor of the powers! And to what end? To what good? Why, that the party may continue in control so they be of further use to its rulers." He rested his elbows on the table and held his face between his hands. He looked terribly old, and weary beyond the power ever to be rested again. "I stand with the party—what am I, what am I without it?" he went on in a dull voice. "The people may forget, but, if I offend the master—he never forgives or forgets. I'll sign the bills, Sayler—if they come to me as party measures."

Burbank had responded to the test. A baser man would have acted as scores of governors, mayors, and judges have acted in the same situation—would have accepted popular ruin and would have compelled the powers to make him rich in compensation. A braver man would have defied it and the powers would have appealed to the people with one chance of winning out against ten thousand chances of being disbelieved and laughed at as a "man who thinks he's too good for his party." Burbank was neither too base nor too brave; clearly, I assured myself, he is the man I want. I felt that I might safely relieve his mind, so far as I could do so without letting him too far into my secret plans.

I had not spent five minutes in explanation before he was up, his face radiant, and both hands stretched out to me.

"Forgive me, Harvey!" he cried. "I shall never distrust you again. I put my future in your hands."

CHAPTER XII.

Burbank Fires the Popular Heart.

That was, indeed, a wild winter at the state capital,—a "carnival of corruption," the newspapers of other states called it. One of the first of the "black bills" to go through was a disguised street railway grab, out of which Senator Croffut got a handsome "counsel fee" of fifty-odd thousand dollars. But as the rout went on, ever more audaciously and recklessly, he became uneasy. In mid-February he was urging me to go West and try to do something to "curb those infernal grabbers." I refused to interfere. He went himself, and Woodruff reported to me that he was running round the state house and the hotels like a crazy man; for when he got into the thick of it, he realized that it was much worse than it seemed from Washington. In a few days he was back and at me again.

"It's very strange," said he suspiciously. "The boys say they're getting nothing out of it. They declare they're simply obeying orders."

"Whose orders?" I asked.

"I don't know," he answered, his eyes sharply upon me. "But I do know that, unless something is done, I'll not be returned to the Senate. We'll lose the legislature, sure, next fall."

"It does look that way," I said with a touch of melancholy. "That street railway grab was the beginning of our rake's progress. We've been going it, hell bent, ever since."

He tossed his handsome head and was about to launch into an angry defense of himself. But my manner checked him. He began to plead. "You can stop it, Sayler. Everybody out there says you can. And, if I am reelected, I've got a good chance for the presidential nomination. Should I get it and be elected, we could form a combination that would interest you, I think."

It was a beautiful irony that in his conceit he should give as his reason why I should help him the very reason why I was not sorry he was to be beaten. For, although he was not dangerous, still he was a rival public figure to Burbank in our state, and,—well, accidents sometimes happen, unless they're guarded against.

"What shall I do?" I asked him.

"Stop them from passing any more black bills. Why, they've got half a dozen ready, some of them worse even than the two they passed over Burbank's veto, a week ago."

Musical Surroundings

may not make a musical genius, but they facilitate the study of music. In every case the instrument should be the best. A good instrument grows better as it grows older. A poor instrument doesn't last long enough to get anything but worse.

The Hazleton Piano

is an instrument of particularly fine construction. No effort has been spared to make it mechanically and musically perfect, etc.

Lessons in Music

on an inferior instrument spoils the ear. Correct tone has much to do with the acquirement of correct touch and method.

The Mullins Piano

is so delightfully sweet in tone, and of such perfect mechanical construction that it enables the beginner to learn much easier. Durability and moderate prices are also atractive features, etc.

ESTABLISHES A NEW CULT.

Woman Claims to Cure Diseases With Color Schemes and Goats.

Hayward, Col.—"Every thought and emotion has form and color.

"Anger is brown.

"Yellow is the color which will aid the student in subduing his angry emotions.

"Pure love is a beautiful pink, while green is riches. And so you see all the cardinal colors represent something.

"One quart of goat's milk is equal to two of cow's milk, and so the former is the fundamental of our diet system.

"The temple of health will be a great reality some day."

Thus saith Dr. Letitia Kuchcinski, the high priestess of the cult.

Upon the side of the bleak hill a few miles outside of the town and in immediate proximity to a number of cemeteries, Dr. Kuchcinski and her husband are establishing a temple of health.

DR. LETITIA KUCHINSKI.
(Leader of New Cult Established in Colorado.)

They contemplate putting $100,000 into the venture.

As yet they have only spent a few hundred. As the place does not now in any way resemble a temple, Mrs. Kuchcinski is content to call the place the Hillside Health Dens.

A long, rambling shack, within an acre of cleared ground, on which graze a herd of imported Hungarian goats, is all that exists so far of the Kuchcinski sanatorium.

Mrs. Kuchcinski is peculiar. She does not believe any more in materia medica. She believes in color and goats. The former is for the cure of all diseases. The latter aid in proper living.

JAP BOY WILL TEST SUIT.

Keikichi Aoki Selected as Eubject in 'Frisco School Dispute.

San Francisco.—In these days of internal and international complications over the Japanese educational problem in California, the most prominent figure is Keikichi Aoki, the ten-year-old son of Mitchisugu Aoki, who has been selected by Japan and the United States to be the subject of the test case in the courts.

The boy's father refused to send him to the oriental school when the segregation rule of the board of education went into effect. He was selected as an example by Consul Ojeno and the United States district attorney, who will present the case to the court for the United States.

So the whole question of such great

KEIKICHI AOKI.
(Japanese Boy Selected to Test California Law.)

importance must revolve around young Aoki until the highest court has passed on it. By that time the little Japanese boy will have helped make several chapters in modern history.

The board of education has no objection to the selection of Aoki as the subject for the court action, and from now on the case will make rapid progress in court unless some unforeseen complications arise.

Valuable Candle Nut.

The candle nut is a native of the Pacific islands, and the name is derived from the fact that the kernels are so full of oil that, when dried, they can be stuck on reeds and used as candles. The people of Hawaii, after having roasted these nuts and removed the shells, reduce the kernels to a paste, which, when flavored with pepper and salt, is said to be a most appetizing dish. The husk of the nut and the gum which exudes from the tree have medicinal values, while the burned shell is used to make an indelible ink, with which tattooing is done.

NOT NECESSARY.

By all means let us cling to the old spelling. If the present style was good enough for our parents why not good enough for us?

The "gnat," for instance. Instead of dropping the g why not, if it is a good thing, use it more freely.

Why not raise your ghat to a gcat if she is gfat?

And k—what harm in a little more of a sensible custom? If you have the knowledge why make a choise. Knobody is knaughty. A knife is knever knice unless knecessary. And why should not a knave knag knapkins to knarcotics? And any knapkins better than gnapkins?

Kno; decidedly knot!—Life.

The Low-Cality and High.

Mr. Baker, who had recently become blessed with an abundance of this world's goods, established his family in a home commensurate in beauty with his new fortune. Shortly after, an acquaintance met him, and, passing the time of day, asked how the various members of his family were.

"Fine!" was his reply. "You see, it was this way—the doctor says that where we lived the low-cality wasn't good for us, but now that we've moved into a high-cality, we're all right."—Judge.

DESCRIBED TELEGRAPHONE

Instrument Records and Repeats Conversations Transmitted by Telephone.

LIKE HUMAN VOICE

Operator Speaks and Hears With One Transmitter-Receiver—Invention of Poulson.

An illustrated lecture describing the wonderful possibilities of the Telegraphone, an invention by Poulsen, of Copenhagen, was given before the Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, last night, by Willard M. Miner, of this city.

This machine, which was invented six years ago and which will be introduced in this country within the next two months, is an electro-magnetic instrument which exactly duplicates the human voice. It completes the telephone, supersedes talking-machines and widens the field of telegraphy.

A tiny steel wire receives vocal or other sounds from the electro-magnets, between which it passes, as it spins from the left spool to the right one. It records these sounds in the same operation and will duplicate them at any future time. The operator both speaks and hears with the one transmitter-receiver. The machine occupies but a small space, about 8x14 inches, and is not in the way. The disc or steel wire used to record conversations or other sounds are magnetized locally. The machine can be attached to a telephone, set automatically, and in case an office is vacated it will record a message from a person at any distance, through the regular connections and when a person for whom the message is intended returns he can start his machine and the message will be repeated to him. The records are non-destructible, except through the use of a magnet stronger than the magnetization of the steel wire or disc.

Mr. Miner answered a great many questions showing the almost innumerable practical use of the machine, in taking dictation of letters, as an amusement in the production of entire operas or other entertainments. It can be set to any speed and a person can transcribe messages from it on a typewriter at will, it repeating the conversation a hundred times if necessary. In the matter of agreements between two persons over a telephone, the instrument will record every word.

Last night Chester Briggs and Dr. J. Hertey Buchanan made records of mandolin and piano selections and conversation and they were repeated exactly as given. If necessary the machine will make a record for a four-hours' conversation.

MRS. TOWNSEND BURIED.

Three Speak at Services—Interment at Plains.

There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the funeral services of Mrs. Phebe Ann Townsend, widow of Tappan Townsend, which were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the home on Mountain avenue, Scotch Plains.

There were three speakers, Joel Borton, of Woodstown, and William Richards, of New York, both members of the Society of Friends, and Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' church, this city. The interment was in the Baptist cemetery at Scotch Plains and the pall-bearers were Dr. F. W. Westcott, J. M. Bettman, Alfred McKowan, Horace H. Young, Townsend H. Fellows and S. P. T. Wilbur.

Sunday-School Teachers Meet.

Between thirty and forty members of the Plainfield Sunday-school Teachers' Union met in the small hall of the Y. M. C. A. last night, showing that the interest in this new organization is growing. F. E. Smith, superintendent of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, taught the lesson, "God Gives Jacob a New Name." Suggestions were given to assist the members in teaching their classes. George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school, will teach the lesson next Monday night, "Joseph Sold by His Brothers."

Will Receive New Stone Bids.

The Borough Council held a special meeting last night for the purpose of formally passing a resolution to re-advertise for bids for the furnishing of crushed stone for street work during the coming year. They will be received and the contract awarded at a special meeting next Monday night. During the meeting, Councilman VanWinkle offered a resolution that all assessments for back taxes be removed from the property at 43 Duer street, recently purchased by Dr. Buchanan, the same having been cleared.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED FOR MEMORIAL WARD

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS GIVE THE WORK TO CHAS. M. WILSON.

Aside from the announcement of the fact that the contract for the building of the special ward at the hospital has been awarded to Charles M. Wilson, together with the report of the medical board, little was done at the April meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, at the Casino, last night. There was just a quorum present.

The report of the medical board was as follows: Patients remaining at date of last report, 39; patients admitted, 47; males, 21; females, 26; discharged cured, 41; males, 18; females, 23; improved, 6; males, 4; females, 2; died, 10; males, 3; females, 7. It is expected that next week Mr. Wilson will commence the work on the new ward which is given by Mr. and Mrs. James DeGraff and Mrs. Samuel Milliken. A description of it was recently published in The Daily Press.

WEDDING RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willis Higgins Entertain Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willis Higgins, who were married last week, held a wedding reception at the home of the bride last night, at 72 Somerset street. It was attended by a large gathering of friends, who presented the couple with many handsome gifts.

Songs, some of them illustrated, and dancing were enjoyed. Fred Long recited and sang. When the party broke up the guests sang "We'll Be Happy By-and-By."

Hackman Fined.

William Willis, colored, a hackman, was arrested yesterday for not having a rate card in his hack, in violation of the ordinance. He was fined $2 by Judge Runyon this morning.

LOCAL OPTION SWAMPED

Anti-Saloon League's Bill Overwhelmingly Defeated in the House.

THE VOTE WAS 44 TO 11

Alexander Said Its League Members Are Nothing But Pirates and Have Deliberately Misrepresented the Measure to Ministers.

The "local option" bill went down in an overwhelming defeat in the House of Assembly at Trenton last night by a vote of 45 to 11.

It was not allowed to go to a vote, however, before Assemblymen Archibald S. Alexander, of Hudson; Frank B. Potter, of Cumberland, and Abram Klenert, of Passaic, had taken a fierce fighting fling at the methods of the Anti-Saloon League in trying to get the measure through the House. They were bitter in their tirade. The vote was as follows:

Ayes—Buck, Cattell, Drake, Jess, Jones, Lillagore, Manson, Potter, Ridgway, Smalley and Taylor—11.

Nays—Alexander, Auf der Heide, Baader, Backus, Baker, Barber, Blohm, Brady, Brennig, Burton, Baxton, Chaplin, Corish, Crowther, Daab, Davison, Devine, Earle, Elvins, Eppinger, Fake, Firth, Gibbs, Grogl, Hahn, Holcombe, Holzapfel, Irick, Klenert, Lane, Lethbridge, Lewis, Mead, Merz, Morris, Moxon, Olwill, Pawelski, Perkins, Riordan, Stille, Sullivan, Thompson, Van Blarcom and Wright—45.

Absent — Haines, Hendrickson, Tillman and Tumutly—4.

As soon as Speaker Lethbridge had placed the bill on third reading Assemblyman Buck made an appeal to have the bill passed because of its equity. After repeating the history of the bill, he concluded by saying: "The bill ought to be passed."

Mr. Alexander was on the floor in an instant. He said:

"At this time it seems opportune for me, who has been so condemned by the Anti-Saloon League men, to state my position. I will not vote for the bill because I think it is a prohibition measure. It is aimed at the abolishment of the liquor traffic from the very name of the organization backing it. I want to condemn the methods that organization uses to get a bill out of committee.

"It is outlandish and not to be expected from good men. They are nothing but pirates. They go to the most respected and respectable ministers of the gospel whose shoes I am not worthy to touch, and deliberately misrepresent things. They do not tell people it is a bad bill. They only say it is the Local Option bill. The one and only reason for the bill is to put us on record. It is not threats that will make me vote for the bill. In view of the fact that they have threatened me in my own county, I think it is only right that I defend myself. I want to say to the Anti-Saloon League that threats will not accomplish anything."

Mr. Potter said that after he had offered the amendment he was called off the floor of the House and told that unless he withdrew the amendment they would go out and defeat him. He continued:

"They have written to the ministers of my county and told them that they would defeat me. I want to say that they have wilfully misrepresented the bill in my county, and I will go out next fall, if I am a candidate for re-election, and meet the anti-saloon men and prove that they deliberately lied about the bill."

Loud clapping greeted Mr. Potter.

Mr. Klenert got in his bit of condemnation in this way:

"I say that the Anti-Saloon League lied in its newspaper organ about my testimony."

He then read from the paper, the Issue, and convinced his fellow members.

To Tell Indian Stories.

During the past few years, Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen, who is to give a musical recital before the Monday Afternoon Club next Monday afternoon on the "Indian Song and Story," has filled many successful engagements in various parts of the country. She is the happy possessor of a beautiful contralto voice, and her programmes are the result of long original study and research. This entertainment follows naturally the two lectures given by George Wharton James and Dr. Eastman in connection with the study of Indian life by the club.

YES, WINTER "LINGERS IN THE LAP OF SPRING"

PLAINFIELD WAKES UP TO BEHOLD A SNOW-STORM RAGING.

It would be a hard job to find anyone in Plainfield today who does not agree with the poet who declared that winter "lingers in the lap of spring." Though snow-flurries are frequently seen in April, the one that struck town this morning was the huskiest kind of a storm youngster and but for the fact that the ground was soft from the genia sun that shone yesterday, enough of the "beautiful" would have been piled up to induce sleighing enthusiasts to come out. As it is, the flakes melt almost as soon as they reach Mother Earth, and the result has been the making of a lot of villainous slush and the wringing of swear words from the folks who had put on spring footwear.

In the opinion of the weather recorders who keep tabs on such things, this morning's storm was one of the most wintry in several ways that much-abused April has had in many years. The fact that vegetation has not advanced to any extent will head off reports about losses in this direction. Specials are expected almost any moment, however, from the Hunterdon county calamity howler who will tell about the damage to peach trees and a subsequent poor crop.

Weather Observer Neagle says there will be more snow tonight and that it will be slightly colder. Wednesday, he says, will be partly cloudy.

C. W. McCutchen will be captain of the First Baptist team.

Dunning, Fred Lounsbury, Jr., Frank Hazeltine, T. H. Clark, Jesse Lounsbury, T. E. Currin; Trinity Reformed—William R. Kriney, M. F. Gano, E. H. Bird, R. A. Meeker, Horace J. Martin, F. E. Smith.

Borough Cops Before Committee.

Several members of the borough police force appeared before the police committee of the Council, last night, on various charges preferred against them by Chief Weiss. Marshal Joseph Flack was dismissed from the force and two others given a heart-to-heart talk by Mayor Smalley in behalf of the committee, his idea being to impress upon them the fact that strict deportment was demanded. Special Marshal William Kernan is acting in the dismissed officer's place for the present.

The trustees, five in number, are John C. Ogden, John F. Martin, George Weimar, James G. Keenan and Charles J. Jensen.

HORSE SHOW PLANS MADE

New List of Prizes But Events Practically the Same for Exhibition at Club Park.

TO BE HELD IN JUNE

Many Improvements Made on Club's Grounds—Greater Accommodations This Year.

Details regarding the annual horse show to be held in this city on June 6, 7 and 8 under the auspices of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club were discussed at a meeting of the horse show committee at the home of Lewis E. Waring on West Seventh street, last night. The entire committee, consisting of W. J. Buttfield, Robert A. Fairbairn, George P. Mellick, Lewis G. Timpson, O. T. Waring and Lewis E. Waring, was present.

The former list of prizes and events was taken up and revised with the result that an entire new list of prizes was made. The events will be practically the same as last year, with the addition of two novice classes for saddle and harness horses. Another change made was that in the local classes they will be open to the whole State, instead of Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties, as was the case last year. This, it is believed, will result in attracting many fine horses from various parts of the State.

The committee has received assurances from nearly all of the former exhibitors, as well as many new ones, that they will be at the show with their horses. The Plainfield show, as in past years, will follow the one in Philadelphia, and many of the horses appearing there will come direct to Plainfield.

The club has made extensive improvement at the show grounds since last year, including accommodations for sixty more horses, with general improvement about the buildings and grounds. New walks and drives have been laid out and before the show opens Randolph road will be put in good condition for those who drive to the grounds. As was well-known during last year's show, the exhibitors were greatly pleased with the treatment and accommodations and pronounced the exhibition one of the best in the Metropolitan district, outside of the one at Madison Square Garden. The fact that the London Horse Show will be held at the same time will not materially affect Plainfield's exhibition, for in the place of those who have gone abroad, there are many new ones to take their place.

PLAINFIELD HEADQUARTERS OF BREWING COMPANY.

But No One Seems to Know Anything About the $125,000 Concern.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the county clerk at Elizabeth, this morning, by the National Brewing and Ice Company, with principal office at 429 West Front street. The company is organized for the purpose of manufacturing lager beer, porter, ales and all kinds of spirituous liquors; mineral waters and ice. The company is capitalized at $125,000, of 5,000 shares at $10 each, and the incorporators are William F. Grassell and Alexander Schenck, claiming residence in this city, and Jacob Smith, of New York.

Inquiry concerning the company failed to furnish much information about it. The address given for the principal office is the home of Samuel Dreier on West Front street, and when he was asked about the company, he said that Mr. Grassell had leased a room at his home for an office, but for what business he did not know. He said that he believed Mr. Grassell's home was in New York. Mr. Schenck he did not know at all, neither had he met Mr. Smith.

Mr. Dreier was also asked if he knew where the company intended to locate its plant, and he replied that he did not. The only knowledge he had of the affair was that he had rented a room in his home to Mr. Grassell.

Commission Shaping Report.

The Bi-Municipal Consolidation Commission held a protracted session yesterday afternoon in Mayor Fisk's office. The time was spent in shaping up its report. MAZE GREEN'S OLD STANDBY FAILED HIM

HIS USUAL TALE DIDN'T WIN MERCY FROM JUDGE RUNYON.

Maze Green, the little old man with the big thirst who has been arrested several times in the past few months, learned this morning that City Judge Runyon uses a big stick on those who try to fool him. Maze tried a wornout tale on the magistrate, and he will have forty days in jail to think over his foolishness in attempting to string the court.

Maze was arrested last night by Patrolman Saffron, at Second street and Park avenue, who found him lying helplessly drunk on the sidewalk. Maze told the judge he was awful sick, and wanted to get back to his room to summon a doctor. That yarn had worked twice before, and he looked hopelessly at the magistrate when he finished it. The judge's answering gaze was cold.

"You won't go home this time," said the court. "You are going to Elizabeth for forty days."

Maze was shocked. "Oh, my goodness, don't do that," he pleaded.

"Just that," said the court. "Take him away."

Policeman McDonald haled the seventy-year-old to his cell and a commitment was made out. Maze's family told the judge last night that he was a hopeless old souse and not entitled to much consideration.

PITNEY RECEIVES GIFT ON HIS RETIREMENT

MEMBERS OF STATE BAR HONOR VICE-CHANCELLOR.

At the conclusion of yesterday's session at Jersey City Vice-Chancellor Pitney ended his labors as a part of the State Court of Equity and said farewell to his colleagues in office and the members of the bench and bar so far as his official position was concerned. The members of the committee from the State Bar Association having charge of the birthday festivities a few weeks ago had prepared to give the retiring Vice-Chancellor something tangible by which he might remember the occasion in future years and had purchased a handsome Tiffany clock with musical chimes. It cost several hundred dollars.

The court room was crowded with members of the bar from all parts of the State. Judge Gilbert Collins, who made the presentation, said:

"For a long time you have graced the equity bench of this State and you have endeared yourself to all the members of the bar who have appeared before you. It therefore affords me great pleasure to present you in the name of the members of the bar this clock."

The Vice-Chancellor was about to respond when Vice-Chancellor Stevens stated that he also had something to say. He spoke in the same strain and was followed by William M. Johnson, of Hackensack, and Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth.

"UNCLE DAN" DIED TODAY

D. S. Roberts, Member of "Big Six," Succumbs at the Age of 82 Years.

A FAMILIAR FIGURE

In the Livery Business All His Life Until His Retirement—Survived By Seven Children.

Following an illness of nearly four weeks with an acute form of blood poisoning, former Councilman Dan S. Roberts, one of the oldest and best known residents of the two Plainfields, died this morning at his home on Prospect place. It was practically certain that recovery was impossible almost from the time he was first affected and during the past two weeks his death had been expected daily. The poisoning was confined to the lower limbs, but it was only exceptional vitality for a man of his years that kept him alive. He was conscious almost to the last moment and conversed with members of the family shortly before the end at 8:20.

Dan Spangenberg Roberts was born at Bethany, Pennsylvania, January 29, 1825, and when he was but a young man his parents moved to Wilkes-Barre. He engaged in the livery business, or coaching, as it was known then, and operated stage lines through the surrounding country, railroads at that time being few and far apart. He built up a great volume of business between Wilkes-Barre and Honesdale and the older residents in that section may still recall the time when Dan Roberts handled the reins over the backs of some of the finest teams ever seen in the Wyoming Valley.

When Joseph Scranton, after whom the bustling Pennsylvania city is named, received the contract to make rails for the first stretches of the Erie Railroad, he secured Dan Roberts to take them from that place to Port Jervis, N. Y. It was a long haul and one fraught with many difficulties but the Wilkes-Barre man was equal to the task and accomplished it to his satisfaction. When the last rail had been delivered, Mr. Roberts saw the opportunities there were in the rapidly growing town of Scranton and he located a livery business there. It grew rapidly and coupled with shrewd real estate deals the returns soon made him among the well-to-do residents of the place. His home was located in what is now the heart of the city and he held the property for many years.

In 1879 he decided to retire from business and was induced by friends to locate on a farm near Rahway. He spent a small fortune in improving the fields but soon became restless and chafed under the quiet life after the long period of activity. In 1880 he decided to re-enter business and came to Plainfield, starting a livery at Second street and Park avenue, where the Marsh building now stands. Soon afterward he took Jasper Cadmus as a partner but within a year sold out to him and acquired the stables conducted jointly with Laing's Hotel. They extended from West Front street down to the brook or where the New Madison and Stillman buildings have since been put up. He remained there until 1886, when he erected the building running from North avenue to Second street, now occupied by the Plainfield Cab Company. He operated a livery there that became the best known in the city and conducted the business until six years ago, when he retired for the second time. Since then he had lived quietly on Prospect place.

In 1891, "Uncle Dan," as he had come to be known by everyone with whom he came in contact, was elected a member of the Common Council, and he organized the "Big Six," which managed the city affairs at that time, the others being the late Seymour Smith, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., Leonard Spangerberg, Carlos C. Gallup and the late Elmore D. Moffett. It was agreed among the "Big Six" that Joseph B. Coward should be appointed city clerk and in return

CRANFORD.

Viola Radet, a five-year-old girl, while playing in the athletic club building recently, had her left leg broken by a shuffleboard falling upon her. She was attended by Dr. C. W. MacConnell, and afterward removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital.

The fire committee is considering the purchase of three horses for fire service, but are in a quandary as to where to keep the animals, as there is no available place for that purpose near the firehouse.

The Township Committee intends to install arc lights at the intersection of the principal streets in the centre of the town, in place of the incandescent lamps now in service.

CHATHAM.

Miss Theresa Schwartz, thirteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schwartz, of the Southern Boulevard, broke her leg Sunday while playing. With other members of the family she was playing on the front porch, when she accidentally stepped over the edge. The piazza at that point is only about three feet from the ground, but the little girl seemed to throw her whole weight upon the right leg when falling, breaking the bone midway between the ankle and knee.

St. Patrick's Dramatic Circle gave its fourth annual entertainment last night in the parish hall, when the five-act comedy drama, "The Deacon, or a Country Gentleman," was given. PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Township Committee intends enforcing the ordinance passed May, 1906, which forbids anyone tearing up the roadway or sidewalks without first obtaining a permit from Town Clerk Edward L. Hand. Several times of late contractors have failed to secure the necessary permit and the committee has decided it was time to take some action.

While it has not as yet been officially announced, it is expected by the members of the Methodist church that Rev. Mr. Dederick will be the pastor selected by the presiding elder for the church for the coming year. Mr. Dederick is a student at Drew Seminary and has occupied the pulpit several times during the past winter.

Chicago Is Mayorless.

Chicago, April 9.—Chicago virtually has two Mayors, but actually has no Mayor. Mayor Dunne says he is out. "I have only one official act to perform," said he, "and that is to go to the City Hall and get my umbrella and a pair of overshoes." He left for Pittsburg last night to attend a funeral and made no appointment of a Mayor pro tem. The official tobogganing of Busse into office, astonished the city. It is said Busse wished today, he had not been so sudden. "I shall not enter the Mayor's office until the 15th, as is always the custom," said he. So Chicago must worry along for a week without any executive head, unless he changes his mind.

Mermaid Talked Too Much.

New York, April 9.—Because she told her intimate friends the secret of how the mermaids play under water at the Hippodrome, Miss Alice Palmer, one of the water spirits, has been dismissed. She will sue the management for salary up to the close of the season, July 1. Miss Palmer, who lives at the Cadillac Hotel, said yesterday: "The whole trouble started because I told a few friends where we went when we disappeared under the water. I admit we were told not to discuss the mechanical apparatus, but who ever heard of a stage manager able to keep girls from talking?"

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Mighton, of East Sixth street, are entertaining relatives from Norwalk, Conn.

Mrs. J. S. Pray, of East Fifth street, has recovered from a recent illness and is able to be out again.

Allen Shepard, of Jersey City, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shepard, of Park avenue.

KILLS WIFE, HANGS HIMSELF.

Paterson Blacksmith Goes Violently Insane—Pluck of His Little Son.

Paterson, April 9.—Anton Biswell, a blacksmith, became violently insane Saturday morning and chopped his wife's head with a small hatchet, inflicting mortal wounds. He afterwards went to the garret of his home on the Goffle road, North Paterson, and hanged himself. Mrs. Biswell was brought to Paterson in a wagon and taken to the General Hospital. She will die.

August Biswell, a ten-year-old son, was the only witness of the tragedy. He was in the yard feeding chickens when he heard his mother scream. He ran to the house, but found the door barred. He looked through the window and saw his mother on the floor, his father holding her by the throat and hitting her on the head with the hatchet.

The lad tried to get into the house, but could not. He shouted to his father, but the man did not stop in his attack on his wife until she became unconscious.

Then he ran to the window, smashed the glass, and threw the hatchet into the yard. After that he took his own life in the garret.

Young Biswell showed grit by getting a large stone and breaking in the door. He then dragged his mother to a bed and bandaged her head roughly. After this he ran to get help. Several neighbors responded, but for a time all feared to go into the house.

Dr. Mack, of North Paterson, had been summoned and, accompanied by Recorder J. Keefe, of Hawthorne Borough, he went inside and found Mrs. Biswell still alive.

Keefe found Biswell hanging in the garret. His feet were drawn up from the floor, the garret ceiling being low. There was still life in the body when it was cut down, but Dr. Mack was unable to restore consciousness.

Young Biswell says his father had been despondent for several weeks, having lost his place in New York city.

Girls In Large Land Deal.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 9.—One of the largest land deals on record has just been put through by Miss Helen Kimber and Miss Nellie Howard, two ambitious young women of this city, who are now the sole owners of 1,600,000 acres of grazing, mineral and agricultural land in Northern Mexico. The sum paid for this land is $750,000, or a little more than 50 cents an acre. The money was raised from Missouri banks and trust companies and personal friends of the young women, who have implicit confidence in their ability, judgment and ultimate success in converting the vast tracts into profitable gains. Porte Labas and Libertad, on the Gulf of California, and a strip ninety-seven miles long touching Arizona, are included in the purchase.

Trust Conference In Chicago.

New York, April 9.—The Executive Council of the National Civic Federation has decided to hold the national conference on combinations and trusts at Chicago May 28 to 31 inclusive. Governors and presidents of the important commercial, manufacturing, agricultural, labor, economic, financial and law associations will be asked to appoint delegates. The purpose of the conference is to consider the trust and combination problem, especially the question of State and Federal regulation of corporations, and the question of what amendment, if any, should be made to the Sherman anti-trust act.

Miss Trembath, of the First Baptist church choir, has returned to Plainfield after a week's visit in New York State.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Pitching for Annapolis on Saturday against Gallaudet College, Fred VanAuken, of this city, shut out his opponents by a score of 7 to 0. In the second inning Gallaudet had three men on bases and none out, but VanAuken retired the next three men, pitching only ten balls in doing so.

Billy Murray, the former manager of the Jersey City team, is making an auspicious start with the Philadelphia Nationals, having cleaned up the Athletics four straight.

There is a chance that Billy Gilbert may play with the Trenton club this season. He is too good a player to be in a minor league.

Lord, centre-field of the Philadelphia Athletics, had three assists in Saturday's game. He threw out two men at the plate, and they were no less speedy runners than Magee and Titus.

Pitcher Brady, of the University of Pennsylvania team, made an exceptional record on Saturday. He struck out fourteen men, including everyone of the opposing Georgetown team.

The fans are anxiously waiting for the announcement of the lineup of the various amateur league teams. Until then they will have little to enthuse them in the National game.

Heyniger, of Princeton, has not been doing much pitching during the early spring season, the management preferring to wait until the weather warms up to use him against the big college teams.

Somerville is getting the baseball fever and reports from the county seat show that the town will have even a better team than last year. Local fans will be interested in this as Clinton Avenue has scheduled three games with the West Ends this season.

GOLF.

Captain W. E. Clow, Jr., of the Yale golf team, of which Robert Abbott, of this city, is a member, has announced the schedule of match games for the season. One of these will be played at the Plainfield Country Club on May 25. All matches will take place on the opponents' grounds except that with Williams, which will be held at Montclair. The team is made up of the following players: W. E. Clow, Jr., '07, captain; C. V. Rotan, '07; Robert Abbott, '08; E. Knowles, '08; W. I. Howland, '08; S. D. Patridge, '08, and L. S. G. Borup, '07, substitute.

Individual golf teams will be organized from among the various classes at Yale and it is proposed to play for the championship of the college. Each team will comprise six players. All the men in college are eligible to play.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of this city, president of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, will preside at the executive committee meeting to be held in New York today. It is settled to hold the championship meeting at the Knollwood Country Club the same week as the Men's Metropolitan at Nassau. The women will announce their programme and the details of their interdistrict team contests. Incidentally the two meetings will make public the American women who are to compete for the British title at Dollymount next May.

Princeton plays at the Montclair Golf Club on April 27 and Yale on May 18. This is the remainder of Princeton's schedule: April 17, Lawrenceville; April 24, team match with Lakewood; May 1, Four man team championship at Lakewood; May 8, Philadelphia C. Plainfield, N. J., April 9, 1907.

A score of men, more or less, have been mentioned in connection with the Gubernatorial nomination, but the fact is that no leader of any prominence through the State has pledged himself to any particular candidate. This is not surprising for the convention is months off yet and it would be foolish indeed for a leader to tie himself to any boom before the political situation takes definite shape. Indeed, it is not unlikely that before fall comes, some newcomer in the field may prove to be stronger than anyone so far mentioned. At any rate it is more than likely that not until September will it be possible to tell how the land lays. And in the meantime, the leaders will shuffle their political cards to suit themselves.

Dan. S. Roberts, better known to the community as "Uncle Dan" Roberts, has been called to his reward at the ripe age of eighty-two years. As a member of the Common Council he rendered valuable service. To him and the other members of the combination known at the time as "Big Six," Plainfield is indebted for many of the facilities which have marked it as a progressive city. During the period when the "Big Six" were in power the combination was more or less in public odium for their purposes were much misunderstood and greatly misrepresented. Time has considerably changed the public view of their work, however, and today the majority of citizens are thankful that such a combine did exist.

The bench and bar has showed its regard for Vice-Chancellor Henry C. Pitney, the retiring jurist, by presenting him with a handsome clock. What should prove more precious to him is the high esteem in which he is held by the whole people of the State which he has so ably served during all these years.

Four "possibilities" for the gubernatorial nomination are picked by Charles J. Fisk as being desirable candidates, they being Judge Fort, State Senator Frelinghuysen, Chandler W. Riker and William M. Johnson. Very good, Mr. Mayor, but how about Gilbert Collins and Mahlon Pitney.

The Trenton State Gazette says that: "William Randolph Hearst is on his way down Salt River." Judging by past performances, Mr. Hearst ought to have a controlling interest in that stream by this time.

Senator Colby paid a high tribute to Attorney-General McCarter yesterday. Good heavens, can it be possible that he can see anything good in a regular?

the Democrats were to name the president and the committees. Roberts and Smith were Republicans. The former was determined to make Coward the clerk and to accomplish this purpose the pact was made with the four Democrats. The presidency fell to Spangenberg and the action of the six so incensed the other five councilmen that they refused to take part in any of the meetings.

The half dozen men proceeded to operate the city's affairs and they became known everywhere as the "Big Six." Despite the fact that they had exceptional power it is said that it was used only for the good of the community. When "Uncle Dan's" term was completed he retired and never again sought public office but always pointed with pride to his record as a city father.

Mr. Roberts married on July 4, 1847, Miss Elmira Lameraux, of Wilkes-Barre, who died three years ago. They were the parents of nine children, of whom seven are now living. They are Mrs. Emma Burr, of Scranton; Miss Adelaide Roberts, who resides at the home; Austin Roberts, of Brooklyn; William Roberts, of Scranton; George Roberts, of Philadelphia; Charles Roberts, of Somerville, and Harry Roberts, at home.

The funeral will be held at his late residence Friday afternoon at 2:30.

SECOND REGIMENT IS LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN.

Probably Will Be Picked to Go to Washington to Attend McClellan Shaft Dedication.

National Guardsmen of New Jersey are speculating at this time as to which regiment of the State's military forces will be sent to Washington on May 2 to represent the Commonwealth at the dedication of the McClellan monument. That the State will be represented is assured by the fact that Senate bill 141, providing for the appropriation of $20,000 for the expenses of the demonstration has passed both houses of the Legislature and will be signed by Governor Stokes today.

Just which regiment will be assigned has not been officially announced, but it is understood that among the military authorities of the State there is a strong inclination to select the Second Regiment.

The Third Regiment's going to Washington is considered by those in a position to know to be out of the question because there are assurances that the Camden guardsmen will be picked out for the coast artillery maneuvers of the regular army this summer either at Fort Hancock or Fort Mott. The Third is considered the logical regiment for this duty because its jurisdiction is that part of the State in which coast artillery would be most needed in time of trouble.

The Second Regiment has had nothing in the way of special and attractive duty since it was in Washington at the time of the McKinley inauguration. For this reason the military authorities are disposed to consider the Second Regiment for the Washington trip in May with exceptional seriousness.

HOMEOPATHS TO MEET.

Will Hold Their Fifty-fourth Annual Session in May.

The Continental Hotel, Newark, will be the meeting place for the fifty-fourth annual session of the New Jersey State Homeopathic Medical Society on May 7. Two sessions will be held, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Taught School in Agony.

Winsted, Conn., April 9.—With a bone in one leg broken near the angle and the other ankle sprained, Miss Agnes Reed taught school in Mount Washington, in the Berkshires, for two hours yesterday. Before the morning session began she went coasting with her pupils. All were thrown from the sled and the teacher was hurt. The pupils took her on a sled to the schoolhouse, carrying her into the building on a chair, where she heard her classes until 11 o'clock, when she was obliged to give up.

Severed Barrillas' Jugular.

Mexico City, April 9.—The assassin who killed Gen. Manuel Lizandro Barrillas, formerly President of Guatemala, here Sunday night, gave his name as Jose Estrado and says he is seventeen years old and belongs to Ocos, Kuatemala. Gen. Barrillas was in a Guadalupe street car going to supper. The car stopped at Senuscirio street, Estrado sprang on it, rushed at Gen. Barrillas and stabbed him twice. The first thrust severed his jugular vein; the second slashed his face. He died instantly.

Another Year in Cuba.

Havana, April 9.—"Various committees waited on me this afternoon," said American Secretary of War Taft, last evening. "It is impossible to state just what took place, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that it would be wise, and even necessary, to take a census before attempting to hold an election, not only under the present provisional government, but under any subsequent government. It would be wise, in order to test the condition of the country and the operation of the election law, to hold a preliminary election, municipal and not national, and the national election should be delayed until the results of the preliminary elections are seen. I have promised to confer with Governor Magoon and to consult President Roosevelt with a view to further conferences with the Liberals and the Conservatives. Other matters are pending concerning which I cannot speak; in the first place, because nothing would be gained thereby, and also, as the Spaniards say, it is not 'convenient.'" That the American occupation will last for another year at least is the strong impression created by remarks Secretary Taft let fall.

Wreckers Still at Work.

Pittsburg, April 9.—Defying the efforts of the Pennsylvania Railroad officials to guard against train wrecking, and capture the perpetrators, an attempt was made early yesterday to wreck a fast freight on the Cleveland and Pittsburg division, within five hundred yards of the Alliance, O., depot. This is the seventh attempt by the wreckers within the past fifteen days. It was also made known yesterday that a fast train narrowly escaped disaster at Brady's Pond, Pa., on the Allegheny Valley division, on Sunday afternoon. A farmer discovered a tie fastened to the track near a high bluff, and flagged the train in time to avert serious consequences, although the engine left the rails. Three men were arrested. Yesterday's attempt concerned a fast freight which was running on the time of a passenger express. The engineer saw the signal for a clear track suddenly thrown to red. The emergency brakes brought the train to a standstill in time to avoid crashing into an open switch. A man who evidently opened the switch ran from the track and disappeared. He is suspected of being a member of the gang which ditched the Cleveland-Pittsburg flyer at Hudson, O., on Saturday night.

Charged With Wife Murder.

New York, April 9.—Dr. Samuel S. Guy, a dentist, at Far Rockaway, for four years coroner of Queens, shot and killed his wife, it is charged, in the dining-room of their home, the old Mott mansion, in Mott avenue, near Sheridan boulevard, Far Rockaway, at 5:30 o'clock last night. He was drunk at the time. Though under the influence of liquor when captured he bore himself with singular clear headedness and denied having done the act. Mrs. Mott was the daughter of Benjamin B. Mott, who died two years ago, leaving a large fortune. She was the principal beneficiary under the will, though her share of the estate has been tied up in litigation.

Tonight at Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. Evangelist Edward Acomb will speak at the special services at 7:45. Don't fail to hear him.

NEARLY 600 DIVORCES IN JERSEY LAST YEAR

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS COMPLETE RESEARCH INTO RECORDS OF PAST YEARS

New Jersey is famous as a corporation state, and has made herself prominent among the other states of the Union by her progressiveness and her wealth, but New Jersey as a divorce state now comes to the limelight. The officials of the government department of labor and commerce, who are gathering statistics concerning divorces in all the states from 1887 to 1907, have completed their work within her territory.

The number of residents divorced in the various cities of the state last year follows: Atlantic City, 15; Asbury Park, 9; Atlantic Highlands, 2; Bordentown, 1; Belvidere, 2; Bridgeton, 18; Boonton, 2; Bayonne, 3; Burlington, 4; Camden, 61; Cape May, 1; Cape May Court House, 1; Dover, 2; Elizabeth, 12; Englewood, 3; Eatontown, 1; Frenchtown, 2; Flemington, 1; Hoboken, 19; Hackensack, 8; Hackettstown, 1; Jersey City, 75; Lambertville, 2; Long Branch, 2; Lakewood, 3; Millville, 6; Morristown, 8; Montclair, 1; Mt. Holly, 4; Newark, 136; New Brunswick, 8; Newton, 2; Orange, 2; Paterson, 56; Plainfield, 9; Passaic, 7; Perth Amboy, 4; Princeton, 1; Phillipsburg, 7; Red Bank, 4; Rutherford, 1; Somerville, 6; Salem, 8; Summit, 1; Schooley's Mountain, 1; Sussex, 1; Trenton, 35; Town of Union, 2; Westfield, 1; West Hoboken, 4; Washington, 5; Woodstown, 1.

This makes the total number of decrees of absolute divorce granted in 1906, 571.

MORRISTOWN PASTOR RETIRES FROM CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Erdman Receives $16,000 In Securities and $1,100 In Cash From His Congregation.

The last Sunday of Rev. Dr. Albert Erdman's connection with the South Street Presbyterian church at Morristown as its pastor occurred Sunday, his pastoral relations at the close of his thirty-eighth year's ministry closing Wednesday, when, by appointment of Presbytery, he will act as pastor emeritus, without salary.

The members of the committee of fifteen appointed to raise a fund for presentation to Dr. Erdman upon his retirement from the pastorate of the South Street Presbyterian church quietly handed him $16,000 last Saturday, the fund being invested in securities bearing interest at nine per cent. Besides this they gave him $1,100 in cash, and the fund is still growing, an addition having been made to it Sunday. One of the young women's societies of the church started a fund with which to purchase a token of esteem for Mrs. Erdman also, and it ran to $100 so quickly they were compelled to decline further amounts offered. A pin set with an amethyst, surrounded by pearls, was the token presented her, another society presenting Dr. Erdman with a gold watch chain.

Cleveland For High Pay.

New York, April 9.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland is emphatically opposed to limiting the salaries of presidents of life insurance companies to $50,000 a year and has prepared an exhaustive defense of those men who receive salaries in excess of $50,000. In thirty-seven States there are bills pending which make it illegal for an insurance company doing business within their limits to pay its president more than $50,000 a year. Should these bills become laws all of the companies will be compelled to obey them or cease doing business in five-sixths of the United States. This salary limitation was agreed upon by the committee of fifteen representing the insurance department of the thirty-seven States. Mr. Cleveland has prepared his brief as chairman of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

Says Son and Border Eloped.

Trenton, April 9.—Cornelius Miller, of 15 College place, has asked the police to find his son, Cornelius, Jr., who, he says, has eloped with Mrs. Alice Kurts. The elder Miller says he is in want and his son is the chief bread-winner of the family. Miller told the police that he took Mr. and Mrs. Kurts as boarders in his family some time ago, and that subsequently Kurts left his wife stranded. Then, he says, his son became infatuated with the woman. When she was unable to pay board Miller requested her to find another boarding-house, but young Miller persuaded him to allow her to remain until about a week ago, when the two disappeared together.

Insane Over Hubby's Return.

Ashland, Ky., April 9.—Brought face to face with her husband, whom she had mourned as dead, Mrs. Alexander Van Wyth, who was married twice since he went away, became hopelessly insane last week. Thirty-three years ago Van Wyth enlisted in the navy, and, believing him dead, Mrs. Van Wyth married Herbert Pyle, of Wheeling, W. Va., who died some years later, leaving her with four children. Soon she married Elmer Wyatt and they had several children. When Van Wyth went to the Wyatt home and told her of his wanderings she lost her reason.

THE AGGRAVANT.

The man was dotty, he was dopy;
His cerebral goo was ropy,
And his think-machine as gropy
As the law could well allow.
In intelligence deficient
He was clearly inefficient,
But—he had a "roll" sufficient
To asphyxiate a cow.

Mixed with any folks he'd bore 'em—
Showed his ignorance before 'em;
The societas chuporum
Hailed in him a charter member.
With a virile vim and vigor
He would pull his oral trigger
And keep boring 'ike a chigger
From the springtime to December.

Yet the thing that made me hate him,
Made me inwardly berate him,
Made me long to flagellate him
From his shoes to his chapeau,
Was that folks who should forsake him
Used to dine and wine and cake him—
Used to let his money take him
Where mere brains could never go.
—Strickland W. Gillilan, in Judge.

A Palpable Plot.

Mrs. Du Ille—John, my dressmaker arrived to-day, and I must have the materials to-morrow.

Mr. Du Ille—Eh? What? You said you had written to her not to come until next month.

Mrs. Du Ille—Yes, I did, but she never got the letter.

Mr. Du Ille (clasping his hand to his breast pocket)—Woman! this is a plot! If you had really wanted her to stay away you would have handed that letter to the postman yourself; you wouldn't have given it to me to mail.—N. Y. Weekly.

A SPRING FRILL.

One of the little frills of the spring is the running of lace with folds of chiffon velvet. A very pretty gown of tan-colored broadcloth is finished a the neck with some cream-colored lace, fitted to the throat as a high stock. Through the open mesh of the lace there are run narrow bands of burned orange chiffon velvet, each little row of the velvet is finished at the back of the neck with a little gold buckle no bigger than a dime. Few of the handsome lace waists but are finished with narrow bands of chiffon velvet run through the lace.

The New York Evening Mai of Saturday has an article entitled "A Talented Young Exhibitor," commending the picture "Oak Glen," by Miss Caroline Minturn Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Prescott Hall, of Madison avenue. The commendation is called forth by the picture now on exhibition at the current Academy of Design show in New York. It was painted at Newport at the summer home of the artist's grandmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and was exhibited in Paris, calling forth critical comment of a sympathetic nature.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Miss Rose Melville and her original production of "Sis Hopkins," the play that has proven one of the greatest successes in years through Miss Melville's character impersonation, will be at the New Plainfield theatre on May 1.

Assistant Treasurer Leonce Texier and the ushers of the local playhouse are highly pleased with the advance sale for their first annual benefit performance to be given next Monday night. It has been exceptionally large and there is no doubt but what a capacity audience will greet Bickel, Watson and Wrothe when they present their latest edition of "Tom, Dick and Harry."

In addition to assuming the position of leading woman for Sir Henry Irving when she was but eighteen years old, Miss Maude Fealy, who appears at the New Plainfield theatre tonight, has acted in a similar capacity for William Gillette, William Collier, E. S. Willard and other well known members of the dramatic stage. She comes to Plainfield under the management of John Cort, who spent his boyhood at Fanwood, in her greatest individual success, "The Illusion of Beatrice," a comedy from the pen of Martha Morton.

As "Richard Temple," a happy-go-lucky young Irish gentleman of the period of 1804, Charnacey Olcott has found his happiest role in the new play, "Eileen Asthore," (Ellen my treasure), which he is presenting this season, and which he will bring to this city on April 29. Though Irish in theme it is entirely different to the usual output of plays dealing with the Emerald Isle and tells a most moving story in the brightest and happiest way.

Arrangements are being completed whereby William A. Brady will lease for sixty-three years a pier several hundred feet in length, yet to be constructed, in connection with the Casino, at Asbury Park. In the contract it is stipulated that all the amusement projects at that place will be removed to the pier, which is to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. This agreement was reached last week between Mr. Brady and the Asbury Park officials. The Casino is now being used for plays, but will be discarded for this use when the new pier is completed. It is estimated that it wil take three years to finish construction work on the structure.

The illness of Richard Mansfield, which has compelled him to terminate his short road tour, ended negotiations for the appearance of the great actor in this city. It had been Manager Cousinan's hope to secure him for the New Plainfield theatre and the dates had practically been agreed upon despite what seemed prohibitory terms when the cancellation of all engagements was made. There is even prospect, however, that if Mr. Mansfield recovers fully and goes on tour next season Plainfield will be one of the places to be visited.

Notwithstanding the enormous crowds that attend all the performances of the Barnum & Bailey show the circus business is not as profitable as the public believes, according to a circular issued Saturday in Wall street to the stockholders of the circus company. The latter is a British corporation, and the annual meetings are held in London, where the stock is largely held. The circular declares that the profits of 1906 amounted to only $[illegible]420, although the receipts amounted to $1,507,540. The original estimate of the profits was placed at $152[illegible]0, but a mistake in the bookkeeping had been made. The slender return caused surprise in financial circles.

MISS MAUDE FEALY THE YOUNGEST STAR.

She Was a Member of Sir Henry Irvings' Company Three Years Ago.

Miss Maude Fealy, the youngest of American stars, who is to be seen in this city tonight in a new pay by Martha Morton, entitled "The Illusion of Beatrice," has been engaged for the past two months in writing a little book which is to be published during the coming summer. It will be rather a unique little volume in that it will be for private circulation only. There will be no copies sold.

The book will contain Miss Fealy's personal reminiscences of the late Sir Henry Irving, whose leading woman she was for two years while she was yet in her teens. Miss Fealy first appeared in London with Sir Henry Irving a little over three years ago. Her repertoire included the leading female role in "Louis XI," "Becket," "The Lyons Mail" and "The Story of Waterloo." Sir Henry was first attracted to her by witnessing her performance with William Gilliette, when that actor first presented "Sherlock Holmes" in the world metropolis. She was at that time the youngest leading woman in the world, being but barely seventeen years old.

Hands Off Gallant Trainmen!

Wilmington, Del., April 9.—No longer will the white shirt waists and dresses of young women passengers on the Pennsylvania Railroad be soiled by chivalric but uncleaned hands. An order was issued by the company yesterday directing that hereafter conductors and brakemen shall refrain from aiding the fair sex to board or leave train unless requested. Complaints of women whose apparel has been soiled by over-anxious trainmen led to the order. This edict follows the recent banning of rice and old shoes for bridal couples.

Charles Kirchner on Cricket.

Charles Kirchner, of this city, secretary of the Professional Golfers' Association, who is now in Pittsburg, recently spent several days in Syracuse in the interest of the game of cricket, which he is anxious to see started in all the cities of New York State as it is in New York city and Philadelphia. Besides being an ardent lover of golf, Mr. Kirchner has much interest in cricket, and says it is one of the best games in America. In speaking of New Jersey he says that the State has a league of three dozen clubs which plays throughout the cricket season, from the middle of May until the football season begins. He predicts that the coming season will be the banner one for golf.

Arctic Autos.

New York, April 9.—Admiral B. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club, which has headquarters at No. 132 East Twenty-third street, is authority for the statement that six automobiles are being built here and abroad for individual "dashes" to the North Pole. The secertary says that two of the cars have been perfected by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, who once went to the far north with Commander Peary. A brother of the doctor is said to have built the machines at Calicoon, this State, under a closed shed away from the eyes of the inquisitive. A third automobile for exploration work in the Polar segions has been built to the order of Anthony Fiala, the leader of the Ziegler expedition, which was wrecked in ice in the winter of 1903-1904, Admiral Osbon announced yesterday. He added that he was not at liberty to tell for whom the other three automobiles were planned, but he said that they were intended for three distinct expeditions.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet Thursday night to consider the carnival proposition. Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet Friday night for the same purpose.

"For instance?"

He cited three Power Trust bills.

"But why don't you stop those three?" said I. "They're under the special patronage of Dominick. You have influence with him."

"Dominick!" he groaned. "Are you sure?" And when I nodded emphatically, he went on: "I'll do what I can, but—" He threw up his hands.

He was off for the West that night. When he returned, his face wore the look of doom. He had always posed for the benefit of the galleries, especially the women in the galleries. But now he became sloven in dress, often issued forth unshaven, and sat sprawled at his desk in the Senate, his chin on his shirt bosom, looking vague and starting when any one spoke to him.

Following my advice on the day when I sent him away happy, Burbank left the capital and the state just before the five worst bills left the committees. He was called to the bedside of his wife who, so all the newspapers announced, was at the point of death at Colorado Springs.

While he was there nursing her as she "hovered between life and death," the bills were jammed through the senate and the assembly.

He telegraphed the lieutenant governor not to sign them, as he was returning and wished to deal with them himself. He reached the capital on a Thursday morning, sent the bills back with a "ringing" veto message, and took the late afternoon train for Colorado Springs. It was as good a political "grand-stand play" as ever thrilled a people.

The legislature passed the bills over his veto and adjourned that night.

Press and people, without regard to party lines, were loud in their execrations of the "abandoned and shameless wretches" who had "betrayed the state and had covered themselves with eternal infamy." I quote from an editorial in the newspaper that was regarded as my personal organ. But there was only praise for Burbank; his enemies, and those who had doubted his independence and had suspected him of willingness to do anything to further his personal ambitions, admitted that he had shown "fearless courage, inflexible honesty, and the highest ideals of private sacrifice to public duty." And they eagerly exaggerated him, to make his white contrast more vividly with the black of the "satanic spawn" in the legislature. His fame spread, carried far and wide by the sentimentality in that supposed struggle between heart and conscience, between love for the wife of his bosom and duty to the people.

Carlotta, who like most women took no interest in politics because it lacks "heart-interest," came to me with eyes swimming and cheeks aglow. She had just been reading about Burbank's heroism.

"Isn't he splendid!" she cried. "I always told you he'd be President. And you didn't believe me."

"Be patient with me, my dear," said I. "I am not a woman with seven-league boots of intuition. I'm only a heavy-footed man."

CHAPTER XIII.

Roebuck & Co. Pass Under the Yoke.

And now the stage had been reached at which my ten mutinous clients could be, and must be, disciplined.

As a first step, I resigned the chairmanship of the state committee and ordered the election of Woodruff to the vacancy. I should soon have substituted Woodruff for myself, in any event. I had never wanted the place, and had taken it only because to refuse it would have been to throw away the golden opportunity Dunkirk so unexpectedly thrust at me. Holding that position, or any other officially connecting me with my party's machine, made me a target; and I wished to be completely hidden, for I wished the people of my state to think me merely one of the party servants, in sympathy with the rank and file rather than with the machine. Yet, in the chairmanship, in the targetship, I must have a man whom I could trust through and through; and, save Woodruff, who was there for the place?

When my resignation was announced, the independent and the opposition press congratulated me on my high principle in refusing to have any official connection with the machine responsible for such infamies. When Woodruff's election was announced it came as a complete surprise. Such of the newspapers as dared, and they were few, denounced it as infamy's crown of infamy,—as I had known it would be. He made not a murmur, but I knew what must be in his mind. I said nothing until six weeks or two months had passed; then I went straight at him.

"You are feeling bitter against me," said I. "You think I dropped out when there was danger of heavy firing, and put you up to take it."

"No, indeed, Senator," he protested, "nothing like that. Honestly, I have not had a bitter thought against you. I'm depressed simply because, just as I had a chance to get on my feet again, they won't let me."

"But," I rejoined, "I did resign and put you in my place because I didn't want to take the fire and thought you could."

"And so I can," said he. "I haven't any reputation to lose. I'm no worse off than I was before. Let 'em do their damnedest."

"Your first campaign will probably be a failure," I went on, "and, the day after election, there'll be a shout for your head."

He shrugged his shoulders. "I'm enlisted for the war," said he. "You're my general. I go where you order."

I hope the feelings that surged up in me showed in my face, as I stretched out my hand. "Thank you, Doc," said I. "And—there's another side to it. It isn't all black."

"It isn't black at all," he replied stoutly.

I explained: "I've wanted you to have the place from the outset. But I shouldn't dare give it to you except at a time like this, when our party has done so many unpopular things that one more won't count; and there's so much to be said against us, so much worse things than they can possibly make out your election to be, that it'll soon be almost neglected."

"They're beginning to drop me already and go back to harrying those poor devils of ours in the legislature," said Woodruff.

"A few weeks more," I went on, "and you'll be safe and you are to stay chairman, no matter what happens. When they have leisure to attack you, there'll be nothing to attack. The people will have dismissed the matter from their minds. They don't care to watch the threshing of old straw."

I saw that I had lifted a weight from him, though he said nothing.

So much for my first move toward the chastening of my clients. Further and even more effective in the same direction I cut down our campaign fund for the legislative ticket to one-fifth what it usually was; and, without even Woodruff's knowing it, I heavily subsidized the opposition machine. Wherever it could be done with safety I arranged for the trading off of our legislative ticket for our candidate for governor. "The legislature is hopelessly lost," I told Woodruff; "we must concentrate on the governorship. We must save what we can." In fact, so overwhelmingly was our party in the majority, and so loyal were its rank and file, that it was not only by the most careful arrangement of weak candidates and of insufficient campaign funds that I was able to throw the legislature to the opposition. Our candidate for governor, Walbrook—Burbank was ineligible to a second successive term—was elected by a comfortable plurality. And, by the way, I saw to it that the party organs gave Woodruff enthusiastic praise for rescuing so much from what had looked like utter ruin.

My clients had been uneasy ever since the furious popular outburst which had followed their breaking away from my direction and restraint. When they saw an opposition legislature, they readily believed what they read in the newspapers about the "impending reign of radicalism." Silliman, the opposition leader, had accepted John Markham's offer of $150,000 for Croffut's seat in the senate; but I directed him to send Veehoft, one of the wildest and cleverest of the opposition radicals. He dared not disobey me. Veehoft went, and Markham never saw again the $75,000 he had paid Silliman as a "retainer."

Veerhoft in the United States senate gave my clients the chills; but I was preparing the fever for them also. I had Silliman introduce bills in both houses of the legislature that reached for the privileges of the big corporations and initiated proceedings to expose their corruption. I had Woodruff suggest to Governor Walbrook that, in view of the popular clamor, he ought to recommend measures for equalizing taxation and readjusting the prices for franchises. As my clients were bonded and capitalized on the basis of no expense either for taxes or for franchises, the governor's suggestion, eagerly adopted by Silliman's "horde," foreshadowed ruin. If the measures should be passed, all the dividends and interest they were paying on "water" would go into the public treasury.

My clients came to me, singly and in pairs, to grovel and to implore. An interesting study these arrogant gentlemen made as they cringed, utterly indifferent to the appearance of self-respect in their agony for their imperiled millions. A mother would shrink from abasing herself to save the life of her child as these men abased themselves in the hope of saving their dollars. How they fawned and flattered! They begged my pardon for having disregarded my advice; they assured me that, if I would only exert that same genius of mine which had conceived the combine, I would devise some way of saving them from this tidal wave of popular clamor—for they hadn't a suspicion of my part in making that tidal wave.

Reluctantly I consented to "see what I can do."

The instant change in the atmosphere of the capital, the instant outcry from the organs of both parties that "the people had voted for reform, not for confiscatory revolution," completed my demonstration. My clients realized who was master of the machines. The threatening storm rapidly scattered; the people, believing that the Silliman programme of upheaval was not to be carried out, were glad enough to see the old "conservative" order restored—our people always reason that it is better to rot slowly by corruption than to be frightened to death by revolution.

"Hereafter, we must trust to your judgment in these political matters, Harvey," said Roebuck. "The manager must be permitted to manage."

I smiled at the ingenuousness of this speech. It did not ruffle me. Roebuck was one of those men who say their prayers in a patronizing tone.

Yes, I was master. But it is only now, in the retrospect of years, that I have any sense of triumph; for I had won the supremacy with small effort, comparatively—with the small effort required of him who sees the conditions of a situation clearly, and, instead of trying to combat or to change them, intelligently uses them to his ends. Nor do I now regard my achievement as marvelous. Everything was in my favor; against me, there was nothing—no organization, no plan, no knowledge of my aim. I wonder how much of their supernal glory would be left to the world's men of action, from the Alexanders and Napoleons down to its successful bandits and ward-bosses, if mankind were in the habit of looking at what the winner had opposed to him—Alexander faced only by flocks of sheep-like Asiatic slaves; Napoleon routing the badly trained, wretchedly officered soldiers of decadent monarchies; and the bandit or ward-boss overcoming peaceful and unprepared and unorganized citizens. Who would erect statues or write eulogies to a man for mowing a field of corn-stalks with a scythe? Mankind is never more amusing than in its hero-worship.

No, I should simply have been stupid had I failed.

But—even had I been disposed to rein in and congratulate myself at the quarter-stretch, I could not have done it. A man has, perhaps, some choice as to his mount before he enters the race for success. But once in the saddle and off, he must let the reins go; his control is confined to whip and spur.

CHAPTER XIV.

A "Boom-Factory."

In the early autumn of that last year of his as governor, Burbank's wife died—a grim and unexpected fulfillment of their pretended anxieties of six months before.

It was, in some respects, as great a loss to me as to him—how great to us both I did not—indeed, could not—measure until several years passed. She was what I regard as a typical American wife—devoted to her husband, jealously guarding his interests, yet as keen to see his shortcomings as she was to see her own. And how much more persistent and intelligent in correcting her faults than he in correcting his! Like most men, he was vain—that is, while he would probably have admitted in a large, vague way that he wasn't perfect, when it came to details he would defend his worst fault against any and all criticism. Like most women, she, too, was vain—but an intelligent woman's vanity, instead of making her self-complacent somehow spurs her on to hide her weak points and to show her best points in the best light. For example, Mrs. Burbank a pretty woman and proud of it, was yet conscious of her deficiencies in dress and in manners through her plain and rural early surroundings. It was interesting and instructive, too, to watch her studying and cleverly copying, or rather, adapting Carlotta; for she took from Carlotta only that which could be fitted without visible joint into her own pattern.

Latterly, whenever I was urging upon Burbank a line of action requiring courage or a sacrifice of some one of his many insidious forms of personal vanity, I always arranged for her to be present at our conferences. And she would sit there, apparently absorbed in her sewing; but in reality she was seeing not only the surface reasons I gave him, but also those underlying and more powerful reasons which we do not utter, sometimes because we like to play the hypocrite to ourselves, again because we must give the other person a chance to play the hypocrite himself—and us. And often I left him reluctant and trying to muster courage to refuse or finesse to evade, only to find him the next day consenting, perhaps enthusiastic. Many's the time she spared me the disagreeable necessity of being peremptory—doubly disagreeable because show of authority has ever been distasteful to me and because an order can never be so heartily executed as is an assimilated suggestion.

When I went to him a month after her death, I expected he would still be crushed as he was at the funeral. I listened with a feeling of revulsion to his stilted and, as it seemed to me, perfunctory platitudes on his "irreparable loss"—stale rhetoric about her, and to her most intimate friend and his! I had thought he would be imagining himself done with ambition forever; I had feared his strong religious nature would lead him to see a "judgment" upon him and her for having exaggerated her indisposition to gain a political point. And I had mapped out what I would say to induce him to go on. Instead, after a few of those stereotyped mortuary sentences, he shifted to politics and was presently showing me that her death had hardly interrupted his plannings for the presidential nomination. As for the "judgment," I had forgotten that in his religion his deity was always on his side, and his misfortunes were always of the evil ones. These deities of men of action! Man with his god a ventriloquist puppet in his pocket, and with his conscience an old dog Tray at his heels, needing no leading string!

However, it gave me a shock to see this vivid reminder from Burbank of the slavery of ambition—ambition, the vice of vices. For it takes its victims' all—moral, mental, physical. And, while other vices rarely wreck any but small men or injure more than what is within their small circles of influence, ambition seizes only the superior and sets them on to use their superior powers to blast communities, states, nations, continents. Yet it is called a virtue. And men who have sold themselves to it and for it to the last shred of manhood are esteemed and, mystery of mysteries, esteem themselves!

I had come to Burbank to manufacture him into a president. His wife and I had together produced an excellent raw material. Now, to make it up into the finished product.

He pointed to the filing cases that covered the west wall of his library from floor to ceiling, from north window to south. "I base my hopes on those—next to you, of course," said he. Then with his "woeful widower" pose, he added: "They were her suggestions."

I looked at the filing-cases and waited for him to explain.

"When we first married," he went on presently, "she said, 'It seems to me, if I were a public man, I should keep everything relating to myself—every speech, all that the newspapers said, every meeting and the lists of the important people who were there, notes of all the people I ever met anywhere, every letter or telegram or note I received. If you do, you may find after a few years that you have an enormous list of acquaintances. You've forgotten them because you met so many, but they will not have forgotten you, who were one of the principal figures at the meeting or reception.' That's in substance what she said. And so, we began and kept it up"—he paused in his deliberate manner, compressed his lips, then added—"together."

I opened one of the filing-cases, glanced at him for permission, took out a slip of paper under the M's. It was covered with notes, in Mrs. Burbank's writing, of a reception given to him at the Manufacturers' Club in St. Louis three years before. A lot of names, after each sum reminders of the standing and personal appearance of the man. Another slip, taken at random from the same box, contained similar notes of a trip through Montana eight years before.

"Wonderful!" I exclaimed, as the full value of these accumulations loomed in my mind. "I knew that she was an extraordinary woman. Now I see that she had genius for politics."

His expression—a peering through that eternal pose of his—made me revise my first judgment of his mourning. For I caught a glimpse of a real human being, one who loved and lost, looking grief and pride and gratitude. "If she had left me two or three years earlier," he said in that solemn hoping tone, "I doubt if I should have got one step further. As it is, I may be able to go on, though—I have left—my staff."

What fantastic envelopes does man, after he has been finished by nature, wrap about himself in his efforts to improve her handiwork! Physically, even when most dressed, we are naked in comparison with the enswathings that hide our real mental and moral selves from one another—and from ourselves.

WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS.

Make friends of equals.—Stobeaus.

The end of a dissolute life is commonly a desperate death.—Bion.

Thou must live unto another if thou wilt live unto thyself.—Seneca.

Slowly but surely withal moveth the might of the gods.—Euripides.

In matters of doubt boldness is of the greatest value.—Publius Syrus.

As a moth gnaws a garment, so does envy consume a man.—Chrysostomus.

No book is so bad but some good may be gotten out of it.—Pliny the Elder.

The desire for the superfluous is folly, for it hath no bounds.—Pythagoras.

If it is not seemly, do it not; if it is not true, speak it not.—Marcus Aurelius.

The essence of good and evil is a certain disposition of the will.—Epictetus.

A man must make himself despicable before he is despised.—Chinese saying.

They who delight to be flattered pay for their folly by a late repentance.—Phaedrus.

Much knowledge of things divine escapes us through want of faith.—Heraclitus.

What I do not wish men to do to me, I also wish not to do to them.—Confucius.

To err in opinion, though it be not the part of wise men, is at least human.—Plutarch.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

There never was a bride who thought the newspapers did her justice.

An ordinary man can't attack a woman and get away with it, but a president can.

Nothing seems to hurt a woman quite so much as paying a great big dollar to the milkman.

When a man goes to hell his punishment will probably be to read the "papers" prepared by women for their clubs.

When a New York woman sues a man for breach of promise, you may safely bet it wasn't an innocent handholding affair.

Every time I meet a woman I particularly admire I am either chewing tobacco or badly in need of a shave. No wonder I am not popular.

When a man submits to a procession wedding the other men look at him the way boys look at a boy whose mother makes him wear long curls.

A dog's life is an easy one. Nothing to do, comfortable home, plenty to eat, and then given a lot of credit for looking after its own interests by being faithful to its master.

You often hear of being "between two fires." That's nothing. The average man has so many fires built around him that if he were between only two fires he would decide the world is getting easy on him.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

MRS. CRAIGIE'S EPIGRAMS.

When the heart has a certain measure of distress it is agitated and in revolt, but when it is full of woe, and can contain no more it is still, and its stillness passes for resignation to destiny.

Time answers questions by deadening all our faculties and sensations. I have been watching elderly men and women; they try to believe that they have gained wisdom. They have only lost the power of wondering.

People who wish to regard divine providence as an English gentleman of large fortune, perfect morals, an anxiety to frustrate the foreigner and a desire to feed rather than to meet the poor, were disturbed by Firmaiden's fear of God, which to some seemed superstition and to others ill advised.—From "The Dream and the Business."

PHILOSOFICK FOOLISHNESS.

A cold is something you catch without running.

You can't tell what's in a man's purse by the noise of his clothes.

If we should get everything we pray for we would all have too much.

The surest way for a woman to get married is to become a bachelor girl.

Those who wear their hearts on their sleeves are always crying "Misdeal!"

Courtesy costs nothing, which is why some men seem to think it is worthless.

There is enough money in circulation but it's difficult to get into the current.

WHAT THE LAW DECIDES.

Common law marriages, consummated in accordance with the rules of the common law, are held, in Reaves vs. Reaves (O. T.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 353, not to be forbidden by the statute on the subject of marriage.

A license to operate a saloon in a certain building was held, in Malkan vs. Chicago (Ill.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 488, not to authorize the operation of two different saloons in different rooms in the building.

Books of account are held, in Lewis vs. England (Wyo), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 401, to be admissible to prove cash loans, where the items appear in the general course of accounts as part of the business transactions between the parties.

A statutory provision that causes of action for the balance due upon a mutual and open account current shall be deemed to have accrued at the time of the last item proved in the account is held, in Koelzer vs. First National bank (Wis.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 571, not to apply to a general bank deposit account.

The liability of officers of a mutual fire insurance company to a member for the amount due him for a loss because they organized the members of the branch which was liable for the loss into a new company, leaving the branch in a state of suspended animation, is denied in Perry vs. Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Association (N. C.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 165.

A manufacturer who fraudulently uses and conceals defective material in an implement is held, in Kuelling vs. Roderick Lean Mfg. Co. (N. Y.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 303, to be liable for injury caused thereby, although the implement had passed through the hands of wholesale and retail dealers, so that there was no privity of contract between the manufacturer and the person injured.

WHAT IS MONEY.

To the query, "What is money, anyway?" the following answers are made:

The breath of business.

The antidote for poverty.

The best talking machine.

Something that always gets the glad hand.

The most effective substitute for brains.

Money is the most difficult road to cultivate.

That which women look for while men sleep.

Money is the loudest sound in the voice of life.

What the rich don't need and the poor don't get.

A curse to some that have it and a curse to all that haven't.

A provider for everything but happiness; a passport to everywhere but heaven.

That which speaks a language we can all understand, but in which few are able to converse—Bulls and Bears.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The king of Italy is a vegetarian.

Mice, though fond of butter, will not eat oleo.

Chess is the oldest game. Its age is 5,200 years.

Piano leather is costliest. Only one tanner can make it.

It would take 31,000 stamps to form a complete collection.

A man's hair turns gray five years sooner than a woman's.

Germany imports to America 131,000 canaries a twelvemonth.

The United States manufactures 7,000,000 false teeth annually.

Every German soldier's equipment includes a bible and a half-pound cake of chocolate.

Hurrah is derived from the old Egyptian battle cry "Hoo-ra!" which means "the king."

At Werda, Dahomey, there is a temple of sacred snakes. Here 1,000 serpents are tended by priests, who feed them birds and mice, the offerings of the natives.

DYSPEPTIC PHILOSOPHY.

Many a fellow's wife is too rich to agree with him.

Flattery is a fault that is easily cured by marriage.

A woman hates to hear her husband abused. It is usurping her privilege.

It is almost as hard to live up to a good reputation as to live down a bad one.

The man with a grievance never seems to have an impediment in his speech.

CITY FATHERS' ROUTINE

Public Affairs Committee will Investigate Fourth Street Trolley Service.

RECEIVE BLDG. PERMITS

More Lights In Various Parts of the City—The Board of Trade On Its Job.

Following a ten minutes' recess which as usual lasted over an hour, the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, transacted a great amount of business. In the routine a petition was received from the Morris Brothers' Auto Company, of East Fourth street, asking for permission to erect a one-story extension, 37x45, concrete, in the rear of the auto shops, and U. B. Crane asked for similar permission to erect a one-story building back of his store at 120 West Front street. Upon the motion of Mr. Hibbard, chairman of the fire and building committee, these petitions were referred back to the committee with power to grant them if the plans meet with its approval.

F. W. Weed, of the West End, reminded the members of a complaint made by him in December last against the alleged wretched trolley service on Fourth street and urged that something be done to remedy it. He said that the service is worse than ever, and the cars which are wrecks are run on any old schedule. The matter was referred to the public affairs committee.

L. E. Hart asked for permission to move the dwelling at West Front street and Elmwood place to Elmwood place, and the matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

In the matter of Elston M. French and the State Board of Taxation, concerning 1906 taxes, the matter was referred to the corporation counsel. A communication was received from E. F. Feickert, secretary of the Board of Trade, asking that North avenue be included among the streets to be paved with vitrified brick. This was referred to the street committee and was considered later. The Board of School Estimate certified to the Common Council the amount of money needed for the erection of the proposed new school on Darrow avenue, which is $90,000.

Tax Collector J. W. Murray, Jr., was authorized to receive from the Public Service Corporation $409.57, that being its share of the expense of macademizing Monroe avenue last year.

Mr. Tolles, chairman of the finance committee, offered resolutions fixing $14,000 as the amount needed for street lighting during the coming year, and $2 as the dog tax, and these amounts were certified to the Board of Assessors as required by law.

Mr. Montgomery recommended the granting of petitions for ten new electric lights as follows: One on Netherwood avenue, between East Front and East Second street; one on East Front street, between Netherwood and Leland avenues; Norwood avenue, near the bridge, on Sycamore street, between Fifth and Sixth streets; one on Berkeley avenue, between Dunmark and Ravine roads; one on Prescott place, between Third and Fourth streets; one on West Front street, 300 feet from Jefferson avenue; one on Jefferson avenue, 200 feet north of West Front street, and one on Rock avenue at the New Jersey Central crossing. There was an unanimous vote on these lights with the exception of the ones on Sycamore street, Prescott place, Jefferson avenue and West Front street and Rock avenue, against which Mr. Tyler voted and Mr. Tolles also voted against the one at Rock avenue, feeling that at the rate they were being granted the appropriation would soon be expended.

Charged With Bike Theft.

Albert Conway, a machinist employed at the Rushmore Dynamo Works, was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning on a charge of stealing a bicycle preferred by Raphael Kase, a fellow workingman. Kase said he recognized the rims belonging to his bicycle on a wheel ridden by Conway. The latter denied the charge, and told a straightforward story. Judge Runyon laid the case over until tomorrow morning for disposition, releasing Conway under $50 bail. S. W. Rushmore, the defendant's employer, went on his bond.

Drunk Fined.

John Remppies, charged with drunkenness, was arraigned in the City Court this morning. He was fined $5.

GANG RUNS OFF WITH ITALIANS' STREET PIANO

SCOTCH PLAINS HOODLUMS AT IT AGAIN—ONE CAUGHT AND FINED.

Charles Machin, of Scotch Plains, was arraigned before Recorder Clark at the township jail yesterday, charged with being disorderly by stealing a street piano. Machin was one of a gang who took the piano, which had been left for safe-keeping by two Italians, from the barn of Deegan's Hotel, Monday night. They ran off with the instrument for a lark.

Marshal Logan, of Fanwood, ran into the gang, and they fled, leaving the piano behind. Logan caught Machin, who was slow in getting started. He made the prisoner haul the piano back to the barn and thehn locked him up.

Machin was fined $10.75. The Italians got their piano back.

HITCH OVER CONTRACT FOR CRUSHED STONE

COMMON COUNCIL DECIDES TO RE-ADVERTISE FOR BIDS.

For the reason that the bids for furnishing crushed stone, crosswalks and culverts for the remainder of the year were received by less than a quorum of the street committee, Mr. Ginna, the chairman, offered a resolution at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, that all bids be rejected. He then offered another resolution authorizing the committee to re-advertise for bids, the same to be received and opened at the Common Council rooms on Thursday night, May 2.

Mr. Tolles voted against the resolutions on the ground that the bids were received and the contract for crushed stone awarded to Smalley Brothers. Mr. Montgomery also voted against the resolution to re-advertise for bids, because he thought the committee should first consider the matter.

Mr. Tolles wanted to know what the city would do in the meantime for stone, and this brought forth a statement from Mr. Ginna, who said that Corporation Counsel Marsh advised that the city could do but one thing, and that is re-advertise for bids and he thought it to be the quickest way of settling the matter.

The trouble arose over the fact that in the bids for crushed stone, the Watchung Stone Company was six cents lower than Smalley Brothers, but it is claimed that it can not deliver stone from its own quarries at once. Inasmuch as the city reserves the right to reject any or all bids, the committee, it is understood, decided to give the contract to Smalley Brothers, believing that the Watchung Stone Company was not in a position to deliver stone. It was afterward claimed by Warren B. Travell, of the Watchung company, that the city could have stone any time it desired. Later the question arose as to there being less than a quorum at the committee meeting and to obviate any further trouble it was thought best to secure new bids.

Fun Writer to Talk.

Charles Battell Loomis, the author and humorous, will appear before the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Tuesday night, April 23, at which time he will give selections from his latest book, "A Bath in an English Tub." In the current number of the Cosmopolitan Mr. Loomis has a story, entitled the "Offenses of Billy," the scenes and incidents of which are taken from Plainfield life.

Increased Pastor's Salary.

One thing that entered into the decision of Rev. E. E. Roberson to return to the Monroe Avenue M. E. church for another year, with the approval of the Bishop, was that his congregation unanimously voted to increase his salary from $1,000 to $1,500, and under these conditions he said that he would prefer to remain in Plainfield another year at a salary of $1,500 than go to the Orange M. E. church at $2,000.

Dan S. Roberts' Funeral.

The funeral of former Councilman Dan S. Roberts, who died at his home on Prospect place, yesterday morning, will be held at the late residence Friday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman will officiate. The body will afterward be placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery.

Perkins' Labor Bill Passes.

The bill increasing the salaries of State labor inspectors from $1,000 to $1,500 and the assistant commissioner from $1,500 to $1,800, passed both the House and the Senate yesterday. Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Union, sponsored the measure in the lower branch.

MORE PAY FOR EMPLOYES

Mayor Argues Increased Cost of Living Demands Better Wages.

FAVORABLY RECEIVED

Recommendation Referred to Committees and Will Be Brought Up For Action at Next Council Meeting.

Believing that the city is not paying its policemen and firemen sufficient salary in view of the present high cost of living, Mayor C. J. Fisk recommended a new scale of wages for these employes at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. The scale suggested by the Mayor is slightly in excess of the scale adopted earlier in the year, and it is believed it will give satisfaction among the firemen and policemen. The Mayor argued long and convincingly that living conditions had changed materially and it was due the employes to give them more pay.

The scale as suggested for the police is as follows: Captain, $1,200; detective sergeant and sergeant, $1,080 each; roundsmen, $1,020 each; patrolmen, $88.33 a month and probations $60 a month, the men in the last named class to be removed at the pleasure of the Police Board of Common Council.

This schedule was recommended for the firemen: Chief, $1,250; first assistant, $1,200; captains, $1,080 each; five-year men, $1,000; 2-5-year men, $900; probationers, $60 a month, they to be removed at the pleasure of the Fire Board and Common Council. The chief also receives $500 as building inspector.

Upon the motion of Mr. Mellick the matter was referred to the fire and building and police committees, each member to receive a copy of the new scale recommended by the Mayor. It is understood that the majority of Councilmen favor the increase and that the matter will be acted upon at the next meeting.

HUFF WHILE IN HUFF HELD UP TROLLEY CAR

HE WAS AFTER HIS RIGHTS BUT FOUND A CELL INSTEAD.

Chief Weiss, of the borough police force, was standing in front of police headquarters last night, when his attention was attracted by the ceaseless ringing of a street car bell. When the trolley came opposite the station the motorman called out that a man in a runabout just ahead had kept in front of him all the way from Johnson's drive and had refused to turn out. The chief recognized the obdurate driver as F. J. Huff and told him to let the car go by but received the reply that he wouldn't.

"This is a public street," said Huff, "and I've got just as much right on it as the trolley company has."

The head cop immediately took charge of things by way of answering and led the horse from the rails. Huff protested that his rights as a citizen were being interfered with and when Weiss told him to keep quiet he dared the officer to arrest him. The dare was accepted and Huff spent the night in a cell.

When arraigned before Recorder Dolliver this morning he was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct but denied the former. When Chief Weiss asked for an adjournment to get witnesses to prove it, Huff admitted both and was fined $8.

It was reported by Mr. Leonard that progress is being made in the compilation of the annual church book which is to contain the list of members, officers, various societies and financial reports for the past year.

$29,000 for Fire, $28,0000 for Police, $14,000 for Lighting, $7,500 for Library, $6,700 for Poor and $700 for Garbage.

The annual tax budget for the coming eyar was introduced in an ordinance by Chairman Toiles, of the finance committee, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised. This was not done, however, until the Council, together with Mayor C. J. Fisk and City Treasurer W. F. Arnold held an executive session for one hour. In round figures the increase in this year's budget over last is about $10,000.

The amount specified for general purposes, exclusive of school, library, poor, fire, police and State and county taxes, is $61,090, and included in this amount is $35,000 for street improvements; $14,000 for street lighting; $5,000 for the principal on sewer bonds, $9,000 for the interest on sewer obligations; $6,700 for the poor, including $1,000 for the care of the indigent poor at the hospital; $7,500 for the Public Library and Reading Room; $29,000 for the fire department; $5,440 for the interest on school bonds, and $700 for the principal on the garbage disposal plant. $1,000 SUBSCRIBED FOR Y. W. C. A.'S HOME

FORMER MAYOR JENKINS' HOME TO BE ACQUIRED BY INSTITUTION.

Through the generosity of friends of the movement, the provisional committee of the Young Women's Christian Association, which has been hustling during the past few weeks, announces that the first $1,000 has been secured toward the purchase of a home for the association. The question of securing a home has been the most difficult, but at a meeting of the committee, together with the finance committee and several prominent business men, several properties were considered. It was finally decided to advise the purchase of Mrs. O. L. Jenkins' house on East Front street.

It is the wish of those interested not to assume this responsibility until the required $4,000 is pledged and a special account has been opened in the bank so that any contribution or pledge, no matter how big or small, may be sent to Mrs. F. G. Mead on East Front street. It is believed that the entire amount will be raised within a short time. The organization meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday night, April 18.

The property selected on East Front street is particularly adapted to the needs of the association after a few changes are made, and the proposition has been received enthusiastically. It is possible that after the organization is completed Miss Tappen, of Utica, N. Y., will be called as the permanent secretary. She is now in town and will remain here for the present, acquainting herself with the work.

COUNTRY CLUB CHANGE.

J. W. Baker a Trustee and Head of a Committee.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Plainfield Country Club yesterday, J. Whitney Baker was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of T. R. Van Boskerck. Mr. Baker also succeeds Mr. Van Boskerck as chairman of the golf committee. Under the rules, the chairman of a committee has the appointment of his own committee so that when a chairman resigns, his committee ceases to exist.

Mr. Baker has chosen his own committeemen, making the following appointments: Robert H. Cox, R. S. Rowland, J. E. Erickson, E. H. Shoemaker. He will probably add another man to the committee later on. The new committee has already held one session, and it busy on the schedule for the year, which will come out about April 20.

CONTRACTORS WIN POINT

Court Orders Property Owner to Pay Over Money to Sub-Contractors.

FUND IN CHANCERY

Injunction Obtained By Alonzo Aldrich Against Boice, Runyon & Co. Dismissed By Vice Chancellor.

The decision of Vice Chancellor Bergen at Trenton, yesterday, in the suit of Boice, Runyon & Co. against Alonzo Aldrich, dismissing the injunction obtained by Mr. Aldrich in which he sought to withhold Boice, Runyon & Co., as well as other claimants, from getting money alleged to be due them, is said to be of great importance to contractors in general. As a result of the decision the claimants can now obtain their money and Mr. Aldrich is obliged to pay the costs.

Mr. Aldrich contracted with William H. Brokaw to build a house for him at Grant avenue and West Fourth street, and when it was completed, several sub-contractors had claims against Mr. Brokaw. They served notice on Mr. Aldrich to hold back money due on the contract. This he did, the amount being $800.

Three months passed and Aldrich did not pay the money over and in the meantime he rented the house. On January 1 suit was started by Reed & Coddington for Boice, Runyon & Co., in the district court to recover $200. In that suit Boice, Runyon & Co. obtained judgment. Then Mr. Aldrich, claiming that there was a dispute among the contestants and that he did not know to whom he should pay the money, turned the amount over to the Court of Chancery and took out an injunction preventing Boice, Runyon & Co. from getting its money. An answer was filed and yesterday a hearing was granted by Vice Chancellor Bergen with the result that the injunction was dismissed. It was declared that Mr. Aldrich had no occasion to pay the money to the Court of Chancery, but should have given it to the sub-contractors.

The other parties interested in the action and who benefit by the decision of the court are the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, represented by I. P. Runyon, Esq., and Arthur E. Giles, represented by Walter L. Metfield, Jr. The sub-contractors will now be able to get their money.

COLBY KNOCKED OUT IN THE FIRST ROUND?

ACKERMAN'S BLOW KILLS BOXING BILL ESSEX MAN FOUGHT FOR.

Assemblyman Hahn's bill, No. 98, to permit physical culture schools to hold boxing exhibitions received its death blow in the State Senate at Trenton yesterday afternoon.

Senator Colby advocated the bill and explained its desirability.

"It is a good bill and ought to pass," said Mr. Colby.

"I vote no," promptly said Senator Ackerman, of Union county, when the roll call began.

"Eight-ounce gloves can hurt somebody," said Mr. Colby.

"I could knock a man down and kill him with eight-ounce gloves," retorted Senator Frelinghuysen, "I shrink from brutality, and I vote no."

Eight Senators voted for the bill and five against.

Assemblyman Hahn later surveyed the field of carnage to see if there was any chance of obtaining the three additional votes needed for passage. An attempt may be made to secure a reconsideration, but it is doubtful if the necessary eleven votes can be obtained.

$68,000 BOND ISSUE TO BE MADE BY CITY

TO MEET EXPENSES OF SEWER SYSTEM WORK—IN $1,000 DENOMINATIONS.

For the purpose of covering the cost of all the sewer improvement work done last year, Mr. Tolles, chairman of the finance committee, introduced an ordinance at last night's meeting providing for the issuance of $68,000 worth of sewer bonds, the same to run from May 1, 1907, to May 1, 1941, and bear interest of 4½ per cent. The matter was first introduced through a resolution and this was followed by the ordinance which was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised.

Another resolution offered by Mr. Mellick and adopted, authorized the city treasurer to have the sixty-eight bonds of $1,000 denomination each, engraved. The expense is to be borne by the whole city, it being for work for which no assessments for benefits can be laid.

FLIM-FLAMMER GETS TWO MONTHS IN JAIL

PLAINFIELDER RECEIVES SIMILIAR SENTENCE FOR LARCENY OF $24.

George Davis, the New York young man who on March 13 flim-flammed a clerk at Voehl's bakery by an old "short change" game, was sent to jail for two months by Judge Atwater in the Union county court this morning. He entered a plea of non vult and the sentence was evidently lessened because of his saving the expense of a trial. Davis was caught by George Voehl in Timbo's restaurant, to which place he had gone after leaving the bakery and where he was trying to work the same game.

At the same session of court, Ernest L. Treat, colored, of Plainfield, charged with the theft of a bicycle, entered a plea of not guilty through his counsel, William G. DeMeza. He filed a waive of indictment in trial by jury and will be tried before Judge Atwater next Thursday.

James Davis, colored, of this city, who was indicted for the larceny of $24 from a trunk in a boarding house, pleaded guilty and sent to jail for two months.

H. L. Freeman, of Newark, who was indicted for forging the name of LeRoy Gibby to two checks aggregating $18, entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced next Wednesday. Freeman has already served two terms for similar offenses, one of seven years in Joilet and another of two years in a Western penitentiary.

MOXON MAY WEAR HIS CAP.

Resolution Aimed at Assemblyman's Headgear is Voted Down.

There was one resolution that did not get the support of the members of the House at Trenton yesterday. It was a resolution to the effect that all members of the House be compelled to remove any headgear they might design to wear.

The tall and lanky form of Assemblyman John R. Moxon, of Union, was floating around the Assembly chamber conspicuously. He wore a skull cap. The resolution was aimed at him in a joke.

His Republican friends cried "nay" on the vote so loudly that the Democratic side, from which the resolution emanated, could not be heard.

"Mr. Moxon will wear his cap," said Assemblyman Thomas C. Elvins, who was temporarily in the Speaker's chair.

PERMANENT PAVE SURE

Common Council Will Adopt Ordinance After Public Hearing on May 6.

INCLUDES NORTH AVE.

Approximate Cost To Be $45,000—Messrs. Tyler and Hibbard Raise Objections.

The anticipated ordinance providing for permanent pavements in the business part of the city was introduced by Chairman Ginna, of the street committee, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night. The ordinance, which was exclusively described in the Daily Press some weeks ago, calls for the use of vitrified brick. It was first read for the information of the Common Council, and when it was discovered that the streets named did not include North avenue, it was amended to provide for that thoroughfare after much discussion.

The ordinance specifies that the work shall be completed by November 30 and that the pavement be the equal of that now in use on Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street. The streets to be paved are the following:

East and West Front street, between Watchung and Madison avenues; Somerset street from Front street to the brook; Watchung avenue, from East Front to East Fourth streets, except between North avenue and Second street; Park avenue, between Front and Fourth streets; North avenue, between Park and Watchung avenue; East Fourth street and Sycamore streets; Arlington avenue and Seventh street; Arlington avenue and Eighth street. In the case of the last three mentioned streets the are to be paved at the intersecting points only.

The cost of the work will be $45,000 and the sum will be raised through the issue of street improvement bonds, which are run a period of nineteen years and bear interest at 4½ per cent. Upon the completion of the work application is to be made to the Court of Common Pleas for the appointment of commissioners who shall assess the property-owners directly interested for benefits, and all cost in excess of benefits is to be paid by the city.

Mr. Gloak contended that North avenue should be included in the streets to be paved and it was his suggestion that led to a discussion of the matter. Mr. Ginna claimed that North avenue is and has been in first-class condition and he thought the expense unnecessary at present. Mr. Buxton and Councilman Frank Randolph favored the improvement of the avenue, while Mr. Hibbard opposed the amendment offered by Mr. Gloak to incorporate the street in the list. He wanted to know whether the railroad company would share in the expense.

Mr. Tyler said that while North avenue gets lots of traffic, it is not of the heavy kind and that in introducing permanent pavement in the city the committee is even now divided in its opinion as to whether brick is the best thing to use. He thought that later some material that is better might be found. The proposed improvement with brick he considered an experiment at the most and he believed that North avenue should be eliminated. President Daniel replied that he thought not, as the railroad would derive little benefit. He believed that the greatest benefit would be to the city.

Mr. Ginna finally suggested a seperate ordinance to provide for North avenue, inasmuch as the cost for the streets to be improved had been determined and it might delay the passage of the ordinance. He changed his mind when Mr. Montgomery said that Street Commissioner Gavett could tell at once the cost of paving North avenue and it could be inserted in the ordinance. At the request of Mr. Ginna, Mr. Gavett said the cost would be $7,000 and the figures in the ordinance were changed from $38,000 to $45,000. Mr. Hibbard voted against the amendment. After the ordinance is adopted on final reading arrangements will be made to advertise for bids for the improvement. A public hearing on the ordinance is set for Monday night, May 6.

Beggar Jailed for 30 Days.

John Jensen, a one-eyed 65-year-old Swede, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Kiely for begging. He had a printed appeal that said he couldn't see very well out of his good eye, and took to begging only under the spur of stern necessity. He lost a good home in Sweden, the appeal continued, but the great kindness of the American people made him happy as if he still had it. Judge Runyon gave him another indication of the public's readiness to help, by sending him to Elizabeth for a thirty days' stay at the taxpayers' expense.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Jesse Ryno and family, who have been living on the Ackerman farm, Westfield road, for the past year, have removed to the Radin house on Park avenue, near the mill.

Yesterday was hardly an ideal spring day, and proved to be a jar to the residents who have been tempted to plant early gardens.

The local baseball season opens one week from Saturday, April 20, and not Saturday afternoon of this week as announced.

Owing to there not being a quorum present, no meeting of Fanwood Council was held last night.

Charles Reick has taken a position with the Waldorf Astoria Hotel Company, New York.

Anthony Bozark has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

Owing to the storm yesterday only one session was held at the school.

Perry Plans New Trip.

New York, April 10.—Application of Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., for leave of absence of three years was approved yesterday by the Secretary of the Navy, and this action has uncovered the fact that Commander Peary purposes to make another attempt this summer to reach the North Pole. The three years' leave of absence during which he made his famous journey to the farthest point north ever reached by man—87 degrees, 6 minutes—expires last Sunday, and the new leave begins at once. Preparations for another dash toward the Pole have been under way all winter, but Commander Peary and his associates of the Peary Arctic Club have been keeping secret their action, as it would be a breach of courtesy, if not of discipline, for the naval officer to announce his voyage until his superiors made it possible by their approval. The order granting the leave of absence stipulates that the time is to be devoted to arctic exploration. Funds necessary for the next trip to the North have not yet been obtained in adequate quantity, but there is no uneasiness as to that.

Pastor Marries Divorcee.

New York, April 10.—Mrs. Fannie Rice Bassett was married last evening to the Rev. Edward Lawrence Hunt, former pastor of the Noble Street Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, by the Rev. Dr. Henry Marsh Warren, in the latter's residence, No. 48 West Ninety-fourth street. Mrs. Bassett's son, Rice Bassett, eight years old, gave away his mother, and Charles A. Boston, the bride's attorney, witnessed the ceremony. Mr. Hunt announced that he and his wife would reside for a few days with his mother, who is permitted to use the manse of the Noble street church pending the installation of a successor to her son. He resigned from the Brooklyn Presbytery last Monday as alternative to defending charges before that body growing out of a divorce suit successfully prosecuted by Mr. Bassett. Mr. Hunt has declared that he will continue ministerial duty on the lecture platform.

3,000 Mile Test for Horse.

Junction City, Kan., April 10.—Second Lieutenant E. R. W. McCabe, of the Sixth Cavalry, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Riley, has been selected by the War Department to ride from Portland, Ore., across the continent to New York city on an Arabian stallion, to test the endurance of these horses. If the test proves the animals to be the best available, they will likely be used as cavalry horses by the army. Lieutenant McCabe will probably be ordered to report at Portland within two weeks. He will be accompanied on his return overland trip by an orderly. The distance by rail is 3,18[illegible] miles.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The music pupils of St. Gabriel's Academy are preparing for the annual musical to be held early in May.

—Tomorrow and Friday nights the members of Co. K will continue their efforts to qualify on the armory range for decorations.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley, Jr., are moving this week from Somerset street to West End Heights, the property purchased by Mr. Smalley several months ago.

—The Treble Clef Association, composed of fifty women, is rehearsing a concert to be given during May. The women meet in J. Edmund Skiff's studio in the Babcock building every week.

—Arthur E. Smith, who received the contract for building the wing walls on the West End avenue bridge, has everything in readiness to start the work as soon as weather permits. The walls on the borough side will probably be started first so that the improvement on that side of the brook can be completed.

—The auction of the personal property belonging to the estate of the late Col. Julian Scott, will be held at the Stillman block, 212 West Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Among the things to be sold will be Indian blankets, curiosities, old furniture, besides household furnishings. P. H. Latourette will be the auctioneer.

Galusha Grow Blackmailed.

New York, April 10.—Friends of the late Galusha A. Grow have been astounded to learn that his death was hastened by a band of swindlers who levied blackmail upon him, using a woman as their willing tool. To protect his name and reputation from assaults which he feared would be taken seriously by a cynical world he paid the swindlers, it is believed, many thousands of dollars—some estimate the total at more than $100,000. He worried much during the last few months of his life, not because of his disappearing fortune, but because of his fear that a blot might be cast upon his political and personal record, the purity of which had ever been his greatest pride and which stands untarnished. It is known that a woman announced herself as the wife of Mr. Grow, and his friends fear she may now advance a claim upon the small estate left by him. It is said she is taking legal steps to that end, but if so, the relatives of Mr. Grow have received no official notice thereof.

College Entrance Prize.

The Harvard Club of New Jersey, through its executive committee, offer for competition a prize of two hundred and fifty dollars, payable in the middle of the freshman year, to a resident of New Jersey entering Harvard College from a New Jersey school. The exact terms on which the prize will be awarded have not yet been decided upon, but will be announced later, after consultation between the prize committee of the club and the college authorities at Cambridge, but standing in the entrance examinations will certainly be the chief element in determining the award. The prize is offered and will be available for members of the class entering college in the fall of 1908, and for at least two years thereafter. Announcements of details will be made as soon as they have been arranged. E. J. Marsh, Jr., secretary, 24 Church stheet, Paterson, N. J.

Read She Was Dead, Died.

Evansville, Ind., April 10.—Thrown into a state of nervous prostration by reading an account published in a newspaper of her supposed death, Mrs. Louisa Duley, aged forty-nine years, expired Monday night. Through an error the death of a woman of the same name was reported as having occurred in Mrs. Duley's home, and as she read the story she fell from her chair to the floor. A physician was called, but was unable to learn the reason for Mrs. Duley's collapse. She became rational later, and, after talking a few minutes, began to cry, "I am dead! I am dead! I saw it in the paper," and died in hysterics.

Williamson Site May Be Selected.

Elizabeth, April 10.—Mrs. Emily E. Williamson went to Washington Monday afternoon expecting to conclude the sale of her property on North Broad street and Westfield avenue to the government as a site for the new postoffice building. A number of the business men of the city have expressed strong objection to the site because it is not in the busiest section of the city, but it has the strong support of others who, owing to the rents asked for stores and buildings in the present business centre of Broad street, south of the railroad arches, look for the development of a new centre of trade north of the railroads.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

INTERNAL PARASITES.

Cooper's New Discovery has taught me many things. Not least of which is that parasites or tape worms as they are called are responsible for an immense amount of suffering. Thousands of these creatures have been brought to me by people who have taken the New Discovery and I now know that an immense amount of supposed stomach trouble is caused in reality by one of these parasites. A man or woman may be afflicted in this manner for years and not realize the true cause of their suffering. When I first sold Cooper's New Discovery I did not know that the medicine would remove this trouble. I have since found that it invariably does so. The following letter is a fair sample of the symptoms as experienced by an individual thus affected:

NICK EMMERICK.

"I was always tired. My stomach bloated and the slightest exertion made me sick, weak and dizzy. My appetite was variable and a good nights sleep was unknown to me. When I awoke in the mornings I had a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I heard of the wonderful benefits that were being derived from Cooper's New Discovery, and decided to try it."

"The horrible tape worm, sixty feet long that had been sapping my life away, passed from my system alive and squirming after I had taken three doses. Now I have a splendid appetite, every trace of stomach trouble has disappeared and my digestion is good. I sleep well and am gaining in strength every day." Nick Emmerick, 1344 Louis Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

We are authorized agents for the Cooper medicines. Call and let us tell you more about them.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Invitations as big as home plates, and vividly illuminated, have been issued by the Boston clubs for their openings.

The professional ranks are recruited by still another college player. Spring, a catcher of the Amherst team, has been signed by the Springfield, Mass., team.

John Kling, the gifted catcher, has come to terms with the Chicago Club and there is happiness among the followers of the Windy City aggregation.

Winter weather is causing many anxious minutes to the managers of the various league clubs who at a great deal of expense and trouble have taken their teams to warmer climes for training.

President Pulliam will issue season passes good for all grounds, to the players of his league—a departure made advisable by the new rule requiring all clubs to provide dressing rooms for visiting teams.

In many quarters are heard rumors that the management of the big league clubs will adopt stringent methods to prevent betting on the grounds.

The Plainfield High School team bids fair to make a good showing this season on the diamond. They are rapidly rounding into form to meet stronger teams.

No doubt the Atlantic League team at Elizabeth will attract many of the county fans during the season. There will be considerable interest in seeing the various teams comprising the new outlaw league.

GOLF.

Atlantic City received the tournament of the Women's Eastern Golf Association at the executive committee meeting this week in the Hotel Hargrave. The clubs to ask for the tournament were Brookline and Oakley of the Boston group and the Merion Cricket Club, near Philadelphia. The Atlantic City Country Club, which sent in an application last year, did not then stand a chance against Nassau. It did not bid this year, but the unexpected happened, and as a compromise the event went to the grand course by the sea. The dates will be June 11, 12, 13 and 14, unless they conflict with other plans of the Atlantic City Country Club. The championship will be at thirty-six holes medal play, the system introduced last year when Miss Fanny Osgood won, but this year it will be on the first two days and precede the tricity team matches for the Griscom cup.

Miss Griscom reported that the modified par handicap list will be out by May 1. It will contain 407 names, and it is believed the ratings will be accepted without change by the women's golf leagues of the Eastern cities. Seventy-two clubs were canvassed, of which fifty-two have women players and made ratings of them. A point cup for appearances at tournaments and special competitions was also established. The points, however, will only be awarded on happenings on Eastern courses; attendance at the women's championship if over a Western course will not earn one.

Regarding the women's national championship, a letter from the Midlothian Country Club stated that every attendant from the East would have a great time. "If necessary," added the Western committee, "we will build an entirely new clubhouse for the Eastern players."

Will Anderson, four times former open champion, has been in New York for a few days. He will report at Onwentsia shortly. Nipper Campbell, of the Country Club, Boston, has been at Atlantic City and had a 75 there. Aleck Jolly has been engaged at the Roseville Golf Club, while William Braid, formerly at North Jersey as assistant to Ogilvie, goes to the Sound Beach Country Club.

Princeton's invitation tournament on May 9, 10 and 11 will be the first held in this country on a college course. At New Haven the Golf Club is for the students and the Country Club for the professors, but neither is a university club and the lines are still broader at the lists used by other collegians. The Princeton Golf Club includes both town and gown. On its fine links and under sociable management a good tournament is assured. The Atlantic City tournament is on May 2, 3 and 4, and some of the players will make Princeton their next stop.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

Leslie Hallock, of the borough, will return to Swarthmore College this week after enjoying the Easter vacation at home.

Mrs. John B. Moore, of Kensington avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Edna Moore, to Henry Knox McIntyre, of New York.

Lewis E. Waring, of West Seventh street, is one of the judges at the annual horse show of the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club, being held this week.

MEDICAL MEN ELECT.

Dr. Hughes Chosen President of Local Society.

Officers were elected at the annual meeting and banquet of the Plainfield Medical Association, held at the Hotel Kensington, after which Dr. Albert Pittis read an interesting paper on "Mosquitoes." At the business session these officers were chosen: President, Dr. Frederic Hughes; vice president, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges; secretary and treasurer, Dr. J. H. Carman. Drs. Cornwell, Du Bois, Corbusier and W. H. Anthony were elected to membership.

In his paper on "Mosquitoes," Dr. Pittis treated the subject in a general manner, suggesting the various known methods of extermination and the best way to prevent their presence in any large numbers. This can be accomplished by not allowing pools of water or barrels of rainwater to exist about the premises. Dr. Pittis did not refer to local conditions in his talk, confining himself chiefly to a general discussion of the subject.

EVANGELIST SPEAKS.

His Theme "God Justifying the Ungodly."

Though the stormy night must have kept many at home a fair audience greeted Evangelist Acomb in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night. He did not seem concerned about the size of the audience, but said if there was one there who did not have peace with God, he had a message for him.

Mr. Acomb's theme was "God Justifying the Ungodly." He insisted that all are either guilty or justified, that is cleared before God. He told his hearers that no man could atone for his own transgressions, but that all who acknowledge their sins, coming to God in repentance in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, are justified from all things. Men are not saved by good behavior, but they behave well because they are saved.

Tonight Mr. Ironside will speak on "The Signs of the Times." The meeting begins with a song service at 7:45.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Eddie "Cannon" Bald, who for years was the champion bicycle racer of the world, has now turned to automobiles and is ranked up with the champions in that line. He will be here with the big musical comedy, "The Vanderbilt Cup," on April 24, and will drive the 110 H. P. Pope-Toledo racing car in the automobile race in the second act. Mr. Bald will be seen on the street soon after the company arrives driving the racing car about the city.

Chauncey Olcott, who is to come to Plainfield in his new play on April 29, appeared recently at a benefit for the St. Luke's Hospital in Philadelphia. He was playing an extra matinee that week and warned the managers of the affair that he could sing but one song, and appeared under that condition. Mr. Olcott was compelled to occupy the stage for forty minutes, however. He sang one song, two encores, made two speeches and responded to a dozen curtain calls after it was all over by bowing his thanks.

It was decided yesterday that the title of the new play by Charles Klein which Charles Dillingham is to produce will be "The Stepchild." Among the players already engaged for the production are Chrystal Herne, John Finley, Grace Filkins and William Sampson. Mr. Klein is the author of "The Music Master," "The Lion and the Mouse," and "The Daughters of Men."

Anna Held and "The Parisian Model" may be seen in London next summer. Negotiations are going on between Arthur Collins, of London, and F. Ziegfeld, Jr., looking toward the transfer of the entire company and production to Drury Lane at the close of the Broadway run.

McIntyre and Heath, who have been known for years in every part of the country as "The Georgia Minstrels," are coming to the New Plainfield theatre early in May in their musical comedy success, "The Ham Tree."

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Now that the people of Union county have obtained without cost, many interesting as well as valuable relics of the War for the Union, recently presented them, through the Board of Chosen Freeholders, by the Veteran Zouaves of Elizabeth, who gathered and preserved them for many years with great care, is it not desirable that the county should possess the beautiful historic oil paintings belonging to that command, which can now be had for a comparatively insignificant sum of money?

The paintings, three in number, which have ever been declared to be works of art, are from the facile brush of the late Col. Julian Scott, for many years a resident of Plainfield. They were executed by him some years after the war, in which he took a part, and for twenty-five years, were greatly admired by all visitors to the Zouaves' Armory. Col. Scott received $10,000 from the State of Vermont for executing a painting similar to the one in possession of the Zouaves, and was paid $800 by the State of New Jersey for the painting he made of the late Governor Joel Parker.

The Zouaves' pictures are:

First. Charge of the Union troops through the corn-field at the Battle of Anteitam, showing Gen. McClellan and staff in the background, all of whose faces and forms are readily recognized. Size of rich gold frame—8 feet by 4 feet.

Second. Life-size picture of Major-General Winfield Scott Hancock, who had no superior as a corps commander in the Union army.

Third. "All Quiet Along the Potomac." Famous painting.

The above paintings are in a perfect state of preservation, without flaw or blemish, and mounted in heavy gold frames.

The Zouaves, no longer having a suitable place in which to preserve these valuable works of art, and preferring to keep them here, at the former home of the soldier-artist, who created them, are now willing to dispose of them to the county for preservation in the handsome court-house, where the present and future generations may see and study them.

It would seem, Mr. Editor, that as these valuable paintings can now be had for a mere song, so to speak, the county will be doing the proper thing by acquiring them, thus keeping these forcible reminders of a terrible war as an object lesson to those who come after us. Displayed in the court-house rotunda, the pictures would rivet the attention of all visitors to that stately and beautiful structure.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Too frequently our theatre-goers are called upon to witness performances that in some element are lacking in that fullness that preliminary announcement would lead them to expect. Either a bad play or a mediocre company would spoil an evening's enjoyment at the theatre. The first fault cannot be found with the successful farce comedy, "McFadden's Row of Flats," which has received the flattering comment from both press and public for the past three seasons, wherever it has appeared, which is a guarantee of its merits as a pure wholesome comedy of genuine and hearty laughs. A look over the names of the artists engaged in the company which will give the play at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday afternoon and night, is sufficient to dispel any doubt on the second proposition. Now with a good play and a first class company of comedians and the introduction of a number of strong, new and popular songs, dances and other specialties, the value of the entertainment cannot be doubted.

strels will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, and will present one of the most novel and pleasing entertainments ever offered the amusement loving public. The programme is overflowing with rapid-fire fun and genuine surprises; pretty music and dazzling scenic and electrical effects form an important part of the entertainment. The entire mammoth programme is everywhere presented in absolute perfection, never curtailed in any detail, a fact that makes this organization still more successful each successive season. The manage-

"Tom, Dick and Harry," the brightest of musical comedies in which A. H. Woods has discovered a successful vehicle for the exploitation of Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, a trinity of laugh makers who have never been excelled in this field of amusement, will come to the New Plainfield theatre April 15, as the first annual benefit for Assistant Treasurer Texier and the house ushers. "Tom, Dick and Harry" literally bristles with surprises, good things, humor and song as well as a capable company to support the stars and the liviest chorus of sweet girlhood. The musical numbers include such popular love lyrics and ditties as "Down at Lover's Lane," "Nicodemus," "Fol de Rol-dol," "Chollie," a chappie song and a novelty fan number. There are sixteen in all. This is the second season of the show under the management of A. H. Woods and it has never been excelled.

Joseph M. Gaites has added another production to his growing list of successes. This time it is the much discussed automobile musical comedy, "The Vanderbilt Cup," which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, April 23. The production is described as an enormous affair, requiring three acts and ten scenes, and comprising some new and startling effects. Its drawing qualities are best expressed by stating that it had a run of eight months at the Broadway theatre, New York, and a three months' run in Chicago at the Colonial. It is said to be put on tour with all the extravagant display which marked its metropolitan runs. The cast numbers sixty, and includes many famous players. The music is catchy, and the ensemble of stunningly clad automobile girls is promised to be a great feature.

PERSONAL.

Lord Avebury of England is firm in the belief that brain workers need at least nine hours of sleep.

Mme. Patti, who is a marvelous specimen of well preserved powers, attributes her exceptional health to plenty of sleep—nine hours.

Mrs. Secretary Taft is said to lead the cabinet ladies in devotion to bridge, and gives one or two parties a week for players of the game.

Harry S. Howland, just 28 years old, is the youngest major in the United states army. He is now with the Fourth battalion of Philippine scouts.

Lord Kitchener's father, who was a Spartan parent, was also a soldier; but in Ireland he turned his attention to breeding pigs as a source of income.

In the maharajah's palace at Bann, India, is a 10 x 16 carpet so interspersed with pearls and diamonds that it is said to be valued at more than $1,000,000.

The emperor of Austria belongs to that category of persons who throughout their lives never even suffer from headache. The approach of age is not visible. The emperor, who formerly smoked ten to 15 strong Virginia cigars daily, now contents himself with two light ones; he drinks daily about two glasses of beer and some light wine; he sleeps much, and great care is taken during his sleep that cold is avoided.

FOOLISH DEFINITIONS.

Grafter—One who reaches the pile before we do.

Social Science—The art of keeping friendly with one's mother-in-law.

Bridge—A means of crossing from affluence to poverty. See whist, gambling, etc.

Hero—A lucky chap who happens to be Johnny on the spot when his chance comes.

KINDLY THOUGHTS AND WAYS.

The spoiled woman is never youthful. She is invariably selfish, and selfishness is aging.

If you would keep young at heart, and that means young outside, in spite of the years, banish petulant moods, combat irritability.

Sometimes we wonder why it is that so many old persons become disagreeable. Sometimes it is ill-nature that has made them old, says Home Chat.

Kindly feeling may be cultivated, and this cultivation begins when the child is first taught to be gentle in its play with companions, civil to servants, respectful to the aged and kind to helpless animals.

As the child grows from girlhood to womanhood this habit of courtesy and thoughtfulness for others has become part of her character—a part that will tend to the eternal youthful spirit if the cares and the flatteries of life are met in the right way.

HOW TO LIVE WITH MICROBES.

Drink wine—gout.

Drink whisky and get d. t.

Eat dessert and get paresis.

Drink water and get typhoid.

Eat meat and meet apoplexy.

Eat oysters and get toxaemia.

Drink milk and get tuberculosis.

Drink coffee—nervous prostration.

Eat vegetables and weaken the strength.

So the true system of proper living is to eat and drink nothing and thus become, early in life, an angel.—Exchange.

TO LAND HIM IN A WEEK.

Monday—Be pretty; smile once.

Tuesday—Be prettier; frown at him.

Wednesday—Be pensive; sigh once.

Thursday—Laugh at him.

Friday—Confess your regard for him.

This is the backing that stands behind every box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame and weak back and I never found anything which gave me any relief until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began to use them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend and when I had a cold or overexerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies, but got little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvements. I think they are a fine medicine for a lame back."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
A MUNICIPAL AGENCY.

The importance of the public library as a municipal agency is well discussed in an article by F. M. Crunden, librarian of St. Louis Public Library, in "The Library" for October, 1906. He speaks as follows: "The library is an institution so broad that it fills two whole sides, supplementing the school on one corner and strengthening the church on the other, extending the foundations in all directions, and furnishing unshakable support for the state in diffused intelligence and growing morality. One knows only the classroom and not the library, if he knows only what he has learned from his school text-books; if he knows nothing of real boks, nothing of the lessons of history, of the delights of literature, of the joys of the imagination of the life of the spirit, he has not laid the foundation of an education that will fit him for the duties of citizenship or the higher life of man. ..... Now, science is the broader knowledge, the higher mental training to be obtained by the average boy, who leaves school at twelve or fourteen? The public library was created to meet this requirement. In it is stored all the knowledge the world has accumulated since the dawn of history.....But we know that knowledge and intelligence are the necessary forerunners and fundamentals of industrial and other progress; and it is easy to show that the public library is the most potent agency for the diffusion of knowledge and the development of intelligence that exists in the world today. It is, in fact, the reservoir of all knowledge; and further, it is an ever-flowing fountain of inspiration. It is at once the accumulator and the transmitter of social energy. ....

"1. It doubles the value of the education the child receives at school, and, best of all, imparts a desire for knowledge which serves as an incentive to continue his education after leaving school; and, having furnished the incentive, it further supplies the means of a lifelong continuance of education.

"2. It provides for the education of adults who have lacked, or failed to make use of early opportunities.

"3. It furnishes information to teachers, ministers, journalists, authors, physicians, legislators all upon whose work depend the intellectual, moral, sanitary, and political welfare and advancement of the people.

"4. It furnishes books and periodicals for the technical instruction and information of mechanics, artisans, manufacturers, engineers, and all others whose work requires technical knowledge—of all persons upon whom depends the industrial progress of the city.

"5. It is of incalculable benefit to the city by affording to thousands the highest and purest entertainment, by substituting the reading-room for the bar-room, and thus lessening crime and disorder.

"6. It makes the city a more desirable place of residence, and thus retains the best citizens and attracts others of the same character.

"7. More than any other agency, it elevates the general standard of intelligence throughout the great body of the community upon which its material prosperity, as well as its moral and political well-being, must depend.

"Finally, the public library includes potentially all other means of social amelioration."

LITERARY

The Forum, America's standard quarterly review, is out for April-June. The regular departments of American Politics, Foreign Affairs, Finance, Education, Applied Science, Literature, and Music, are as usual ably and comprehensively filled; while special articles reflect faithfully the latest trends of thought, research, and phiosophy of our times. Henry Litchfield West, in an analysis of Elihu Root's recent notable address before the Pennsylvania Society in New York city, traces the growth of federalism in this republic, and speculates as to the future of the States under our dual system of constitutional government. The British House of Lords, the Kaiser and the Reichstag, and the new Russian Duma, are prominent among the foreign topics discussed by A. Maurice Low. Alexander D. Noyes skilfully feels the pulse of the financial market. Joseph Sohn gives a broad critical resume of New York's latest and greates opera season. Applied Science, as recorded by Henry Harrison Suplee, has to its recent credit some highly important developments in hydraulics, aeronautics, and electric traction.

YOUNG DRAMATIC STAR MAKES HER LOCAL DEBUT.

Miss Maude Fealy Looks and Acts Charmingly in "The Illusion of Beatrice."

Miss Maude Fealy, one of the youngest dramatic stars on the American stage and who enjoys th edistinction of having been Sir Henry Irving's leading woman at the age of eighteen, appeared before a fair-sized audience at the New Plainfield theatre, last night. She was presented by John Cort in Martha Morton's comedy, "The Illusion of Beatrice," a play of simplicity which gave Miss Fealy an opportunity to display her rare talent. The young actress received a warm reception and her work left a lasting impression on her audience, to most of whom she was a stranger.

Miss Fealy's impersonation of "Beatrice Nevins" is exceedingly sweet and innocent. She has embodied in the part a personality of beauty and one also keenly incisive and authoritative. In pathetic moments her touch was sure and her sincerity convincing, while her loyalty to her illusion was at all times appealingly expressed. She acted the more important scenes with winning softness and an irresistible charm.

Manager Cort has surrounded her with people who are well selected and play the parts assigned to them admirably. The stage effects were elaborate.

The House at Trenton yesterday passed the bill incorporating Kenilworth, Union county, as a borough.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric lights, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

Lots selling rapidly—Prices very low—Great investment or speculative opportunities.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

My campaign was based on the contents of those filing-cases. I learned all the places throughout the west—cities, towns, centrally-located villages—where he had been and had made an impression; and by simple and obvious means we were able to convert them into centers of "the Burbank boom." I could afterward trace to the use we made of those memoranda the direct getting of no less than 107 delegates to the national convention—and that takes no account of the vaster indirect value of so much easily worked-up, genuine, unpurchased and unpurchasable "Burbank sentiment." The man of only local prominence, whom Burbank remembered perfectly after a chance meeting years before, could have no doubt who ought to be the party's nominee for president.

The national machine of our party was then in the custody, and supposedly in the control, of Senator Goodrich of New Jersey. He had a reputation for Machiavellian dexterity, but I found that he was an accident rather than an actuality.

The domination of the great business interests over politics was the rapid growth of about 20 years—the consolidations of business naturally producing concentrations of the business world's political power in the hands of the few controllers of the big railway, industrial and financial combines. Goodrich had happened to be acquainted with some of the most influential of these business "kings;" they naturally made him their agent for the conveying of their wishes and their bribes of one kind and another to the national managers of both parties. They knew little of the details of practical politics, knew only what they needed in their businesses; and as long as they got that, it did not interest them what was done with the rest of the power their "campaign contributions" gave.

With such resources any man of good intelligence and discretion could have got the same results as Goodrich's. He was simply a lackey, strutting and cutting a figure in his master's clothes and under his master's name. He was pitifully vain of his reputation as a Machiavelli and a go-between. Vanity is sometimes a source of great strength; but vainty of that sort and about a position in which secrecy is the prime requisite, could mean only weakness.

Throughout his eight years of control of our party it had had possession of all departments of the national administration — except of the house of representatives during the past two years. This meant the uninterrupted and unchecked reign of the interests. To treat with consideration the interests, the strong men of the country, they who must have a free hand for developing its resources, to give them privileges and immunities beyond what can be permitted the ordinary citizen or corporation—that is a course which, however offensive to abstract justice, still has, as it seems to me, a practical justice in it, and at any rate, must be pursued so long as the masses of the voters are short-sighted, unreasoning and in nose-rings to political machines. A man's rights, whatever they may be in theory, are in practice only what he has the intelligence and the power to compel. But, for the sake of the nation, for the upholding of civilization itself, these over-powerful interests should never be given their heads, should be restrained as closely as may be to their rights—their practical rights. Goodrich had neither the sagacity nor the patriotism—nor the force of will, for that matter—to keep them within the limits of decency and discretion. Hence the riot of plunder and privilege which revolted and alarmed me when I came to Washington and saw politics in the country-wide, yes, history-wide, horizon of that view-point.

Probably I should have been more leisurely in bringing my presidential plans to a focus, had I not seen how great and how near was the peril to my party. It seemed to me not indeed a perfect or even a satisfactory, but the best available, instrument for holding the balances of order as even as might be between our country's two opposing elements of disorder—the greedy plunderers and the rapidly infuriating plundered. And I saw that no time was to be lost, if the party was not to be blown to fragments. The first mutterings of the storm were in our summary ejection from control of the house in the midway election. If the party were not to be dismembered, I must oust Goodrich, must defeat his plans for nominating Cromwell, must nominate Burbank instead. If I should succeed in electing him, I reasoned that I could through him carry out my policy of moderation and practical patriotism—to yield to the powerful few a minimum of what they could compel, to give to the prostrate but potentially powerful many at least enough to keep them quiet—a stomachful. The world may be advanced; but patriotism still remains the art of restraining the arrogance of full stomachs and the anger of empty ones.

In Cromwell, Goodrich believed he had a candidate with sufficient hold upon the rank and file of the party to enable him to carry the election by the usual means—a big campaign fund properly distributed in the doubtful states. I said to Senator Scarborough of Indiana soon after Cromwell's candidacy was announced: "What do you think of Goodrich's man?"

Scarborough, though new to the senate then, had shown himself far and away the ablest of the opposition senators. He had as much intellect as any of them; and he had what theorists, such as he, usually lack, skill at "grand tactics"—the management of men in the mass. His one weakness—and that, from my standpoint, a great one—was a literal belief in democratic institutions and in the inspiring but in practice pernicious principle of exact equality before the law.

"Cromwell's political sponsors," was his reply, "are two as shrewd bankers as there are in New York. I have heard it said that a fitting sign for a bank would be: 'Here we do nothing for nothing for nobody.'"

An admirable summing up of Cromwell's candidacy. And I knew that it would so appear to the country, that no matter how great a corruption fund Goodrich might throw into the campaign, we should, in that time of public exasperation, be routed if Cromwell was our standard-bearer—so utterly routed that we could not possibly get ourselves together again for 8, perhaps 12 years. There might even be a re-alignment of parties with some sort of socialism in control of one of them. If control were to be retained by the few who have the capital and the intellect to make efficient the nation's resources and energy, my project must be put through at once.

I had accumulated a fund of $500,000 for my "presidential flotation"—half of it contributed by Roebuck in exchange for a promise that his son-in-law should have an ambassadorship if Burbank were elected; the other half set aside by me from the "reserve" I had formed out of the year-by-year contributions of my combine. By the judicious investment of that capital I purposed to get Burbank the nomination on the first ballot—at least 460 of the 900-odd delegates.

In a national convention the delegates are, roughly speaking, about evenly divided among the three sections of the country—a third from east of the Alleghanies; a third from the west; a third from the south. It was hopeless for us to gun for delegates in the east; that was the especial bailiwick of Senator Goodrich. The most we could do there would be to keep him occupied by quietly encouraging any anti-Cromwell sentiment—and it existed a-plenty. Our real efforts were to be in the west and south.

I organized under Woodruff a corps of about 30 traveling agents. Each man knew only his own duties, knew nothing of the general plan, not even that there was a general plan. Each was a trained political worker, a personal retainer of ours. I gave them their instructions; Woodruff equipped them with the necessary cash. During the next five months they were incessantly on the go—dealing with our party's western machines where they could; setting up rival machines in promising localities where Goodrich controlled the regular machines; using money here, diplomacy there, both yonder, promises of patronage everywhere.

Such was my department of secrecy. At the head of my department of publicity I put De Milt, a sort of cousin of Burbank's and a newspaper man. He attended to the news agencies. He and three assistants wrote each week many columns of "boom" matter, all of which was carefully revised by Burbank himself before it went out as "syndicate letters." If Goodrich hadn't been ignorant of conditions west of the Alleghanies and confident that his will was law, he would have scented out this department of publicity of mine, and so would have seen into my "flotation." But he knew nothing beyond his routine. I once asked him how many country newspapers there were in the United States, and he said: "Oh, I don't know. Perhaps 3,000 or 4,000." Even had I enlightened him to the extent of telling him that there were about five times that number.

"Senator, This Burbank Nonsense Has Gone Far Enough."

he would have profited nothing. Had he been able to see the importance of such a fact to capable political management, he would have learned it long before through years of constant use of the easiest avenue into the heart of the people.

He did not wake up to adequate action until the fourth of that group of states whose delegations to our national conventions were habitually bought and sold, broke its agreement with him and instructed its delegation to vote for Burbank. By the time he had a corps of agents in those states. Doc. Woodruff had "acquired" more than a hundred delegates. Goodrich was working only through the regular machinery of the party and was fighting against a widespread feeling that Cromwell shouldn't, and probably couldn't, be elected; we, on the other hand, were manufacturing presidential sentiment for a candidate who was already popular. Nor had Goodrich much advantage over us with the regular machines anywhere except in the east.

Just as I was congratulating myself that nothing could happen to prevent our triumph at the convention, Roebuck telegraphed me to come to Chicago. I found him in the sitting-room of his suite in the Auditorium Annex, Partridge and Granby, next to him the most important members of my combine, since they were the only ones who had interests that extended into many states. It was after an uneasy silence that Granby, the uncouth one of the three, said:

"Senator, we brought you here to tell you this Burbank nonsense has gone far enough."

CHAPTER XV.
Mutiny.

It was all I could do not to show my astonishment and sudden fury. "I don't understand," said I, in a tone which I somehow managed to keep down to tranquil inquiry.

But I did understand. It instantly came to me that the three had been brought into line for Cromwell by their powerful business associates in Wall street, probably by the great bankers who loaned them money. Swift upon the surge of anger I had suppressed before it flamed at the surface came a surge of triumph—which I also suppressed. I had often wished, perhaps as a matter of personal pride, just this opportunity; and here it was!

"Cromwell must be nominated," said Granby, in his insolent tone. He had but two tones—the insolent and the cringing: "He's safe and sound. Burbank isn't trusted in the east. And we didn't like his conduct last year. He caters to the demagogues."

Roebuck, through his liking for me, I imagine, rather than through refined instinct, now began to speak, thinly disguising his orders as requests. I waited until he had talked himself out. I waited with the same air of calm attention until Partridge had given me his jerky variation. I waited, still apparently calm, until the silence must have been extremely uncomfortable for them. I waited until Granby said sharply: "Then it is settled?"

"Yes," said I, keeping all emotion out of my face and voice. "It is settled. Ex-Gov. Burbank is to be nominated. I am at a loss to account for this outbreak. However, I shall at once take measures to prevent its occurring again. Good day."

And I was gone—straight to the train. I did not pause at Fredonia but went on to the capital. The next morning I had the legislature and the attorney general at work demolishing Granby's business in my state—for I had selected him to make an example of, incidentally because he had insulted me, but chiefly because he was the most notorious of my ten, was about the greediest and cruelest "robber baron" in the west. My legislature was to revoke his charter; my attorney general was to enforce upon him the laws I had put on the statute books against just such emergencies. And it had never entered their swollen heads that I might have taken these precautions that are in the primer of political management.

My three mutineers pursued me to the capital, missed me, were standing breathless at the door of my house near Fredonia on the morning of the third day. I refused to be seen until the afternoon of the fourth day, and then I forbade Granby. But when I descended to the reception-room he rushed at me, tried to take my hand, pouring out a stream of sickening apologies. I rang the bell. When a servant appeared, I said: "Show this man the door."

Granby turned white and, after a long look at my face, said in a broken voice to Roebuck: "For God's sake, don't go back on me, Mr. Roebuck. Do what you can for me."

As the curtain dropped behind him, I looked expectantly at Roebuck, sweating with fright for his imperiled millions. Probably his mental state can be fully appreciated only by a man who has also felt the dread of losing his wealth upon which he is wholly dependent for courage, respect and self-respect.

"Don't misunderstand me, Harvey," he began to plead, forgetting that there was anybody else to save besides himself. "I didn't mean—"

"What did you mean?" I interrupted, my tone ominously quiet.

"We didn't intend—" began Partridge.

"What did you intend?" I interrupted, as quietly as before.

They looked nervously each at the other, then at me. "If you think Burbank's the man," Roebuck began again, "why, you may go ahead—"

There burst in me such a storm of anger that I dared not speak until I could control and aim the explosion. Partridge saw how, and how seriously, Roebuck had blundered. He thrust him aside and faced me. "What's the use of beating around the bush?" he said, bluntly. "We've made damn fools of ourselves, senator. We thought we had the whip. We see we haven't. We're mighty sorry we didn't do a little thinking before Roebuck sent that telegram. We hope you'll let us off as easy as you can, and we promise not to meddle in your business again—and you can bet your life we'll keep our promise."

"I think you will," said I.

"I am a man of my word," said he. "And so is Roebuck."

"Oh, I don't mean that," was my answer. "I mean, when the Granby object-lesson in the stupidity of premature ingratitude is complete, you shan't be able to forget it."

They drifted gloomily in the current of their unpleasant thoughts; then each took a turn at wringing my hand. I invited them up to my sitting-room where we smoked and talked amicably for a couple of hours. It would have amused the thousands of employes and dependents over whom these two lorded it arrogantly to have heard with what care they weighed their timid words, how nervous they were lest they should give me fresh provocation. As they were leaving, Roebuck said earnestly: "Isn't there anything I can do for you, Harvey?"

"Why, yes," said I. "Give out a statement next Sunday in Chicago—for the Monday morning papers—indorsing Cromwell's candidacy. Say you and all your associates are enthusiastic for it because his election would give the large enterprises that have been the object of demagogic attack a sense of security for at least four years more."

He thought I was joking him, being unable to believe me so lacking in judgment as to fail to realize what a profound impression in Cromwell's favor such a statement from the great Roebuck would produce. I wrote and mailed him an interview with himself the following day; he gave it out as I had requested. It got me Burbank delegations in Illinois, South Dakota and Oregon the same week.

CHAPTER XVI.
A Victory for the People.

I arrived at Chicago the day before the convention and, going at once to our state headquarters in the Great Northern, shut myself in with Doc Woodruff. My doorkeeper, the member of the legislature from Fredonia, ventured to interrupt with the announcement that a messenger had come from Senator Goodrich.

"Let him in," said I.

As the door-man disappeared Doc glanced at his watch, then said with a smile: "You've been here seven minutes and a half—just time for a lookout downstairs to telephone to the Auditorium and for the messenger to drive from there here. Goodrich is on the anxious seat, all right."

The messenger was Goodrich's handy-man, Judge Dufour. I myself have always frowned on these public exhibitions of the intimacy of judges in practical politics; but Goodrich had many small vanities—he liked his judges to hold his coat and his governors to carry his satchel. One would say that such petty weaknesses would be the undoing of a man. Fortunately, we are not as weak as our weaknesses but as strong as our strength; and while the universal weaknesses are shared by the strong, their strength is peculiar and rare. After Dufour had introduced himself and we had exchanged commonplaces he said: "Senator, there's a little conference of some of the leaders at headquarters, and it isn't complete without you. So, Senator Goodrich has sent me over to escort you."

YOUNG BRIDE RISKS LIFE FOR HUSBAND

MRS. PETRA LIEN RIDES THREE MILES IN NIGHT ROBE TO SUMMON AID.

BITTER COLD HAS NO TERROR

Woman First Carries Injured Man from Burning Home—Is Now Near Death Because of Her Awful Experience.

Harrold, S. D.—South Dakota's new heroine is Mrs. Petra Lien, the bravest girl in the west, who is hovering between life and death at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Eiseman of this place, and the title of heroine will remain with her whether she lives or dies.

Petra Peterson, aged 23, married Andrew H. Lien three months ago, and their honeymoon was scarcely over when the tragedy occurred. They lived on a farm ten miles south of this town and their home was a favorite place for the young people of the community to gather. When the young couple retired a few nights ago, the fire in the sitting room above was quite low. About midnight the husband arose to look after it. Fearing it would go out he threw in some kerosene, or possibly, as some of the neighbors think, gasoline. An explosion followed, enveloping the man in flames. He was terribly burned, his thin attire being consumed instantly. His screams brought his young wife from her bed.

With a skirt which she had grabbed as she ran, she fought the flames and managed to drag her husbtand from their midst. The whole room was ablaze and she realized the uselessness of trying to extinguish the fast growing fire.

Although much smaller than her sturdy husband, she practically carried him, herself barefoot, through the snow to the barn. She laid his quivering form in a pile of hay and returned to the house for clothing. The whole building was in flames. She could neither enter to get wearing apparel nor to telephone to neighbors. She knew she must, herself, go for aid.

Returning to the barn the brave young bride took the scorched skirt with which she had fought the flames, and wrapping it about her now semi-conscious husband, prepared for the terrible ordeal of riding through snow and bitter cold wind, almost nude. A bridle was hastily put on their fleetest horse, but no saddle, the wife realizing that the warm body of the animal must be relied upon to supply needed heat to keep her own tender flesh from freezing. And so she began the notable ride which will be related for years to come to the children of this community and state.

Through the dark, moonless night she urged her horse, her stiffening fingers and limbs from the biting cold being forgotten in the mental anxiety for her suffering husband. The thin night gown offered but meager protection from the near-zero weather and the snow flung from the hoofs of the running horse struck her continually.

But she conquered, where failure would have been more logical. Three miles were traversed and a wail from the freezing wife brought quick response from neighbors. When helped from her horse she seemed on the verge of collapse, but rallied quickly and insisted upon going back to her husband at once. She would wait for nothing but to be hurriedly dressed in clothing of her neighbor, and then astride her panting horse she again covered the three miles at top speed.

Friends came and medical aid. All effort to save the life of Mr. Lien was futile, however, and he died at daybreak, in the barn where his young wife had placed him. Knowledge of his death was the signal for Mrs. Lien to collapse and she was taken to the home of a friend.

Burned and frozen and suffering from nervous shock the bereaved bride is still in a precarious state at her sister's home here. Her hands and face were scorched terribly by the fire. Their home and all its contents were destroyed. The funeral of Mr. Lien was one of the largest ever held in this (Hughes) county.

FIREMAN FLEES FROM GRAVEYARD GHOSTS

ALONE IN A CEMETERY AT MIDNIGHT HE SEES WEIRD SPECTERS AND RUNS AWAY.

St. Louis.—Lost for an hour among the tombstones of Calvary cemetery at midnight, fleeing till out of breath from mysterious white figures that seemed to rise up from among the graves, William Carpenter, a fireman, had an experience which he hopes will never be repeated.

Members of his fire company, still talking about Carpenter's experience, look on the whole affair as a joke. He is not quite convinced that the white-garbed figures were not ghosts.

Late at night, about half-past ten o'clock, the Baden firemen were aroused by an alarm turned in from a box at Calvary and Florissant avenues. Their shortest route to the fire was through Calvary cemetery. At the big iron gates on the Broadway side of the cemetery Captain Ammon and Fireman Carpenter left the hose reel. Ammon opened the gates and then sprang to his post on the wagon. Carpenter was left behind to close the gates after the engine.

The Ghosts Appeared on Every Side.

When he had closed the gates the hose reel and engine were a hundred feet ahead of him, dashing rapidly up the hill. Carpenter ran after the wagon, shouting loudly.

He saw the lights of the engine disappear in the distance and started to find his way out of the cemetery.

"I kept on running," he said to a reporter, in telling of his experience, "wishing every minute I could get out.

"All around me were white tombstones. I heard a noise in another direction and then I saw a white thing. It seemed to rise out of the ground. My hair went up, too, I think.

"Then I did run. I'll admit I was dead afraid. I just wanted to get out of that place of horrors. I think I prayed. I was damp all over with a cold, clammy sort of sweat."

Carpenter wiped his forehead with his handkerchief in memory of the event before he went on.

"I thought all the time that I was heading for Calvary avenue. After a time I saw the light of a street car in the distance and it sort of kept me company. I followed the light, and the next thing I knew I had stumbled and fallen, and there looking at me was another white thing. It wasn't as bad as the first, though. I was getting used to the sights a little.

"I got up again and ran until I came to a barb wire fence. I got over the fence without a scratch, and found I was in Walnut Park, north of the cemetery. All the time I had thought I was going south.

"A policeman told me where I was, and how to get back to the engine house. He said we had made a run on a false alarm. I had been in the cemetery an hour."

Hens Laid for 25 Years.

Pennsburg, Pa.—Twelve dollars was the price realized for a pair of hens at the public sale of William Stengal's property at Baily. Mr. Stengal said that he had owned the fowls for 25 years, and that during all that time they had attended strictly to business.

Mr. Stengel's farm was located near a camp-meeting ground of colored folks, and he did not lose sight of the fact, for whenever gatherings were on he would double-lock and bar his chicken-coop.

The visit of the local preacher to the Stengel farm always resulted in a hurry call for secretion of the favorite hens. Young chickens were hastily slaughtered and conspicuously displayed.

Hit by Train: Runs Away.

Bloomsburg, Pa.—Knocked from the track by a locomotive and escaping uninjured was the experience of William Neal of this place. Neal stepped from the main track on a siding, and was watching a passenger train go past when he was struck and hurled several feet from the tracks.

The crew hurried to his assistance, but before reaching him Neal jumped to his feet and ran from the place. Upon reaching his home a physician was called, and it was discovered that he had not suffered even a scratch. He said that after being struck his one idea was to get away from the railroad as fast as he could.

LARGE SUMS RAISED

First Presbyterian and Park Avenue Baptist Also Report Flourishing Condition Financially and Spiritually.

The annual meeting of the trustees and the congregation of the Crescent Avenue church were held last night in the chapel. There was a large attendance of members, the three chapels being represented as well as the mother church.

The trustees' meeting, over which Charles F. Abbott presided, was brief, the main bit of business being the presentation of the treasurer's report. Townsend Rushmore was the secretary.

W. A. Garrigues was re-elected trustee for three years, and the auditors, G. H. Goddard, A. C. Munger and Stuart H. Patterson, were continued in office. The trustees were authorized to borrow money for the use of the congregation from time to time, as they saw fit during the year.

Finances.

The report of Treasurer Joseph W. Sandford showed total receipts from pew rents to be $16,797. The regular expenses amounted to $15,791. The items that go to make up the total are as follows:

Salaries, $7,362.49; music, $3,783.90; light, $402.08; Sunday-school, $500; parsonage, repairs, taxes, etc., $538.50; interest on mortgage on parsonage, $225; pulpit supplies, $240; insurance, $245.72; plumbing and heating, $538.55; carpenter work, $49.62; painting, $60.85; repairs and electric wiring, $542.57; repairs and tuning organ and piano, $87.30; mason, $53.82; fuel, $709.80; shovels, $1.70; sand, $5.95; ice, $15.61; printing, postage, stationery, $135.16; laundry, $17.12; communion wine, $25.42; cleaning carpets, $87.59; supplies, $2.28; water supply, $88; architect, $20; repairing chairs, $7.80; carting ashes, etc., $45.

The estimated expenses for the coming year were calculated as follows:

Salaries, $5,864; music, $3,000; Sunday-school, $500; light, $375; insurance, $350; pulpit supplies, $240; interest, $150; repairs and supplies, $3,000; total, $13,479.

The Chapels.

The receipts from the chapels, Hope, Warren and Bethel, amount to $9,172. The expenses were $9,427.

The report shows that Warren chapel will cost, building and lot, $30,000. Of this amount $7,843 is lacking.

Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, the pastor, presided over the church meeting. Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, the clerk, was at his table.

Encouraging reports were received from all the departments of church work. In the report on the Young People's Association it was stated that a canvass among the Italians of the city to discover if there was a field for the establishment of a Protestant mission it was discovered that there were 109 non-Catholic Italian families, totalling 500 people.

Superintendent H. J. Cochran reported for the home Sunday-school. There are 295 pupils, with an average attendance of 202. There are 35 in the cradle roll. The school cost $514 to conduct. It gave $658 to missions.

Superintendent A. W. Duxbury and Rev. F. D. Tildon reported for Bethel chapel. The membership increased ten during the year; the receipts were $676 and the expenditures $658. Superintendent E. Herbert Condict and Rev. L. R. Howard reported a steady, quiet progression at Hope chapel.

In reporting on Warren chapel, Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey said he was sorry to have to say that conditions were not what the minister in charge enjoys. He likened the chapel to a runner that was panting for his second wind. The new chapel building, he said, would give his flock their second wind, and enable them to keep up the pace. Superintendent E. E. Parvin reported a membership of 269, an increase of 3. The receipts were $655 and the expenditures $605.

Membership 1,705.

Dr. Zelie reported a membership of 966, a net increase of twenty-three. With the chapels, the membership totalled 1,705 and the Sun-

MAYOR TO ESTABLISH THE MERIT SYSTEM

HE WILL GIVE POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN REWARD FOR MERIT.

When the Common Council acts upon his recommendation for better pay for the employees of the fire and police department men, Mayor Fisk, it is said, will advocate another change in the policy of those departments, it being his desire to establish the merit system. His idea is said to be to reward men for faithful and meritorious work. At the present time, the city employees are hauled up for any dereliction of duty, but when they are entitled to special favor for especially good work there is no provision for properly rewarding them.

If the Mayor's idea receives favorable recognition on the part of the Common Council there will be an opportunity offered the policemen and firemen for unusual advancement. If an employee is found to have done something particularly praiseworthy he will be advanced over others. In other words he can "skip a number" as the saying goes. In this way, opportunities will be open to the employees which they do not enjoy at present.

"FLORAL FETE" OPENED AT CASINO THIS AFTERNOON.

Day Nursery Benefit Promises To Be a Big Success.

The "Floral Fete," for the benefit of the Day Nursery, opened this afternoon at the Casino, under the auspices of the City Union of The King's Daughters, and will continue every afternoon and evening for the rest of the week. Through the earnest efforts of the members of the eleven circles comprising the City Union, the Casino has been transformed into a place of exceptional beauty with its many booths decorated with various flowers.

While considerable space has been reserved for the women, the men will find much in the smoking room and the bowling alleys strong attractions. A supper room has been provided, when supper or chafing dishes will be served every night. Everything is offered for sale at the booths, from a paper of pins to the most expensive fancy article. There are toothsome sweets, lemonade, and plenty of things to interest and amuse the children, as well as the grown-ups.

All the members of the King's Daughters who are assisting are gowned in white and wear a flower showing the booth represented, also the King's Daughters' badge and a small piece of purple ribbon. This afternoon the entertainment consisted of shadow-pictures. Tonight a play, "Our Aunt from California," will be given. The entertainment today and tonight is furnished by the Silver Cross Circle. The programme will be varied for tomorrow and Saturday.

During the service, two hymns, "Crossing the Bar" and "Lead Kindly Light" were sung by Charles L. Lewis. The floral display was large and included a set piece from Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., of which he was a member.

The body was afterward placed in the receiving vault at Hillside, the pall bearers being J. J. F. Randolph, H. Mulford Estil, Winfield S. Angleman, John R. Truell, Millard F. Elderton and T. E. Budlong.

Matthew Burke's Funeral.

Lawrence Burke, of 935 Arlington avenue, tomorrow morning at 8:15 and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. At the church a high mass of requiem will be said. Mr. Burke leaves three sons, F. Lawrence, of this city, and John and James, of New York, and one daughter, Mrs. William Winkler, of New York.

—Your attention is called to the advertisement of the auction sale of 75 horses in this issue. EVANGELISTIC MEETING.

Mr. Ironside Addresses Attentive Audience at Y. M. C. A.

It is now evident that a true revival is in progress in connection with the evangelistic campaign in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Already a number have confessed their faith in Christ and the attendance and interest grows with each meeting.

Last night Mr. Ironside spoke on "Watchman, What of the Night?" making an earnest plea for the undecided to close with the gospel message ere the return of Christ to take His own away to heaven and to judge the unpenitent. He sought to show that all signs indicate that this great event is very near at hand.

On Friday evening he is to speak of "Gospel Lessons from the California Earthquake," in which he and his family had a narrow escape.

This evening Mr. Acomb is to give one of his pungent and interesting addresses. A large attendance is expected.

Parker's Hearing.

George H. Parker, who was charged with breaking a window in Rafferty's saloon and for resisting arrest, and for attacking whom Thomas O'Gorman, patrol wagon driver, was invited to leave the force by the police committee last night, will be arraigned before Judge Runyon for trial in the city court next Wednesday morning.

Elks Officers Installed.

District Deputy Thomas Fay, of Long Branch, installed the newly elected officers of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., last night. Following the installation, a social session was held in charge of Exalted Ruler George O. Stevens and supper was served by Caterer Timbo.

—Among the fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers tomorrow will be splendid green asparagus, green and wax beans, green peas and Boston lettuce. Consignments reach the store each day.

DETECTIVES RAID SAMPTOWN HOBO CAMP

CAPTURE THREE WIRE THEFT SUSPECTS—PRISONERS BROUGHT TO THIS CITY.

Three wire theft suspects were arrested at the hobo camp near Samptown, at noon today, by Detective-Sergeant John Flynn and Detective Jeremiah Holly, a Lehigh Valley railroad police officer. They were brought to this city in the patrol wagon and locked up.

They are charged with the theft of 20 spans of telegraph wire, cut down along the Lehigh tracks at Samptown early yesterday morning. The break in the service came at 3:20 o'clock, and that is supposed to be the time the thieves operated. Holly was sent out on the case, and this morning located the three suspects at the camp. The police of this city were working with the Lehigh force on the case, and Holly sent word to them. Chief Kiely detailed Flynn to assist Holly, and the two officers descended on the tramp trio after a gumshoe approach. The capture was effected without trouble. The prisoners will be put on the grill this afternoon.

THAW JURY STILL OUT

New York, April 11, 2:30 p. m.—The jury in the case of Harry Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White, is still out. At 11 o'clock this morning, the jury after being out all night, returned to court to ask Judge Fitzgerald for further instructions. The court was requested to let the jury have six exhibits introduced as evidence during the trial, one of which was a diagram of the Madison Square roof garden, where the murder was committed.

Changes Before Pavement Is Laid.

Before brick pavement can be laid in the business section of the city, it will be necessary for several other improvements to be made. On West Front street, between Park and Madison avenues, the Public Service Corporation will be obliged to lay new rails and ties, the ones now in use having been in service for many years. No doubt other changes in water and gas mains will be necessary and possibly some changes in the sewer pipes will have to be made.

Working On Light Contract.

No future date has been fixed for another conference between the city officials and the Public Service Corporation representatives to adopt a new contract for the street lighting. The work of preparing the new contract is now underway and when completed will be submitted for the consideration of all parties interested.

FINE BANKING BUILDING

The Plainfield Savings' Bank New Home to be an Architectural Ornament.

NOW NEARLY FINISHED

Handsome Structure to Be Fitted With Latest Appointments—Structure to Be Complete This Month.

During the last week in April the directors of the Plainfield Savings Bank expect to take possession of their handsome new home, on East Front street, adjoining the City National Bank building. The remodelled building is rapidly nearing completion and an excellent idea of what it will look like may be obtained from the pictures on this page. A. L. C. Marsh, the architect, has succeeded in giving the bank one of the most attractive institutions to be found in the State, and his design has called forth much praise from townspeople generally.

The front is especially attractive in a white marble facing, with a large plate glass window directly over the entrance, which affords plenty of light, together with that secured from the glass sky-light in the top of the building.

The interior is furnished with an oak on ivory finish, something new and attractive for this kind of work. The partitions are of a pleasing color and well-arranged, an enclosed space being provided for the use of the women. A marble floor is one of the improvements yet to be completed. The large vault is on the left as you enter, where it can be reached conveniently by the clerks, while a storage vault is to be found in the far end of the building. Upstairs a comfortable and cozy place has been provided as a director's room.

No Action On Plumbers' Demands.

As yet the Master Plumbers' Association has held no meeting to decide the question of granting the increase in wages with shorter hours to the journeymen plumbers. May 1 is the time fixed by the journeymen when they desire the change. It is the general opinion that the request will be granted by the master plumbers and thus any trouble be averted in the trades.

HELPLESS PRISONER BEATEN BY SPECIAL OFFICER

GARBAGE SYSTEMS BEING INVESTIGATED

MAYOR AND HEALTH OFFICER TO VISIT ATLANTIC CITY PLANT.

In company with Health Officer Leon Thurlow, Mayor Charles J. Fisk will visit Atlantic City tomorrow, his mission being to inspect the system of garbage collection and disposal in use in that city. During the last few weeks the Mayor has been devoting much attention to the study of the subject and has been in correspondence with officials of other places regarding the systems in use. As a result he has obtained some data but before he makes any recommendations to the city fathers it is said that he will go much deeper into the matter.

Mayor Stoy, of Atlantic City, has notified Mayor Fisk that he will be glad to show him their plant. The party will be accompanied by the municipal engineer of the city and it is intended that the whole day will be spent in examining the works. The Mayor has in view visits to other nearby cities where model garbage disposal plants are in operation.

DERANGED, BROKE WINDOWS.

Insane Pole from Pennsylvania Arrested at Countryman's House.

The police received a telephone message at 11:25 o'clock last night that a man, apparently deranged, had taken off his shoes and stockings, thrown his hat away, at Front street and Leland avenue, and wandered away barefooted. A half an hour later Roundsman Higgins found the man at the home of Audio Chabik, a Pole, where he had broken windows and furniture. Chabik and his family were terrorized.

The barefooted man, who proved to be Stefan Maruskin, of Connellsville, Pa., was taken to the station house. He gave all the signs of insanity. He insisted that three men were hunting him to cut his head off. Judge Runyon remanded him this morning, to await the result of inquiries at Connellsville. The police are arranging to turn him over to the authorities of the Pennsylvania city. Maruskin had $3.50 in money and a ticket on the S. S. Baltic, which sailed from New York yesterday, in his clothes.

Divorce Bill Passes.

Senate 290, reconstructing New Jersey's divorce law to conform to the national uniform standard, was passed at Trenton yesterday, 14 to 1. Senator Gebhardt alone opposed it because he objected to limited divorces.

The Charge Against Thomas O'Gorman Fully Sustained and He is Allowed to Resign.

POLICE BOARD HEARING

Patrolman Nicholas Meyers Also Arranged For Alleged Reckless Shooting and Decision Is Reserved.

The Police Committee of the Common Council held a long session in Mayor Fisk's office last night, for the purpose of sifting serious charges preferred against Special Officer Thomas O'Gorman, who has been driver of the patrol wagon since it has been in service, and Patrolman Nicholas Meyers, one of the oldest members of the force. After witnesses in both cases had been heard, O'Gorman was allowed to resign and decision in the Meyers affair was reserved for one week in order to allow the stenographer to prepare the testimony for careful perusal. The specific complaint in the O'Gorman matter was for "unnecessary violence toward a prison" and in Meyers', reckless shooting.

The charge against O'Gorman was made by Chief Kiely in behalf of George H. Parker, of Leland avenue, who was arrested last Friday afternoon on a drunk and disorderly charge shortly after he had hurled a stone through a glass door in Rafferty's saloon. Parker alleged that when he was locked in a cell, he made a noise to attract the attention of Captain Frederickson in order to get bail. Doorman McCue and O'Gorman both warned him to keep quiet under threat of getting a "clubbing" and when he continued to shout and make a noise with a tin bucket, O'Gorman entered the cell and struck him a few times on the arms and legs with a heavy stick to which was tied the key to the cell door.

None of the blows were especially heavy and after O'Gorman went out, Parker started to make the noise again. He kept it up for several minutes when the officer returned in high dudgeon to repeat the striking process with the same weapon. He struck Parker on the body and then forced him down on the iron cot. As he did, the stick caught him on the forehead, inflicting a gash an inch and a half long clear to the bone, rendering him unconscious, as he afterward learned, about twenty minutes. The wound was so severe that a call was sent for City Physician Lufburrow and when he could not be located, Dr. Gessner was secured to sew it up.

O'Gorman was brought into the room and asked by Mayor Fisk whether he was guilty or not guilty of Parker's charge. He replied:

"I handled him roughly, yes."

In his defense he declared that Parker was "tearing down the cell and that when he was told to keep quiet he replied with the vilest language, making both O'Gorman and McCue the object of his remarks. Repeated warnings failed to have any effect and O'Gorman then entered the cell, more to frighten him thany anything else. The second time he went in, O'Gorman said, he did not intend to strike him on the head and that it so happened that the key got under the stick and made the gash. His statement as far as the main points were concerned, was corroborated by Doorman McCue, who added that Parker was like a wild man from the time he was brought into headquarters.

When asked by Councilman Mellick as to what right he had to go in the cell when it is Doorman McCue's place to look after prisoners, O'Gorman said he thought he should do so from the fact that McCue is an older man and was less able to quiet Parker. When returned to the witness chair, Parker denied using profane language or that he had attempted to tear down the cell.

Patrolman Meyers was charged by Mrs. Sophia Komosko, of 1221 North avenue, with shooting a bullet through a parlor window at her home on the night of March 23 between 7 and 8 o'clock. She declared that the family was seated in the kitchen when they heard a pistol report and at the same instant a crash of glass in the front room. Her brother-in-law, Andrew Robinski, ran outside and her nephew, Nicholas Grunz, looked out of the kitchen window, both noticing a policeman walking rapidly down North avenue toward Leland avenue. Robinski went as far as the corner where he was informed by James Brown, who lives

WHITEHOUSE.

The funeral of Henry W. Cozine, seventy-eight years old, was held the other day in the Methodist church at Whitehouse. Rev. Sylvanus D. LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Gus Hill's newest production of "McFadden's Flats" will be at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. It is a confection of musical comedy and "headline" specialty numbers that provide two and a half hours of wholesome amusement.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels boasts of a silver cornet band of twenty-one pieces and a double symphony orchestra of fifteen, both under the able direction of the popular director, Prof. Joseph Norton, and the Louisiana Glee Club under the direction of Harry Leighton, who has the reputation of being the foremost vocal director in the minstrel business, will supply the vocal numbers. John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels will appear at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, and should be witnessed by crowded houses.

America's funniest trio of comedians, Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday afternoon and night in their popular fun vehicle, "Tom, Dick and Harry," a musical comedy of the better sort. They will be surrounded by a company of forty people, mostly girls, and aided by elaborate scenic and electrical effects. Eugenie Blair is to appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday night in Clyde Fitch's greatest play, "The Woman in the Case," which, with its record of two hundred and fifty nights in New York city, is not likely to lack patronage. The play is laid in New York at the present time, its characters for the most part representing the culture and refinement of the social life of the metropolis. The dramatic action, which is intensely interesting, is supplied in the shape of flawless circumstantial evidence which threatens the life of the hero, and through which, though innocent, he would not have escaped the electric chair but for the cleverness and winning of his devoted wife.

Max Figman, in Harold MacGrath's story, "The Man on the Box," has achieved the most emphatic success of any attraction that has visited the South this season. The book made an immense impression and everybody who read it feared that as usual the story would be butchered in the dramatization, but for once the public is agreeably disappointed. The play is as good as the book and that is saying a great deal. As for Max Figman, from all accounts he must be the very ideal of the hero of the story. From every source there is nothing but praise of his conception and execution and it is so universal there can not fail but be truth in it. Manager John Cort, who directs Mr. Figman's tours, as well as those of Florence Roberts and Maude Fealy, has provided his star with a supporting company of more than usual strength and a production that is complete in every detail. Max Figman's engagement at the New Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, April 20, will be one of the artistic treats of the year.
